Miss Furlow Married June 17th To Ensign Edward V. Stephenson

Ladue Chapel in St. Louis, Mo., was adorned with white flowers and greenery on Tuesday, June 14, for the candlelight wedding of Miss Alma Craddock Furlow and Ensign Edward Vernon Stephenson, USNR. Rev. Dr. W. Davidson McDowell and Rev. Dr. Thomas Wheelis, uncle of the bride, officiated, and afterward the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Thompson Furlow, 21 Fair Oaks, Ladue, held a reception at Old Warsaw Country club.

Preceding the bride and her father to the altar were Miss Elizabeth Truitt, of Madison, Ga., maid of honor, Miss Susan and Miss Sally Carr, of St. Louis, and Miss Virginia Warren, of New Jersey. They were gowning alike in nile green chiffon. Over the strapless shirred bodices were matching stoles, and the full skirts were held wide by ermine petticoats and hoops. Their headresses were lace flower bands with eye veils. Their bouquets were deep red roses.

The bride wore a gardenia-white taffeta gown, fashioned on princess lines. The snug fitting bodice had a wide scoop neckline and cap sleeves, and the full skirt of deep unpressed pleats, cascaded to a chapel-length train.

The bride wore a train-length veil of rosepoint lace, which she bought last summer in Europe. It was held to her hair by a pearl-embroidered coronet. She held white roses and stephanotis arranged in a French shower effect.

Ensign Stephenson is the son of Mrs. Glenn T. Handol, of Mountain Lake Park, who with Mr. Randol, attended the wedding. Charles Seager of Huntington W. Va., was best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Leonard T. Furlow, Jr., Donald Scott, Baltimore; Hazen Pingree, Grosse Point, Mich., and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Charles McIntire, of Washington, D. C.

Ensign Stephenson and his bride will spend several days in Chicago and then return to St. Louis to pick up their car. They will motor west on the northern route to San Diego, Cal., where he will be stationed aboard the USS Braine. Among the guests from out of town were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. McIntire, and his uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Harold McDonald Sharp, of Sidney, Ohio, and their two daughters, and Miss Evelyn Miller, of Baltimore.

Wed in Frederick Last Wednesday

A quiet but pretty wedding was performed last Wednesday afternoon, June 15, at two o'clock, when Miss Creta Myree Staley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe S. Staley, East Patrick street, Frederick, and H. Russell Smouse, son of Mrs. Hervey R. Smouse, Monte Vista road, Oakland, exchanged nuptial vows in the Evangelical Lutheran church in Frederick.

Rev. Charles F. Trunk, Jr., officiated at the ceremony. A small reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an orchid pink crystalite street-length dress fashioned with a fitted bodice with low round neckline and bouffant skirt. Her small hat was of matching material and color was accented with a short veil. She carried a white orchid with baby's breath streamers on a white Bible.

Miss Polly Ann Moore, honor attendant, formerly of Frederick, now of Charlottesville, Va., wore a light blue dress fashioned with a boat neckline and full skirt. Her accessories were matching and she carried a bouquet of summer flowers in contrasting shades.

Stanley Bond, of Hagerstown, served as best man; and ushers were Herbert Rollins and Roy Blumenauer, both of Frederick.

A nuptial recital was given including "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

For the wedding and reception Mrs. Staley chose a white organza with lavender print dress, lavender accessories and a white rosebud corsage. Mrs. Smouse, the groom's mother, wore a mint green lace dress, soft rose colored hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Smouse left for Ocean City, where they will spend the summer. In the fall they will reside in Baltimore where Mr. Smouse will attend the University of Maryland

School of Law.

For traveling the bride chose a shimmering grey and white cotton dress accented by white pique trim at the boat neckline. She also wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Smouse is a graduate of Frederick High School and the Maryland Institute of Art. The groom was graduated from Merceburg academy and was graduated on June 14 from Princeton University, Princeton, N. J., when he received his A.B. degree in Economics and Social Institutions.

Teacher Dies in Tragic Car Wreck

Funeral services for Miss Ella Fern Richardson, daughter of John V. and Lulu Michael Richardson, Frostburg, who died early last Thursday morning in Miners hospital after a tragic automobile accident on U. S. route 40, west of Frostburg, were conducted Sunday afternoon.

Miss Richardson, 25, member of the Pennsylvania Avenue school faculty in Cumberland, was returning from a funeral with her fiancé, Daniel J. Folk, Jr., 27, of Grantsville, who was treated at the hospital for a lip laceration.

The accident occurred at 1 a. m. on Sand Spring Hill as the east-bound car crashed against guard rails and was demolished. Miss Richardson had recently announced their engagement. She died less than three hours after the accident.

The couple had been to Grantsville visiting friends and attending services Wednesday afternoon in the nearby Casselman Mennonite church for Robert D. Jones, 26, who died Saturday as the result of a construction mishap at Pleasant Hills, Pa.

Trooper Donald Wade quoted Folk as saying he fell asleep at the wheel and the right side of his 1953 Dodge, where Miss Richardson was sitting, hit the rails. The young woman apparently was thrown beneath the right front wheel of the machine. She complained of a "sore leg," although the only outward sign of injury was a facial laceration. An ambulance took her and Folk to the hospital. Her death at 3:45 was attributed to internal injuries. In addition to cuts and bruises she suffered a fractured pelvis and broken leg. An autopsy was performed.

Folk, a veteran of the Korean conflict, was taken to the State's Attorney's office for questioning.

A native of Frostburg, Miss Richardson, 11 will close its sessions on Sunday evening, July 3.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In the massive outpouring of Communist literature from Russia and its satellites, and from printing presses in the free world, the Communists are distributing two kinds of literature. One type is propaganda. They call the other kind "agitation literature." Dr. Fred Schwarz, the Australian surgeon-psychiatrist who left his profession to crusade against Communism throughout the free world, has made an exhaustive study of Red literature.

"The Communists," he says, "define propaganda literature as that which conveys many ideas to a few people. They define 'agitation' as that which conveys one idea to many people. They take an idea, like the unfortunate death of the Japanese fisherman infected by H-bomb fallout after the Pacific test. They use it as a barb to repeatedly drive in, create inflammation, fear, bitterness and hatred."

At the Freedom Forum, Dr. Schwarz exhibited a book entitled "Report on War Crimes in Korea." "I bought it in the Communist bookstore in Los Angeles, 1806 West 7th Street—openly sold, no camouflage whatsoever," he said. "It is a combination of the filthiest and most treasurable lies ever put together." He read from the book:

"According to the evidence of Pyong Won Goon, chairman of the People's Committee, 35,383 citizens were murdered in the district of Sinchon. On October 18, 1950, behind the building of the People's Committee, a mass murder of about 900 men and women, including 300 children, was committed. Some of the women were pregnant. All the people were pushed into an open deep grave. The American Commander Harrison ordered them to take off their clothes, then ordered fuel oil to be thrown over the victims who were set on fire. Those who tried to get out of the grave were shot."

He read another passage: "On the very day the American troops entered the locality Wvot San Ri of the Cho Ri region, Sinchon Myon—they committed a particularly horrible murder. Eleven children of the family of Woo Mal Chee were shot on the spot. (The father was tortured and killed.) Woo Mal Chee's daughter-in-law tried to defend him. The Americans attached her by her hair to a tree, committed horrible atrocities which are described in obscene detail then poured oil over her and burned her alive." Dr. Schwarz recently showed these books to leaders in Congress. "They wrung their hands," he said. "Some asked, 'How can we get this stuff off the streets of America? Every time we do something, somebody screams out, "Academic Freedom! Freedom of the Press!"' Dr. Schwarz said that millions of people throughout the world believe these atrocity falsehoods being massively distributed with little or no protest from us.

Richardson was graduated from Beall High school in 1948 and from Frostburg State Teachers college in 1952. Active in religious circles, she was a member of the Frostburg First Methodist church, was a teacher of the Boys' Junior Bible class and was a member of the WSCS, circle 4.

Survivors, besides her parents, include a brother, Frank Richardson, LaVale, and one sister, Charlotte Richardson, at home.

Commencement Date Set

Sleep

You should have discovered that how well you sleep at night depends a great deal on what you are thinking about when you get into bed. There is a law in psychology which states that the dominant idea of the mind is entertaining when it closes up shop for the day goes on working while you sleep. No wonder our last thoughts at night are so vital! When our parents and grandparents told us to say our prayers as they tucked us in, they were better psychologists than they perhaps realized.

Daniel slept like a baby in a den of hungry lions. The king who sent him there wrestled with his soft pillows all night long. Why? Daniel was thinking of God, but the devil had crept into the king's bed.

Here are some last waking thoughts: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. God is our eternal refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms. Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee because he trusteth in Thee. I waited for the Lord; my soul doth wait and in His word do I hope." Try them and see how well you sleep, the word that can change your life.

HOLY SPIRIT REVEALING INFIRMITIES. MANY PEOPLE RECEIVING SALVATION AND HEALING FOR THEIR BODIES

WELCOME! BRING IN THE SICK IN BODY AND SOUL

More than a cake...

Those two tiny figures on top of the wedding cake... the bride and the groom... are a symbol. They mean that from this day forward two people will be as one... joined together in perfect unity forming the nucleus of a new family group.

They have stood before the church altar, pledging themselves to each other and to God. Their marriage has been started in the right way, with God's blessing upon it.

In the years to come they will look back upon this day, and upon their holy moment together in the Church. They will remember the reception later when they cut this cake, when there was laughter and gaiety and nothing but love around them. When they return to their church on Sundays, they will always see in their minds' eyes their own figures standing before the altar, taking their holy vow. Little wonder that the Church will always mean so much to them when they have laid the foundation for their happiness within it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor for the building of a stable and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. With a strong Church, we have democracy, not civilization can survive. The Church is the only place where every person should stand. The Church is the only place where every person should stand. The Church is the only place where every person should stand.

Freshmen Enrollment At Teachers College Hits 135

The fifty-fourth year at the State Teachers College at Frostburg will open on Tuesday, September 6, with resident freshmen arriving and day freshmen entering on Wednesday, September 7.

Freshmen will take part in an orientation program until Wednesday, September 14, when classes will begin. President and Mrs. R. Bowen Hardesty will entertain the freshmen at their home on Wednesday afternoon, September 7.

The class now numbers 135 which is more than twice the number received at this time last year.

The increased interest may be attributed to the added facilities of the past few years—a new library and administration building, new building for physical education, music and drama, and an auditorium. Two new residence halls are now under construction. Anticipated construction calls for a dining hall and student-union building and a laboratory school. Landscaping the campus and building tennis courts, hockey field, and soft ball diamonds are a part of the plans.

With a small senior class of 57 graduating and a large freshman class enrolling, the College in Western Maryland will likely reach an all-time high of 600 students.

The four applicants from Garrett County are all Southern High School graduates. They are: Shirley D. Calhoun, Doris J. Heise, Kermit G. Koepke, and Leola F. Sines. It is anticipated that several Northern High School graduates will apply for admission in the near future.

Mr. Ernest Wilt, Deer Park, and Mrs. Cora McCabe and son, Kingwood, W. Va. Weekend guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keiper, of Kansas City, Mo. Guests on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Waring and daughter.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Zephaniah 3
Devotional Reading: Micah 4:1-5

God and Nations

Lesson for June 26, 1955

GOD is not an American citizen. He is not even Americanized. He is not and never has been a citizen of any country in the world. And yet, strange as it seems, all down through history he has been thought of as if he belonged to one particular race or nation. A Scotch woman, in the era when France and the United Kingdom were more or less always at war, was reminded by her pastor that maybe there were God-fearing French women who were praying for victory for their nation too. "Oh," said the old lady, "who could understand those jabbering bodies?" The simple truth is that God is the God of all nations. The Bible is as clear on this as it can be.

God Controls

Three mistakes are commonly made at this point. One is that God is not interested in nations, only in individuals; that He cares a great deal what individuals do, but is quite indifferent to the doings of nations. The truth is that God is as much interested and concerned about what men do by the million as what they do one by one. He is as much concerned with acts of Congress as he is with acts of congressmen; as much concerned with honesty in treaties as with honesty in personal contracts. Another mistake is to think of God as wanting to control the affairs of nations but not being able to do so, almost as if he read the headlines with as much alarm as you and I do. Another mistake, just the opposite, is to think that God controls nations the way a checker-player controls his men. They move when and where he moves them, they have no choice. Now the truth is that God does control nations, or else the Bible is all wrong. He

Personal Appearance Discussed At Meeting

Mrs. Charles A. Wilt discussed factors contributing to good personal appearance at a meeting of the Accident Homemakers club on June 15, at the Accident fire hall.

In the absence of Mrs. William E. Harman, president, who was attending Rural Women's Short Course, Mrs. John J. Schlossman, vice-president, presided. Mrs. Foster E. Vost and Mrs. Orlando Herick served as hostesses.

The July meeting will be held in the fire hall on June 28, from 10 to 3 with agricultural engineer.

does not dictate all their actions, for God is never the author of sin. But when we read what is going on in the world, we must not read with despair, for God never lets nations out of his control.

God Judges

If God literally dictated and brought to pass every happening in history, then God could be the judge only of himself. But he does judge the nations, as he judges individuals, for what nations do of their own free will and consent. Nations, as nations, can make right choices or they can make wrong ones. It has been often remarked that the mortality rate among nations is 100%. As the Bible sees it, the death of a nation is the judgment of God upon it. Now the point so often overlooked, indeed the point the average citizen of ancient Israel and Judah conveniently overlooked, is that God judges all nations alike. He is not like a referee who calls fouls on one team and never sees a foul if his favorite team makes them. He is not like a parent who brings some of the children up carefully and spoils his favorites. No person can be just, and God cannot be just, if his justice is only for some and not for all. We all know what to think of a judge who "fixes tickets" for his friends who violate traffic regulations. God, the Judge of nations, never takes anybody's tickets. Let us put this into plain English in terms of our own American situation: If an act of another nation is "bad," really bad in the sight of God, then the same kind of act on America's part is just exactly as bad, maybe worse, if (as we claim) we know God's will better than anybody. Or if what our nation does at any time is "good," really good in God's eyes, then the same act done by another nation is good too, and we ought not to resent it.

God Rewards

The prophet Zephaniah says what all the other prophets write in their own way, namely that God rewards nations that follow his laws. God does not of course reward nations in heaven, as he does people one by one. The reward of a nation is continuing peace and happiness—and sometimes power—on this planet. The reward of nations is to become the safe home of men and women who know and love and serve God. The reward of nations is to be the living evidence of the justice of a God who loves justice. MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

BLUE JAY
(Cyanocitta cristata)

RANGE: Breeds from southern Alberta, Manitoba to Newfoundland, south to Colorado, Texas and Maryland; ranges much farther south in winter where some may be more or less permanent residents. Some stay in Maryland all winter.

DESCRIPTION: Length about 12 inches, female smaller. Colored a conspicuous blue, with some white and black, a crest and long rounded tail. Maryland has three birds that are more or less blue, the bluebird, the indigo bunting, and the blue jay which is much larger than either of the other two.

BREEDING: Nests in crotch or on branch close to tree in dense woods or small groves, 10 to 30 feet from ground. Lays from 3 to 6 pale olive-green eggs, sometimes an ashy-brown, thickly marked with spots of cinnamon; incubation from 15 to 17 days by both sexes.

HABITS: A noisy, rowdy bird, fond of other bird's eggs, loves to annoy owls and other birds, nevertheless is a most attractive member of the bird family; is also a mimic and to a certain extent a ventriloquist; imitates the call of the hawks, and in some respects is hawklike in habits. Eats insects, spiders, snails.

MANAGEMENT: No management—the blue jay seems well able to take care of himself.

VALUE: While in many ways a predator the flash of a blue jay flying from tree to tree in the winter months is a welcome sight to the bird lover; noisy and curious he is, but the bird has its place in the "Great Order of Things," and the damage he does is counterbalanced by the pleasure given to many persons, especially city people in winter, in seeing this handsome blue bird, and hearing his loud call. An examination of stomach contents of 300 blue jays showed 75% vegetable matter, remainder animal; fond of acorns and other nuts. Let's give him a break—more than 50% valuable.

Operation Alert. On his return was sent by the U. S. Department of State to Ann Arbor, Mich., to a Seminar on International Law. Before he will speak and answer questions for college Professors of Law and Government persons concerned with world problems.

Harry G. Huff, of Silver Spring was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Huff, Sunday. Article Features Talented Artist

An article in last Thursday's issue of the Cumberland News featured Gertrude Dubrau Kogler, a highly talented and skilled artist who returned to the United States from Germany a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Kogler at one time operated an art and gift shop in Cumberland and her paintings still grace several local churches. She is now residing in Tacoma, Washington, after having been absent for 20 years.

Mrs. Kogler arrived in Tacoma only a few weeks ago from Germany sponsored by her niece, Mrs. R. L. Stein and Mr. Stein, of Lakewood, Wash. Her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Pitts, reside also in Tacoma and she saw them for the first time in 20 years.

Both Mrs. Kogler and Mrs. Pitts were born in Germany and both first came to the United States as children. The family settled in Maryland and Gertrude Dubrau was graduated from the Maryland Institute of Art and Design in Baltimore, had a year of study in Leipzig, Germany, and a year at Dusseldorf Art academy. She later went to Baltimore to assist her father, Herman Dubrau, in his decorating shop and painting shop.

Gertrude married Alexander Kogler and the couple went to Cumberland where they established an art and gift shop. They did a left from Pittsburgh, on T.W.A. to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook, at Las Vegas. They will also visit Mr. and Mrs. John Biecher, at Santa Ana, Calif.

Miss Sue Marlene Bevans, Arlington, Va., has accepted a position as secretary in the U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C., after returning from Duke University, Durham, N. C. She is the daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Charles I. Bevans, formerly of here.

Mrs. Minnie Daniels, of Philadelphia, Pa., and sister, Mrs. Robert Hinler, Trafford, Pa., are visiting their sister, Mrs. Barbara Younkin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Giotfelty, and other relatives and friends.

flourishing business but the flood of 1936 swept away their livelihood and much of their worldly goods. Kogler previously had lost a business because of World War I—he sold curios and souvenirs on Atlantic passenger ships.

After the flood Mr. and Mrs. Kogler decided to return to their native Germany and try again. Kogler set up a jewelry shop in Frankfurt. But appendicitis caused his death and Mrs. Kogler, who had been enjoying a successful though small painting studio, went back into the gift shop business.

Then came World War II, and since Mrs. Kogler had been away so long she had lost her status as a U.S. citizen, she was trapped in Germany. She endured terrific bombings of Frankfurt, once more losing many of her prized and precious possessions. Some of her sketches of the Frankfurt ruins were brought back to the States with her but she has a much brighter and happier collection of castles, flowers and more pleasant scenes.

Mrs. Kogler again is painting and she expects to become a citizen of the United States. Already she is preparing for an art show in Tacoma.

Cumberlanders often look with great interest at the beautiful murals of historic scenes in the rotunda of the City Hall. Others view the paintings in the Masonic Temple. Religious paintings adorn a number of area churches. Yet few realize that these were done by Mrs. Kogler who earned the assignments through competition with many older and more experienced painters.

Mrs. Kogler visited briefly in Oakland a few weeks ago while enroute from New York to Tacoma.

Fighting of Forest Fires Began in 1906

Fred W. Besley, the first state forester, now retired, has written an article on the start of fighting forest fires in Maryland for "The Old Line Acorn," quarterly publication of the Department of Forests and Parks.

The article is reproduced below: In 1906, when forestry work was organized under the new Forestry Act, the first thought was given to fire protection. Forest fires were rampant in all the forest districts with no organized effort at control. The State Forester was given ample power under the law but practically no funds. He quickly realized that fire protection was the most serious, as well as the most difficult, problem to be faced.

A major effort in fire control was started in Garrett county, the most heavily forested county with the worst fire situation. Numerous sawmill operations, leaving slashings in their wake, caused endless, destructive fires while land clearing with the indiscriminate use of fire, railroads, hunters and fishermen all contributed to the spread of fires. The worst offenders were those who deliberately set fire to the woods to kill undergrowth in order to make better grazing. This was not only common practice by farmers who owned forest land, but since there were no stock laws against running cattle at large, it developed into a profitable business to drive cattle down from Pennsylvania, where there were such laws, to run loose in Garrett county during the summer on land held by non-residents.

It took a lot of courage to face such a situation. Yet unless fires could be controlled, these vast acres of forest land could not be restored to full productivity.

The law provided that forest wardens could be selected by the State Forester to be commissioned by the Governor and clothed with the power of constables, but no money was appropriated by the state to pay them. This charge fell upon the counties which were reluctant to pay fire bills, even though they were very small.

The forest wardens were selected with great care since they had to be men who had the respect and confidence of the people of the community in which they would work so when they called for volunteers they would get cooperation. Since the pay was so small, qualified men had to be persuaded to accept the office from a sense of duty and as an opportunity to serve their communities and the state. Under these conditions, a fire fighting organization was built up in Garrett county and in other forested areas.

These pioneer fire fighters rendered valiant service and deserve the highest praise. Apathy and indifference to fire control had to be overcome by the slow process of public education. In this the forest wardens had a prominent part. Nearly 50 years ago, the wardens had only primitive equipment, such as a rake, pitchfork, or often only a forked stick, which he provided himself. It was a marvel how effective these sturdy men were in making back fire lines with such primitive tools.

However, each succeeding year brought some improvement. A new fire rake, now universally used, was furnished the wardens and greatly increased their efficiency in making back fire lines. A few years later came the back-pack 5-gallon fire pump, another marked improvement.

Fires were on the increase and something was needed to reach the careless woods burners. With the help of Federal funds, forest patrolmen were appointed to patrol, generally on horseback, the wooded areas where fires frequently occurred. They were also a kind of missionary to warn the careless and to carry an educational program to the schools.

So much valuable time was lost after a fire was started before the warden with his crew arrived, due to delay in reporting, that this led to the next general improvement—the erection of lookout towers on high vantage points. They were manned by observers with telephones to detect fires and report them promptly. The first lookout was a high rock. Then a 20-foot wooden tower was built, followed by 50-foot steel towers which were the forerunners of the 50 to 80-foot

Two items of special interest to the people of the 6th Maryland District were before the House last week. I am happy to report that the appropriation for the Cumberland-Haleley Flood Control project was approved by the House. The Public Works Appropriation bill provides $14 million for continuation of the project. The bill now goes to the Senate, where I am certain the House action will be approved.

The other item, considered by the House, which is of great interest to many of the people living in our District was the bill providing for a pay raise for classified federal employees. It gave me a great deal of pleasure to be able to work along with those who were trying to bring the government pay scales into line with present day living costs.

I also had the opportunity last week to appear before the Senate District Committee in support of my bill to grant the same type of exemption to charitable gifts under the laws of the District of Columbia as apply under federal statutes. I am strongly opposed to measures which the District Commissioners advocate which will in any way weaken the provisions of my bill. I fully expect the Senate to approve the measure which will benefit not only residents of the City of Washington but also residents of Maryland.

The House Committee on Education and Labor is now holding hearings on my bill which would restore funds to Montgomery County schools owing to the cutoff date for aid to federally impacted areas. I have had the opportunity of again presenting the arguments in favor of the government fulfilling its obligations and thereby carrying out the original intent of Congress.

I would like to call your attention to the debate on the proposal to steel towers which now cover the entire state.

It is a far cry from those early days of 1906 and the great difficulties to be overcome with meagre appropriations to do the job, but it is gratifying to record there has been steady progress through the years in fire control, resulting in the efficient, protective system we have today.

According to recent news items, a tradition is being revived. Effective July 1st there will be no question as to whether a particular Sergeant or Corporal is a troop leader.

With our own particular experiences in mind, we don't remember that there ever was any question.

However, the Defense Department says that non-commissioned officers would be like they were in the old army days. There will be no more technical sergeants and other specialist ratings bearing the title of Sergeant and Corporal. The change has been arranged to restore the prestige of troop leaders. Defense says further, but we recall it, the issue was never in doubt. Not for very long, at least.

Technicians will be called specialists, the lowest ranking being designated Specialist 3rd Class and the highest Master Specialist. The Master Specialist and the Master Sergeant will get the same pay, even as the troop leading Corporal will draw the same salary as the Specialist 3rd Class. But the technical men will lose the privilege of being called Sergeants and Corporals.

Specialist or not, we think this is going to take quite a bit of doing. Remembering our service in World War I, the boys know a Sergeant when they see one. And they'll probably call him what they want to.

I personally believe that if the genius of America has anything to offer the world as an argument against the Communist theory of state socialism (for that is the direction the TVA steam plant would lead) it is that private enterprise can do things more efficiently and with less danger of oppression than government can.

On my calendar, I am particularly pleased that I am to join with the members of the Volunteer Fire Department of Silver Spring in observing their 40th Anniversary and that they have honored me by asking me to speak at their dinner on Saturday, June 25. Mrs. Hyde and I also plan to be with the Montgomery County Young Republican Club at their Victory Celebration at the Battery Park Community Club in Bethesda on June 26.

CAW-CAW is a slow burning, correctly twisted 3/4" diameter low cost rope. The fuses of firecrackers, salutes or cherry bombs can be placed in the strands of the rope at intervals. The rope is hung from a stick or tree limb. Bottom end is then ignited. As CAW-CAW smolders, it ignites the firecracker fuses, the firecrackers drop to the ground at intervals and explode, keeping crows and other farm "burglars" on the run! "Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

For A Happy Summer

I am not sure how many teenagers and young people read this column, but my thoughts this week are for them.

I was impressed by a remark I heard a high school girl make in a group discussion the evening of her graduation. She was speaking of her future plans, certainly a commendable thing to do. But, there was one remark she made that stood out from all the rest. She said, "But, what am I going to do in the meantime?" Of course, she was referring to the summer months at home before going on to college or to a job in the fall.

That set me to thinking, and I wondered how many other high school youngsters have said the same thing, either to themselves or out loud.

I have some suggestions I want to pass on to them. Remember the old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack (or Susie) a dull boy (or girl)?" I am going to add something new to that. "All play and no work makes Jack (or Susie) a parasite." Look up for yourself in a good dictionary the meaning of the word parasite and you will see what I mean.

Let's talk for a minute about the things you can do for a happy summer. We are assuming you will have your full share of swimming, fishing, other sports and the like. Nearly all parents want that for you.

But, I am going to suggest some things that will make you really happy, the deep-down kind of happiness that is really wonderful.

I will start with Susie (just a name which refers to all the girls).

Susie take a good look at your mother. How long has it been since she had a bright, pretty new cotton dress? You learned to sew in high school home economics class. Sit down at the sewing machine and surprise your mother by making her one. How long has it been since you helped around the house, shining the windows, waxing the floors, or anything of the kind without being told? Do it once. Mother will be shocked, but she will recover. Move from in front of the television set and go out and mow the lawn, weed the garden, work with the flowers. Discuss with your mother a new color scheme for your bedroom. Maybe, she will help you buy paint, drapery material and you can re-decorate a room. See what I mean? Try this, and you will see mother is quite an interesting person, and the things you are doing for her will really give her spirit a lift.

Jack, I am now speaking to you. Dad is a good old stand-by. He works hard every day to provide for you clothes, food and a nice car to drive. How long has it been since you really showed any initiative of your own on the farm or wherever you live? How long since you offered to do anything without being told? Lay aside the sports page of the paper, and offer to help with the chores, making a suggestion as to how they may be done more efficiently. Do your work once without grudging. Get up in the morning the first time you are called. Dad will be surprised, but he will recover. See what I mean, Jack?

Yes, Susie, while you waiting to become a private secretary show them at home you are a "regular" and you will grow in their eyes, and in your own as well.

Jack, while you are waiting to become an engineer, show your Dad and Mother they have made a good investment in your training and they will be proud and glad you are their son.

I dare you to try this, and I am sure you will have a very happy summer, and when your chance comes to go to college or into a job, you will have grown and become more capable for the life's work you have chosen. Have a really happy summer.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

RUSSELL H. McCANN, Chairman, EDGAR T. BENNETT and BRAMWELL KELLY, Constituting the STATE ROADS COMMISSION OF MARYLAND, acting for and on behalf of the STATE OF MARYLAND, vs. GEORGE A. FEAR and WILMA P. FEAR, his wife, CLAUDE B. FEAR, his wife, No. 1421 Miscellaneous, IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY.

The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation certain tracts or parcels of land situated in the Seventh Election District of Garrett County, Maryland, belonging to George A. Fear and Wilma P. Fear, his wife, and Claude B. Fear, his wife.

The Petition states that the Petitioners constitute the State Roads Commission of Maryland and are charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland. That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said Petition and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, all those tracts or parcels of land situated in the Seventh Election District of Garrett County, Maryland, being and comprising all the land consisting of 1,680 square feet, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on said plat for slope and drainage easements.

Together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of U.S. Route 219, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plat No. 12380, and together with the perpetual right to erect and maintain between October 1st and April 1st of each year snow fences within 100 feet of the land granted in fee simple.

The Petition further states that the property is now held under the provisions of a deed from Nina D. Schenck, widow, to George A. Fear and Elsie Ross Fear, as Joint Tenants, dated August 11, 1943, and recorded on August 11, 1943, in Liber A.G.R. No. 130, Folio 315, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; the said Elsie Ross Fear having since departed this life.

That the land and property is sought to be condemned in connection with the State System of Roads and Bridges and especially for the construction of the U. S. Route 219, Thayerville to Deep Creek Bridge, in Garrett County, Maryland.

Swanton Is Winner Over Oakland 6 to 4

Bobby Raines registered his fourth straight win of the season in the Mountain Top Baseball league Sunday by pitching the Swanton Dodgers to a 6-4 decision over Oakland at Swanton.

The righthander mowed down 16 on strikes to run his total to 57 in the four games he has pitched.

A two-run rally after two were out broke a tie and decided the game in the 8th inning. Jack Mit-ter walked and took second on Norman Raines' hit. After Bobby Raines was passed purposely to fill the bases, Bobby Mitter delivered a single to score two runs.

Howard Sweitzer paced the Swanton attack with three hits in four trips. One of the seven hits yielded by Raines was a two-bagger by Toby Colaw.

Terra Alta scored three runs in the first inning and defeated Loch Lynn at the latter place, 4 to 1. John Foley, who went the route for Loch Lynn, fanned 16 while Richard Turner, who tossed a no-run-no-hit game against Bayard on June 5, whiffed 12 after relieving Bob Fraley in the second inning and got credit for the win.

Kelley of Terra Alta and Weiner and Calhoun of Loch Lynn made two base hits.

MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL
JOSEPH HINEBAUGH, Mayor

"Let us show you how easy it is to drive a CHRYSLER!"

Chrysler owners know it and we'd like you to know it—Chrysler is winning performance honors, hands down!

Come prove it to yourself by taking the "100-Million-Dollar Ride!" It's a driving thrill that no other car can give you... with America's finest family of V-8 engines to choose from... up to 300 hp; mightiest of all! Teamed, mind you, with PowerFlite automatic no-clutch drive... which for honey-smooth take-off power leaves even "second best" out of sight!

Chrysler is a big car. Low, long and sleek. It has fashion experts coining new terms to fit it, like "tailored steel." Yet, thanks to countless exclusive drive-features (all Chrysler-originated) it handles as easy as a wave of your hand. Spiritual Observance . .

Many governors and mayors in our country have issued proclamations for a Freedom Under God observance of Independence Day. The movement for such a day was originated by Spiritual Mobilization in 1951. Honorable Herbert Hoover and General Douglas MacArthur were among the committee members.

Focusing attention on the religious significance of America's heritage, this annual nationwide effort enlists the support of clergymen, public officials, businessmen, clubs and organizations.

"The Fourth of July is a significant day on which to rededicate ourselves to the principles which established this nation, the first in history recognizing that man is free only as he seeks freedom according to divine laws. The Declaration of Independence proclaimed that there is no freedom but under God. It heralded a nation in which each man might claim his birthright to be what he ought to be and to possess what he ought to possess," stated James C. Ingelbrecht, president of Spiritual Mobilization recently in addressing a conference.

The Freedom Under God observance of Independence Day was commended in Congress recently by the Honorable Ralph W. Gwin, of New York. Congressman Gwin urged individuals "to take part in the day—"

"By commemorating the birth of our country with personal dedication to the spiritual concepts set forth by our Founding Fathers;

"By reading and pondering the Declaration of Independence in an effort to understand and value its profound meanings; by recognizing that God is the source of freedom and that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; by fortifying freedom with faith in God, faith in one's self, faith in other men;

"By writing editors, columnists, commentators and public officials their opinions on happenings which infringe on individual liberty; by personally taking the responsibility for meeting a community need or for helping another stand on his own feet; by applying religious principles to every problem they face."

Truly a vital program for such a glorious day in the history of America—the anniversary of our Declaration of Independence.

County Resident Jailed, Fined On Tax Evasion

Blaine H. Friend, Accident, Tried And Sentenced Monday In Baltimore

A Western Maryland businessman told Federal Judge Rosel C. Thomsen Monday he hadn't filed an income tax return for 1951 because he "didn't know how to keep books."

Blaine H. Friend, 40, of Accident, was sentenced to eight months in prison and fined $8,000.

Robert R. Bair, assistant U. S. attorney, described Friend as a hummerman and operator of a stockyard. He said Friend told Internal Revenue Service agents that he had not filed returns since 1944.

The Government claims the Garrett county man owes $50,000 in back taxes and penalties.

Bair said agents had computed that Friend made $7,500 in 1951, the year for which he was charged.

Friend testified he "didn't have any money at the end of the year," and didn't think he had to report anything to the revenue service.

Bair said Friend, father of three children, grossed $93,000 from the lumber business last year. His prosecution is the first on tax charges in Garrett county, a tax agent said.

University Women Arranging For Painting Exhibit

Water Color Works Of Elizabeth Patton To Be On Display July 14

A water color painting exhibit by Elizabeth Patton, wife of W. Duncan Patton, of Hollywood, Fla., and Deep Creek Lake, is being arranged by members of Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women.

Open to the general public, it will be held in the Episcopal Parish house, Center street, Oakland, on Thursday, July 14, from 3 to 5 o'clock. There will be refreshments.

Mrs. Patton within the past few years, has won numerous honors from her exhibits, mostly in Florida, and is well known in the world of art.

She received her training at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Chicago School of Industrial Art, Pittsburgh Art Institute, and the Berkshire Summer School of Art in Massachusetts. She has exhibited in many shows in Florida and won prizes the past winter at Fort Lauderdale and Miami, in shows sponsored by the Florida State Chairman of Artists Professional League, under the auspices of the Miami Women's club. Her winning exhibit was a water color still life which she painted while summering at Deep Creek Lake. The painting of the "Red Barn," the Mitchell barn on U.S. route 219, was used in a display window announcing the art exhibit in Fort Lauderdale.

Among her paintings are several Garrett scenes including one "Between Trains," showing the Oakland railroad station, and another, "Downtown," showing Oakland's Second street. This latter painting is now owned by Irvin Feld and hangs in his office at Mr. Lake Park.

Her paintings were twice selected from Garrett County to be exhibited in Baltimore at the American Artists Professional League.

Mrs. Patton is listed in Who's Who in Art in Maryland. She is a member of the Hollywood Arts and Crafts Guild, Broward Art Guild, Miami Chapter American Artists Professional League and the Boca Raton Art Guild.

Mrs. Leo Helbig, chairman of the Arts committee of the A.A.U.W., expressed the hope that a large number of persons would take advantage of the opportunity to view Mrs. Patton's work in water color.

On July 27, clubs in the Oakland area including Acorn, Altamont, Deer Park, Meadow Glade, Mt. Zion, Oakland, Sunnyside and West Vindex, will meet at the Southern High school cafeteria.

Plans Complete For July 4 Observance

Plans were being completed today for the Fourth of July celebration in Oakland by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

The celebration is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, July 1 and 2, and Monday, July 3. The committee in charge has arranged for a number of rides to be in Oakland for the entertainment of children and the general public. The firemen have arranged to run their own stands and concessions this year and admission to the grounds will be free.

Returns of cards sent out to various fire companies throughout the area inviting them to come to Oakland on July 4th indicate that a large number are planning to participate in the parade scheduled for the evening of the Fourth. The parade will get under way at 7 o'clock p. m. D.F.E. prizes are to be awarded for fire companies and musical organizations.

Plan To Organize Oakland Flight Of Civil Air Patrol

Organization of an Oakland Flight of the Fort Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, was discussed at a meeting of the squadron Tuesday night at Cumberland.

There were ten members from the Cumberland flight and ten from Oakland at the session. The Garrett county unit will have an organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Officers will be selected for training, communications, supplies, operations and public information. A flight leader will also be chosen.

John F. Wagner, of the Cumberland Flight, said the establishment of a Garrett county CAP unit will aid greatly in search and rescue work handled by Fort Cumberland Squadron. In the event of an emergency in this section, the squadron will be able to set up a base of operations with the Oakland flight's headquarters.

Wagner also noted that CAP mobile radio units are being installed in cars and planes of the members in two counties. These radio units are modified Air Force sets which are obsolete for use on the Civil Air Patrol frequency.

Mrs. D. E. Offutt spent Saturday in Morgantown, W. Va., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Short. She had as her visitors on Monday Mr. and Mrs. Booth Litchel, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Faggen, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Flood Control Is Discussed Tuesday

Details of the flood control program in the Oakland area and what is necessary in reporting damage from previous floods, were under discussion Tuesday night in the City Hall. Around fifty citizens, most of whom had been affected by previous floods, were in attendance and heard the contemplated program discussed by Soil Conservation officials.

The Soil Conservation Service already had authorized investigations and surveys of the Little Youghiogheny river watershed which includes Wilson Creek, and this survey got under way on Monday.

Al Millender and James Kessecker, of the Soil Conservation service, located in Morgantown, W. Va., and William W. Nace, district soil conservationist, located in Oakland, explained the proposed program and pointed out the need for an accurate record of former flood damage.

This information is necessary so that the Federal government may arrive at an average loss over a fifty-year period or longer and make recommendations as to what could be done to materially reduce the damage over the years.

It was pointed out that the government would not participate in any program that was not economically sound, and would assist only where it was shown that the monetary gain would be more than the cost of the project.

The survey now being conducted will bring the development of work plans that would give greater protection to the business district of Oakland and to families along the entire watershed. After the work plans are completed and presented the project would have to be approved by the groups that applied originally. Application was made originally by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and the County Commissioners.

The Federal government will bear about 90 percent of the cost of the project should the survey now in progress prove that the program would be economically sound, it was stated.

The flood in 1938 caused damage estimated at more than $50,000, while the one last fall was considered much less destructive but still substantial.

The new telephone changeover went into effect Sunday morning with a minimum amount of difficulty and confusion, according to Richard K. Dayton, manager of the Oakland C. and P. Telephone company office.

ACTING IT OUT—Two performers rehearse their parts at the Garrett County Summer Playhouse under the watchful gaze of Director Gene Yell. The Playhouse is located in the former Arden Boat club near McHenry.

First Returns Due July 10 on New Tax on Cigarettes

The first returns on the new cigarette tax which went into effect June 1, are due by July 10.

Over 150 tax reports were mailed to dealers early in June and the second batch of them went out yesterday. Those mailed out yesterday, however, will not be mailed back before July 10.

The reports require a cigarette inventory including the amount on hand the first day of the month, and the amount purchased during the month. There are also places for the total amount of tax actually collected and due, less the discount and the net tax due paid with the return. Dealers are allowed a discount of two percent of the total tax.

Signer of the report declares under penalties of perjury that the return to the best of his knowledge and belief, is a true, correct and complete return.

Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer, who sent out the blanks, said he had no idea what the amount of the tax would be. The tax money will be used to supplement teachers' salaries as much as $200, if possible, with any additional to be used for new buildings, etc., in relation to the school program.

Summer Theatre To Open Season Tuesday, July 5th

The first of six plays designed to provide additional entertainment to the people of the mountain top during the summer season is ready for presentation.

"Blithe Spirit" will open to the public next Tuesday evening, July 5, and will be presented each evening, Tuesday through Saturday, at the former Arden Boat club site at McHenry, on Deep Creek Lake.

This added recreational feature has been four years in planning and was finally worked out successfully through a subscription campaign to partially underwrite the production expenses. Gene Yell, associate director of University theatre, University of New Mexico, is directing all plays and is chairman of the Board of Governors.

The cast is composed of graduates and students of the drama department of the university, people who have chosen theatre as their vocation.

Playing the lead roles in the opening production will be Miss Rosetta Flippin and Leonard Drum. Miss Flippin will play the part of Elvira while Mr. Drum will take the part of Charles in the drama. Also participating in the first play in a minor part will be Mrs. Marion Smith, of Green and 8th streets, Oakland.

Miss Flippin is a senior of the drama department and has played stock at Las Vegas and Carlsbad, while Mr. Drum has done TV, night clubs and Broadway for the past two years.

The box office at the theatre is open from 1 to 5 p. m. and subscribers were urged to make reservations for their seats on a particular evening. General admission is $1.10 while season tickets are available for $7.50 which gives a subscriber an admission to each of the six plays and also a guest ticket.

Continuation of the summer playhouse in future years is dependent upon the success of this initial effort, but those in charge were optimistic because of the support given the subscription campaign conducted by the Business and Professional Women's club of Oakland, and the wide interest he shown.

Succeeding plays this summer are listed as: July 12-16, "Night Must Fall," by Elyn Williams; July 19-23, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde; July 26-30, "Dangerous Corner," by J. B. Priestley; August 2-6, "Claudia," by Rose Franken; August 9-13, "The Fox-poster," by Jan de Hartog.

Local people are assisting with many of the arrangements. The Board of Governors includes Mrs. Homer Bennett, Mrs. Glenn Randall, C. W. Englander, Irvin Feld, J. M. Jarboe, George Littman, Edward Smouse, Earl Zepp and Mr. Yell as chairman.

Ticks for the seats at the Summer Playhouse have been completed and everything is in readiness for the opening night. Rehearsals have been in progress during the past week. Curtain time is 8:15, D.S.T.

Around seventy-five persons attended the annual dinner meeting of the Garrett County Historical Society last Thursday evening at Accident. The dinner was served in the Accident Fire Hall by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Guest of honor and principal speaker was Miss Elizabeth Fairall, prominent business woman of Washington, D. C., and vice-president of Julius Garfinkel and Co. Miss Fairall spoke in a historical vein, recalling a number of stories her ancestors related, and interspersed her address with a number of anecdotes. At the conclusion of her address Miss Fairall was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the society, and given a life membership in the group.

Rathbun, Oakland, secretary; Herbert Shaffer, Oakland, treasurer; Lowell Loomis, Oakland, and F. R. Corliss, Jr., Deep Creek Lake, assistant secretaries.

It was announced by Harry C. Edwards, of Grantsville, member of the House of Delegates, that $20,000 had been appropriated by the State to be used to preserve the old Castleman River bridge, east of Grantsville, and asked the historical society to consider placing a suitable marker at the location for posterity.

ONE WORD...

Can Change Your Life
By LEV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Sad
You have found that life starts speaking in tears at an early age and never seems to lose its voice. You think that Longfellow was a little shortsighted when he observed that into each life some rain must fall. Some rain? Why, it never rains but what it pours! Shakespeare's Hamlet is on your side. He said: "When sorrows come, they come not single spies, but in battalions."

But sorrow tends to soften what is hard in you. It cracks your outer shell. Furthermore, you should remember that high resolves and noble accomplishments, sometimes have their birth in despair. Bunyan wrote his "Pilgrim's Progress" in jail. Beethoven composed music when he couldn't hear a note. Elizabeth Browning penned her famous lines while paralyzed. Jesus prayed for forgiveness of His enemies while dying on a cross.

Yes, you say, but these were unusual people. Certainly they were. Unusual because they found the riches of God hidden in their place of sorrow. But God doesn't play favorites. He is willing to give you hidden riches in your sorrow, too. Lay hold of them. There's no law against being unusual. Anyway, the bottom of life doesn't need to drop out just because you're sad, the word that can change your life.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Support
In just a month from today the historic "at the summit" conference of the heads of the four great powers will open at Geneva. Considering the disturbed state of the world, the importance of this conference can hardly be exaggerated. It easily may be that at the first tentative step toward a permanent world peace will be taken.

Certainly, while heeding the admonition not to be too optimistic, that is the hope of the American people as a whole as well as of the rank and file in the other free, participating and adhering states. Under these circumstances, it would seem that regardless of party most Americans would want to get behind their President and let it be known that at Geneva he represents and speaks for this country in its entirety.

However, if one judges from the speeches and articles recently emanating from Washington and elsewhere such is not to be his experience. On the contrary, the Democratic politicians and journalists, dedicated to the cause of Mr. Adlai Stevenson, now recognized as an eager candidate for renomination in the Democratic Convention, last week launched what seems to be a campaign of personal disparagement of the President practically on the eve of his departure. It is somewhat significant that Mr. Stevenson personally has seemed to join in this political strategy. Mr. Stevenson, of course, does not make direct charges. That isn't his way. Subtle and subtle, he intimates and insinuates, urges "support of the President but expresses fear lest he not measure up to the "great opportunities" presented and regrets that he does not seem to have had the best available advice.

This line, while more openly taken, is also that of publicity agents of the Democratic National Committee who allege that while there are scores of "wise and experienced men" eager to help in this national crisis, Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles deliberately ignore them, surround themselves by men of neither wisdom nor experience. A really terrible picture is painted of a feeble, uninformed President attended by aides who keep the facts not only from him but from the American people. This silly and slightly sinister stuff is being widely spread over the country. One group of New Deal-Fair Deal columnists calls upon Mr. Eisenhower to summon to his side a long list of men who presumably could pull him out of the quicksands and save the Republic. It is interesting to note that not only does the journalistic gentlemen, who so earnestly deplore Mr. Eisenhower's failure to call for these men, anti-Eisenhower now but without exception the names on their list are of men who supported Mr. Stevenson in the last campaign and are anxious to support him again.

If the situation confronting the country were not so serious and the coming conference so momentous, this sort of stuff might be regarded as amusing. But, as things are, it is not amusing at all and is not intended to be. Despite Mr. Stevenson's patronizing advice and pious hopes about the Geneva conference and his routine plea for united support of the President, the politicians conducting his renomination campaign are doing their best to belittle Mr. Eisenhower at home and weaken him abroad. Another group of anti-Eisenhower commentators, containing some close personally to Mr. Stevenson, make the charge that the President is engaged in a campaign of news censorship and suppression. Aside from the fact that Mr. Eisenhower is more open, less secretive and more expansive in his news conferences than either of his two predecessors, the effort to make him out as favoring news suppression just does not stand up. The instances cited are of a somewhat hysterical nature and do not involve him personally at all. Under existing conditions everybody recognizes that a certain degree of caution is essential but certainly no one who knows the character of the President would associate him with any degree of unnecessary censorship.

It is also rather absurd that those now most vocal about the Eisenhower Administration's censorship should continue to be oblivious of

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The thias will be living the orator, orating, the children shouting and gleefully hanging their firecrackers about and the lemonade will be cool and tempting.

Practically everywhere in the United States, in every county and city throughout the land, hands have been rehearsed, pageants and parades have been planned and all is ready for the celebration of the greatest day in American history—the Fourth of July.

Independence seems to be a particular pride of the American people. While in these parlous times the shadow of fear hangs over the world, while organized disaster seems to threaten from every point of the compass, we maintain our independence and glory in it.

Perhaps the feeling grows from the knowledge that this independence is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States—the most important political document in the history of mankind. Perhaps it stems from the knowledge of the sacrifices, the determination, and the courage of our forefathers who fought the American Revolution, the fight which brought to fruition the hopes and dreams of the 13 original colonies which were expressed in the Declaration of Independence.

Under this Constitution our Nation has expanded in territory, in power, in commerce and in happiness.

Our system of free enterprise has been denounced by every dictator in contemporary history. We have been branded as a capitalist, decadent and reactionary people. We have been called soft. Perhaps that is the definition some apply to independence.

But let us point out to those who would judge us so, we have never started a war nor have we lost one. For it is a strange, but happy paradox—we are independent and we are the most united people on earth.

The far more inexcusable and very real censorship of their political idols, the late Mr. Roosevelt and his successor, Mr. Truman. Certainly, it should be easy to recall the violent, denunciatory letters of the latter to the newspaper men who ventured to criticize him. It should be equally easy to recall the personal efforts of Mr. Roosevelt not only to censor the newspapers which dared differ with him but personally to damage correspondents who expressed dissent from his views. No president ever seemed to lower opinions or personal conduct, and it is not to the credit of his more intelligent friends that they have chosen to ignore it.

Given Jail Sentence

Harold Lewis, Jr., of near Deer Park, was given a ninety-day sentence in the county jail on a charge of non-support of his wife, at a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on Tuesday.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT ASSISTANT

Ordered Held For Jury After Shooting

Two men who allegedly staged a wild shooting spree ten days ago on U. S. route 49, near Gortley's Lake which injured two Allegany county men, last Friday were held for action on the September grand jury in Fayette county, Pa.

The pair, William W. Jackson, 59, Denver truck driver, and Samuel P. Johnson, 39, Houston, Texas, are being held in the county jail at Uniontown on $1,500 bond each on charges of felonious shooting. Fayette County Sheriff Jacob Ehard said the two pleaded not guilty to the charges at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Victor Holt, who set the bond.

Sheriff Ehard said the two men face a possible five to 20-year sentence if indicted and convicted on the charges. Jackson and Johnson reportedly "shot up" approximately 10 cars on the highway on June 14 with 22 caliber pistols, firing from their truck which was parked off the road some 50 to 60 feet.

The bullets struck the passing autos, injuring four persons, including Lyman Zeller, Cumberland, and Paul Kiddy, Frostburg. Also injured and hospitalized were Robert Gallen, 35, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Walter Treneske, Pittsburgh.

Jackson who police said admitted being involved in a similar shooting escapade in Kansas, said he was told by state police "to shoot road bogs to mark their cars and identify them," in explaining his actions.

Johnson, however, denies any connection with the Kansas affair and told police he was a hitchhiker who joined Jackson at Columbus, O.

State Will Halt Polio Program Now

The Salk vaccine program will not be resumed in Maryland until "further developments," the State Board of Health decided this week.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the Health Department's Bureau of Preventive medicine, told reporters after the board meeting "there isn't a drop" of anti-polio vaccine in the state.

He and Dr. Huntington Williams, Baltimore health commissioner, recommended a wait-and-see attitude on resumption of the program because of "the changing situation in the national picture on the Salk vaccine matter," and because of the lack of vaccine.

Davens said 111,745 children received the first in the series of three shots before Maryland suspended its program for the inoculation of nearly 127,000 first and second grade pupils. Two of these were stricken by paralytic polio in what State health officials described as a "mere coincidence."

The Buick automobile of Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer, was damaged to the extent of almost $200 on June 19, five miles west of Frederick, in a crash, but no one was injured.

Welch was third in a line of four cars when the one ahead found it necessary to apply the brakes suddenly. The second and third cars did likewise but the fourth car, operated by Wayne Tucker of Jefferson, near Frederick, was not so fortunate and collided with the Welch automobile. The Tucker car was badly damaged.

Kitzmiller Mine—Lately Reinspected

Removal of dangerous loose coal accumulations from active underground workings and adequate rock-dusting of all mine surfaces that were not definitely wet were urged today by the United States Bureau of Mines in a Federal coal-mine inspection report for the Burrell Coal Company's Mill No. 1 mine near Kitzmiller.

The nine-man mine averages 22 tons of coal daily when inspected recently by T. J. Ward.

The Federal inspector recommended using only incombustible material for stemming boreholes, improved ventilation in the face regions, preshift and weekly examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, and ample fire-fighting facilities.

Other suggestions called for removal of obstructions from the clearance space along the haulage roads and the use of goggles or shields by workmen doing eye-hazardous work.

Recent improvements included removal of accumulations of coal dust from around the coal bins and proper storage of explosives in the working places.

THE AMERICAN WAY

DAM FOOLISHNESS
AT HELLS CANYON

By GEORGE PECK

Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, "Partners."

In defiance of common sense and against the best interests of the nation's taxpayers, a group of Senators is now conducting a parliamentary maneuver to block development of power at Hells Canyon on the Snake River in Oregon and Idaho. They are supporting a bill that would authorize construction of just one federal hydro-electric dam on the border between the two states, at a cost of $165 million to the taxpayers of the U. S. A.

Their bill, S-1333, completely ignores a recent report by a Federal Power Commission examiner that generally favors development of power sites along the river by the Idaho Power Company, in line with applications first made by the Company as long ago as 1947.

These "put-the-government-into-business" Senators don't really expect to get their bill enacted by both the House and Senate this year. Their objective is simply to stall a little longer so that at a later date, they will be able to complain that the nation's investor-owned electric companies are not keeping up with the country's power needs. This is indeed bad news for the Oregon-Idaho area.

But if the group were to jam their bill through Congress, it would be even worse news for the rest of the nation. A new study by the Council of the State Chambers of Commerce focuses attention on the sheer folly of the federal proposal for just one high dam at Hells Canyon in contrast to Idaho Power's plan for three smaller dams along the river. Actually, the best that could be said for such a federal dam is that it would be the nation's highest monument to the public power philosophy.

There is very little difference in the amounts of energy to be developed under the two proposals—785,000 kilowatts for the federal project, 770,000 kilowatts for the Idaho Power Company's program. But the federal project, according to Federal Power Commission staff estimates, would cost the government—which means the taxpayers—at least $404 million. All three dams in the Company project would cost, according to FPC staff estimates, $195 million; and if the Company's own figures are correct, only $133 million.

Of still more importance as between these two proposals is the fact that the federal plan would tap the public treasury; the Company plan would not. If the Idaho Power Company builds its three dams and generates and markets the resulting energy under the usual government regulation, the federal taxpayers will escape scot-free—with no new burdens and without the constant threat of new Congressional appropriations as public power advocates seek to build Hells Canyon into another

TVA

This has a specific dollars-and-cents meaning all over the country as the Council of the State Chambers of Commerce points out. If the federal government builds the one high dam at Hells Canyon the Treasury will have to lay out $404 million for construction costs and additional sums for interest and transmission facilities, for a total of $465 million.

This sum represents $9 each for every taxpayer in the nation. It means that Idaho, like Tennessee and other public power states, will be receiving tribute in the form of tax subsidies from every other state in the country.

The Council has some interesting figures on what the Hells Canyon project would cost citizens in the various states on the basis of their customary share in federal tax bills. Thus, New Yorkers would involuntarily kick in almost $69 million to meet Idaho power needs, residents of Nevada, the least populous of our states, would fork over about $744,000. Texans would dish out nearly $19 million; and Ohioans would be clipped for nearly $30 million.

If the public power Hells Canyon project should go through, it would not be long before the public power bloc would be seeking similar decisions on a whole list of such projects in the Pacific Northwest and California in which industry and municipalities have offered to participate or build themselves. These involve another $724 million worth of construction. If they were added to Hells Canyon as federal power projects, they would cost the federal taxpayer no less than $23 a head.

Undoubtedly, you readers of this column are squawking to high heaven about the size of your present tax bills. Then, how would you like to have the federal government "nick" you for an additional $23, as it proceeds to "socialize" another facet of our economy? Well, that's exactly what will happen if that group of public-power-advocating Senators succeeds in putting over its proposal of dam foolishness at Hells Canyon.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

RAINBOW TROUT
(Salmo gairdnerii)

RANGE: A native of the western coast of North America; has been successfully introduced in the east, where suitable habitat is found; it also has been successfully planted in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties, and less successfully in the cold waters of Cecil, Harford, Baltimore and Anne Arundel Counties, Maryland; it also has been successfully transplanted in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America.

DESCRIPTION: Color varies in different waters; generally olive color on back, silver-green on sides; dorsal fin and tail dotted with black spots; broad band of purple-red extends all along both sides; average weight in streams about one pound, larger in lakes and reservoirs; world's record 37 pounds.

BREEDING: The female prepares the nest by cleaning out a depression in gravel bottom; the eggs are laid by female and generally fertilized by two males; after eggs deposited female moves slightly up stream and washes loose gravel over the eggs, which hatch in about 48 days in a water temperature of about 45 degrees F. Doubtful if it successfully propagates in many eastern waters, but is successfully propagated in fish hatcheries.

HABITS: Noted for its strength and agility and tendency to leap when hooked; must have well aerated water with a temperature of not less than 70 degrees or 75 degrees F. throughout the year; probably shifts more in lakes and streams than our native brook trout.

MANAGEMENT: Essential that rainbow trout have clear, cold, pure water, hence elimination of all pollution is necessary; more food and cover can be provided by stream improvement such as the construction of small dams, current deflectors and other stream obstructions that will make currents, and form deep holes, aerate and purify the water; forestation, contour plowing, and planting, vegetation along the banks of streams will reduce siltation, and lower the water temperature.

VALUE: Prized for the sport it affords and for its beauty and as food; sale is prohibited in Maryland and in most other sections, unless hand reared and under permit, hence no estimate of its value commercially.

ROOM FOR TWIN-ENGINE PLANE—A twin-engine plane, a Piper Apache, landed Sunday, June 26, at Bowman's Field at McHenry, for the first time, and had plenty of room to spare. Owned by T. N. Gounaris, of Baltimore, the plane was brought down on about 1,000 feet of the 2,300-foot runway. Charles H. Bowman, manager of the airstrip, said it was the only field in Garrett county listed on the Huntington chart of the C.A.A. and was becoming better known each week. Two weeks ago there was a forced landing on the field when a plane's motor conked out. An average of five or six new planes have been landing there each week and the total probably will grow as it becomes more widely known that the field is sufficiently large to accommodate the larger type planes.

$26,212.61 Is Spent For Welfare in May

Expenditures through the Garrett County Welfare Board during May amounted to $26,212.61, according to figures released by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the state department of public welfare. This did not include administration costs.

The report showed a total of 762 persons receiving assistance in comparison to 729 the previous month, and the amount for May was almost $1,000 more than for the previous month when $25,215.86 was expended.

The May report showed that the biggest amount went to dependent children where 79 children in 120 families received $10,663.19, an average of $88.86 per family. There were 8 new applications, 12 cases added and 4 cancelled.

Two hundred forty-seven persons listed under old age assistance received $9,775.07, an average of $39.58. There were 8 new applications here with 4 cases added and 3 cancelled.

Five blind persons received $284.85. One hundred persons were listed as permanently and totally disabled and they received $4,238.40, an average of $42.38. There were 3 new applications with 3 cases being added and 2 cancelled. Twenty persons listed under general public assistance received $788.05, an average of $39.40. In this category there were 5 new applications with 5 cases being added and 6 cancelled. Eleven persons listed under foster home care received $442.75, an average of $40.25.

Public assistance to employables was given to twenty-nine persons and they received $1,138.29, an average of $39.25.

Throughout the state total payments in all categories amounted to $1,691,708, in comparison to $1,793,010 for the previous month and $1,556,162 during May a year ago.

Approve Extension

Money to expand telephone facilities in Taneytown, Hampstead and Bittinger to the extent of $55,000 was approved by the Board of Directors of the C. and P. Telephone company on June 27, it has been announced.

The improvements at the Bittinger telephone exchange in this county will make it possible to add 25 more persons to the list of subscribers. Engineering work on the project already has been completed and it was expected that the new service would be available within a short time.

Suggestions Given For Safe Swimming

Most people in the United States do not know how to swim, and that's the basic reason why drowning becomes one of the most important causes of accidental death in the summer.

National Safety Council figures show that about half the drownings each year take place in only three months—June, July and August. In Maryland counties this statement is more than verified by figures which show that during the last three years out of a total of 286 drownings, 175 occurred during June, July and August.

So if you are planning to swim this summer—and it's fine exercise as well as pleasant recreation—pay attention to these suggestions from the Maryland State Department of Health.

Learn to swim well. Self-taught "dog paddlers" too often think they are swimmers and overestimate their abilities. Know your limits as a swimmer and stay within them.

Never swim alone. Always have help at hand, preferably a life-guard with the knowledge and equipment for rescue. Don't swim after dark for the same reason. It is too hard for even an expert to assist you in the dark.

It is dangerous to dive into water of undetermined depth. Submerged rocks or logs may knock you out. Sudden plunges into cold water should be avoided. Go in gradually, and remember that you tire faster in cold water. Don't plunge into water when you are overheated, and wait at least an hour after eating.

Never jokingly call for help, and don't splash or annoy others who are treading in the water. Horseplay and pranks cause many water accidents each year.

Even strong swimmers are subject to cramps and bad guesses on their endurance. If you want to swim for any distance have someone follow you in a boat.

In open areas not protected by enclosures or the depth of the surrounding water is not known it is often dangerous for children to use beach balls, inflated animals or light rubber rafts. A gust of wind often blows them beyond reach, and in trying to retrieve them, a child may get beyond his depth. This is a point adults should keep in mind, too.

President Eisenhower ordered "vigorous action" on all but a relatively few of the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

Drive Succeeds For Terra Alta Church Building

The $40,000 drive for a new educational building which the Terra Alta Methodist church conducted during the past week ended successfully Friday evening after a four day intensive campaign. $46,064.56 was received by cash gifts or signed pledges covering a three year period.

The campaign was directed by Dr. R. Moorman Parker of Charleston, executive secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist church. The drive was launched at the church's Forward-Step Banquet last Tuesday at which time more than $32,000 toward the goal was realized.

The Rev. Sumner D. Sawyers, pastor of the church, joined the general chairman, J. Frank Beatty, in expressing their pleasure at the enthusiasm with which the project was received by members of the congregation and friends of the church; also their appreciation for the loyal cooperation from the group of 75 campaign workers.

In addition, Beatty pointed out that while the goal had been achieved, he hoped that those who had planned to take a part, but had not yet done so, would not hesitate to communicate with officials of the executive committee or W. H. Harriman, treasurer of the building fund. The $40,000 figure is to finance the construction of the building and not the necessary interior appointments and heating system.

The official board of the church, headed by John W. Markwood, chairman, announced that preliminary studies, working drawings, and specifications, as prepared by architect Albert F. Tucker of Huntington, have been under consideration. These plans propose a three story structure including 11-class rooms, a youth center, church office and a choir room.

Barring unforeseen circumstances, construction is slated to begin July 15. As yet, no contract has been let for the job.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In every country in the world which the Communists have conquered, their first step has been the conquest of the student mind with books. This statement comes from one of the world's outstanding scholars on the subject, Dr. Fred Schwarz, the Australian surgeon-psychiatrist who left his profession several years ago to crusade against Communism throughout the free world. He spoke recently at the 16th Freedom Forum, conducted by The National Education Program at Searcy, Arkansas.

In the Communist technique of conquering, the colleges and universities are the first target—faculty and students. "Throughout the world today," Dr. Schwarz said, "the fundamental battle is for the minds of the young intellectuals. They are the elite. They must plant the seeds and lead the revolution, capturing the masses to be used as the pawns of Communism. And yet few people understand and recognize this fact. We've misdiagnosed Communism as a disease of the poor, originating in bad economic conditions, originating in poverty, with a natural corollary that to treat it we've got to improve economic conditions."

"Now don't misunderstand me; God bless every improvement in economic conditions! But if we think we're going to stop Communism in that way we're fantastically deluded. And yet, that idea underlies probably 90 per cent of what is being done. Every Red leader who became a Communist in a non-Communist country, because one, not as a poor man, not as a working man, not as a son of toil, but as a student intellectual, materialistic in philosophy and atheist in faith."

The Communists, working from their Moscow citadel, are distributing great masses of literature throughout the world, to the public and particularly to the colleges and universities. "They have control," he said, "over the thoughts, the ideas, the beliefs of 75 per cent of the people of the world outside their own limits."

He said that in the universities of Japan, Communist books, printed in English, were provided free and were being used "to teach young Japanese intellectuals how to read and speak English! Their minds become moulded into the Communist pattern, and they are excited to revolution."

This recalled to my mind the excellent series of articles on India written last winter by Carl T. Rowan, Minneapolis Tribune reporter, Rowan, a Negro, spent four months in India. He found Communism deeply embedded in the universities. He found few Reds among India's poor. After touring India, he wrote that he had "seen the hammer and sickle waving in only a few villages." "It was the disgruntled, unhappy among the educated," he said, "whom I heard singing the praise of Communism."

"Some important Indian army people told me," wrote Rowan, "that the Communists can paralyze the heart of India in an invasion, just by using college students."

Swanton-Loch Lynn Win Sunday Games

Bobby Raines got his 5th straight victory in the Mountain Top Baseball League Sunday but had to mow them down for 14 innings before the Swanton Dodgers finally eked out a 4-3 decision over Terra Alta in a game played at Terra Alta.

Terra Alta tied the score at 3-3 with a two-run rally in the ninth, and Swanton tied the game in the 14th on successive singles by Pickus, Raines and Cardora.

From the fifth inning Bob Fraley and Raines hooked up in a mound duel and the former was charged with the loss. Raines struck out 23 batters to run his total to 80 victims in five contests.

Pickus of Swanton, and Terry Bolyard of the losers had three hits each. Warnick banged a double and a single and Cardora had two one-base hits for Swanton.

John Foley, big righthander, whiffed 13 in twirling Loch Lynn to a 10-4 victory over Bayard, the latter's sixth straight loss. Scripp accounted for two of the West Virginians' three singles. For Loch Lynn Bolyard obtained two hits and Winters, Weimer and Shlaubach smacked two-baggers. Evans, Sherman and Fulk, Bayard pitchers, struck out 13.

Norma Roth Weds Lorraine Gnegy

Miss Norma Eleanor Roth, daughter of Mrs. Bernice R. Roth and the late Russell P. Roth, Oakland, became the bride of Lorraine G. Gnegy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Gnegy, on Sunday, June 26. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 2 p. m., in St. John's Lutheran church at Red House, with Rev. William A. Renn, pastor, officiating.

The altar was decorated with vases of white carnations and lighted with tall candles. Miss Mary Jane Roth, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Marie Jenkins, who sang "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Jo Ann Grabenstein, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Ruby Gnegy was bridesmaid. Merlin Gnegy was best man, and ushers were Dale S. Gnegy and Robert E. Dodge.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, John P. Roth, wore a waltz-length white gown of hand clipped rosepoint lace and nylon tulle. The gown had a three-tiered skirt and was topped with a lace jacket. The finger tip veil of nylon net was held with a tiara of seed pearls and she carried her white Bible with white roses and sweetheart roses with ribbon streamers and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a pair of cluster pearl earrings.

The maid of honor wore a waltz-length gown of ice blue lace and net. The bridesmaid wore a waltz-length gown of yellow lace and net. They carried matching colonial bouquets.

Mrs. Roth, mother of the bride, was attired in a blue cross tuck nylon dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Gnegy, mother of the groom, wore a blue nylon dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. The bride's table was decorated with white tapers, crystal candelabra and garden flowers. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. W. Lester Hudson, Mrs. Homer Gnegy, Mrs. Robert Dodge and Mrs. Richard J. Grabenstein.

Mr. and Mrs. Gnegy left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls. For traveling the bride wore a pink linen dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Oakland High school and Memorial hospital school of nursing in Cumberland. She is obstetrical supervisor at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

Mr. Gnegy also is a graduate of Oakland High school. A veteran of the Korean war, he is now employed by the Petty Geophysical Engineering company.

Upon their return they will reside at the bride's home, south of Oakland.

Guests attended the ceremony from Pittsburgh, Cumberland, Confluence, Meyersdale, Somerset, Keyser and Morgantown.

20 Percent Social Security Payments To Mothers-Children

Of the $30,961 in monthly social security benefits being paid in Garrett County at the end of 1954, $6,234, or about 20 percent, went to mothers and children, according to James E. Robertson, Social Security Administration district manager in Cumberland.

Mr. Robertson pointed out that payments to mothers and children have special significance to the community as a whole because they help families to stay together after the death of the breadwinner.

In the nation as a whole, 271,536 mothers and 1,160,740 children were receiving social security insurance payments at the end of 1954. Total payments in 1954 were $133 million to mothers and $451 million to children.

Under the old-age and survivors insurance program, workers and their employers and self-employed people pay into a fund while they are working, and when earnings stop because of the death of the worker or because he has retired, payments are made from the fund to the worker and his dependents or to his survivors.

In all, 808 people in Garrett County were receiving $30,961 each month in benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program at the end of the year. This was an increase of 13 percent over 1953.

One reason for the increase was the passage last September of the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act. These amendments increased all benefit payments and made it possible for the first time for survivors of some workers who died after 1939 and before 1950 to qualify for payments.

Beginning in September 1954 the amendments permit the "dropping out" of up to 5 years of lowest earnings in figuring the worker's average monthly wage. This has the effect of increasing the average earnings, from which the monthly payments are figured.

Other improvements in the law made by the 1954 amendments went into effect in 1955, and therefore are not reflected in the benefit figures for the end of 1954. Among these were the bringing of many more employees and self-employed people under the law and the beginning of the "disability freeze," which protects future benefit rights of former workers who have become totally disabled.

Mr. Robertson pointed out that nine out of ten mothers and children are now protected by old-age and survivors insurance in case of the death of the family breadwinner and that in the entire country about half of the children whose fathers have died now receive benefit payments.

In Garrett County at the end of the year, 130 aged wives and husbands were receiving $3,220 per month as dependents of retired workers, and 45 aged widows and parents received $1,766 as surviving dependents of deceased workers.

The Cumberland social security office is in the U.S. Post Office Building and representatives of the office regularly visit Oakland every Tuesday.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Adlai's Disappointment

Although he is in control of the National Committee and enough party leaders, such as Governor Harriman of New York, Governor "Soaps" Williams of Michigan, ex-President Truman and various others have come out for his renomination, Mr. Adlai Stevenson is not happy. He publicly pretends to be but he isn't.

This information comes not from his opponents but from his personal and political friends. As one of these recently said, Mr. Stevenson has no real rival for the nomination. Yet, he is discouraged and one of his closest advisers offers a reasonable explanation. Chiefly, this is based on the lack of vibrancy among Democratic leaders in Congress concerning his campaign. Every time one of these has publicly declared for him, Mr. Stevenson has quickly gotten in touch either by coming here for a personal talk or by calling on the telephone.

He has eagerly sought their advice. Should he not now put a Democratic platform before the country? Should he not announce an affirmative policy on this or that? Should he not now make a specific attack on the President. In brief, should he not now assert his party leadership by denouncing the Administration and assailing the President? There is no question that Mr. Stevenson anticipated affirmative answers to these questions and was disappointed when he did not get them. Instead of being urged to "cut loose" and "give 'em hell" in the Truman style, he was told by these supporters to "take it easy." Keep on making speeches but leave the business of formulating the platform and enunciating policies to the Democratic leaders in Congress; that the time has not yet arrived for personal attacks on the President.

It is easy to see why responses such as these should dampen the Stevenson ardor and leave him distressed. Facile and fluent as he is, he cannot continue making speeches without something to say. If he is not to lay down party policy he soon will reach the point where he will bore the people. That, of course, is fatal. Already, some newspapers that regularly printed everything he said in full have begun to shorten his output. Not always does it get on the first page. In addition, while he again has the support of the two big labor bosses—Mr. Walter Reuther and Mr. George Meany—it is beginning to be realized that in some ways that support can become a liability as well as an asset.

Of course, the main trouble with the Democrats is that the country is not only prosperous but at peace. The Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policies at least have not failed and the depression forecast by the Democratic spokesmen has not materialized. Actually, the state of the nation and the state of the world are better than in January, 1953, when the twenty years of New Deal-Fair Deal came to an end. The new President has not done all he hoped and planned. But, certainly, he has lost neither prestige nor popularity. Clearly, the Stevenson hope is for a lucky break. Either the President will make a great blunder or the depression will develop. In other words, the Democrats are in the unpleasant position of depending upon calamity for success.

They expect to nominate the same candidate as in 1952, and the candidate is already campaigning. However, the candidate does not seem to have gained in voting strength in the last three years and is now under the handicap of holding no official position from which he can speak with authority or some measure of responsibility. He is, to be sure, the "titular leader" of his party but is not as yet accepted as its real leader, which depressing fact he has found out on his recent quiet visits to Washington. He is not, his intimates say, complaining but he is disappointed. On the other hand, Democratic congressional leaders say he has no reason to think that he must now make party policies or platform. What they mean when they tell him they are for him, say these leaders, is that they are for him "as of now."

Functioning as the "titular leader" he may make a blunder as easily as anyone else constantly making speeches. Also, if the present prosperity continues another year and Mr. Eisenhower runs again there would hardly be a chance to beat him. Considering these things it is not too surprising that Democratic leaders, willing as they are to join in his renomination, should not want to turn the party over to him now. The reason, of course, is their basic belief that with a prosperous country at peace no one can beat Mr. Eisenhower. That makes it easy to understand their willingness to renominate Mr. Stevenson. Also, it accounts for their determination to hold the making of Democratic policies in their hands, secure in the conviction that if nominated Mr. Stevenson will accept those policies as his own.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

A Destructive Effect of Moderate Internationalism

Even a policy of moderate internationalism, while hopefully intending to fortify the community of free nations, can at the same time unwittingly erode some of the most sensitive foundations of our industrial and economic structure. This unfortunate condition was brought sharply into focus last week when a two-fronted attack was directed at legislation which would reserve for American shipping at least 50 percent of all government purchased or government financed cargoes.

In 1954, the Congress decreed that the protection as guaranteed by this so-called 50-50 provision was essential to preserve our merchant marine in a healthy state so that it might survive unfair and cheap-labor foreign competition. Now, the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Agriculture Committee have proposed the removal of this fundamental security. Were these recommendations to be sustained, American shipping—already buttressed by serious difficulties—would suffer another 25 percent loss in cargoes. Contrasted with the fact that our ships now carry a meager 29 percent of our own cargoes, further privation could only be alarmingly disastrous.

These assaults spring from allegations that the dispatching of agricultural surplus commodities, from the vast storages accumulated at great expense to the American taxpayers, has slackened through the unavailability of U. S. vessels—an assertion which, in my opinion, is open to grave question. Within the past six months, the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, after intensive hearings and investigations, concluded that the 50-50 provision did not, in any way, deter or impair the effective disposal of surplus commodities.

As the co-author of this cargo preference legislation, known as the Butler-Mollefson Bill, enacted by the Congress last year for the purpose of preserving the American flag on the high seas, I fear that the American merchant marine is being placed on the sacrificial block in our haste to dispense our surplus agricultural commodities and benevolence abroad.

The disgraceful plan to scrap the 50-50 provision must be defeated. Realistic judgment, rather than an ill-conceived expediency, must prevail. If not, full responsibility for scuttling the American merchant marine must be assumed by those in Congress and elsewhere who seem bent on the destruction of our Fourth Arm of Defense and an essential segment of our peacetime national economy.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Money Unconscious

In reading the story of Ike and his four brothers one of the president's statements hit me square in the face. "We were very poor but the glory of America is that we didn't know it."

That has been the thing that has made me ponder over my own childhood more than any one thing. If I had been asked as a child if we were poor or rich I would not have known how to answer. We were money unconscious. At least I was—maybe my father and mother weren't—but we never knew.

Never knew when the farm was paid for—never knew if there was a mortgage—never knew if we had more than our neighbors or if they had more than we. Just knew there was always plenty of food and clothes to hand down and by some magic we went away to school.

As far as I knew we didn't try to keep up with the Jones and I don't suppose they tried to keep up with us.

Just money unconscious—and it's a wonderful state to be in.

Not Any More

But America is not like that today! I wonder if the President has the same feeling about it that I do.

When I'm at youth meetings I do a great deal of counseling and it's almost frightening to me to realize how seriously youth is taking the money question.

They're feeling its importance in a responsible sort of way. One young lady said "My mother just throws the money—I wonder what would happen to us if Dad should die."

And another one, "We're a large family and I wonder if I should go to such an expensive school." Or, "I feel that I should get a job and help out."

There Are Others

Still more frightening to me are those with the attitude that there is more where this came from. So they by-pass foods of high nutrition and gorge on "junk" from the camp store. Some even eating and drinking from the store on their way from breakfast. Some youngsters spend as much as 75 cents per day over and above camp tuition.

Maybe they're money unconscious in a different sort of way from the Eisenhoweres.

Every once in a while I rub elbows with a family where money doesn't even seem to whisper. They are wrapped up in hobbies, doing worthwhile things and with purpose of living. Oh that it were the way of life for more of us.

Uncle Charlie

I wish you could know this man. He is not my uncle, but an entire state calls him that.

He was a wonderful man when he was on the job, but has grown more so since retirement.

Through studies he learned that folks live longer if they retire at 65 instead of pushing to 70—educators that is. Am not sure about all groups. So he retired at the time that many folks thought he had much to give. He wanted to do some community work (build an addition to the church) then he said he was going to sit on the porch. If he felt like it, he might even rock a bit while sitting.

But he hasn't gotten around to rocking yet.

He returned to his old stamping ground last week to talk to youth and he did a super-duper job. He admitted that he had never spent as much time on a talk in his life, but he loved doing it. It was a finished job. Yet he looked rested. There was the twinkle in the eye and he was still an inspiration to youth.

Now, he may have a chance to teach his greatest lesson through example—how to get a lot from life after retirement. It's a big field these days and maybe it will be one of the great arts.

Mildred Besse

Mildred Dixon Besse, one of our Oakland gals a few years back, had to make a decision after By died last year. She could sit down and grieve herself to death or pick up and be a useful person. Now she has a job as a conductor of tours to Europe. She will make several tours a year.

Mildred should be perfect for such a job. By used to manage tours to Europe for his company and his wife was his "right hand man." With her natural charm and originality she should make a perfect conductor.

ONE WORD...

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROY. CLEWILLER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Past

You know the thrill you get out of revisiting old familiar places, returning to the scene of a treasured experience, recalling significant associations of the past. You are amazed at how much you keep seeing by looking back.

Some might comment on this as though living in the past were a son. Don't be taken in so easily. My grandmother and I used to go to the family graveside every week for five years. The last time we went, she stayed. But I keep going back I live when I'm there. Of course I live in the past. I recall the enriching talks we had, the wise bits of counsel I received from her, the things we spoke about God. The past is mine and it means so much to me in the present. The future isn't mine; it isn't here yet.

Yes, it's a thrill to look back where you looked many times before. Some things you'd like to forget may sneak into mind, but every remembrance can help you make your living a life. So don't let others mislead you. No one needs to scare you away from your past, the word that can change your life.

$150,000 Suit Filed As Result of Crash

A 24-year-old serviceman has been sued for $150,000 in Allegany county circuit court as a result of a head-on collision in which four were hurt on U.S. route 40, three miles west of Grantsville on July 7, 1954.

Elva B. Pease, 36, and her husband, Elmer L. Pease, 40, both of Montgomery City, Mo., filed two suits for damages as the outgrowth of the collision, against Joseph L. Ivery, stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Texas.

Mrs. Pease is asking $125,000 damages, claims permanent injuries of the legs and hips, shock and long confinement in hospitals recovering from the injuries, large medical expenses and loss of employment in her profession as a licensed practical nurse.

Her husband asks $25,000 damages for injuries sustained in the crash, medical expenses and loss of services of his wife. Pease listed his occupation as a farmer.

The suit claimed it was negligence on the part of Ivery, who was driving the car which crashed into the Pease automobile which caused the mishap. The two cars met head-on when Ivery's car attempted to pass a truck headed east toward Cumberland and skidded into the Pease vehicle which was traveling west at the time.

Injured in the crash besides the Peases were Ivery, who suffered severe head injuries, and another serviceman, Otis L. Stanton, 24, who had severe head lacerations. Both were hospitalized along with the Pease family.

Deserres Support

The Garrett County Playhouse certainly deserves the support of the community to aid in making it one of the permanent features of the summer entertainment program.

We could very easily get enthusiastic about this summer theatre, but we don't believe it will be necessary. The word is bound to spread that we have in our midst some high class entertainers, semi-professional, capable of providing this area with the highest type of enjoyment. Ample evidence of their worth was demonstrated in the opening play Tuesday night, and this is being continued through the balance of the week.

A new play will be presented the following week and in succeeding weeks other plays will be given. We can assume that their unusual talent will continue to be displayed.

The summer theatre is a new venture in Garrett county and was not scheduled until a campaign to underwrite the summer's expenses provided enough encouragement to make the management feel that its efforts might meet with a measure of financial success.

The management will have to struggle this year to meet all expenses and in order to do this the support of the people of the community is certainly needed. Wholehearted support of this worthwhile activity will help to overcome the struggle that always seems to be a necessary part of growing.

But the potentialities in this program are tremendous and it is our hope that our permanent residents and our summer visitors do not overlook them. We've really got something here. Let's not only hang on to it, but assist in building it into a permanent asset.

Friend's Term Is Suspended

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomson last Friday, July 1, suspended an eight-month prison term he imposed the previous Monday on Blaine H. Friend, lumberman and stockyard operator of Accident.

The 40-year-old resident admitted he did not file an income tax return in 1951 and was fined $8,000 in addition to the prison term.

Last Friday John H. Hessey IV, and Stephen R. Pagenhardt, of Oakland, argued for several hours that Friend's business was essential to his community and that loss of the stockyard business because of Friend's absence would have a "profound effect" on the county's economy.

"He is a country boy grown up and has done business out of his back pocket all these years," Hessey told the judge and asked for a change in sentence.

At an earlier hearing it was disclosed Friend had not filed tax returns since 1944 and the government claimed he owes $50,900 in back taxes and penalties. Friend made a total of $7,500 in 1951, the year he was charged with not filing a return.

Akron Man Fatally Injured in Wreck

An Akron man died Saturday night in Mtners hospital in Frostburg of injuries suffered when the car he was driving crashed on route 40 at Keyser Ridge. It was the only week-end fatality for Garrett county.

The victim, Irvin W. Bittner, 69, died Saturday at 10:11 p. m., as a result of a pulmonary hemorrhage, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Maryland State Police said the accident occurred as the car Bittner was driving east on route 40, apparently at an excessive rate of speed, ran off the right side of the road. Then the driver lost control and the car careened across the highway and crashed against the guard rails on the left side of the road.

Mr. Bittner was enroute to Frostburg to visit relatives. Trooper First Class Glen Folk investigated for the Maryland State Police.

A boilermaker for the McNeill Machine and Engineering company at Akron, he was born in Jackson county, Kansas, October 15, 1885, a son of the late David and Sarah Shaffer Bittner.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mae Bauer, and a grandson, both of Akron; two sisters, Mrs. Ivy McKenzie and Mrs. William Capel, both of Frostburg; four brothers, Gilbert, Edward and Louis, all of Frostburg, and Charles, of California.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Hafer Funeral home in Frostburg with Rev. William J. Yingling officiating. Following the service, the body was taken to the Prentice Funeral home in Akron for another service and burial on Wednesday.

Moose Continues Winning Ways in Little League

The Moose team of the Little League remained in first place with two victories during the past week. Moose beat the K. of P. team 11 to 1 last Friday night and Tuesday night won over the Legion 7 to 5.

In the only other game of the week the Lions club beat the Legion 5 to 4. Moose has won eight games and lost three to top the league, while the Legion is next in line with six victories and five defeats. K. of P. has a 6-4 record, while the Lions club record is one victory against nine losses.

In beating the Legion last Friday Mosser and Colaw had two hits each for the Lions club. Barry Sanders was the winning pitcher. Parkhurst had two hits for the Legion.

In winning over the K. of P. team 11 to 4, Dick Stuck had a double and Ken Jones a homerun for the Moose, while Stuck and Sharpless had two hits each. Bill Slemple was the winning pitcher. Lawton had three hits for the K. of P's.

Two more games are scheduled for Friday evening and one game on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 to round out the week.

Car Turns Over; Three Are Injured

Three persons were injured, none seriously, on Tuesday night when an automobile driven by Robert Terrant, 17, of Gorman, went out of control on the slippery highway, struck a telephone pole and turned over. Riding with Terrant were John Roth, Kenneth Lane and DeJores Baker.

The girl was unhurt. Both Terrant and Lane had lacerations of the face while Roth had abrasions of the back. All were given emergency treatment in the Garrett County Memorial hospital and Roth had X-rays taken for a possible injury to his back.

Corporal Sam Conrad, of the State Police, who investigated, charged Terrant with reckless driving. The four were headed south on route 219, when the accident occurred near the Owen Martin farm.

Club Plans To Erect Clubhouse In Near Future

The Snaggy Rod and Gun Club, Inc., which recently purchased 300 acres of land adjoining Camps Minnetoska and Whitethorn and adjacent to the West Virginia line on Snaggy mountain, plans to erect a club house in the near future and to make other improvements. It was announced by Frank W. Miller, owner of the Lone Wolf lodge, who is president.

The club is planning to dam a stream and stock the resulting lake. It is planned to reserve hunting and fishing for members and guests.

There are 25 shareholders in the organization which is headed by Mr. Miller as president, William F. Downey, vice-president, Senator George W. Della as secretary and Franklin B. Kromm as treasurer.

Mr. Miller said several committees had been appointed to start work on the recreational project but that progress was slow due to rough access to the property. A tree planting project will be carried out when the land has been cleared out.

Board of Education Pushes Maintenance Program for Schools

The Board of Education is pushing to completion at the present time one of the most extensive maintenance, painting and clean-up programs in the elementary schools that has been undertaken in the county for a number of years. The work is in charge of O. T. Graser, supervisor of maintenance.

The Board of Education, at its last meeting, approved a three-year rotating program of maintenance for all schools, but due to the condition of the elementary schools, an effort was made to step up the number of schools slated for painting and renovating this summer.

Plans for the Kitzmiller improvements are ready for bids and the contract is scheduled to be awarded August 2. The Accident school will be completed by the time school opens to complete the improvement program.

Working with a crew of ten men, all regular school custodians, Mr. Graser reported that the following jobs already have been completed: Fingel, painted and repairs, inside and out; Johnson, painted and repairs, inside and out; Yoder, painted outside, repairs; Bittinger, painted inside, repairs; North Glade, painted and repairs, inside and out; Crellin, painted and repairs, inside and out; Mt. Zion, painted and repairs, outside.

Nine other jobs are scheduled for completion, asphalt tile floors in the first floor at both Crellin and Red House, painting and repairs inside and out at both Loch Lynn and Deer Park, painting and repairs, inside and out at both Loch Lynn and Deer Park, painting and repairs, outside at Kitzmiller; improved lighting at Red House, painting and repairs, inside and out at Swanton; additional room in annex building renovated for another elementary classroom this fall, and sound proofing the band room at Southern.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, stated that later in the summer the county maintenance crew would spend some time laying tile floors and painting in the Accident school. He explained this work was over and above the contract with Edgar T. Hardesty for additions and alterations now underway. Plans call for a complete renovation of the interior of this building to make it adequate for a modern elementary school educational program. Open House is scheduled there for Sunday, September 4, 2 to 5 p. m.

The plans for the renovation and improvements at Kitzmiller have been offered for bids with the contract expected to be awarded the low bidder August 2. When completed these improvements will also offer adequate facilities for a community school for grades one through eight.

In addition Mr. Hawkins pointed out there were many other items of maintenance necessitating time, money and labor during the summer. Each of the two new high schools is to be given a thorough cleaning, floors scrubbed and waxed, furniture cleaned and repaired, finger prints removed and repairs made. At least 20 new bus shelters are constructed to replace some of the 300 now scattered throughout the county; cesspools must be cleaned, furniture moved from place to place, lawns kept

TO EXHIBIT ART WORK—Elizabeth Patton stands beside a water color of the railroad station in Oakland, as she prepares for her water color painting exhibit, to be held next Thursday afternoon, July 14. The exhibit is being arranged by members of Garrett Branch, the American Association of University Women, and is open to the general public. It will be held in the Episcopal Parish house, Center street, Oakland, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Out of town AAUW branches, homemaker, civic and church groups of the community have been sent special invitations to attend the exhibit and the social hour to follow. Some twenty-five of her water colors, a number of them of Garrett county scenes, will be displayed. Mrs. Patton has won numerous honors from her exhibits within the past few years. She is at work this week completing two Garrett county scenes that will be among those on display.

Resigns As Biology Teacher At Southern

Clifford McKenzie recently tendered his resignation to the Garrett County Board of Education as an instructor in the field of Biology at Southern High school, it was announced. Mr. McKenzie was a member of the teaching staff in the county for one year. He returned to his home community in West Virginia where he and his wife were both able to secure employment.

Mr. McKenzie will be replaced by Harold Miller, biology instructor for the past several years in the Terra Alta High school, Terra Alta, W. Va. Mr. Miller has had a total of 15 years' teaching experience and holds his Master's degree from the University of West Virginia.

He also served three years in the armed forces and is a member of the Terra Alta Rotary club. Mr. Miller comes to Southern with a fine record as a classroom teacher, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

No Vacancies As Of This Date. According to a statement of the Superintendent of Schools, no vacancies exist in the county schools as of the present date. He said the school board expects a few scattered vacancies during the month of July and early August but feels that for the next few weeks in most subject areas, competent replacements will be available.

Mr. Hawkins stated that the board of education feels that it has been extremely fortunate in the calibre of teachers it has been able to secure to replace the relatively small number who resigned this year or where an increase in personnel was needed.

Three additional teachers will be on the staff at Southern, one at Northern, one at Grantsville, three at Kitzmiller, and one at Bloomington, or a total of nine. For these additions and replacements due to teacher turnover a total of twenty-five teachers have been employed to date of this number all have their Bachelor's degrees and fifty percent of them have their Master's degrees. Only seven of the twenty-five will enter the classroom for the first time in September. The rest have had a varying number of years of experience.

Others also planning to attend are Mrs. Mary Martin, of Mt. Lake Park, vice-president of District 1 of the Maryland Congress of Mothers and Teachers, scheduled July 11, 12 and 13 at College Park.

Mrs. Kermut Glatfely, of Accident, and Mrs. Doris Ours, of Loch Lynn, are among those planning to attend the summer conference of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, scheduled July 11, 12 and 13 at College Park.

Night Must Fall Is Next Play At Summer Theatre

To Open Next Tuesday—Blithe Spirit Continues Until Saturday Night

"Night Must Fall," a play by Elinor Williams, will be the second production to be presented at the Garrett County Playhouse, beginning next Tuesday evening, July 12 and continuing through Saturday, July 16.

"Blithe Spirit," which opened for the first time on Tuesday evening before an appreciative audience of about 100 persons, will continue to be given this week, concluding with the Saturday night performance.

The plays are being presented in the former Arden Boat club, on the McHenry inlet of Deep Creek Lake. Workmen were kept busy the previous two weeks getting the theatre in readiness for the opening night. Somewhat on the order of a theatre in the round, there are seats provided for the spectators on three sides of the stage. They are placed in tiers so that all seats provide a clear view of the action.

The management, in its opening program, had the following to say: "It is with great pleasure that we welcome you to the opening performances of the Garrett County Playhouse. Indeed, we believe that you are helping to make a dream come true.

"We have long felt that Garrett County has deserved a summer theatre for the entertainment of its residents, and we have worked very hard to bring it to you this season. It has taken a good deal of work to get the theatre in readiness for you, though we do know it can stand improvement. We must, however, acknowledge the wholehearted cooperation of many of Garrett county's outstanding citizens, without whose help we could never have opened."

The theatre's capacity is 271 persons. General admission is $1.40, but season tickets are still available at $7.50 which gives a subscriber an admission to each of the six plays and also a guest ticket.

Future plays will be "The Importance of Being Earnest," July 19 to 23; "Dangerous Corner," July 26 to 30; "Claudia," August 2 to 6; "The Fourposter," August 9 to 13.

Electrical Storms Cause of Damage

Electrical storms within the past few days have caused several hundred dollars damage to homes where lightning struck.

During a downpour last evening about six o'clock lightning struck the home of Fred Paulie, near Hutton, but only slight damage resulted.

Over an inch of rain fell within an hour's time as the clouds opened up with a hard shower.

Heavier damage was reported from a storm on Sunday night which included hail as well as lightning.

Lightning struck three places in Mt. Lake Park, two causing fire. It struck the Kight garage and body shop, but the resulting fire was quickly extinguished. A corner of the building was damaged.

It also struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards, Sr., in Loch Lynn, wrecking the television and radio sets, breaking windows, setting fire to the curtains and rug and doing other damage here estimated to total at least $500.

Another bolt of lightning knocked out a switch on a clothes dryer in the home of George Per-rine.

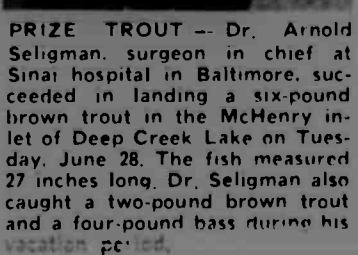

Hail in some parts of Oakland during the storm damaged gardens, potted holes in roofs and broke some window panes. In some areas the ground was covered with hailstones the size of hickory nuts, ranging down to stones the size of peas in other parts of town.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

BROWN THRASHER
(Turdus rufus)

RANGE: Breeds mainly from south Alberta and north Michigan, Quebec, Maine and south to Gulf States; winters on Atlantic Coast in North Carolina southwards; common in Maryland throughout the summer.

DESCRIPTION: Length about 12 inches including long tail; female smaller; sexes colored alike. Upper parts, tail and wings are rufous; underparts white or buff streaked with black or cinnamon.

BREEDING: Nest usually built with twigs, sticks and leaves in brush, on ground, or low shrubs; hery lays 3-6 white or greenish eggs dotted with reddish-brown; one brood annually in Maryland, possibly 2 or 3 farther south.

HABITS: Frequents hedgerows, shrubbery, borders of woodlands, and thickets; generally mounts a high perch to deliver his attractive song; in some places is called "sandy mockingbird." Feeds almost entirely on insects, including grubs, beetles, army worms, grasshoppers and wasps; less injurious to small fruits than catbird and robin.

MANAGEMENT: Protection during nesting season by supplying good cover is helpful. The depredations of dogs, cats and hawks, are reduced where weeds, brush, thickets and other concealment is preserved.

VALUE: The brown thrasher's delightful song and his incessant war on injurious insects make him one of our valuable bird agricultural assistants; the danger to fruit is negligible in comparison to the good accomplished.

188-hp Buick SPECIAL 6-Passenger, 4-Door RIVIERA, Model 43

This 4-Door Beauty
is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

You certainly ought to come in and see for yourself why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list.

It's a Buick Riviera, of course.

Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible — a solid steel roof overhead — and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view.

But that's only the beginning.

Here you get two extra doors. They open to the rear compartment. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear.

Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which the front doors latch and the rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the door line.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom.

And here—bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment.

For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom — yet with no increase in wheelbase or over-all car length.

So we repeat—you certainly ought to come in and see this stunning new kind of hardtop.

It's the very last word in beauty, comfort, convenience. It's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series — the SPECIAL and the CENTURY. And it's all Buick — with Buick power, Buick ride, Buick handling—and the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Drop in today—tomorrow at the latest—and learn what Buick's all time record sales year can mean to you in the way of a whopping-bid trade-in deal.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

An Antidote to Centralization Of Government

One of the most meaningful reports of contemporary times was released last week when the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations concluded a comprehensive survey of "the proper role of the Federal Government in relation to the States and their political subdivisions to the end that these relations may be clearly defined, and the functions concerned may be allotted to their proper jurisdictions." It was my privilege, by appointment of the Vice President, to serve on this Commission.

The Commission has thus illuminated the variable scope of kinship between federal, state and local governments which has evolved in our country. In so doing the inherent dangers of intertemporal reliance on the Federal Government have been brought into lucid and graphic perspective, and a series of plausible recommendations for the division of responsibilities in many fields of public endeavor have been advanced.

In what might be regarded by some as an understatement, the Commission has observed that "People in the United States, as elsewhere, have looked more and more to government for assistance in solving their social and economic problems. The National Government has sometimes responded more readily than have the State and local governments." While, the Commission, quite correctly, has not indulged in partisanship, this comment nonetheless capably characterizes the climate of public opinion in which the New Deal and Fair Deal became potent and fashionable.

As with the Hoover Commission recently, the recommendations of the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations have likewise been the target for criticism by the still-lingering disciples, dupes and devotees of the New-Fair Deal. Fortunately, for the stability and sanity of our Nation, however, there are even now many, many millions of persons, Republicans and Democrats alike, who fervently believe in the durable Jeffersonian doctrine of a strong State government rather than a centralized Federal government.

In this essential campaign to rejuvenate the traditional Federal-State precept, these fundamental guides, as offered by the Commission, should govern: "We have... as citizens a responsibility to see to it that those legitimate needs of society that could be met by timely

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY

Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

In your prescriptions are medicines that are the results of much research and study by Pharmaceutical chemists, Scientists, and Health foundations.

By lectures, direct mail, and articles in Medical journals, we Pharmacists and Physicians are informed about these new drugs, and as soon as they are available a supply is sent to our prescription department.

During 1954 more than 430 million dollars was spent for the research and informative publicity necessary before these new drugs could be ready for prescription use.

Last year over 400 million prescriptions were compounded, and the in price you paid for your prescriptions, this research expense averaged about $1 per prescription. Of necessity it is part of the whole-sale costs of the price we pay for the ingredients of the prescriptions we compound.

It is a tribute to Pharmacy, and the American free enterprise system, that more than 50% of the prescriptions we compound for you cost you less than $2 and the average charge for all prescriptions we compound is less than $3.00.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Breach Healer

One of the favorite Democratic criticisms of the President has concerned itself with his lack of political knowledge and experience. Of course, General Eisenhower never pretended to be a politician but it is a little difficult to think of any really serious political blunder he has committed.

As a matter of fact, he seems to have handled what was known as the "McCarthy Menace" so well that Senator McCarthy's political influence has dwindled almost to the vanishing point. As to the differences between the President and the Republican Senate leader, Senator Knowland of California, they are not such as to threaten personal relations. Senator Knowland is a man of character and ability. He has a mind of his own the expression of which does not detract from the strong support he gives to the Eisenhower program in domestic affairs. In the main the President now has almost completely untied party support in Congress plus support from a vast number of Democrats throughout the country.

In the matter of practical politics, the Democrats, at the moment, seem so much more bumble-puppyish and confused that claimed Democratic superiority in this field has become absurd. This has been well demonstrated by National Chairman Paul Butler, who succeeded Mr. Stephen Mitchell some months ago. At no time was there any serious contention that Mr. Mitchell was a success as a party leader or spokesman. However, certainly as a "harmonizer" he rates a little better than Mr. Butler. To be sure, both are proteges of Mr. Adlai Stevenson. But neither Mr. Mitchell nor Mr. Butler has done anything to strengthen their glib little hero since his candidacy for renomination became transparent.

Since Mr. Butler has been at the helm of the Democratic committee, though he has traveled more than 30,000 miles, made many speeches and ran up quite an expense account, the really influential party leaders, in Congress and out, take a very dim view of his achievements. Actually, they regard his attempt to heal the party wounds as a joke. Actually, there is considerable evidence that his efforts to "harmonize" discordant elements in several states have widened the breach, and increased factional feeling instead of "bridging the gap" and "restoring harmony." Certainly this seems true of his recent swing through the South and West. For example, in California he was reported in Time magazine as having been publicly insulted by one of the local leaders. In Texas, he clearly worsened the situation between the Shivers and the anti-Shivers factions to the extent that there is now sure to be another bitter contest for control of the State delegation and that Governor Shivers, the outstanding party leader in the State, remains wholly hostile to the good Adlai. It is further true that in neither Georgia nor Tennessee were the Butler speeches effective in promoting unity.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In this age of science and technology the education profession of America, and the American citizenry, must not lose sight of the need for "thinkers" as well as "doers." This was the essence of a thought-provoking and stimulating Commencement address at Harding College by Dr. Samuel Miller Brownell, United States Commissioner of Education.

"The effectiveness of education would seem," said Dr. Brownell, "to depend in a large measure on how well it fulfills its basic responsibilities to strengthen good citizenship, to keep alive and to transmit the best of mankind's cultural heritage, to provide some understanding of the scientific bases of modern life, and to teach the student how to think as well as pursue the quest for the good life—the end product of all education. All schools and colleges—whatever their origin, or however supported—share in the obligation to help meet our national needs in the ways that fit them best."

Speaking particularly of specialization in education, Dr. Brownell asked: "Where, in this intense time-consuming effort to master a special field, is there going to be a place for thinking, for philosophy, for reflection? How are we going to preserve our perspective? How are we going to find men and women who can see what they do in relation to what others do; who can form balanced judgments; who are capable of cutting through to the heart of the matter; who can find the simple truth and recognize it as such?"

"What we need, if our contemporary society is to survive," said Dr. Brownell, "is the young man or woman who is technically proficient, but who is also capable of reflective thought; who is capable of love, and of courage. The students here, and the graduates, and tens of thousands of young men and women like them can bring about a new scholarship—part fact, part thought; part reflection, part action."

"Looking ahead it seems to me that this country has a right to expect that every institution of higher education will bend its efforts to be increasingly effective as a preserver and transmitter of learning and as an extender of the boundaries of knowledge and scholarship. In this effort, Harding College will, I am confident, share fruitfully. As it does so, in concert with its sister colleges and universities across the land, it will prove again that the United States needs strong private and public institutions of higher education aware of their obligations and zealous to fulfill them."

In some states visited by the chairman his failure to inspire the Democrats was a matter of bad luck rather than bad judgment. For example, it was not his fault that he broke his glasses in Georgia just before he had to read his prepared speech. And it was a piece of misfortune rather than a plot that at one of the $10-a-plate dinners in Mississippi, a careless waiter spilled four glasses of milk over him. Nevertheless, what he did in Maryland could not be attributed to bad luck. The only explanation there was stupidity. He had come over from Washington to dine and talk with the Maryland local leaders. Normally a Democratic State by more than 100,000 registered majority, Maryland last year re-elected a Republican governor and now has two Republican senators, one of whom comes up for re-election next year.

At the "harmony" dinner given for him, there were seated at the table with Chairman Butler practically all the Democratic senatorial aspirants, including Mr. Clarence W. Miles, regarded by many as the strongest man who could be nominated. Mr. Miles, an able Baltimore lawyer, is from an old and well-known Democratic family. One of his political assets is that more than anyone else, he was instrumental in getting Baltimore back into big-league baseball. It is true he was openly for Eisenhower in 1952, but so were many thousands of other Maryland Democrats. Logically, he would seem the most persuasive candidate to lead these indispensable Democrats back into the party. Yet, what did Chairman Butler do when he looked at the aspirants over and pleaded for harmony? He then declared that while "we Democrats" are prepared to forgive those who voted for Eisenhower two years ago, they must not now expect to "sit in the front seats nor sing in the choir." As a healer of breaches, said one observer who heard him, "Mr. Butler is a bird."

A member of British Parliament protested that subjecting young recruits to traditional close-crop army haircut was "an invasion of man's liberty."

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Culture on the Mountain Top

We've been hearing for years that "what this county needs is..." One need was something to attract tourists. Some one thing that would make them drive out of their way to see. We believe the summer playhouse will do it. But the latest thing about the playhouse is that it will satisfy some aesthetic desires of our own.

It is a sure thing that there is no better way to attract attention than to show that we are having enjoyment.

So let's enjoy the playhouse—for the sheer joy of it, and let our enthusiasm overflow to others.

Art Too

Had a sneak preview of Elizabeth Patton's pictures for the Art Exhibit. Her pictures have always warmed my soul. Couldn't give you one rule of Art but do feel that she makes her pictures seem so alive. Her sunshine is warm sunshine, her shade cool; her trees are gorgeous.

The exhibit has given her the push she needed to finish some Garrett County scenes she has started. Can hardly wait to see how she handles Swallow Falls which she's at work on now.

Since Mrs. Patton lugged her pictures from Florida via New Orleans, giving them space along with a college grad's wardrobe, I hope she will feel that it has been worthwhile.

But our people always have turned out for cultural things. The Man Behind the Snack Bar

When you step up to the snack shop at Herrington to buy your hot dog, the man who serves you is also an artist of fame.

Lewis Stemple does outstanding sketching, so I'm told, winning prizes here and there—mostly in Paris and one was sold recently while hanging in the Cincinnati Art Museum.

"This," he said, referring to the snack bar, "supplements. Art is not always a paying thing."

And we could also add—nor music, nor drama, nor writing. Culture isn't big business—just refinement.

Through the Barn Door

I was filled with curiosity about the barn and the goings on in connection with a summer playhouse. The last time I saw drama in a barn was when we kids decided to tame a colt and he decided he wasn't going to be tamed.

Since the barn had been my childhood recreation center I was curious to know if there'd be the smell of hay and saddles. But this was a refined barn, sealed in chestnut and strips of carpet on the floor, even though the carpet was rug pads covered with music.

It was like a new adventure. Who would be there? What would they wear? What kind of a guy is Yell?

It was fun watching the people arrive. As Sybil Sharps said, "I wish someone would announce the guests as they arrive. They all look so important."

Where—I would like to know—did Booty Jones dig up those costumes for Madame Arcati? The madame not only dressed like the girls of my college days but she even laughed like them—even put her makeup on the same way!

The red nail polish on the toe of the "spirit" was the only giveaway that she was of this world.

I was so wrapped up in the dialogue of one of the players when she was calling back "Goodbye," that I almost answered her. Brother, I bet that would have shocked them! And me also!

That Bonnie Barton who was a rather stupid maid is far from that. Not only can she act but she can make slip covers. She did the sofa

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

RED-TAILED HAWK

(Buteo borealis)

Sometimes called chicken hawk or hen hawk.

RANGE: Breeds from Canada to Florida, winters from New York to Mexico and Gulf Coast. Is found all over Maryland in both summer and winter.

DESCRIPTION: Is the second largest of our common local hawks and is classed among the soaring hawks in contrast to the darting and diving hawks. Usually observed soaring or perching in some dead tree where its alert eyes can spot prey. Length of female about 23 inches, male 20 inches. Dark brown above and whitish underneath with black streaks. Red band near end of tail.

BREEDING: Nests in trees 30 to 70 feet from ground, lays 2 to 4 dull white eggs generally irregularly marked with cinnamon brown. Incubation about 28 days by female.

HABITS: Definitely this is one of our hawks that should be protected as it does more good than harm. Unfortunately it is large and conspicuous; it is blamed by the hunter and farmer for depredations caused probably by other birds and mammals. Its food is over 65% mice; few birds; destroys snakes including rattlesnake. Dr. A. K. Fisher examined the stomach contents of 562 red-tails, of which only 54 contained poultry or game birds, 51 small birds, 228 stomachs contained mice, 37 reptiles, 131 mammals other than mice, including probably a rabbit or two.

MANAGEMENT: None; it is a wild wandering bird, stopping where food is plentiful. Its numbers would naturally increase if the senseless killing of these beneficial hawks was prohibited.

VALUE: Valuable as a destroyer of mice, rats and other injurious rodents, insects and reptiles.

Yellow Vegetables Aren't Scared They're Hungry

If your vegetable crops are turning yellow they're not scared, the chances are they're hungry.

"Recent heavy rains throughout the state have leached some of the soluble plant foods from the soil," explains Andrew A. Duncan, University of Maryland Extension vegetable crops specialist. "In

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth named "America's Most Beautiful Car" by famous professional artists, the Society of Illustrators cases where the available nitrogen or magnesium supply has been reduced to a starvation level vegetable crops (particularly snap beans) are turning yellow.

Nitrogen deficiency shows up as an over-all light green color, slow growth and yellowing and drooping of the older leaves.

Magnesium deficiency symptoms are similar in that they show up first on the older leaves but the pale green or yellow areas show up between the leaf veins. The vines usually stay green.

To correct a nitrogen deficiency in snap beans, broadcast 20 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre. Duncan suggests. An airplane may be used to broadcast ammonium nitrate over large acreages.

The vegetable crop specialist's recommendation for correcting a magnesium deficiency is to spray vegetable plants with a solution containing 1 pound of magnesium sulfate in 100 gallons of water. Add a little household detergent to the solution. Use 100 to 200 gallons of spray per acre.

After hunger signs show up the plants never fully recover. The best plan is to provide "plenty of everything" early in the growing season.

West Virginia revenue receipts showed a drop of $1,955,846 in year.

REDUCING FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

It has done nothing else, the Hoover Commission has awakened the American people to the fact that this Republic has travelled a long way down the road to Socialism. It has held up to public scrutiny to just what a vast extent the Federal Government has entered into competition with private enterprise. The public doesn't seem to relish what it sees.

Federal Government is now the biggest lending outfit in the world. Loans of its various lending agencies are now almost equal to the total loans of all the Federal Reserve member banks.

Not only is this an unwarranted invasion of private banking territory, but the Hoover Commission pointed out that it is a dangerous procedure when it stated: "Direct lending by the Government to persons or enterprises opens up dangerous possibilities of waste and favoritism to individuals or enterprises. It invites political and private pressure, or even corruption. Emergencies may arise in depression, war, national defense, or disaster which must be met in this way. But direct lending should be absolutely avoided, except for emergencies."

The Federal Government is also in the insurance business in a big way. It got its camel nose into the insurance tent by first covering risks not ordinarily insurable through regular private channels. But now, it competes directly with private insurance companies. In fact, by the end of 1953, it had crawled all the way into the insurance tent, and it sponsors of over $200 billion of life insurance as compared with $116 billion by private firms.

By virtue of the fact that its land holdings are in excess of 400 million acres more than one-fifth of the total acreage of the entire country, the Federal Government is the nation's largest landlord.

However, where the Federal Government has really gone to town in invading the realm of private business, is in the production, distribution and marketing of electrical energy. Irrigation and flood control were the pretexts used for muscling into this field. But those worthy objectives are now only secondary. Through its tax-free power projects, it competes unfairly with private utilities and is squeezing many of them out of business.

To realize just how far Federal Government has penetrated into the electrical field, here are two alarming statistics. Twenty years ago, Uncle Sam was producing only about one-half of one percent of all the electricity generated in the U.S.; today, he produces around 15 percent.

But there is hope that the march of socialism has been halted, and that America is doing an about-face. Since the end of World War II, the Federal Government has relinquished to private interests, alcohol, aluminum and synthetic rubber plants as well as steel mills. The government-owned telegraph network is soon to be sold to private investors; its huge lending and underwriting program is being overhauled; the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is being liquidated; and there is to be a gradual closing out of the postal savings system.

President Eisenhower has gotten into the act. At his request, the Bureau of the Budget issued a directive to all government agencies and departments, ordering them before July of this year to submit an inventory of the activities they carry on which could be handled by private enterprise.

The Hoover Commission has made an auspicious beginning toward getting the Federal Government out of competition with private enterprise. But much still remains to be done. However, if the general public will insist that Congress act upon the recommendations made by the Hoover Commission, sion. Federal Government will be reduced to somewhere near its proper size, resulting in great benefit to the nation's economy and security.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Legislation which concerns our role in bolstering the military and economic security of the free nations of the world is of vital concern to us all. The debate in Congress raised some interesting questions and problems of importance to Maryland. Among them was the question of shipping foreign and goods, particularly farm surpluses, in American ships. The law provides that 50 percent of these goods must, if possible, be shipped in our own merchant vessels.

This so-called "50-50" provision has been widely misunderstood. It is a provision designed to aid the shipping industry—an industry essential to America's and Maryland's economic welfare. The requirements are simple, first, goods must be carried at "world shipping rates"; second, that if no cargo space is available the goods may be shipped in foreign ships. I would point out that it costs no more to ship American, and that I have been assured there is an ample supply of American vessels.

Some foreign governments, in order to bolster their own maritime shipping, have tried to sell the American farmer a "bill-of-goods" charging the "50-50" provision hampers the disposal of surplus farm crops. These very governments have learned through the actual working of the law that the farm disposal program is not hampered. It has been a distinct disservice to the American farmer

Married June 10 in Oakland

Miss Ann Porter, daughter of E. Ray Porter, south of Oakland, and the late Mrs. Porter, became the bride of James Robert Mersing, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mersing, Sr., of Crellin, at a double ring ceremony performed Friday evening, June 10, in St. Mark's Lutheran church in Oakland. Rev. Charles W. Carlson officiated.

The church was decorated with white poinsettias and gladioli. Miss Charlotte Mersing sang "I Love You Truly," and "Whither Thou Goest." Organist Mrs. D. R. Smedley played a program of nuptial music and the wedding marches.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly type lace over satin, with low neckline, short sleeves and a two-tiered ballerina length skirt. The waist length veil was attached to a crown of orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Miss Judith Ann Porter was maid of honor. She wore a blue gown with matching cape and mitts and a small matching headpiece. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations. Miss Susan Mersing, as bridesmaid, wore a blue gown with matching jacket and headpiece and carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

Miss Jo Ann Ray, niece of the bride, as flower girl, wore a white nylon dress and hat and carried a nosegay of pink and white sweet heart roses. Jack Mersing was the brother's best man. Alvin and Keith Mersing served as ushers.

Mrs. Mersing, mother of the groom, wore a pink nylon dress and a navy duster with pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The couple left for a trip through parts of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with brown and beige accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride was graduated from Oakland High school in 1953, and until recently was employed in the Clements Jewelry store. The groom, also was graduated from Oakland High school in 1953 and is employed as a driver for his father in the coal business.

mowed, furnaces cleaned and checked, electric wiring inspected, books and instructional supplies received, checked and distributed. He said some idea could be gained from this as to the extent of one phase of the summer work of the Board of Education office.

He declared the board was making every effort to bring about immediate improvements in many of the sub-standard situations existing in the elementary schools and that plans have been made for modern new construction in several areas, as soon as the necessary funds can be made available.

Frostburg Man Is Awarded $3,000

A jury in Garrett County Circuit court in Oakland last week awarded Milton W. Race, Frostburg live stock dealer, $3,000 in a land condemnation suit.

The hearing, before Associate Judge Noel C. Frady, took two days and the jurors were taken to the scene of the land in dispute at the top of Little Savage Mountain, to view the situation.

The State Roads Commission entered the suit against Race for property being used in the relocation and modernization of U. S. route 40 at that point. About 3.91 acres of land were used for the new highway route while .79 acre was for slopes and adjacent land to the highway.

Edward J. Ryan and Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., were attorneys for Race. Representing the State Roads Commission were Frederick C. Puderbaugh and William O. Treacy. Ryan had sought at least $5,000 as proper price for the land in question.

Barn In Danger When Hay's Damp

Few barns have enough fire insurance to cover their loss. Yet, when rain threatens owners often take a big fire risk by hauling in forage crops that are too damp for safe storage.

Experience is necessary to judge hay moisture accurately, points out A. V. Krewatch, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. Safe storage for long hay is about 23 percent moisture; for chopped hay, 2 or 3 percent under this, and for baled hay, even less.

If legume hay twists like a rope without breaking or shattering it is probably too damp for storage, Krewatch said. Adding common salt in amounts that leave the hay edible will not improve its keeping qualities or reduce the fire hazard, he said.

Mow curing systems effectively keep temperature of undercured hay below the danger point while

The Play

I liked it! Everybody liked it! Not since the Centennial "Song of the Oaks" have I felt so good about us. I almost had to pinch myself to see if I were I as I sat six feet from the stage in the Barn to watch the first performance of the summer players as they appeared in "Blithe Spirit."

Noel Coward's play is an eccentric sort of thing with both drama and comedy and an element of surprise here and there. The plot is different—and a bit out of this world. The Blithe Spirit is the first wife of Charles, a writer, who got back to this world through some spooky performance of Madame Arcati.

That's enough to tell. I loved the element of surprise in the play and was glad I couldn't recall the plot.

First I'd like to write about the Barn. To me, who has never witnessed a play "in the round" nor a summer play, I found having the stage practically in my lap delightful. Beats the conventional type. There's something chummy about it. The audience liked it and the players responded to their warmth. To be able to look right into the eyes of a player—especially eyes like those of Suzanne Oglesby, gives one the feeling that he is part of the cast too.

The lighting was excellent. Could also say it was ghostly—which was as it should be at times.

Now, the performance—plenty smooth. There wasn't a trace of the amateur as far as I could see or feel. Others said the same. Even Marion Smith, who hasn't been on a stage for many years, gave no feeling of "home talent." She played a natural role much as we know here. I'd like to see her in a character role before the summer ends.

I make no bones about not knowing a thing about play reviews. Therefore I'm only writing my reactions.

I just lived Helen Camp's role as Madame Arcati. I believe she loved it too. Her whole body expressed the part she played. While you chuckle over her movement don't overlook the lovely graceful hands as she performs spooky-work.

Miss Oglesby and Leonard Druan as husband and wife, gave a finished performance. They handled Coward's sophisticated lines like they were written for them. Although one had to be reminded that the accent was not their own.

These three, I felt were tops. Rosetta Flippin, the "spirit," left me cold—and I mean cold! In fact when she breezed in she gave the person in front of me goose pimples. I wanted to move back a little every time she came my way. I know if she had looked at me and said "boo!" I would have screamed. It wasn't until I got away from the barn that it dawned on me that she was out of this world, figuratively as well as literally. She was really great.

Bonnie Barton as the maid and Tom Calkins as the doctor, played small but smooth roles, leaving no doubt that they could handle bigger ones.

All players were sure of themselves—there was no need of prompting. Only in a couple of spots did we detect something that wasn't supposed to be—as when Madame's knee-length sock took a tumble—which brought healthy laughter.

I hope there is enough of that in each performance to give the cast something to laugh about back stage.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

In view of Maryland's traditional support of States' Rights, the President's recent message to Congress on the final report of the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations should be of interest to all of us.

The President pointed out that one hundred and sixty-eight years ago the Founding Fathers designed our federal form of government in response to the baffling and eminently practical problem of creating unity among the thirteen States where union seemed impossible. The framers of our Constitution reached a solution now recognized as one of the most significant advances in the history of representative government.

In our time, however, a decade of economic crisis followed by a decade of war and international crises vastly altered federal relationships.

The interests and activities of the different levels of government now impinge on each other at innumerable points, even where they appear to be quite separate.

Because of this increasingly intricate interrelationship of national, state, and local governments, it is important that we review effective utilization of our total governmental resources.

To this undertaking the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations has made a notable contribution and as your spokesman in the United States Senate, I intend to see that the State of Maryland receives the fullest benefit of this contribution.

Is Your Name THRASHER?

Do you know that:

THRASHER, an old and honored English surname, is of occupational origin. It stems from the word "thresh" which originally meant to rattle or make a din, but subsequently served to describe the noise made by the flail, a device used for beating grain stalks. Thus, Thrasher was often bestowed, when surnames came into vogue, upon those who were engaged in the task of threshing or beating the stalks of ripened grain with a flail in order to separate the grain from the husks. It obviously is the equivalent of the equally popular surname Thresher.

JOHN THRASHER (1730-1806) served as a private in the Washington County, Pennsylvania militia

MARRIED

Wheatley-Davis—Miss Charlotte Beryl Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert M. Davis, of Salisbury, Md., became the bride Saturday, June 11, of Charles Henry Wheatley III, son of Mrs. Charles W. Wheatley, Jr., of Baltimore, and the late Mr. Wheatley.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p. m. in Bethesda Methodist church by the pastor, Dr. J. Leas Green, amid decorations of madonna lilies, white gladioli, palms and lighted tapers in tall candelabra.

Mr. Davis gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white French lace over nylon tulle was styled with a fitted bodice with a shirred nylon tulle neckline, accented with a scalloped lace motif. Her lace skirt over a voluminous drift of nylon tulle ended in a chapel sweep. She wore matching lace gauntlets. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a lace tiara trimmed with pearls and she carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid and streamers tied with baby's breath. The bride's sister, Mrs. Ervin C. Lang, of Cleveland, O., was matron of honor and Miss Dawn Ryan, of Salisbury, was maid of honor.

Both wore ballerina length gowns of white floral design lace over orchid tulle. Their fitted strapless, bodices featured matching color, stoles and the lace skirts were enhanced by large orchid tulle side drapes. They wore headbands of

LAUGH CLOWN LAUGH

The circus brings excitement for young and old alike—the animals, the thrilling acts, the funny clowns. Perhaps we like the clowns best of all with their antics and their grinning faces.

But the jolly face of a clown is not necessarily what it seems to be. A mask of humor might very well conceal a sad heart, and the jester could easily be living in a world of self-doubt.

Many people know this dilemma. To the world they show a countenance of false gaiety, but within there is disquiet. Why? It may be that these people have found no basis for genuine peace and contentment. And no amount of banter or pretense can heal a bruised spirit.

A basic faith is essential to the soul of every individual. To attain this faith turn to the Church, which for countless generations has given new life and hope to millions. Then, with a heart full of love and confidence, know the joy of genuine, heartfelt laughter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in world peace. The building of character and good citizenship is a responsibility of every citizen. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and financial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

DEBTS

You and I, like St. Paul, are debtors to our fellowmen, both to "Greeks and barbarians—wise and unwise." We owe ourselves to mankind and we ought to pay up. But how?

Well, we can take the miser's approach and invest very little of what God has given us. We can hoard our gifts, talents and powers. On the other hand, when we go paying our debts to humanity, we can take the spendthrift's approach and use what has been entrusted to us foolishly. We can pervert, waste and destroy.

I doubt whether we really want to invest the gifts God has bestowed on us in either fashion—miserly or wastefully. St. Paul has the answer. We ought to pay our debts in such a way as to benefit and bless our fellowman. Whether we have one, five or 10 talents, we ought to use them with wholehearted and unselfish service. Let's be guided by the spirit of God. Then we'll be sure not to go wrong.

when we pay our debts, the word that can change your life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Habakkuk
Devotional Reading: Habakkuk 3:2-4, 17-19

God In Dark Days

Lesson for July 10, 1955

SOMETIMES we envy the serene faith of the prophets of old. If so, it shows we have not read the prophets carefully, for some of them had a faith that was anything but serene. Jeremiah was one of those. Habakkuk was another. Habakkuk lived during a time of the dark days at the end of the time of the little kingdom of Judah. Reading his opening lines, one might think he had been reading our morning papers in 1955. "Why dost thou make me see wrongs and look upon trouble? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. So law is slackened and justice never goes forth. . . . Why does God let such things go on?"

This Is Hard To Believe

Habakkuk asked the same question; and got an answer from God that the Lord told him he would hardly believe. Not only was the local scene, in Jerusalem and Judea, dark with violence and injustice, but the farther horizon was darker still. Out of the east the newly resurgent Babylonian empire was rising. Now empires seldom rise peacefully. They come to power with the uproar and the agonies of war. Empires arise by crushing smaller kingdoms, and Babylon was no exception. If you had asked any wide-awake Hebrew of Habakkuk's time, "What is the greatest national danger you see threatening your country?" he would probably have said: "The imperial ambitions of Babylon." Most Hebrews would have said that the Babylonians, or Chaldeans as they are often called, were the enemies of God's people. But Habakkuk is told something God says is hard to believe: "I am raising the Chaldeans." That bitter, hasty, terrible, violent, godless nation, whose only god was their own might—God was arousing that nation to punish Judah for Judah's sins. What was God going to do about the violence and injustice in Judah? He was going to wipe it out, wipe it off the face of the ground, and use the Chaldeans to do it with.

Is The Remedy Worse Than The Disease?

We can see from reading the second part of Habakkuk's first chapter, that he could not understand, at first, how God could do such a thing as arousing the Chaldeans. How can God use devilish men to accomplish divine purposes? Is it conceivable that a God who is the Holy One, who cannot look on wrong—is it conceivable that such a God would be silent while the ruthless and cruel armies of the invaders were capturing men and treasure, cities and villages, as a fisherman takes everything in his net? Nevertheless it has often been true that God's good purpose has been set forward by men who did not know nor obey him. When Joseph's brothers sold him into Egypt as a slave, they intended no good by it. Their only motives were greed, cruelty, jealousy and revenge. But God brought good out of it. War is a terrible thing; but as Lincoln suggested, it is quite possible to believe that the horrors of a civil war are God's way of punishing a nation for the injustice of slavery. If a nation will not listen to its true prophets and repent, God can use sterner measures.

Faith Endures

Habakkuk, pursuing bravely his questioning of God, comes out at last to two illuminating thoughts which the Lord gave him. (It may be noted in passing that sometimes the questioning mind gets answered when the questioning mind does not.) One is that in dark days, when God is not to be seen, the man of faith must wait. "God does not settle all his accounts in October." The answer to life's riddles is not always given immediately. God's signature can be seen at the end, though not always do we recognize his handwriting at first. The other thought was this: "The man of faith must not give up his faith. For faith has the power of enduring life. God may use a 'bitter and hasty nation' to punish another sinful one. But God judges all nations, Chaldeans and Jews alike. Seen in the light of history, we can perceive as a fact what Habakkuk could see only with his inward eye: that the God-defying conquering Chaldean nation would vanish soon without a trace, while the little conquered people of the Hebrews would survive, because in them was the undying seed of faith. No other premium gas gives you the Amoco OCTANE BONUS!

Extra energy on the road, where it counts!

Other gasolines get their high laboratory octane ratings by adding lead! But lead can leave harmful deposits that keep valuable octane from working. Then some of the power fails to reach the road.

And usable road octane is the only octane that matters—it's the only practical way to determine the value of the octane in the gas you buy.

Only the new, unleaded Amoco-Gas gives you a unique Octane BONUS

Today, from the world's largest, most advanced petroleum Ultraformer, comes the new high-octane Amoco-Gas—the one gas that needs no lead! Every ounce of octane-energy in the new Amoco-Gas is usable octane in your car. No lead deposits can form on engine parts. No octane is wasted fighting them.

Result? More octane is put to work turning the wheels than for any leaded gas you can buy. That's what we call the big Amoco-Gas Octane Bonus.

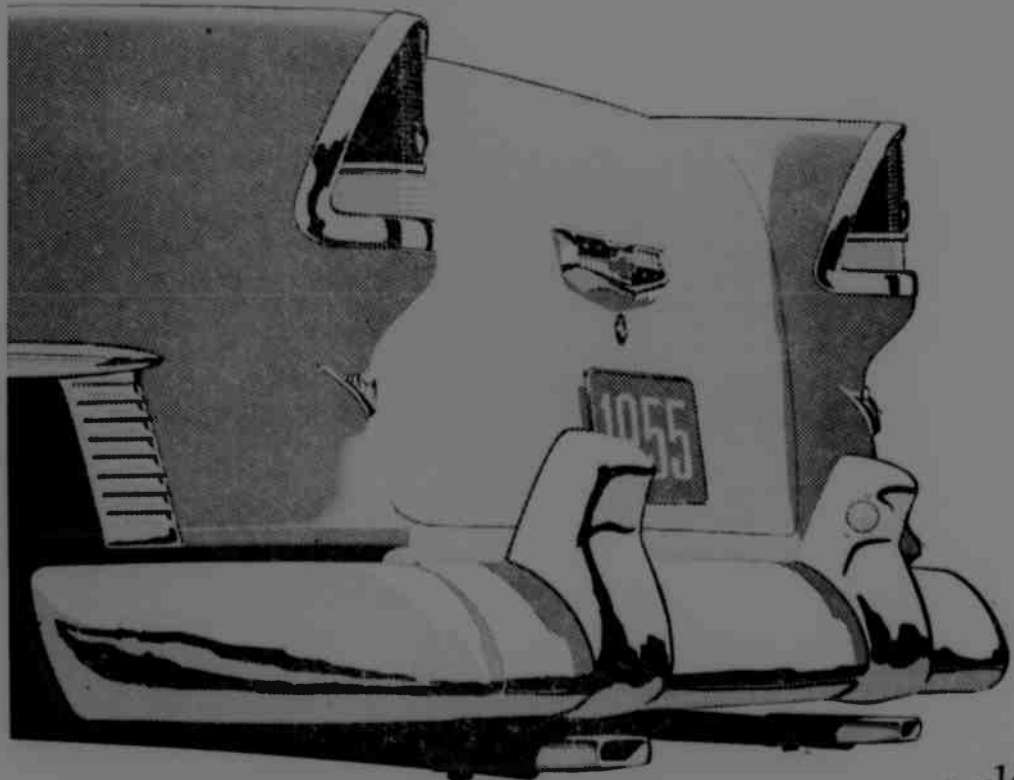

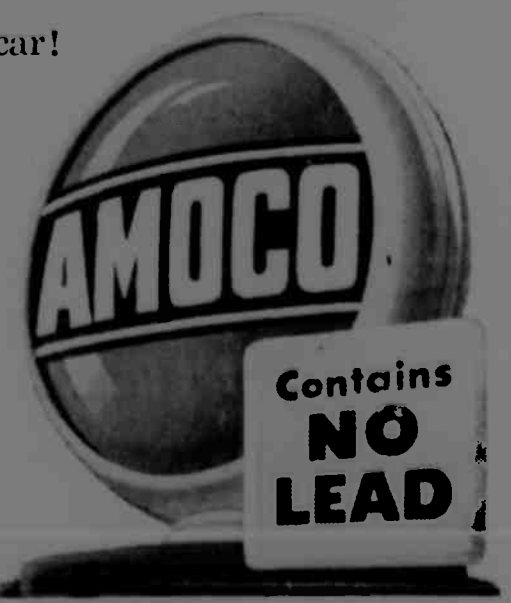

Try it—it does a wonderful thing for your car!

Your Estimating Guide

None Too Soon

This survey of the Little Youghiogheny watershed area is coming none too soon, judging from the heavy damage resulting from last Saturday's flash flood. For the second time in nine months the Oakland business district has been flooded, each time causing damage estimated at around $50,000. Oakland business places are not fixed to withstand many such losses. As it is, it will be a long time before a number of them recover from the damage sustained.

A report of the progress of the survey was made Monday night at a meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and it was stated in this meeting that the project should be pushed to completion at the earliest possible moment and definite steps taken to provide for several earthen dams that would hold back these flash floods and minimize the loss from any high water in future years.

The wheels of government sometimes grind very slowly. In fact it has been stated that any project proposed by the Soil Conservation service must be presented to Congress for action at least 45 days before an adjournment of that body. That being the case, it would be at least a year before any program can be presented, and then there is the uncertainty as to what Congress will do in the matter before any federal appropriation could be made.

While this flood damage is very fresh in the minds of the merchants would be an excellent time to get action. Perhaps the final report of the watershed survey will show that the entire expense could be borne by the town and county, without an increase in the tax rate, if spread over a moderately long period of time.

Certainly the work would be done sooner. What we need is some definite assurance that there will be no recurrence of such damage as has just been experienced. We have no way of knowing God's plan in the scheme of things, of course, but we can prepare ourselves against the advent of anything not too unusual.

Cigaret Tax For Month Hits $1,959

The first month of voluntary reporting on the penny-a-pack tax on the sale of cigarettes showed a total of $1,959.39 received by the county treasurer, Joseph H. Welch. Should subsequent reports run in similar amounts, it would mean that Garrett county's school teachers would not receive the added $200 in salary that was anticipated earlier this year.

The tax was designated to be used for the boost in teachers' salaries and proponents of the legislation were of the opinion that the amount would total $200 for each of the some 200 teachers in the county. This would require some $40,000 in additional tax money, but at the present rate the total will be in the neighborhood of $24,000.

Mr. Welch said that up to last evening 123 had made reports out of a total of 150 who were known to be selling cigarettes, leaving 36 who have made no report. Welch said those not reporting are subject to a fine of $1,000 in addition to a penalty for delayed payment.

The A and P store's report was the largest, with a total of $265.51, with the F. A. Smouse store second with $117.37, Browning, Inc., third with $110.87, and Joe Rhodes, Deep Creek Lake, fourth with $103.68.

Welch intimated there may be some misunderstanding in regard to the ones not reporting and that probably these reports would be received soon.

Schedule Annual Picnic

There will be games and contests. Glen Alexander is president of the society and Mrs. H. J. Bittner is secretary.

A FINE MESS—Debris covers the interior of Smouse's Super Market on Second street after flood waters went down Saturday night. This was only one of several stores which suffered comparable damage. Most were cleaned up and back in business by Monday morning.

For the past two years he has been the head coach of football at Harrisville High. He is a graduate of Salem college, Salem, W. Va., and is working for his master's degree at West Virginia University at the present time.

Mr. Mitchell spent four years in the army medical administration corps and was discharged from active duty with rank of Captain. Along with his wife and one child he will establish his home in Oakland on or before September 1.

First National Bank of Oakland had assets of $5,137,581.19, with the Garrett National Bank in Oakland showing $3,092,501.31. Grantsville First State Bank had assets of $1,991,254.70, while the First National of Friendsville had $574,170.98.

Surplus funds totaled $510,000 with $200,000 each for the Garrett National and First National of Oakland, $75,000 for Grantsville, and $35,000 for Friendsville.

Undivided profits totaled $331,098.35, divided as follows: First National Bank, $112,045.15; Garrett National, $88,721.17; Grantsville, $100,000; Friendsville, $30,332.03.

Safe To Swim In Mountain Lake Dam

Health department officials announced yesterday that water tests had shown that it was perfectly safe to swim in the lake at Mt. Lake Park, since there was no harmful bacteria content in the water.

A few weeks ago it had been rumored that a case of typhoid fever had developed in Mt. Lake Park, and that its cause was traced to Mt. Lake where some sewage from Park residences was seeping into it.

Dr. Arthur Jones announced that the youth's illness had never been definitely diagnosed as typhoid fever, that the illness was brief and that the patient was completely cured. He was identified as Edward Bennett, age 10.

The investigation showed definitely, he said, that no sewage was seeping into the lake from any broken sewer and that nothing contaminating was being discharged into the lake.

Food Distribution Dates Are Listed

Two One-Room Schools Ordered Closed By Board

Only Two One-Room Schools Left—Other Business Transacted

The Board of Education, meeting in regular session on Tuesday, voted unanimously to close the Sunnyside and Cornelia schools, effective with the beginning of the fall term.

Decision to close these two one-room schools leaves only two other one-room schools in the entire county, Fintel and Swan Meadows. At present there are eight 2-room schools, one 3-room school, 3 4-room schools and five graded schools, in addition to the two high schools.

Along with the announcement of the closing it was announced the board would advertise the Sunnyside and Bethlehem schools for sale immediately. It granted a request of Cornelia patrons to leave the building for a community center, providing six responsible citizens could be secured who would be responsible for its upkeep.

A variety of other items of business was discussed at the board meeting and action taken.

To Enlarge Red House School The board discussed a request made of the County Commissioners for $22,000 for a two-room addition to the Red House school. The Commissioners, meeting with the board, (Continued On Page Seven)

Third Play Being Readied For Stage

The third play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," finds the Garrett County Playhouse reaching the halfway point in its production schedule. It will be presented next week starting Tuesday, July 19, and will be given nightly through July 23.

Audiences from the first two plays may be surprised at some of the casting. Helen Camp, who is remembered for her weird costumes and mad characterizations, will play a leading lady role and will appear for a change in her own face and figure.

Dick Higgins, the Playhouse's technical director, will be seen in front of the audiences for the first time this summer in the role of Lane.

Leonard Drum and D. G. Buckles will play the two young men about town. Buckles is recreating the same role—Mernon—that he originally played in the University of New Mexico production of "Earnest." Most of the costumes in the play are from that original production, loaned to the Playhouse by the drama department of the university. They are being altered for the actors by Mrs. Marvin Jones and Mrs. Jack Grimes, of Mt. Lake Park.

Included in the cast next week is Miss Indie Sue Thomasson, of Mt. Lake Park and Barrington, Ill., who plays the maid.

"Earnest" is considered a hilarious comedy of high society and mistaken identity, and general foolishness, a distinct change from the brooding mystery of the current show, "Night Must Fall."

Almost five hundred people turned out for the first week's production, "Blithe Spirit," and there were indications that the attendance was increasing during the present week's performances.

Others participating in next week's performance are Miss Bonnie Barton as Lady Bracknell, Miss Rosetta Flippin as Miss Prism, Miss Suzanne Oglesby as Cecily, Tom Calkins as Dr. Chausable.

Curtain time at all performances is 8.15. Subscribers are urged to make reservations early.

To Represent State

Mrs. Glenn Randol, home economics instructor in Southern High school has been asked to represent the state of Maryland in a panel discussion at a meeting of the American Vocational Association at Atlantic City December 6 and 7.

The subject for discussion is "Home Economics in the Expanding Program of Home and Family Life."

The request for Mrs. Randol to assist in the program came from Mrs. Evelyn Miller, state supervisor of home economics, and was approved by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools and members of the county Board of Education.

SATURDAY BATH—Oakland received its Saturday bath last week, but emerged anything but clean. For the second time in nine months, a flash flood inundated the business district to a depth of several feet. This photo shows the corner of Second and Green Streets, after the waters had subsided slightly.

Subdivisions To Get Income Tax Share

Checks totaling $7,510,939.31 were being mailed this week to counties and incorporated cities and towns of Maryland from income tax revenue, it was announced by J. Milard Taves, state comptroller.

Previously $3,833,761.89 had been distributed, making a total of $11,344,701.20 to be paid out during the fiscal year ended June 30. Distribution this year is approximately $2 million more than that made during the prior fiscal year. Under Maryland law thirty-four percent of the tax paid by residents is distributed to the subdivisions where they reside.

If the taxpayer resides within a rural or unincorporated area of a county the 34 percent is distributed to the County Commissioners. If he resides within an incorporated city or town within a county, then the share is divided equally between the county and the city or town.

Flood Damage Set at $50,000

Business District Of Oakland Inundated Saturday Evening

For the second time in nine months torrential rains descended upon Oakland about 5.30 last Saturday evening and the ensuing flash flood caused damage estimated at approximately $50,000.

At the same time a cloudburst accompanied by a severe electric storm struck Grantsville flooding the streets there. Lightning struck the Newton Miller mill, located between Grantsville and Springs, Pa., burning the mill to the ground.

The water in Oakland's streets was slightly higher than the flood of last October and it came with such a rush that merchants had little time to move their items out of reach.

Two blocks of Third street were flooded with 16 inches of water reaching into the Craig Motor company where a lot of electrical equipment and motor parts were stored. Loss there was estimated at more than $5,000.

The floor of the Smouse Grocery store buckled, upsetting a meat counter and sending a pair of scales crashing. The water stood 33 inches in this area and the current carried many items out the front door. Loss here was placed at $8,000 as a minimum.

Twenty-five or more places of business in all were inundated for a period of about three hours.

The R. and P. Store suffered one of the heaviest losses. That company had just received a supply of Christmas merchandise which was stored in the basement of the building, corner of Third and Green streets. Their loss was placed between $8,000 and $10,000. Others suffering heavily were Leighton Brothers Garage, $2,500; H-P Stores, $2,500; Miller's Sanitary Market, $3,000; Hinebaugh's Restaurant, $2,000; Oakland Equipment company, $2,500; Music Shop, $600.

Other places sustaining water damage were Hub's Harness Shop, Garrett National Bank, West Maryland Power company, Mason Glotfelty garage, Glotfelty's Restaurant, Oakland Moose lodge building, C and A Gas company, Joseph Hinebaugh warehouse, A. D. Naylor and Company, Harned and Proudfoot, Treacy's, Liller's Barber shop, Hinebaugh's pool room, Bill's Barn, Kelly's Service Station.

Water entered the basements of additional places of business on Second street.

Oakland firemen and members of the National Guard were called out and they assisted people from stores and aided in moving cars from the flooded areas. Many people trapped in business places helped the merchants to stack merchandise on the counters to escape the high water.

As soon as the waters began to recede the clean-up began and continued Saturday night and Sunday. By Monday conditions were about back to normal but in the meantime thousands of dollars had been expended in the job.

The rain in the Oakland area seemed to center about Wilson Creek and its tributaries. Official recording at the Weber Greenhouse was 19 inches of rainfall on Saturday but Ralph Weber, veteran weatherman, said the amount of rain was at least twice that in the Wilson Run area.

There already had been five days of rain up to Saturday with a total fall of 2.71 inches.

The downpour which deluged Grantsville poured out of the fields into the roads and coursed down U.S. route 40, flooding many cellars in the town. Electric service was disrupted at Grantsville for several hours.

The storms seemed to be localized and no damaging rains were reported in the Friendsville or Accident sections, and comparatively light rains fell to the south of Oakland.

Sentenced For Wife Beating

Theodore Lewis, of Crellin, was found guilty of a charge of assault upon his wife at a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer last Friday, July 8.

He was sentenced to serve eleven months in the House of Correction. Sheriff Paul Fisher took the prisoner to Baltimore yesterday to begin serving his sentence.

Progress Report Made On Little Yough Survey

A report on the progress of the Little Youghiogheny Watershed survey, was made to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland at its regular meeting Monday night. The report was given by William W. Nace, district soil conservationist.

The survey got under way about three weeks ago, and readings have been gathered from the mouth of the Little Youghiogheny to a point east of Oakland. Charts are now being made of the work already done. Temporary sites have been selected where conservation engineers feel would be good spots to slow up the flow of water in case of flash floods such as hit this section last Saturday night.

A committee was named to make a close study of flood control, which included Maurice Brookhart as a member of the town council, Lewis R. Jones as city attorney, R. C. McComas as representative from the County Commissioners, W. Dwight Stover, attorney to the County Commissioners, and representatives from the Soil Conservation service.

It was pointed out Monday night that the town of Oakland and the County Commissioners should be vitally interested in carrying the project to early completion.

In other business transacted by the Mayor and Town Council were the following:

Mercury Hits 85

The weather has continued hot this week with the thermometer reaching 85 degrees on Saturday, which was the highest reading of the period.

Five days of rain had been recorded up to Saturday with a total fall of 2.71 inches. Saturday's rain amounted to 1.9 at the government station at Weber's, south of town.

Low temperature reading of the week was 53 degrees, on Tuesday morning, July 12.

Seek Aid of Sheriff Fisher In Completing Wedding Plans

Many and varied have been the requests upon Sheriff Paul W. Fisher but this week is the first time he was called upon to aid in consummating a wedding.

Quite a bit was involved before the wedding took place but finally it was performed Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Donald Noslik, of Baltimore, and Dolly Patton, 17, of near Accident, applied for a marriage license last Wednesday. Mrs. Curtis Patton, mother of the girl, agreed to give her consent to the marriage since the girl was under the legal age of 18.

After preliminary arrangements had been completed Mrs. Patton returned to Baltimore with the couple for the week-end. They returned to this county early Monday morning but when the mother discovered that her daughter planned to return to Baltimore following the ceremony instead of spending several weeks at the Patton home, she decided she wouldn't give her consent.

That's where the sheriff entered the picture, for the couple went to him and sought his help. The sheriff was sympathetic but had no authority to offer but things began to pop soon thereafter.

Asks That NEA Flag Be Designed, Used

Ralph Swauger, delegate from the State of Maryland attending the National Education association convention in Chicago, Ill., last week, feeling that it was appropriate that the association have a flag to demonstrate its unity and spirit of growth, had a motion passed to have a flag designed and flown at the National headquarters in Chicago.

In remarks before the third business session of the convention Mr. Swauger declared that "Our National Education association headquarters building and our association need a symbol at the summit from which the public will receive renewed confidence in our national organization and its services." The motion was that such a flag be designed and adopted in 1956 for display at the convention in 1957 and subsequent use thereafter.

The motion was seconded by the chairman of the West Virginia delegation and unanimously carried and approved. It will be referred to the executive committee for further action.

Grantsville Wins

Grantsville's Sluggers racked up their 10th consecutive victory in a Pen-Mar Baseball league battle Sunday by edging Wellersburg at the latter place by the score of 4-3. Danny Cullen, pinch-hitting for Sonny Drew in the 8th inning, singled home the run that broke a 3-3 tie and gave relief hurler Lefty Don O'Haver from West Virginia university his third straight triumph.

Keister led off the 8th with a base hit but Lowery smacked into a double play. Joe Wengerd got a lift on an error. O'Haver drew a walk and Cullen delivered the hit that decided the game.

O'Haver relieved John Frank after Wellersburg tied the score in the 6th and pitched shutout ball for the remaining 3½ innings, fanning five. Woodson and Keister shared six of Grantsville's 12 hits while Junior Perry hammered a triple and single.

Grantsville stands in second place in the league with 13 wins and 3 defeats. Only Zihlman is ahead with 14 wins against 3 defeats.

Flood Cartoons

A cartoon, like a poem, is a neat way to put across an idea with few words. I wish I could draw a couple concerning the flood last Saturday. Now, I know the destruction caused by high water isn't comical but the things that happen at the time often are.

For instance one of our clothing stores had a couple of customers when word came that the flood was a certainty.

The clerk said, "Perhaps you'd better go or you'll get caught." She was making short work of the sale. "Oh, we aren't ready to go," said the woman. "We aren't through purchasing."

The clerk gave up any idea of making a sale and started moving merchandise frantically from bottom shelves to counters or above. Which just made the occasion a field day for the customers as they started looking through the boxes.

"Oh, I didn't know you had this shoe," or "Isn't that pretty?"

"I'm sorry," interrupted the irked clerk. "You'd better leave the store or you'll get trapped."

"You don't really think it will come in here do you?"

"Well, it has!"

Seeing Second street turn into a surging river and realizing the flood was between them and their car they decided to look awhile longer. The gentleman even suggested they might put on their newly purchased bathing suits and take to the "high seas."

Finally in desperation amid heaving of arm loads of clothing the customers were led out through a storeroom just before their feet got wet. But it was with reluctance.

Can't you see a cartoon of a woman with water to her ankles looking over an item of clothing and saying, "Do you think this will be in the flood sale?"

Seeing someone else take a tumble is always a laughing matter even though serious. Such was the case during the flood.

A storm sewer trap door heaved open somewhere in Hinchbaugh's. Guy William tried to surround it with tables but who should make the mistake but Tom Stevenson, the old crotch who is always trying to keep even with Guy William and his jokes. He just went one step too far. That's all, but it was a good ways down.

That would have been worse than opening the gift basket Guy William took him when he was in the hospital to find that it was garbage!

I guess Tom would have almost been glad to have broken his neck in the manhole to have gotten even with G. W.

Let That Be A Lesson!
Kathy Carlson, 2½, and her pastor father came out to discuss some League matters. When she returned home her mother asked, "Did you see Polly? What did she have to say?"

"She no say nothing. She just talk."

Man of the Future
Winston Churchill has expressed the belief that if a man is to preserve his health and marriage he should always have breakfast alone when at home.

That's what I've always thought. Gets the woman off to a good start too.

Then to confirm my thinking, one of our sons said one morning in response to "Do you want—?"

"I don't like to be waited on at breakfast."

There's one thing my husband should be thankful for during his breakfast hour. He never has to listen to a nagging wife. You just can't nag if you're half awake! Did you ever notice that?

Living Costs Low on Other Side
I was slightly startled when looking over a budget of a young couple to note that he carries insurance amounting to more than 45 thousand dollars. That is life insurance.

His church contribution or heaven insurance is $5.58 a month. Maybe he figures the cost of living won't be so high there.

State Lawmakers To Visit This Area

The Legislative Council, the interim body of Maryland's General Assembly, has scheduled a four-day visit to Western Maryland. Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, the Western Maryland member of the Council announced last week.

Del. Driscoll said the Council, at its meetings in Baltimore, earlier last week, made plans to begin its Western Maryland tour at Cumberland the night of Wednesday, August 10.

He said members of the council plan to arrive in Cumberland about 9:30 p. m. on August 10. The legislators will spend all next day and night in Allegany county and on Friday, August 12, will leave for Garrett county where they will spend the afternoon and night, returning to their homes Saturday. Senator Charles M. See will make arrangements for the tour of Allegany county, and Senator Clifford Friend in Garrett county.

It is expected that the Legislative Council will confer with local public officials. They are expected to visit Deep Creek Lake, Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor while touring this county.

Married In Westernport Church

The Assembly of God church in Westernport was the scene of a lovely June wedding on Saturday afternoon, the 18th, when Miss Maxine Louise Bernard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Bernard, Swanton, became the bride of Rev. Irvin Steiding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Steiding, of Piedmont.

White mums and palms, interspersed with tall lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the altar of the church. The Rev. N. E. Haupt, of Oakland, read the double ring ceremony and Rev. E. W. Welford, of Westernport, invoked the blessing.

Mrs. Gilbert Pitsinger, pianist, presented a nuptial recital preceding the ceremony and accompanied Miss Lala Lu Thompson, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" after she lit the candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin designed with a close fitting figure bodice and long sleeves pointed at the wrist, and a high neckline. The full skirt which terminated in a court train, featured two nylon overskirts, one of which was accordion pleated and one with lace panels the full length of the front and back. She wore a finger tip veil of nylon net caught with a beaded coronet halo and carried a corsage of white roses attached to a white ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Wilma Bernard, cousin of the bride, was gowned in a pastel green and carried a nosegay of pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Elaine Jenkins, also a cousin of the bride, and Miss Shirley Sutherland, of Westernport. Their gowns were shrimp and light blue respectively. Like the maid of honor, they wore veils matching their gowns attached to bandeaus of white flowers and carried nosegays of yellow roses.

Miss Rita Bernard, sister of the bride, was flower girl in rose satin fashioned with a lace neckline edged with a lace trimmed ruffle and a full skirt with a wide ruffle also edged in lace. She carried a white basket and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

Mr. Thomas Bernard, brother of the bride, served as best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were Donald Marple and Kenneth Howe, of Westernport.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bernard selected a navy print afternoon dress with matching accessories. She complemented her ensemble with a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Welford. The home was attractively appointed with flowers and candles.

When the couple left for a southern honeymoon trip, the new Mrs. Steiding wore a light pink suit with white accessories.

Guests included not only many friends and relatives from surrounding communities, but also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell and Miss Thelma Howell, of Canton, Ohio. Likewise were a number of ministers in attendance, including Rev. and Mrs. Secord and family, of Virginia, Rev. and Mrs. Clifton Wood and sons of Virginia, Rev. W. C. Long, Mt. Morris, Pa., Rev. and Mrs. O. R. Whipple, Keyser, Rev. A. W. Phillips, Middleburg, Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Kyle, Westernport, Rev. and Mrs. Jordan, Westernport and Rev. Pete Salesky, Keyser.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Steiding are graduates from the Zion Bible Institute of East Providence, R. I., and they plan to continue in Evangelistic work as he has been doing for the past year.

Invitations Out For Thirty-Fourth Tennis Tourney

Invitations have been mailed to prospective entrants for the thirty-fourth annual tennis tournament, to be held at Mt. Lake Park August 2 through August 6.

The tournament is held annually under the auspices of the Mt. Lake Park Tennis club and is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

There will be events in men's and women's singles and doubles, mixed doubles and veterans' doubles.

Inquiries sent out early in May indicated there was more than the usual interest in the various events, and it is expected that the list of entrants will be greater than for the past several years.

Ellis Slack, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who ranks fifth in singles in the Middle States association, already has sent in his entry. Likewise Robert Bennett, of Pittsburgh, has sent in his entry. Slack and Bennett are rated 4th in men's doubles in the Middle States association.

Among the social events scheduled are an open house on Wednesday, August 3, at the Allegheny cottage, and a semi-formal dance set for Friday, August 5. Finals and awarding of prizes are set for Saturday, August 6.

Men will vie for the Carr Memorial Bowl which has been in competition since 1952. It will become the permanent possession of the person winning it three times. John Myers, Washington, D. C., winner in 1954, and Bernie Schreiber, Baltimore, winner in 1952, each have a leg on the bowl. The 1953 tournament was rained out for the first time in 32 years.

There is a challenge trophy for the women's singles winner. Mrs. Margaret Disco, of Forest Hills, N. Y., was winner in 1954, and previous winners have been Miss Ewing McAllister, Baltimore, Miss Ann Fennsey, Washington, D. County Brucellosis Committee Is Named

A cattle owner from each community in the county, along with heads of farm organizations, health department, agriculture instructors and artificial inseminator technicians have been named to serve on a Garrett County Brucellosis committee.

Since a Maryland regulation requires that all cattle be tested for brucellosis (Bang's disease) by November 1st, a state-wide organization has been set up to assist in getting the program completed by the deadline.

Under the plan there is a state committee in each county. These committees are for the purpose of advising and counseling with the practicing veterinarian in the area to be sure that no cattle are missed.

In Garrett county it was considered necessary to do most of the work on an area basis, working a community at a time.

Cattle owners are being urged one who has won twice. Suitable prizes are to be awarded winners and runners up in all events.

Ralph E. Weber is chairman of the tournament committee with Mrs. John Colton, assistant, Mrs. Frances Bassett, Doyle Royal, Frank Roberts, Mrs. Nelson Thomasson, Robert N. Brown, Mrs. James Holloway and Paul Sullivan as members.

The Play

Different—very, from the Blithe Spirit.

Bonnie Barton and Tom Calkins move from the minor roles of last week to top billing in "Night Must Fall." Both did superior jobs though if I were to pin a blue ribbon it would without question go on Calkins for his role as Dan who was a page boy, former sailor, tough guy, smoothie, weakling.

The part of Dan gave him a chance to show acting versatility, while Miss Barton as Mrs. Branson played that of a suspicious, cranky, but glib old lady confined to a wheel chair.

Her acting was fine though I was aware as she wheeled herself near to my seat, of Bonnie Barton's own natural beauty behind her make-up. Her role would have been more convincing to me if that beauty hadn't shown through.

Speaking of natural beauty, Suzanne Oglesby certainly washed hers down the drain for she was anything but, in the role of Dora, the kitchen help. Her acting was excellent again, though minor. Quite interesting to note her acting range.

Rosetta Flippin as Olivia, the niece of Mrs. Branson, who was living in the aunt's home as paid help, carried a strong part and did it well. I've been trying to find my way toward her and now I have it. She reminds me of Bette Davis, though prettier, and has the limb of an American model. As someone whispered "She looks like a doll." Yes, a French china doll.

I was sure Helen Camp would be Madame Arcati the rest of the summer. Already her expressions are being used in our household. But in "Night Must Fall," she was Mrs. Terrance, bedraggled looking piece of household help, if I ever saw one. Her role is comedy again. Now I think of her as Mrs. Terrance. I am also reminded by the college lads who hang around here that I ought to take a look at her picture in the lobby. Believe they want to meet her in THAT role!

This wasn't a play of comedy for it was tense much of the time and much much tense part of the time. New in the cast was D. G. Buckles, playing the role of detective. He as well as Leonard Drum played their minor roles with the same high quality as the others.

I had expected a lot down this week. Thought perhaps they would shoot the works in the first one. But I was wrong. While I did not enjoy Williams like I did Coward, this play with decided English accent furnished roles for fine acting with suspense and surprise to the very last.—P. J. H.

Busy wife runs errands by telephone

...saves $3.50 in one day

To this "home manager," the telephone is more than just a convenience. It is an actual money-saver that helps her run her home more efficiently. A record kept for a typical day showed her where her calls went —

- to the bank to check her balance,
- to trace a lost pair of glasses, to order first aid supplies, to get an estimate on a new heater. All in all, she estimated that the telephone in a single day saved her three hours of dashing around, plus $3.50 in actual expense!

Telephone service doesn't cost — it pays! Every day — it saves time, trouble and money. So use the telephone often — let it work for you. Aren't there some calls you should make right now?

With Your Congressman
DeWITT S. HYDE

The Congress is rushing toward an early August windup. The record will be impressive even though the Majority leadership has postponed action on some legislation on which there is a partisan division. These measures will be brought before the Congress next session.

I am happy to report that legislation which is of direct interest to the 6th Maryland District and the District of Columbia is progressing toward enactment. I am certain, for instance, that the House will pass a District of Columbia teachers pay raise measure which will be more satisfactory than the Senate-approved bill.

There is also a degree of progress on legislation which would aid federal employees, both past and present, who are covered by insurance policies issued by employee benefit associations. Several bills to accomplish this are being considered.

The question of granting voting privileges to the residents of Camp Detrick is still being considered. I have written to the Department of Defense calling attention to the

Lewis Reunion Set

The seventh annual reunion of the late Phillip and Cora Lewis family will be held Sunday, July 17, at Rainbow Park, Haydentown, near Fairchance, Pa. A basket picnic will be served at 1 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited. Jerry Trout, Smithfield, Pa., is president of the group. Gifts will be given to the oldest, youngest and the one who travels the longest distance. Entertainment will be provided.

tain court decisions which are favorable to such rights. I have also reminded the Defense Department that at the atomic installation at Los Alamos, New Mexico, civilians have been granted the right to vote.

The need for additional ground for the Anietam National Cemetery at Sharpsburg, Maryland, is pressing at the present time. Baltimore is the nearest cemetery where gravesites are available. I have consequently introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Army to acquire the necessary additional land to enlarge the national cemetery at Sharpsburg.

The Post Office Department has informed me that a postal facility will be shortly established at the Important thought to keep in mind:

When you want to be sure you're safe with a gasoline that won't cause your car to sputter, stumble or stall, stop in at your Gulf station and ask the man for New Super-Refined Gulf No-NOX—and don't forget its super-refined teammate, New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil.

New Gulf No-NOX Gasoline delivers not just the highest octane but full working octane

because it's super-refined to burn clean

See what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Gulf takes out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery—to bring you new clean-burning Gulf No-NOX.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear son Simon R. Hoover, and his son Harold C. Hoover, who passed away 3 years ago the 15th of July.

Dear Son and Grandson: Though the years go by yet it seems you are near wherever I may be since your father was taken away when you were just three. In sorrow and pleasure we always shared together. I waited to see you come home from your work at 11 p. m. when it was so cold. Then I lay down to sleep. The smiles you gave me as you went to work and told me it was not so cold. I will never forget while life lasts. Oh, how sadly I miss you both.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

In these sweltering days of July perhaps a bit of light history might make interesting reading.

One of my favorite historical subjects is Fort Frederick in Washington county.

Of all the many forts built during the French and Indian War period (1755-1763) from the Canadian border into Virginia, Fort Frederick survives as an original example.

Near Indian Springs on a spur of the North Mountain of the Allegheny Range, this formidable fortification lies 100 feet above the Potomac. At its base shimmers a body of water known since canal days as "Big Pool." To the north, just over three miles away, modern traffic races by on the much-traveled Route 40, long famous as the National Road to the West.

Fort Frederick, named in honor of Frederick, the last Lord Baltimore, was built in 1756, close upon the heels of Braddock's defeat before Fort Duquesne, now Pittsburgh.

Statistics pertaining to the Fort are impressive. About 150 men under the personal direction of Governor Horatio Sharpe erected 17-foot-high walls, measuring four feet thick at the base and two feet thick at the top. These mighty ramparts, made of native sandstone, occupied an approximate 1 1/2 acres of land, exclusive of the projecting bastions or redoubts.

The general shape of the Fort was rectangular, the bastions projecting like spearheads beyond the four corners. These areas, earth-filled, each supported a "six-pounder" which, on occasion, roared above the massive walls. Each hinge on its double doors weighed 42 pounds.

As soon as exterior specifications had been met, barracks were erected within the inclosure, possibly in time to house the 200 men who were quartered there under Colonel John Dagworthy. These troops had been stationed at Fort Cumberland, the Fort which had been found to be too far removed from the frontier settlements to be useful for purposes of practical defense.

On the green sward, hearths and even a well-site are in evidence. A neighboring museum contains artifacts discovered within and around the historic walls.

All in all, it is a delightful bit of living Maryland history which you might enjoy visiting—even as I do.

Get Behind This

From "Listen Americans," by George S. Benson

When former President Herbert Hoover concluded a press conference in Washington last month the several hundred newspapermen present gave him a standing ovation, the first such demonstration in Washington in the memory of those present. It was indeed an unprecedented gesture of respect for Mr. Hoover's honesty of purpose and his extraordinary record of public service to our nation.

The occasion was his announcement of the completion of the present Hoover Commission's work towards bringing about greater economy and efficiency in the operation of the Federal government. The Federal government today takes more than 20 per cent of the income of the American people as a whole. Thus every individual, young and old, rich and poor, has a stake in the Hoover Commission's work, and especially in what happens now as a result of its recommendations.

Nothing will be done about the recommendations unless citizen leaders study the Hoover Commission findings and recommendations and then mobilize public sentiment behind those recommendations which clearly appear to be in the best interest of the government and the people generally.

Congress set forth specific tasks for the Commission. One was to examine the structure of Federal government tax-free business enterprises, with the objective of getting the government out of a field in which it evidently can't equal private enterprise efficiency.

This study found that the Federal government today is operating thousands of business enterprises, with an investment of $15 billion in taxpayers' money; and that as a general rule the taxpayers, the government's and the nation's economy would be better off if these government enterprises were closed.

"The government business-type enterprises," said the Hoover Commission Report, "except in a few instances, pay no taxes, and pay little or no interest on the capital invested..." Moreover, invariably the goods and services produced by the government enterprises could be obtained at less cost (saving tax money) through private enterprises.

If the citizens get behind the Hoover Commission recommendations further constructive improvement in our government and our general welfare will be forthcoming.

Pleads Guilty To Drunk, Disorderly

George Long, of Cumberland, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly when given a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland on Monday. Long was arrested following an altercation at Thayer's barn one night last week.

Long was fined $25 and costs but the fine was suspended, providing he remain of good behavior. In connection with the same altercation Richard Cover swore out a warrant against Duncane R. Cimara, proprietor of Thayer's Barn, on a charge of selling beer to minors. At a hearing Monday before Magistrate Bitzer, Cimara was found not guilty.

Children Taken From Parents

Five children were taken from the custody of their parents following a hearing last Saturday. The children were taken from the custody of a girl 15 years old. The hearing was held on Friday and DeWitt was sentenced on Monday to serve three months in the House of Correction and in addition he was fined $300.

In another case before Magistrate Bitzer during the week, Harold DeWitt, 26, pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge of a girl 15 years old. The hearing was held on Friday and DeWitt was sentenced on Monday to serve three months in the House of Correction and in addition he was fined $300.

To Vote on Wool And Lamb Program

Sheep producers will vote between now and August 19 in a referendum to decide whether or not an agreement providing for advertising, promotional and related market development activities on wool and lambs will be put into effect. It was announced by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The agreement between the recently organized American Sheep Producers Council and the Secretary of Agriculture provides for deductions from incentive payments which wool producers are entitled to receive under the act of 1954. These deductions will provide a means of financing the market development program. Before the agreement can be put into effect, producers owning at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs represented by votes in the referendum must vote their approval.

If the agreement is approved, the deductions from payments for the 1955 incentive program to be made in the summer of 1956, will be 1 cent per pound from shown wool payments and 5 cents per hundred pounds of live weight from lamb and yearling payments.

Producers who have owned sheep or lambs for at least 30 days any time since January 1, will be eligible to vote. Because deductions would be made from both shown wool and lamb and yearling payments, the volume of production for this referendum will be based on the number of sheep six months of age and older owned during any one 30-day period since January 1. The number of sheep and lambs will be noted on the ballot by each producer and the ballot will be signed by him.

Ballots will be accepted by the county ASC office in Oakland through Friday, August 19. Mr. DeWitt stated that ballots had been sent to all known eligible voters but if a voter has not received a ballot he can get one at the county ASC office. Results of the referendum will not be available until early September.

Rotary and Country Club Tossers Win

The Country Club defeated the first half champions Moose nine at Oakland yesterday 5 to 1 as Denny Myers and Vaughn Hardisty clipped in with two hits apiece for the winners in the Oakland Pony League game.

The Pony team won its second straight second half game with an 8-1 decision over the Woodmen, as Jim Brinegar and Dan Milavec combined to hurl a no-hitter for the Rotarians. Butler and Stemple had two hits for the winners.

No Oakland Pony League games will be played next week.

Schroyer Reunion

The annual Schroyer reunion will be held at the home of Mrs. Schroyer in Oakland, August 7. Everybody is invited.

Cigaret Tax Upped

Additional returns received by Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer, during the past week, have increased the first month's returns of the cigarette tax to $2,207.67, it was announced.

The total was an addition of $218.28 over last week's figures. The penny a pack tax on the sale of cigarettes has been designated to be used to increase the salaries of school teachers in the county, and if the tax continues to be as high as the first month, the increase will amount to some $125 per school term.

Mr. Welch said he had received 157 returns.

Fourth Play Being Readied For Stage

The fourth play at the Garrett County Playhouse will be still an other change of pace for the local players. Dangerous Corner, to be presented next week, from Tuesday, July 26, through Saturday, July 30, by J. B. Priestly, is a successful study of the effects of a murder upon the friends and relatives of the murdered man.

The play, beginning quietly at a dinner party, slowly unfolds the many hidden secrets about the murder and the undercurrents which surround a seemingly happy and well adjusted group of people. The audience will find itself more and more involved in the lives of these frightened people as events move rapidly to an unexpected climax.

Audiences for the current play, The Importance of Being Earnest, who were pleased with the 1950 season would be interested to know that all the period furniture was supplied by residents of the county. One of the tasks of the Playhouse's director, Gene Yell, is searching out the proper furniture and furnishings for the mood and period of each play and county residents have cooperated in lending their things. The green velvet love seat in "Earnest" came from the Deer Park home of Miss Alice Campbell. The white wrought iron benches in the garden scene may normally be seen on the front porch of J. M. Jarboe's home in Oakland. The bright pink chairs were painted on short notice by Miss Indie Sue Thomason and some Mt. Lake Park friends.

While many of the costumes were loaned to the Playhouse by the drama department of the University of New Mexico, most of them needed alteration and accessories and these were supplied by Mrs. Marvin Jones, of Mt. Lake Park, who has loaned her living room into a fitting room for the actors. Flowers for the present performance were supplied by the Weber Greenhouse.

Attendance topped the five hundred mark last week with the group experiencing an overflow house on Thursday night.

Curtain time at all performances is 8:15. Subscribers are urged to make reservations early. The importance of Being Earnest is being presented tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights.

According to the Little League rules, fourteen persons are selected from the four Oakland teams, who are to be in competition. They will play the winner of the Frostburg-Pen Mar game in the district four play-offs.

George Stewart has been named to manage the Oakland team with John Criss as assistant manager. The fourteen boys selected from the four Oakland teams include Richard Stuck, Robert Hughes, John Primer, Rodney Barkhurst, Bill Stemple, Jerry DiSimone, Barry Sanders, John Beckman, Arthur Lawton, Ronald Colwell, Frank Finch, Roger Uphold, Harold Sharpless and Kenneth Jones.

Take West Point Exam

Through the local unit of the National Guard, two persons took advantage of an examination leading to a possible appointment to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

The two who went to Baltimore on Monday, July 11, for the examination, were Carl Kreyenbuhl and John Marple. Capt. Arthur Calhoun, commanding officer of the 121st Engineers, said there were six in the state who took the examination. The results have not been announced.

Gas Production Shows Decrease

Natural gas production in the Mt. Lake Park, Gortner, Red House and Accident areas over the past three months ending June 30, has shown another decrease, but not an extensive one. The regular report was received this week by the County Commissioners from the Cumberland and Allegany Gas company.

The company sent a check for $9,875.15 as the county's total for the seven percent tax on the marketable gas which was $3,433.11 less than for the three months' period January 1 to March 31, but still greater than the check for $6,508.28 of the period before that. The check for $13,308.26 in May was the second largest check in the history of gas well production, the only larger one being for $17,341.27.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $350.06 as the purchaser's proportion (.28 percent) and $5,925.09 as the producers' proportion (.42 percent).

Production from the 28 producing wells during the months of April, May and June totaled 690,355,000 cubic feet, well over seven million cubic feet per day, with the Arnold well being responsible for almost four million per day. The Arnold well showed production of 550,353,000.

During the three months' period the wholesale market value was listed at $11,973.57. This compares with the preceding quarter's production of 387,527,000 cubic feet with a wholesale market value of $19,018.03, and the previous quarter of 176,788,000 cubic feet and a market value of $83,261.22.

Two new wells were added during the period. The Miller well showing over 42 million cubic feet and the Collier well showing over 88 million cubic feet. Other wells showing increases were the Graser, Offutt and Hamilton wells. There was little change in the N. K. Welch well which was at 21 million, and the Swartzentruber well with 25 million.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the County Commissioners from gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July of 1951 the county's governing body has received $143,627.07, which has been used to help pay off the school bonds. The complete report of the production for the ninety-day period is shown in tabular form in today's issue.

Bouquets and Hospitality

The players at the Playhouse are beginning to feel right at home here in Garrett county, and liking it. Folks are asking them to their homes for a bit to eat after performances. So far one of their enjoyable visits was to Noah Schrock's birthday party.

Barbara Burrus Yell, a neighbor of the Schrocks, and her family, have often been included for ice cream and cake on this festive day. When the cast stopped by to pick them up Mr. Schrock said, "Come on in." And they loved the country hospitality as well as the big dishes of ice cream.

Then too, it was their first visit with the Amish which they appreciated. One would hardly know Garrett county until he had made the acquaintance with at least a few of our fine folk who wear the dark dresses and little caps. Some of us know that they excel in hospitality.

It seems that Dr. Tom Gonder had a week-end guest who was swept away by Rosetta Flippin when he saw her in "Night Must Fall." Not having met her seemed to be no obstacle to him. He proceeded to send her a bouquet of long stemmed American Beauty roses with a card which read, "The Importance of Being Earnest." No doubt he was sure to put the "a" in Earnest.

Isn't it the Truth
I had never thought of it—until I heard the line in this week's play. "A woman never marries the man she flirts with."

People are Funny
Elizabeth Patton's "Red Barn" which brought her recognition in Florida, gave some of our folks a negative feeling. Mitchell's barn which we see often was the subject for a modern painting. Some folks like things as they are regardless of art.

I overheard one woman say, "Why, there's no crooked tree in front of that barn!"
Nevertheless, one man who doesn't know the barn came back time and again to study the painting.

The painting "Between Trains" was the most popular picture in the exhibit. Am so glad it's going to stay in Oakland, Benny Bennett.

Accident Personals

Miss Mona Lee Collier and her grandmother, Mrs. Daisy Grant, returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Collier on Sunday morning following a week's visit with Mrs. Grant's son and family in Oklahoma City. Miss Collier is a student nurse at Memorial hospital, Cumberland.

Mrs. Luther Bowser is a surgical patient in the Community hospital, Meyersdale.

Mrs. Nellie Rodgers arrived on Saturday to spend the summer months with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Speicher.

I understand, bought it for his mother for a birthday gift. Incidentally, Saks 5th Avenue, also has purchased two of Mrs. Patton's pictures for its Miami store.

Women!

Two page boys were overheard at the National A.A.U.W. convention in Los Angeles last month:

Asked one of the other:

"Is this a convention of all women?"

"Yes," replied the other, "and women in flat heels!"

Could it be that what they are has gone to their heads?

These Kids!

World travellers they're turning out to be. It seems only yesterday that Robert Stocklager and our boys were digging up craw-craws from the creek, searching for horse's tails or some other kind of plant life for biology, or doing some dare-devil thing along the edge of high water.

And now Robert, who is in Europe, is taking in the place, week-ends, like a man of the world. Getting a good education while he's doing his two years.

I would like to have been a mouse in the corner when he and Susan Turner got together in Paris. Both of them have terrific senses of humor and can be clowning when they're in the mood. And Paris should be the perfect setting for the mood.

Members of the Accident Post of American Legion Auxiliary No. 208, who attended the District meeting of Mountain Auxiliary units in Oakland, on Sunday, were Mrs. Olive Herring, Mrs. Hazel Kahl, Mrs. Florence Shoemaker, Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. Rosie Moon.

Danny and Larry Brownman are spending several days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Collier.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Glass were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Butler on Monday evening.

Bill West, York, Pa., is spending several weeks with his aunt, Mrs. Carrie Brobst.

Miss Mona Lee Collier and Mrs. Daisy Grant have returned from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where they visited Mrs. B. J. Grant and family.

No wonder
this Hardtop is the
'HIT OF THE YEAR!'

IT'S 4-DOOR HANDY
—and priced for action!

This one you'll just have to see.

It's a beauty. It's a brand-new kind of car. It's a Buick Riviera with four doors. And to top it all—it's a SPECIAL—the lowest-priced of all Buick Series.

Know what that means?

It means you can have the newest hit in hardtops—the most advanced new body design yet—and you can have it in the price range of America's smaller cars.

It means you can have a steel-roofed car with the long, low, sweeping sportiness of a convertible—with no center posts in the side window areas—and with two separate doors to the rear.

And you can have all this hardtop beauty with sedan comfort and convenience at the easy-to-take modest extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door model.

But if you think that's all—listen:

This gleaming grace of automobile is a Buick through and through—a '55 Buick, from the hottest-selling line of Buicks in all history.

So here you have the soft, firm steadiness of Buick's all-coil-spring ride and torque-tube stability. Here you have Buick brawn, Buick solidity, Buick handling ease, Buick styling and visibility and interior luxury.

And here you have the lift and life of vigorous new V8 power of record might—and coupled to the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Why wait a day longer—when you can come in right now and try the first true hardtop with the extra comfort, room and convenience of a full-sized 4-door sedan?

Drop in tomorrow, first thing—for a look at the price, and an idea of the whopping-big trade-in deal our huge sales volume permits us to make.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Delighted With Theatre

The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Sir:

As a property owner at Deep Creek Lake, I am delighted to know that Garrett County has acquired a summer theater. As a summer resident at the lake, I have long asked one question: Why do the inhabitants of Garrett County seemingly insist on hiding their lights under a bush? The genuine beauties of this area are too fine and numerous to be denied appropriate promotion and publicity. My wife and I have spent a year and a half in Europe, and we very rarely saw anything which seemed to surpass the charm and serenity of Deep Creek Lake. Perhaps, then, the presence of an active summer theater will garner for this section additional and deserved exploitation, as well as provide a healthy mixture of fun and culture.

As an assistant professor and a director of plays in the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art at the University of Maryland, I might also say that for several years I have given considerable thought to and engaged in much discussion with friends in Oakland about the possibility of starting a summer theater. We, at the University of Maryland, would like to increase the awareness of residents of Garrett County of the versatility of the great educational institution which their taxes help support. The work of the university in agriculture—as well as its football prowess—is well known to them, but they know equally well its constantly growing cultural tradition its work in the arts, music and the theater, for example. It is proper that an educational institution such as ours contribute to the material and cultural well-being of all the people of the state. For example, plans are under way for future music and drama festivals, in which all high schools will be invited to participate.

In the meantime, a group of us who are engaged in dramatic activities at the university are going ahead with our plans, on an as-yet-unofficial basis, to open a summer theater at Deep Creek Lake in 1956. We have already found an ideally-located building which will make an excellent theater. I should like to emphasize that our idea has been brewing for several years; we are not attempting to copy Mr. Gene Yell and his associates. We are certain that the residents of Garrett County and its summer visitors will be just as interested in supporting a summer theater which draws most of its resources and personnel from their own state university as supporting one which must draw most of its resources and personnel from a university which is 2000 miles away.

Sincerely yours,
Lyle V. Mayer

ONE WORD...

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROSE OLSEN
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Checks

There are a number of worthy ways by which you can examine yourself. Among them are the kind of books you read, what you do with your leisure time and a comparison of your life with the highest principles you know.

The particular way I have in mind is that used by Philip Guedella when he wanted to discover the sort of person the Duke of Wellington really was. Guedella wrote a biography of the Duke. Where do you suppose he found reliable evidence of Wellington's character? In the Duke's checkbooks. To be sure here was trustworthy witness to what the man cared for most.

Did you ever make a critical study of your checkbook? Try it and see for what you are exchanging your life. How much are you spending for those things which will pass away? What are your expenditures for that which will remain? It's all there in your checkbook. So, if you really want to know what sort of a person you are, just take a look at your checks, the word that can change your life.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The General At Geneva

With the President now actually participating in the so-called "summit conference," politicians (both those who like him and those who do not) are somewhat at a loss. The potentialities are so vast and so unpredictable that they dwarf all ordinary political issues to microscopic size and make personal attacks such as have been emanating from the rather ridiculous Senator Kefauver and others seem particularly stupid and absurd.

For it does seem that this is the most momentous meeting of statesmen or rulers ever held anywhere at any time. It is, of course, possible that, through agreement and good will, some step will be taken by the "Big Four" that will be recognized as definitely in the direction of peace and the lightening of the crushing armament burden which bears so heavily on us all. We have been clearly warned not to expect too much. But even a small move in the right direction will have a tremendously beneficial effect. It would raise the whole world morale. However little the step, if it should be in the right direction and not just propaganda, it would have, throughout the world, an extraordinary stimulating and healthful response.

Certainly, it is reasonable to assume that every one of the four principals in this extraordinary conference—Eisenhower for the United States, Eden for Great Britain, Bulganin for Russia and Faure for France—personally wants it to be a success. Personally, I am anxious for it to fulfill the hopes of the masses of the people in his own country and in all countries. It is almost inconceivable that any one of the four is so congenitally evil and unbalanced as to want to plunge the world into the worst of all wars, from which no nation could survive and as a result of which the human race itself would be destroyed. The fact, of course, is that for every one of these four representatives it will be of immense personal advantage for this conference to succeed. It will stabilize the government of every one of them, politically strengthen him immensely, add vastly to his prestige and power.

Looking at it from the most selfish and cynical point of view, there is nothing for any of these men in having this conference a failure, everything in having it succeed, no matter who is responsible for its success. Because of these practical facts, the Eisenhower optimism seems well-founded and the outlook brighter than had been hoped. At any rate, the pessimists in both parties, while spreading a good deal of gloom, do not at the moment dare to go on the limb to the point of predicting an all-around failure at Geneva. To be sure, there are some complicated and extremely difficult problems to be solved. To be sure, there are some concessions that must be made which seem impossible to make and no one has all the answers.

Also, it is more true than most people realize that one of the greatest blocks to the success of this great conference is language. So few Englishmen, Americans and Frenchmen speak Russian. So few of those who do speak Russian speak it well. Likewise it is true that not many Russians speak either English or French well. Language is on an occasion such as this a great barrier. It makes complete understanding very difficult, indeed; it makes some misunderstanding easy and almost inevitable. The President is exceedingly fortunate in having as his interpreter and adviser Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who has represented us in Russia for the past three years. Probably Mr. Bohlen speaks, reads and understands Russian better than any other man in this country. He is able, experienced and trustworthy. With his help Mr. Eisenhower may not do all he hopes at this conference but

The play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," was not what I had expected. In the first place, for a greater appreciation of Oscar Wilde, it would be helpful to read the play beforehand, which I had not.

The plot seemed unimportant, in fact I was hardly aware of plot until the last act which came up as suddenly as a pan of boiling milk. The lines were loaded, I had expected, since it was a comedy, to sit back, relax and roar—none of which was possible. It took an alert audience to comprehend the fast moving dialogue and to pick up the clever phrases. I kept wishing I could turn them back, as on a tape recorder, to hear them again.

Some of the lines were frivolous statements, spoken with great conviction; others serious ones delivered with complete flippancy.

The actors Tuesday night gave me the feeling they needed another rehearsal. So smooth had been their other performances that to blunder a line even slightly became noticeable. However, not enough to be objectionable—and still no prompting.

The audience didn't give me the feeling that they were receptive until the last act. But I understand from folk who have seen "Earnest" elsewhere, that it's the play, not the players. "A sort of Gilbert and Sullivan," said one, "without the music."

The stage setting was one of simplicity yet resembling a Valentin. The costumes, colorful and attractive with H-Jen Camp looking the part of a fair lady of the leg-of-mutton, bustle era.

I wonder if I alone was in the feeling that the ladies (I hate to name them) could have handled that part of the anatomy which carries the bustle, with more grace.

Suzanne Olesby played her role with great assurance. The scenes in which she and Helen Camp, as Cecily and Gwendolen, were alone were delightful both in dialogue and timing.

Tom Calkins was cast as an old minister, playing the role well though quite a contrast to that of Dan of the week preceding.

Indie Sue Thomasson, a teenager, was darling—and well poised. Maybe she will be a star some day at our playhouse.

Riot deaths reached 61 in Casablanca, French Morocco, as violence continued there.

First commercial atomic-electric power was turned into power lines in West Milton, New York.

he certainly is going to be in there trying.

Despite the violent anti-Russian denunciations, which the President deplored before he left, it does seem that even his most waspish congressional foes have abandoned their sniping over such things as the Dixon-Yates cancellation while he is at the conference. Of course, if no change should be achieved there or should it be generally recognized as a failure, this sniping would be immediately renewed with increased malice and force. That is to be expected at a period so close to the presidential election, especially on the part of presidential aspirants. On the other hand, if without loss of dignity and without giving real substance to the charge of "appeasement" or "surrender" (which, it will be agreed, are somewhat foreign to the Eisenhower nature) the conference ends with a justified better feeling in the civilized world, it will be immensely discouraging to the Eisenhower political detractors of the Morse, Kefauver and Humphrey type.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Old Guard

For obvious political purposes, the Democratic National Chairman, Paul M. Butler, has recently tagged me as an "Old Guard Republican." Intending, of course, to deprecate my record in the Senate, the other Mr. Butler undoubtedly feels that the appellation of "Old Guard" is decadent and despicable—something to abhor. How wrong he is! His seeming ignorance of the meaning of a term as basically American as baseball is only exceeded by the discord which he has fomented within the ranks of his own party, particularly amongst those who do not wish to be identified with any attempted resurrection of the New Deal and the Fair Deal.

The term "Old Guard" was first applied to the American political scene during the Presidential election campaign of 1880. It was the designation worn unashamedly by that segment of the Republican Party, led primarily by Senator Roscoe Conkling, of New York, that was supporting the third term candidacy of former President Ulysses S. Grant.

To Conkling, an ardent friend of Grant's, fell the honor of placing the name of the former President and Civil War General in nomination before the convention. Conkling was a great orator, and in a brilliant nominating speech, he said, among other things: "Pull no skulkers from under the ammunition wagon; take the tried and true old hero—with the Old Guard behind him who have never kept step to any music but the music of the Union."

Since that time, the "Old Guard" has come to signify the great majority of the Republican Party—that group, often referred to as "conservatives," which has been resolute and steadfast in its dedication to our Nation's sovereignty, the Constitutional concept of government, right and freedoms; the decentralization of Federal power; the principle of State's rights, efficient and economical government, and in its opposition to socialist trends.

These worthy and essential "Old Guard" objectives continue to enjoy extensive bipartisan support despite repeated assaults upon the fabric of our government. Were Mr. Paul Butler to consult the pages of history rather than the pages of political fiction, he would

Cattle Tour In Preston Arranged

A Preston county beef cattle field day tour is scheduled for Saturday, July 30, which will cover three of the top purebred beef cattle herds in the state.

Alton J. Anderson, Preston county agent, of Kingwood, said that invitations had been mailed to beef cattle farmers in Garrett county as well as in other parts of West Virginia.

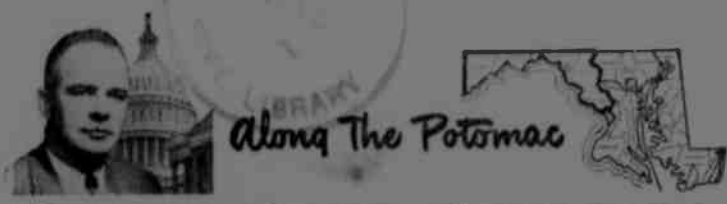

The purebred Hereford herd of Whit-hair Brothers, Terra Alta, will be the first farm visited when the tour assembles at 9 a. m. The tour will continue to two purebred Aberdeen-Angus farms, owned by Clem Teets and Sons, Terra Alta, and Brookside Farms, Aurora, W. Va.

A judging contest will be held and cash prizes will be paid to the three high scoring individuals in the contests, one for boys and girls under 18 and one for anyone over 18.

In addition to seeing the breeding herds and participating in the judging contest everyone will have an opportunity to observe some outstanding pasture and meadow improvements and other modern beef cattle production and management practices.

A picnic lunch, each person or family bringing a lunch basket, will be held at Cathedral State Park, Aurora, at 12 o'clock. West Virginia is on Standard time.

Representatives from West Virginia University, Agricultural Extension service, Hereford Breeders' association and Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association have accepted

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

During the past week I had the opportunity of talking with the Secretary of Labor. He pointed out that the healthier the economy the better the working man fares, and the prospects are that there will be fewer and fewer unemployed as the year progresses. Those who are employed will be taking home later pay envelopes.

I think, also, you will be interested in his remarks on industrial peace. The Secretary said that good employer-employee relations can be developed only when the parties sit down at the bargaining table properly disposed toward each other. He went on to say that when the government interjects itself on the side of one or the other parties in a labor dispute, it's just like putting a horseshoe in the glove of a boxer—his opponent doesn't have much chance. It certainly isn't fair for the government to be the horseshoe for one side or the other. The government's sole interest must be that of protecting the public and not as an advocate of workers or employers.

Both the Senate and the House are moving on legislative matters. Some of the proposals before the Congress have become obscured in smoke screens generated by partisan politics. Among them is the invitation to attend and participate.

highway construction bill; there is no valid reason for this important proposal to have become the victim of a political hassle.

Extension of the Small Business Administration is a delayed surety. I would like to point out that I believe that such agencies should be independent and out where their going-on can be watched and not buried in one of the Departments. It is better for the government and for the small businessmen who would be served.

Marylanders will appreciate the action of Congress in making possible the restoration of the markers that set off the boundary between our State and Delaware. They will also be pleased with the progress of the bill to restore funds lost through administrative interpretation of the federal impact law.

I am very happy to report that the Congress will correct an unfortunate situation which has arisen through a Defense Department directive which set a fee for the issuance of copies of lost military and naval discharges or certificates of service. The bill carries not only a waiver of these fees for service men but also for their survivors.

On my calendar: This week, if the pressure of legislative matters permits, I hope to join with the members of the New Market Farm Emergency CD Committee at their

Farm Safety Week Is Being Observed

The National Farm Safety Week will be observed from July 24 to July 30, it was announced. "Your Safety Is In Your Hands" is the theme for the week.

The week is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The council suggests the program to include: Sunday, have reverence for life; Monday, home safety; Tuesday, live stock; Wednesday, falls; Thursday, highway traffic; Friday, machinery; Saturday, review day for checking up on hazards that might have been overlooked.

In Garrett county Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, is urging girls and homemakers to use safety measures during the coming summer season and is cautioning them to practice lifting lids from all hot containers so that the edge farthest from one leaves the container first.

Earlier, homemakers were given warning to clean out their medicine cabinets of all old and unused medicines. Advice was given on antiseptics, ointments, aspirin, mineral oil, milk of magnesia, cold remedies and vitamins.

Rules for determining safe speed when driving also have been distributed by Mrs. George Coddington, who is health and safety chairman for the County Council of Homemakers.

Zihlman Nips Grantsville Team

Zihlman won its 15th game in 18 starts last Saturday by nipping out chief contender Grantsville, 7 to 6, in a 10-inning contest to boost its first place lead to two full games in the Pen-Mar baseball league.

The game saw-sawed back and forth, Zihlman grabbing a one-run lead in the last of the eighth inning by pushing over two runs. But the Sluggers bounced back with a run and knotted the score at 6-6 on Mastrean's single that scored Joe Wenger from second base.

In the Zihlman 10th Denny Shuck singled through the box and Jack Brodie got a double down the right field line to score Shuck. Mastrean and Keister each hit a pair of singles and Perry had a home run in the second inning for Grantsville. Perry fanned 13 and walked eight for Grantsville.

Moose and Rotary Win In Pony League

The Moose defeated the Woodmen 14-12 and the Rotary club trimmed the Country Club 14 to 8 in Oakland Pony League games played Sunday.

Snyder and Kiser paced the Woodmen with three hits each while Colaw, McElroy and Meyers collected two blows each for the Moose. Colaw, of W.O.W., issued 12 bases on balls.

Don Stemple, Milavec and Long of Rotary and Ken Shaffer of Country Club, garnered two safeties each.

In the only game played in the Pony League circuit on Saturday Rotary scored a 9-5 verdict over Country club.

Don Stemple pounded out a double and single to pace Rotary while Kenny Paugh's pair of singles and Paul Cornish's two bagger were the big blows for the Country club. Joe Sanders pitched for Rotary.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

Have enough gas for where you're going, Mister?
Well, little matter. You can always get more at some service station.
The same goes if unexpected guests drop in at home. You can buy bread, meat, or eggs at a nearby store... or you can borrow from a neighbor.

But this is not possible when a serious emergency strikes. You have to be prepared beforehand. You can't buy strength of spirit. Nor can you borrow it. It grows within you, little at a time.

So be prepared when disappointment discouragement, trouble, or grief strike. Through worship at Church fortify yourself with faith and courage. Get acquainted with God's love and wisdom.

Come what may, you'll be ready for any emergency.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither nation nor world can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. (4) To go to Church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: 2 Kings 24:20b

Evangelical Reading: 2 Chronicles 36:1-14:20

Right and Wrong

Lesson for July 24, 1955

IT is all very well to speak of the downfall of a nation, or of a national disaster, you can read in history books that such and such a nation finally was wiped out in such and such a year. Judah, for instance, ceased to exist as a nation after 586 B. C. But these are cold words. When a nation, a city, goes to smash, it means that homes are burned down, people are killed, business is bankrupt, nothing is "as Dr. Foreman usual" any more. There is no way a nation can crash without taking many individual lives and much happiness down with it.

Pulling Others Down

Out of the many lessons one can learn from the downfall of Judah and its capital Jerusalem is that innocent people suffer with the guilty and because of the guilty. Not every one in a wicked nation is wicked; some may have been doing their level best to keep the nation from going on the wrong track. Jeremiah is a prime example of this kind of man. An inspired prophet, he had been warning his fellow-citizens for years, as had Ezekiel and other prophets. But in the general disaster he suffered quite as much as anybody who was to blame for the whole mess. Jerusalem was swallowed, you might say, in two bites. The first was in 597 B. C. when the boy-king Jehoiachin was taken off to Babylon to spend the rest of his days as a prisoner. Along with the kinglet went the royal family, the aristocracy, the top army officers, and a thousand skilled workers. Jerusalem and Judah were left to third-raters for eleven years; stupid, weak men who (to make a long story short) committed national suicide. Jeremiah suffered a great deal at the hands of these men. More than this he suffered in the final days of starvation and panic. (Of which more next week.) He was by far not the first, last or only innocent man to suffer in a nation's disaster. A good Christian like Niemöller suffers for Hitler's madness; a saintly Christian like Kagawa suffers in Japan's defeat, even though both of them protested against their nation's policies.

Pulling Others Up

Needless to say, there is the other side of this. Just as the innocent are dragged down by the guilty, so the guilty are sometimes protected and benefited by the good. A nation by breaking God's laws pulls down many individuals who keep God's laws so far as they can; and on the other hand a nation that keeps God's laws pulls up many individuals who are quite indifferent to God. Take America at the present writing, for instance. The picture may have changed by the time you read this; but while it is being written our nation is at peace, prosperity blooms on every side. We are one of the two most powerful nations the world has ever seen. Who serves the credit? Not all of us, surely! We talk about the heroism of our forefathers, immigrants and pioneers; but we are not very heroic. We talk about American smartness and know-how; but how few of us know how! We point with pride to our vast educational system—and we read the comic strips. We are happy to see erosion brought under control and fertility restored to waste land. But how many farmers were eager for such a program at first? We are proud of progress, when if it had been left to most of us, we would still be stuck in the mud.

The Price of Being Human

The truth is, and we cannot be reminded of it too often, that the human race is all tied together. Mankind is made for community. The human race is not like a tray of sand, where one grain can blow off without disturbing the others very much. It is more like a block of concrete; move one grain of that and it all moves. We are happy enough to be pulled up by the community or the nation when that is better than we are; so we have not too much to cry about when we are pulled down by the community or the nation when that is worse than we are. We can't have it both ways. We must not expect to benefit from the goodness of our good neighbors and at the same time not be hurt by the badness of our bad neighbors. It is the price of being human, that we are bonded together with countless others, and that with them we must often suffer the severe judgment of God.

SECURITY... ..One of Our Freedoms

July is our Nation's most important month, July 4th its most important day. The Declaration of Independence provided us freedom from oppression, freedom of worship, freedom for individual opportunity. It also gave us the opportunity for financial security—freedom from want.

Nowhere is there greater opportunity for security—saving from today's earnings for future needs and independence.

Nowhere else can one build stronger financial security than that provided Woodmen members at cost. And with their safe, sound, legal reserve Woodmen life insurance, Woodmen also derive many valuable life-long benefits from Woodcraft's fraternal and social activities.

Ask a representative listed below how you can build security for yourself and your family with Woodmen life insurance and enjoy Woodcraft's many "plus" benefits.

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER

World
Pearl Buck has said that she is surprised to discover how many people feel that they are living in a dark world. She said that this is an age so full of possibility that she is glad to be alive—alive to see the "quite possible tomorrow" of peace and plenty—become the real today.

In Jewish literature there is a parable about the King of the Beasts, who offered a reward to the animal able to cure his illness. One by one the animals tried to relieve the lion's distress, but he gradually grew worse instead of better. Then, one day a crane passed by. He asked the King of the Beasts to open his mouth. The lion opened wide and the crane stretched his long neck down inside to spot the trouble. Sure enough, he located a misplaced bone, pulled it out and the lion got well. The crane then asked for the reward that was promised. The king of the forest replied, "Isn't it reward enough for you to have put your head in a lion's mouth and yet still live?"

Yes, this may be the age of the lion's open mouth, but isn't it good to be alive and to work and hope for the dawn of a better world, the

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

As economic activity in the United States for the final six months of 1955 shows every prospect of exceeding the boom performance of the first six months, being predicted by economists in the Agriculture Department.

Research scientists expect net farm income, now at about $12 billion, to be raised at least $1.5 billion by 1962 because of population gains and technological advances alone.

Further raises are anticipated as Federal, State, and private sources pour more money into research. The production revolution in farming over the past 20 to 30 years has been called the most important development in the history of American agriculture. Total yield in the last eight years has risen 14 percent. The number of farm workers has dropped more than 16 percent in the same period.

Man hours necessary to produce 100 bushels of wheat have dropped in 15 years from 43 to 26. In corn, the man hour drop has been from 80 to 34. Milk output per cow is up from 4,600 pounds to 5,500.

The technological breakthrough is as significant in agriculture as it has been in industry over the past generation, although it has been less publicized. Recent developments include:

Tomato and Orange Juice: Available in powder form without refrigeration.

Cornmeal: Sharply increased use as raw material for industrial chemicals.

Eggs: New dehydration processes help create a more stable market.

Radioactive Materials: Helping to eliminate some types of insect pests.

Dehydrofreezing: Newly patented process now being used on some fruits and vegetables.

Cotton: A device opens and fluffs bolls, increases quality at the mill.

Cottonseed: Market as feed for chickens and hogs now nearly 200,000 tons annually.

Inedible Fats: Now being treated for use as feeds and plasticizers for vinyls.

Antibiotics: Expected to control fire blight in apples and pears, saving $70 million a year.

Cattle Grubs: Phenothiazine expected to control, saving $50 million a year.

The result of these and other findings is that Americans today are eating 10 to 15 percent better than they were 30 years ago; yet they are spending only about the same proportion of their income—one fourth—for food.

These are indeed heartening signs and it is to be hoped that today's farmer and the farmer of the future will find the security that has eluded them for so long.

Annual Regatta At Deep Creek Is Set

The third annual regatta of the Deep Creek Yacht club will be held Saturday and Sunday, August 6 and 7, according to Commodore Stewart Brown. As in the past the feature event will be the Maryland Snipe championship, sanctioned by the Snipe Class International Racing Association.

William Levinson of the Columbia Yacht club, Washington, won the title last year while William Rushlow, also of Columbia club, was the victor the first year.

Both are expected to race next month along with other snipes from Baltimore, Washington, Annapolis and the Eastern Shore area. Competing with the visitors will be the snipe fleet which sails regularly at the lake from the Deep Creek Yacht club.

The Maryland Rebel championship also will be part of the two-day affair with Dr. Charles S. Mahan, Morgantown, W. Va., being the defending champion. The Rebel is a relatively new class, being 16-foot long and built of fibre glass plastic.

The Rebels and Snipes as well as other classes, including Comets.

Thistles, Mercuries and the Cape Cods will compete with each other in another series of races known as the Deep Creek Free-For-All championship.

Trophies will be awarded by the Yacht Club with a new feature being a second division trophy for the Snipe with the best score which has not won any other Regatta trophy.

Ten area members of the Deep Creek Yacht club have entered boats in the events, John F. Schadt, Henry K. Duke and Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, Cumberland, are co-chairman of the regatta committee.

Grantsville Wins Legion Junior Game

Grantsville's American Legion junior baseball team defeated Fort Cumberland Post 2 to 1 Saturday at home to gain revenge for previous defeats.

Cousins Toby and Fred Colaw supplied the punch that carried Grantsville to its first win in the league. Toby scattered four hits effectively in bettering Jessie Markley in a slab duel, and Fred uncorked a tremendous triple that drove in the winners' only two tallies.

Cumberland's lone tally came in the fifth. Toby Colaw poled a triple in the sixth inning in addition to his single and handcuffed the Cumberlanders on four singles by Rod Breedlove, Lewis, Parsons and Markley.

BIG CAR RIDE

Plymouth, the biggest car of the low-price 3, gives you the smoothest ride of the low-price 3!

If you appreciate the comfort and smooth ride of a big car, Plymouth is just the car for you! With either the thrifty 6-cylinder PowerFlow 117 or the high-flying Hy-Fire V-8, Plymouth conquers the road so masterfully you're apt to forget it's a low-price car.

Greater length for smoother ride: Because Plymouth is much longer and larger than other low-price cars, it gives you the smoother, steadier ride that only a big car can give. Over-all, Plymouth is 17 feet long!

New shock absorber mounts for more direct control: Plymouth's famous Oriflow "shocks," now longer than ever before, are mounted inside the front coil springs for direct 100% pillowing action. And new non-parallel control arms minimize body tilt.

Wider rear springs for greater stability: Plymouth's rear springs have been widened to a full 2½ inches (wider than on either of the "other 2" cars). This means far more twist resistance and less sideways on curves.

New steering gear for easier handling: Plymouth's new low-friction steering gear gives you the easiest handling this side of Plymouth Power Steering. The wider front tread improves cornering and keeps the car more nearly level when turning.

Why pay up to $500 more for a car smaller than Plymouth?

Don't be fooled by the claims of medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags, you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much, much less, and gives you more car for your money!

Girl Scouts Return From Week's Camp

Twenty-eight girl scouts from Oakland and Mt. Lake Park troops, along with their leaders, returned to their homes Sunday morning after a week's outing at the Boy Scout camp on Deep Creek Lake.

Jean Henry was named the best camper with Gail Naylor exhibiting the best camp spirit. Brenda Delaney won the good grooming contest and Patrol No. 1, headed by Brenda DeBerry, was first among the patrols.

Counselors included Heather Robinson, Helen Louise Harner, Mrs. George Sukow, and Mrs. Thomas Kight, with Miss Rebecca White and Miss Beverly Winters as junior counselors.

During the week the girls participated in a scavenger hunt, folk dancing, arts and crafts, hikes, swimming and other scout activities. The group went on camp parade on Friday evening where the girls performed the entertainment of skits and songs. Camp parade served refreshments.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Maryland Council on Education

By an act of Congress, each one of our forty-eight states and territories are required to hold one or more pre-White House conferences on education sometime during the summer, and report their findings at a general White House meeting in November. Each state will discuss their own particular problems. The number of meetings held vary from state to state, as for example, Illinois plans to have three thousand throughout their state.

On June 24-25, five hundred people from all over the state of Maryland, met at the Lord Baltimore hotel to talk about our own particular school problems. Present at the conference were school administrators, teachers, lawyers, farmers, legislators, business executives, workers and housewives.

They were invited primarily because of their interest in education. There were five discussion groups, with each having a chance to go into the one in which they were most interested. The five groups were divided into these general topics:

1. What should our schools accomplish?
2. How can we get enough teachers to hold them?
3. How can we get school facilities?
4. How can we finance our schools?
5. How can we get a broader interest in our schools?

My own particular interest was in the broad general field of what our schools should accomplish, and I would like to pass on some of the things discussed in that group.

The first question was thought provoking and rather controversial: How have goals changed in the last fifty years? The purpose was a looking back, to see what has been done, and where we are at the present time. This gave rise to much discussion, with varying opinions. Yet, in the opinion of Dr. Fisher, superintendent of Baltimore city schools, the goal of education has always been pretty much the same—namely, the development of the child's entire personality. Many spoke of cultural subjects, music and art, being a part of the schools as far back as they could remember.

We moved in to a discussion of moving ahead, and many school administrators pointed out that the problems are vastly greater today with practically all children being in school today, while fifty years ago, only the very best students went on to high school, or even finished the eighth grade. Overcrowding, lack of qualified teachers, were problems in some areas.

Surprise Dinner Held

A surprise dinner was held in honor of Roy C. Wotring's 78th birthday anniversary Sunday, July 17, at his home at Brookside, W. Va. Attending were two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Forman, Aurora, W. Va.; Mrs. Hervey Wolf, Red House; two brothers, Mr. Emory Wotring, Mr. Alfred Wotring, Aurora, W. Va.; two daughters, Mrs. George Coddington, Oakland; Rose Wotring, at home; one granddaughter, Nelda Marie Wotring, one great grandson, Calvin Coddington.

Others attending were Mrs. Ray C. Wotring, Hugh Forman, Hervey Wolf, Mrs. Emory Wotring, Mrs. Alfred Wotring, George Coddington, Mr. and Mrs. Olmazo Fike, John Paul and Evangeline, of Hagerstown; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Shreve, Terry and Kathryn, of Cresaptown; Mr. and Mrs. Gay Lee, Billy, Richard, Patty, Judy and Jane, of Watson, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Wotring, Billy and Bobby, of Fairmont, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, Connie and Nancy.

Mrs. Iva Baker, Miss Freda Baker, of Mt. Lake Park; Roger Forman, Mrs. Lillie Shaffer, Miss Colleen Shaffer, Jimmy and Barbara Slate, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wotring and Norma, of Aurora, W. Va.; Mrs. Mary Strawser, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Strawser and

The group agreed that a hard core of learning be given each child in mathematics, English, history and science, with aims to give as much as he is able to get. To help every child make the most of himself, and get along with other people, and to give the gifted child a chance above the average were goals of today.

There was no part of personality development that was mentioned as much as character building. We felt that more should be done in this area. We thought a closer look should be given to our unlicensed teachers, radio, comics, television, the movies.

Life outside the school must move in closer. That means you and I, parents and members of the community. The group believed we can add to our schools strength or weakness. We will definitely have an influence. We will be either helpful or indifferent.

So said many earnest people deeply interested in the future welfare of our children of Maryland.

Bombshell for Peace

President Eisenhower, with his startling proposal to let Russian planes photograph all United States military installations—in return for a similar privilege over the Soviet Union—really threw the Russians on their proverbial tin ear and put them completely on the defensive.

It was the first time on record that the Communistic country had no ready reply, and the reason was very simple. President Eisenhower was deeply sincere in his remarks and they were stated in clear and simple language. There was no mistaking the intention of the West that what it wanted above everything else was a lasting and just peace.

Ike is no miracle man, yet he is an extremely intelligent person, rich in personal charm, integrity and administrative ability. Ike wears well. And his sincerity quickly brought him to the top of the pile at the Big Summit conference.

The President suggested the plan in order to convince everyone of the great sincerity of the United States in approaching this problem of disarmament. While he directed his remarks clearly at Russia it was evident that he meant for the entire world to realize that it was the desire of the United States to avoid war.

President Eisenhower and his administration have the confidence of the nation, and really it is no wonder. His sincerity of purpose can't help but be noticed, but at the same time it is plain that he is not going to do anything that would endanger the security of this nation.

Ike really dominated the conference with his bombshell for peace. It was a victory for the West and a great personal triumph for him. Eisenhower himself stressed a sobering thought in his final statement to the gathering. "Only history will tell the true worth and real values of our session together. The follow-through from this beginning by our respective governments will be decisive in the measure of this conference," he declared.

Ike is quite a statesman.

Firemen Sponsor Week's Carnival

The Oakland Fire department is sponsoring a week's carnival.

The George C. Smith Shows, consisting of eight rides, five shows and a number of concessions, will arrive early Monday and will remain all week at the B. and O. lot, adjacent to the Manhattan hotel. Alva G. Gortner, president of the firemen, said the Shows happened to have an open date, and he felt this was an opportune time, since the carnival, planned for the July 4 week, had cancelled its engagement and did not appear as scheduled.

State Gets $232,000 For Civil Defense

Maryland has been allocated $232,000 by the Federal Government for Civil Defense. Shirley Ewing, state civil defense director, announced this runs to September 1, 1956. The state has reserved $75,000 for a proposed state control center.

The 1956 matching program will be 50 percent federal, 15 percent state and 35 percent county. In the past the matching funds program has been on a 50-25-25 basis.

Garrett was listed as $1,300 for federal appropriation with $390 from the state and $910 from the county.

Hospital Wing Is Now Complete

Is Expected To Be Turned Over To County Commissioners Today

The new wing to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, built at a cost of approximately $270,000, is expected to be turned over to the County Commissioners officially today by the architects and contractor.

Portions of the wing have been in use for the past several weeks. In the new section are rooms for the Department of Health, on the first floor, a nursery section, a new formula room, a detention room for alcoholics, etc., and other rooms, on second floor, and eleven beds for children on the third floor. With the additional nursery space, Miss Irene Sharpe, hospital superintendent, said it would be possible to take care of twenty-four infants at one time.

There are also two solariums on the east end of the new wing, on both second and third floors.

No special ceremony is being planned for the switch in management. The George F. Hazelwood company was the contractor and Johannes and Murray were the architects.

The hospital auxiliary will plan an open house at some future date to give the people of the community an opportunity to make a close inspection. At this time also a new oxygen tent and an isollette, the newest kind of incubator, will be presented to the hospital. The Civic club of Oakland also has a special kind of chair for children, to present to the hospital.

Details of the open house are to be worked out by Mrs. Carlton Bowser, president of the auxiliary, and other members of her group.

Pen-Mar Eliminates Oakland Nine 8 to 7

The Pen-Mar All-Stars won the Little League championship of Western Maryland last Friday evening by eliminating Oakland's All-Stars on the Oakland Little League diamond before a gathering of several hundred spectators. The final score was 8 to 7.

Pen-Mar's team, composed of players from LaVale, Ellicott and Cresaptown, jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first two innings and never was headed. Oakland rallied for six runs in the fifth inning.

Johnny Hines, of Cresaptown, started on the mound for the Pen-Mar nine but weakened in the 5th and Mickey Scaletta came on to put out the fire. Dick Stuck went all the way for Oakland. The Oaklanders had eight fielding errors charged against them.

Each team collected nine hits. Bill Wanless, Mickey Scaletta and Jim Cook shared six of the winning team's hits while Bobby Hughes hit safely three times and Harold Sharpless and John Trince struck out two batters for Oakland. Rodney Barkhurst, Hughes and Bill Stemple executed a double play for the losers.

The Pen-Mar All-Stars, who have eliminated Frostburg and Oakland, advanced to the semi-finals in the Maryland tourney and will host the district 4 winners today, July 28, at Ellicott.

"Claudia" Is Next Play Being Readied

"Claudia," by Rose Franken, is the next play that will be presented at the Garrett County Playhouse. Performances will be given starting Tuesday evening, August 2, and will continue throughout the balance of the week including Saturday night.

For the remainder of this week the play, "Dangerous Corner," by J. B. Priestley, will be given by the Playhouse actors and actresses.

Next week each one who attends will be asked to participate in planning next year's production schedule. A questionnaire will be in the program asking what each person would think of a season of eight plays instead of six and also asking what each individual thought of this summer's choice of plays.

Gene Yell, director, says he will also welcome any suggestions persons might have for the future of the playhouse.

Attendance at the performances has been climbing from week to week with more than 575 in attendance at the performance, "The Importance of Being Earnest," last week. This week's attendance figures are expected to top last week.

Assumes Pastorate

Rev. Willis D. Naill, of Crellin, will assume his duties as pastor of The Church of the Nazarene at Madison, W. Va., on July 31, it has been announced.

He, his wife and two sons moved to Madison on Wednesday, July 27, from their former home at Crellin.

Rev. Naill received his minister's license at Summersville, W. Va., at the annual assembly of the West Virginia district on July 9. He has been preparing for the ministry since 1932 through college extension courses.

Rev. Naill had been in the grocery business in Crellin for the past eight years.

Work Begins On County Garage

The County Commissioners broke ground on Tuesday morning for the construction of a county garage, to be located on U.S. route 213, just north of Oakland.

Construction is taking place upon the land formerly owned by the Mitchell heirs. The Commissioners just last week purchased four acres of the Mitchell property at $2,000 per acre.

The building to be constructed will be 58 by 128 feet, two story, with construction of concrete block and brick veneer. The cost will run $50,000, it was estimated by H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Commissioners. The work is being done by county labor.

Mr. Swartzentruber said he felt the expense would be more than justified within a period of ten years because of improved working conditions in winter, an adequate supply room, and saving in machinery expense due to having the equipment sheltered from the weather.

Lightning Causes Slight Damage To City Roller Mills

During the electrical storm which hit the area last Sunday morning, July 24, lightning struck the eaves of the Helbig Mill, located at Green and Third streets.

The electric bolt, which hit the building at approximately 6:00 a. m., burned out the wires leading into the building. The mill smoldered for almost three hours, before fire broke out. Most of the resulting damage, which was slight however, was caused by water, as Oakland firemen fought the flames.

The mill, built by George M. Mason during the 1890s, was the first roller mill in this area, the others doing their grinding by a flat rock process. Mr. Lee Mason, son of the builder of the old mill, recalls that in the early years of its existence operation began around September 10 and continued steadily for two or three months. During those months, almost the entire area crop of buck wheat passed through the mill.

To secure water power for his mill, Mr. Mason found it necessary to alter the winding course of Wilson Run, and its present straight course is a result of her re-channeling efforts.

In 1906, the ownership of the mill was transferred to the partnership of Mason and Painter, who later sold out to Andrew Helbig. The present owners, sons of Mr. Helbig, have removed the milling machinery from the building and are currently engaged in selling feeds.

President Eisenhower, during the recent Big Four Conference at Geneva, stated that he preferred the informal atmosphere of the buffet to the formal sessions in the council chamber.

Equity Case Heard Monday by Judge

Testimony was heard Monday in the Garrett County Circuit Court in an equity suit in which nine owners of property along Deep Creek Lake seek an injunction to prevent the State Roads Commission from taking a strip of land at the edge of their property without condemnation proceedings for widening of U.S. route 213.

After hearing the testimony, Chief Judge George Henderson gave both sides two weeks to file briefs in the case.

The nine property owners who come from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, contend that a 20-foot strip at the edge of their property was for their own benefit and was not decided to the State of Maryland for public use. The 20-foot strip extends for a distance of about 700 feet.

Attorneys in the case are William A. Gunter, Cumberland, and Stephen R. Pagenhardt, Oakland, for the property owners; and Fred Paderbaugh, Cumberland, and William Treacy, Oakland, for the State Roads Commission.

The injunction was filed after the property owners were informed that the State Roads commission did not intend to carry on any further negotiations with them with respect to either the purchase or condemnation of the land in question, since an amended plat had been prepared which purported to show that the State Roads commission and not the complainants were owners of the land.

The filing and recording of the plat indicated it was not intended to show that the same was for a roadway and that it never came into existence as such.

A demurrer filed by the State Roads commission against the injunction which the Deep Creek Lake property owners filed in an attempt to keep the commission from moving onto the strip of land, was overruled by a decision of Chief Judge Henderson in May.

Property owners listed as complainants are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Teets, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Wysock, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wayne Corrin, Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Johnston, Pittsburgh; Eva C. Compton and Eleanor Compton, Sewickley; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnson, Cumberland; Florence Newman, Salisbury, Pa.; E. W. Price, McKeesport; Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Egoff, Somerset, all owners of lots 27 to 41 of Lake View subdivision of Deep Creek Lake.

To Induct Three

Three Garrett county men were scheduled to be inducted into the armed forces on Thursday, August 18, at the Fairmont induction station.

They were listed by the local draft board as Ernest Ray Porter, Jr., of Oakland, Charles Allen Heib, of Oakland, and Freddie Warren Howell, of Swanton.

Tests To Detect Mine Gosses To Mark Close of Classes

A series of tests in the detection of mine gasses, scheduled for tomorrow night at Corinth, will mark the close of the 32nd annual summer session of special night mining classes, sponsored by the Maryland Bureau of Mines in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The final week of these classes, open to any miner, is being devoted entirely to gas training and safety lamps. Successful completion of this course is required of every mine foreman, and the final tests include the identification and assemblage of parts of the two most commonly used safety lamps, the Koehler and the Wolf. In addition, the candidate for foreman must be able to detect accurately the presence of gasses in a mine. For this test, the training school maintains a "portable mine," a six-foot high building which simulates actual mine conditions. Gasses are diffused in different areas of this building, and the miner is required to detect them through use of one of the safety lamps.

Directing the classes being held at Corinth is Thomas Ward, of Frostburg, federal coal mine inspector, assisted by Harry Buckley of Kitzmiller and Thomas Powell of Frostburg, both district inspectors. Also aiding with these classes is L. C. Hutson, mine safety engineer, University of Maryland, and Frank T. Powers, of Frostburg, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

This special training is part of the preparation for the annual mine foreman's examination which will be held August 16 and 17 in Frostburg State Teachers college. Currently enrolled in the Corinth classes are: William Adams, Luther Alexander, Iret Ashby, Trevor Boice, Donald Friend, George Hinebaugh, Victor Kelly, Lester Kiser, Arthur Lewis, Chester Lewis, Harold Lewis, Paul Lewis, Harley Murphy, James Murphy, Leroy Murphy, William H. Murphy, Marshall Saunders and Samuel Wilson, all of Crellin, and Haven Chapman and Richard Sherwood, Jr., of Shallowater.

Standing in the "Portable Mine," Richard Sherwood, Jr., of Shallowater, uses one of the safety lamps to determine the presence of gas.

Complete new courses will be started the latter part of September.

Jury To Hear Public Park Issue Aired

Hearing On Condemnation Case Set For Monday, August 15

The condemnation suit by the State Board of Forests and Parks against Fletcher P. Smith and wife, of Oakland, in an effort to force the sale of a parcel of land for use as a public park, will be heard Monday, August 15, before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and a jury.

The date for the trial was set last week by court officials. Action on condemnation proceedings to obtain the area in the Meadow Mountain section of the lake had been held up in the attorney general's office after an amended suit was filed several months ago in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit court in Oakland.

The commission had filed suit against Fletcher P. Smith to force the sale of a parcel of land comprising about 57 acres with a shore line of 4,700 feet. In an answer to the proceedings, Smith, through his attorney, William C. Walsh, declared less expensive and more suitable land was available for park purposes and asserted no reasonable effort had been made to reach an agreement. The state had offered $21,000 for the land based on a price of about $300 an acre. Smith declared the land was being sought now by individuals at $20 to $30 per front foot. The state subsequently had upped its offer, which is still unsatisfactory to the owners.

The Forestry board has been on record as finding the Meadow Mountain site fitting the needs most satisfactorily and asked for 4,700 feet of shoreline to tie in with the Thayer Game Refuge area.

The Maryland legislature in 1953 provided $85,000 for a public park on the lake and last year added $100,000 for road construction, sanitary facilities, parking space, self service bathhouse and picnic facilities.

In the original petition filed on May 5, 1951, the Board of Forests and Parks represented that under the provisions of the Public General Laws of Maryland, it was empowered to condemn lands in the name of the state for the purpose of advancing aims of forestry, parks and recreation, and that it was declared to be necessary and proper to acquire such land for the purpose of having a state park on Deep Creek Lake.

The petition was filed by R. Brooke Maxwell, chairman, and other members of the board including Paul B. Naylor, of Oakland, Edward D. F. Rollins, attorney general at that time, A. T. Hartman, assistant attorney general, and W. J. Gunter, special attorneys.

The Commission is currently engaged in setting up a tentative winter recreation schedule for Oakland, including activities such as a touch football league and Saturday morning hikes.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

History once more completed a cycle on Friday, July 22, when the formal and final agreement for the transfer of the U.S. Frigate Constellation to Baltimore was signed in the office of the Secretary of the Navy in the Pentagon.

Let us go back to September 7, 1797. On that date Captain Thomas Truxtun made an entry in his log in the Port of Baltimore: "At 9 a. m. the Frigate Constellation was safely launched. A better launch I never saw; the Ship Cleared the ways without touching or meeting the Smallest Accident—in fact every precaution to Guard Against Accident, Stodder took, gave him, the highest Credit as a Master Builder."

Thus began the illustrious careers of a fighting ship and a fighting skipper—a combination that forged U.S. Navy tradition.

On February 9, 1799, off Baseterre, Guadeloupe, the Constellation sighted and gave "chase" to a strange sail which failed to give recognition signals. Truxtun prepared for instant action and bore down on the ship which proved to be the French frigate L'Insurgente, 40 guns, with Captain Barreault in command.

The ensuing exchange of fire was fierce, but the Frenchman struck his colors in one hour and fifteen minutes. This was the first government ship of any consequence captured by the arms of the United States at sea since it had become a nation.

In the month that followed the Constellation captured two French privateers and later defeated the 52-gun La Vengeance which out-gunned her firepower by nearly thirty per cent.

In the years to follow, this noble ship was to distinguish herself in many victories in war and in peace and now, at long last, she's coming home.

Although only a ghost ship, she is enshrouded in the traditions that all Marylanders admire and it is only fitting that she should come

With The Guard

Twelve o'clock midnight, July 22, 1955, the men of "C" Company reported to the local armory for the start of the annual 15-day summer encampment.

The unit moved out by motor conveyance scheduled at 7:20 a. m., July 23. All drivers were assigned by and under the capable supervision of Sfc. Floyd O. Custer, unit motor sergeant. As the eight vehicles back to rest in the waters where she so proudly entered into the service of her country.

hicle convoy neared the place of encampment, Indianhead Gap Military Reservation, Pa., the men of the company seemed to grow tense with excitement in anticipation of the training in which they would participate.

Capt. Arthur C. Calhoun, commanding officer, led the convoy into its assigned area at camp, where it joined with other units of the 121st Engineer Bn. (C.) At 5:20 p. m. July 23 the convoy was greeted by Lt. Col. Frederic M. Hewitt, Bn. commander. The area had been partially prepared by the advance detachment under the command of Sfc. Donald H. Hinesbaugh, unit supply sergeant. This detachment had arrived three days prior to the arrival of the remainder of the company.

After a hearty meal, prepared by the unit cooks under the direction of Sfc. Marshall Bittinger, assisted by first cooks Cpl. Leroy Paugh and Pfc. Benjamin Shaffer, the men retired for a good night's sleep before putting final touches to the assigned area.

The real training began on the morning of July 25, when the men received special training in their various military occupations. This training lasted for two days.

The morale is high in spite of the midday temperatures ranging from 100 to 110 degrees. In the evening it is no oddity to hear music ringing from the company day room. Music is provided by a band consisting of men of this unit who brought instruments from home. This band is led by Pvt. Lewis (Shorty) Williams.

The administrative men of Company "C," WOJG John Schaeffer, Cpl. Kenneth Reckart and Pvt. Donald Peck, work late hours to keep their reports in top shape.

The entire training of this encampment will be conducted on the small squad (small unit) level. The company has two operating platoons commanded by Lt. James G. McRobie and Lt. Mahlon W. Yost, who are assisted by Platoon NCO Sfc. Floyd L. Wensel and Cpl.

Six Injured in Automobile Crash

Six persons were injured in a three-car accident Sunday night on U. S. Route 40, near Hagerstown, which involved three Garrett county persons.

Mrs. Alice J. Lingenfelter, of Washington, D. C., going east, applied the brakes suddenly and swerved into the left lane to avoid hitting a preceding car which had stopped. The Lingenfelter car struck a westbound vehicle operated by the Rev. Robert S. Passarelli, of Hagerstown.

Fr. Passarelli's car swerved on the road and was hit on the left side by a second westbound vehicle operated by Jeremiah Lester Paugh, Deer Park.

Mrs. Lingenfelter suffered abrasions of the right leg, Paugh, lacerations of the forehead. A passenger in the Paugh car, Robert Scott Owendoff, aged ten, of Falls Church, Va., injured his left ankle.

William E. Lewis.

Nothing is appreciated more than a letter from home. After mail call there are many disappointed men due to the fact that so few of them receive letters from home. Let's write to your men in camp!—Submitted by 2nd Lt. Mahlon W. Yost.

Newest thing in Room with a View

It's the 4-Door Riviera—
the stunning new hit of America's Hardtops

WHEN Buick introduced America's first hardtop—the Riviera—folks went for it in a big way, and fast.

They liked the Convertible look of this 2-door beauty—long, low and rakish. They liked the added security of the steel roof overhead. And they certainly liked the absence of center posts in the side window areas—which gave a completely unbroken view left and right.

People liked it all so well that, over the past six years, they made the Riviera the biggest-selling hardtop in the world, bar none. And it still is.

Now Buick has come up with another great advance in hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera—and it's a sensational hit.

It has everything the original 2-Door Riviera has—plus separate doors for rear-seat passengers, and a whole of a lot more room for them.

Rock-solid half-pillars on either side are what latch the front doors and hinge the rear ones. So there's no center post above the door line—and a completely open sweep of view to both sides.

And the roominess provided by this gorgeous new hardtop is really something—over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom in the rear.

Why don't you come see this brand-new kind of automobile that's heading up the parade of the hottest-selling line of Buicks in history?

That way you can also try what else is to be had here—Buick comfort, Buick power, Buick ride and handling and roadability—plus the electrifying action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Do it this week—tomorrow would be fine—and you'll see what record volume really means in the way of record-high trade-in deals.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

NOW—Biggest Trade-In Deals over on the Biggest-Selling Buicks in History!

Seeks Fair Play For Summer Theatre

Editor, The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Sir:

This is the first letter of this type I have ever written. However, the letter which appeared on your editorial page last week from the assistant professor in the Dramatic Department of the University of Maryland roused something in me—I believe it's called "dander".

My feeling in this matter is, by no means, personal. I have met Mr. and Mrs. Yell only casually, and I have never met any of the players in their company. It is only a strong feeling for a spirit of "fair play" and the encroachment thereupon, that moves me to put my thoughts into writing.

I'm sure the residents of Garrett county, both permanent and summer, agree with the good professor, that the attributes of our beautiful country are boundless. I'm sure they will also agree, that a summer theatre is a very definite cultural asset. The theatre-going public of the county have shown their appreciation of this endeavor by supporting Mr. Yell, who has brought "good theatre" to us in Garrett County.

Then, we arrive at the point in question. We HAVE theatre in Garrett County. We are pleased that the summer theatre is not large enough to support two "home" summer residents.

The professor seems to reason that because he represents the dramatic department of our home university, he is perfectly justified in "moving in" as it were, on an endeavor that has been pioneered by another.

Why not then, by similar reasoning, the dramatic department from the University of West Virginia in Morgantown, they are closest? Or perhaps one of the universities of Pittsburgh. They are not only closer than the University of Maryland, but they have a greater number of "home" summer residents who might support them!

We do not doubt, that Mr. Mayor's idea for a theatre at Deep Creek Lake is not an original one. And we are sure the seeds for this idea have been brewing several years—but let's face it—they were left to brew too long, and they have been "up-staged".

For this group to try to establish a second theatre in the county would eventually resolve in the slow death of both of them. That would leave our beautiful community without this cultural medium, in which the professor says he is so interested.

Recognition of the potentialities of our county is always appreciated by those who live here. But in this particular case the only fair thing for us to say would be—politely—"I'm sorry, sir, but this seat is taken".

Sincerely yours,
A Theatre-goer.

More About Playhouse

Mr. Geo. H. Hanst
The Republican
Oakland, Md.
Dear Sir:

It was with a great deal of interest that I read your letter from Mr. Mayor concerning the Garrett County Playhouse, also with a little disgust at the final paragraph. It seems to me that Mr. Yell and his cohorts from the University of New Mexico deserve a lot of credit for discovering what a wonderful place Garrett Co. is. They are busy giving us some excellent entertainment this summer while the University of Maryland is still talking about it. From the time Deep Creek Lake was put in many out of state people have been aware of the possibilities of this county, while Eastern Maryland ignored its potentialities as a recreational center.

The Garrett County Playhouse is giving Garrett county some good publicity in the surrounding territory, and is the means of bringing to Deep Creek and Oakland people who otherwise wouldn't come. Last Friday there was a short article in the Uniontown Pa. Morning Her-ald about supporting Mr. Yell, who has brought "good theatre" to us in Garrett County.

I, too, am a property owner and summer resident, have never traveled in Europe, but in every state of the U.S.A. and to me Garrett county has a lot to offer—beautiful scenery, pleasant climate, accommodating tradespeople and friendly citizens. Mr. Yell and his students have added to our pleasure their efforts should be rewarded by our continued support. Could it be that the University of Maryland is a little envious of New Mexico's success and a little sorry at their tardy awakening? Don't you think that quite a few people in New Mexico will hear a lot about Garrett county this next winter?

Sincerely,
Florence P. King

Vote of Confidence

The Editor:

Our Thanks to Gene Yell
We, the Board of Governors for Garrett County Playhouse, wish to express to Mr. Gene Yell, staff, and performers, our appreciation for four excellent plays and as many evenings of fun and culture. We are proud we have sponsored this group for we believe this type of entertainment will help to publicize our community and promote Deep Creek Lake as an ideal spot to spend the summer.

Mr. Yell has given many hours of hard work to developing this summer theatre. He has dared to risk when even those in the community held back saying "Let's wait and see how it goes." Gene has brought to us talent, he has made a fine selection of plays and we are all happy that the public has responded so well.

We publish this letter to assure Mr. Yell that he can depend on our support for next year. In fact, we shall work even harder for greater success.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One of the basic concepts which shaped the formation of our American government was that individual initiative, when free to seek its opportunities, would generate a great progressive force. And it has. The progress of our nation, when compared with other nations, proves the soundness of this concept. Yet there are many citizens who do not clearly understand the basic governmental concepts which have given Americans the highest living standards in the world. This lack of understanding is not good for our country.

In China and other areas of Asia I spent 10 years examining the causes of their great poverty. Ninety per cent of the people were barely existing, each living for a month on what an American could buy for one dollar. Yet China has vast resources in soils and minerals and forests. What was the holdback?

A town in the China interior installed an electric light plant. An envious group in another town, burning peanut-oil candles, overpowered the authorities and took away the electric plant. But they couldn't carry some of the heavy pieces on their shoulders, so when they put the plant together it wouldn't operate. They were consoled anyway; they still had no electric lights, but neither did the other town. Individual initiative throughout the population is not possible, for want of equitable laws, equitably enforced.

I've had the opportunity twice to study conditions in England first hand. From 1945 to 1951 the Socialist-Labor Party operated the government. The government took over ownership of the major industries—the coal mines, the transportation systems, the utilities, the iron and steel industries, and so forth. The government also took over control, ultimately, of employment and enterprise. No one could obtain work or change jobs, build a chicken house or go into business, without approval of a government bureau. Individual initiative was smothered.

Still another example is Russia. She has coal, iron, petroleum, everything we have—and twice the quantity. She has two times as much land per person as does America. But in Russia the government owns all the farms, the manufacturing plants and all the distribution centers; and the people work according to a central blueprint—with no opportunity whatever to generate individual initiative.

Now the important point: The individual citizen in China has a living standard about one-twentieth as high as ours; in England, about one-third as high as ours; and in Russia, about one-fifth as high as ours. The major reason for our superiority is our system of Constitutional government, which gives the utmost liberty for personal initiative, our private ownership economy which provides incentive to get ahead and a competitive atmosphere which brings out the very best capabilities in all, and our foundation of spiritual disciplines—being governed primarily by an inner force of moral laws.

ONE WORD...

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

WRATH

You parents want something constructive to say to your offspring on the wedding day? Maybe this will help.

Seneca, the Roman tutor, said, "The greatest remedy for anger is delay. Beg anger to grant you this at first not in order that it may pardon the offense, but that it may form the right judgment about it. If it delay, it will come to an end." This ought to do very well even if you never heard of Seneca.

But if you want something really potent, try this: "Never let the sun go down upon your wrath." Credit St. Paul with this wise caution. It simply means that we ought never to go to sleep angry with each other. You can disagree without being disagreeable. If you can't come to a complete understanding, after reasonable discussion, resolve to take up the matter at some later time.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness following the death of our mother, the late Mrs. Eliza Thayer.

We also want to thank Rev. W. S. Patterson and Rev. Eugene Thayer for their comforting words, and all who gave flowers and contributed the use of their automobiles for the funeral service.

YELLOW PERCH

Also called Yellow Ned and Ring Perch.

RANGE: A native from South Canada to South Carolina, not found in lower Mississippi Valley and bordering States except where introduced; has been successfully planted as far west as Pacific Coast and in many large water impoundments where in some instances it has supplanted other desirable species; found throughout most all of Maryland's fresh waters and brackish tidal waters.

DESCRIPTION: Humpbacked, mostly yellow in color, generally with from 6 to 8 vertical black stripes; two distinct dorsal fins, average size less than a pound.

BREEDING: Spawns in the spring when the temperature of the water is about 50 degrees F.; does not build nest but lays tiny eggs in long strings contained in a jelly like mass that expands on contact with water, and become lodged in water grasses, and on logs and rocks; eggs can be collected and hatched, the fry or young being stocked in suitable waters; perhaps you are familiar with the spring run of yellow perch up the Severn River at the Crain Highway (Route 301) where a yellow perch hatchery is operated by the Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

HABITS: Travels mostly in schools; voracious, hence a predator in some waters; feeds principally on small fish, shrimp, peeler or shedder crabs, and worms.

MANAGEMENT: Requires little protection; there is no closed season on yellow perch in Maryland waters; pollution an enemy.

VALUE: In great demand as a food fish and has a large economic value as such in Maryland; furnishes both sport and food to an army of anglers from spring through summer and fall.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Four Way Test

Did you ever play the game, where the players sit around in a circle, one begins by whispering in another's ear a sentence, he in turn whispers it to the one sitting next to him, etc., until every one in the circle has heard the sentence? Then, the one who last heard the sentence repeats it and compares it with the original one. The comparisons are sometimes ridiculous. After having gone the rounds, the entire thought has been distorted. Let us say for example, "The sun is shining" was an original sentence, but after passing through several ears, it comes out, "The dog is whining."

The game is fun, even if it is a little silly, and it proves a point I am going to make.

Let us say a small rumor starts in a community. It goes the rounds, becoming bigger with each telling. Each one who hears it flavors it a little with his own imagination, and finally what was once a trifle comes out a big and important story. People are hurt, sometimes innocent reputations are ruined.

The next time you are tempted to repeat a story, I suggest applying this four way test to it.

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build good-will and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned.

Herbert J. Taylor, a manufacturer of Park Ridge, Illinois, took over a defunct business and built a two million dollar enterprise, using this four way test as his guide.

I have often thought we, too, could increase our efficiency, our knowledge, make more wonderful

GREATER YELLOW-LEGS

(Totanus melanoleucus)

Sometimes called Winter Yellow-legs

Note: The Greater Yellow-leg and the Lesser Yellow-leg (Totanus flavipes) closely resemble each other, in fact the distinguishing feature is the difference in size. The data given here for the Greater is applicable in general to the Lesser, which is the most plentiful of the two species.

RANGE: Breeds from Alaska, central Alberta and Labrador south, Winters in California, Arizona and south to the Carolinas and Patagonia. Both species are found in Maryland, mostly during fall and spring, on fresh water ponds, marshes and rivers; rarely seen on the ocean beach but on the ponds some distance back from the sea.

DESCRIPTION: Length about 14 inches, the lesser yellow-leg about 11 inches; female larger than male; it is a slim gray and white bird with long yellow legs; flies with legs extended behind; sexes colored alike.

BREEDING: Nest on ground in a depression near a lake or large stream; does not nest in Maryland; lays 3 to 4 pear-shaped gray-white eggs blotched with brown; incubation by both sexes; one brood annually. One of the reasons members of the shore bird family stage a slower comeback when a species has become depleted than the gallinaceous birds (quail, ruffed grouse and wild turkey) is that they lay a much smaller number of eggs, some of them only two.

HABITS: Was killed for sport and food until about 1927 or 1928, when hunting both species was prohibited by Federal law, as their numbers had seriously decreased; it decoyed readily and was easy to kill; unfortunately it has not shown any appreciable increase in the United States since the closure to hunting; they are not shot to any extent in South America where they winter, as ammunition is scarce and expensive, and the birds small, the reason for the failure to increase under total protection is something of a mystery; hunting apparently was not the cause of the decrease. Yellow-legs feed on mollusks, crustaceans, and aquatic insects such as mosquito larvae.

MANAGEMENT: There can be no direct management of species that breed mostly in the far north, and winter in South America; about all that can be done—close the hunting season—has been done.

VALUE: Today there is no particular value, as for hunting and food for instance, except for the fact it is a most attractive shore bird; its destruction of mosquito larvae is on the credit side.

Deer Park Couple Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rockart, route 2, Deer Park, announced the marriage of their daughter, Norma Lee, to Pvt. Jack E. Hinebaugh, son of Mrs. Dora Hinebaugh, also of Deer Park.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Blair Burr, pastor of the Ev. United Brethren church of Loch Lynn Heights, on Monday, July 1.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school and is now employed at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

Pvt. Hinebaugh also is a graduate of Southern High school and is presently stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga., with a military police training regiment of the United States army.

The Play

A bowlful of suspense, seasoned with an attitude which holds that evil consequences can come from telling the truth, and topped with the irony of a seemingly trivial turn of events, is J. B. Priestley's "Dangerous Corner," a treat successfully served this week by the Garrett County Players.

Such a mixture is not easy to digest. What starts as a pleasurable evening visit among three partners of a publishing firm, two of their wives, their secretary, and the author of their latest book, soon deteriorates into a nasty and suspicious questioning of the suicide of the publishing company's fourth partner. Reluctantly giving out with the truth—a truth which becomes most sordid—the characters drag each other into the mire of involvement and deception, deepening until the ending is rammed at the audience with startling force.

The plot moves fast to burst each character's imaginary bubble world, there is no time and no need for witty diversion to interrupt the tension.

Even if the plot weren't so engrossing, finding flaws in the acting would still be hard to do. Suzanne Oglesby, always sweet, convincingly worried and emotional at the right moments, was excellent as Olwen Peet, the secretary. Although her purposeful strides across stage looked like the start of a fifty-yard dash, she otherwise portrayed a woman who was at the mercy of fate, and who was aware of her situation.

Leonard Drum, playing Publisher Robert Chaffield, brother of the suicide victim, showed great range in changing from a complacent man seeking the truth to one uncertain and disillusioned.

Playing his wife Freda, Rosetta Flippin did commendable work. She was alternately moody and fiery, always poised and intelligent. In her angry moments her speeches were superb, snapping like a whip.

D. G. Buckles was masterful as the suave, unmarried publisher, Charles Stanton. Sarcastic, cunning, and at times delightfully diabolical, he easily would be pegged as a perfect villain, if villains were to be looked for in the play.

Tom Caulkins, Publisher Gordon Whitehouse, successfully portrays a small-minded and limited individual, easy-going and unconcerned until his beliefs and ideals are challenged, then fighting like a cornered animal.

Helen Camp, as his wife Betty, is featured as a flashy, shallow woman yearning to be accepted by her friends as an equal. In this part she once again demonstrates her skill.

In the small role of Maude Mockridge, Bonnie Barton expertly plays an sophisticated and polished novelist, very sure of herself.

The modern setting of the stage contributed to, and was in turn emphasized by, the smooth performances of the players.

Oak Wilt Control Plan Paying Off

The program carried on for the past four years by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks in eradicating and controlling oak wilt, apparently is paying off.

William H. Johnson, district forester, reported that the aerial survey conducted in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties produced only two areas of infestation. The survey also showed there was no spread in the areas eradicated during the past four years, Johnson pointed out.

The aerial survey was coordinated with ground crews of the forestry department. When the two areas were spotted, crews moved in to cut down infested trees and carry out control measures within a 50-foot area of the tree.

It has been learned that the disease, of which not too much is known, spreads through interlocking root systems. That is the reason for control measures in the 50-foot radius.

One new infestation was on Town Hill and another on Siding Hill mountain, in Washington county. No infestation was discovered in Garrett.

Johnson said flights will be made every 20 days until this fall.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Many signs point toward a continuous danger from encroaching, "back door" Socialism in America, but the bright, encouraging signs, I think, offset the gloomy ones. As this column is written I have just returned to my office from Purdue University after having participated in the annual American Farm Bureau Institute. What I know about the Farm Bureau's nationwide work among the farming population, together with what I saw and heard at the Institute, gives me a comforting feeling about the future of our great nation.

At Purdue I addressed 500 Farm Bureau national, state and regional officials. They were representing more than 1,600,000 Farm Bureau families in 48 states, or nearly 10,000,000 Americans. And the keynote of their week-long Institute was American citizenship education—with particular discussion on how the Farm Bureau can activate the people at the grass roots to fulfill their citizenship responsibilities.

Here is what the Farm Bureau is preaching and teaching in every phase of its citizenship project: "We believe in the American competitive enterprise system; that man's search for progress should be encouraged by maintenance of opportunity, not hindered by illusions of security; that a person should be rewarded in accordance with his productive contribution to society; that every man is entitled to own property, earn money honestly, save, invest and spend as he chooses."

"(and to continue) that property rights cannot be taken away without infringing on rights guaranteed by the Constitution; that the Constitution is the basic law of the land, and that its interpretation should be in accordance with the intent of its authors; that government should operate impartially in the interest of all; that government's regulatory functions should be based on law; that government should provide only minimum controls and aids; that government should stimulate, not discourage individual initiative . . ."

The Bureau's fundamental agricultural economic concepts are stated thus: "Grow for profit what the market wants. Get bigger markets—at home and abroad. Cut costs—on and off the farm. Permit the earning of honest dollars. Any program which has the result of expanding agricultural output in the absence of a comparable increase in effective market demand . . . is contrary to the interests of farmers."

Since I was born and raised on a farm, operate a farm today and have been close to the agricultural scene all my life, I am confident that our farm population is inherently self-reliant; and that, when given all the facts, it will be a potent force against encroaching Socialism.

SUNDAY MORNING

"Timmy" sleeps on Sunday Morning . . . Why not? "Timmy" has no place to go. And what's more, "Timmy" has no problems, no worries, no fears. Mice and milk, and the occasional luxury of a little catnip, provide "Timmy" with all the requisites of a happy, useful life. He can afford to sleep. But with human beings, it's different. We have needs that cannot be satisfied by a Sunday morning snooze. Six days of labor bring more than physical weariness. Those six days drain our spiritual resources, our courage, our confidence, our moral stamina. A thousand fears and a million worries sap our inner strength. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Sunday morning and the Church doors are open. They are open for every adult and child; that the deepest needs of humanity may be satisfied. Neither pillow nor armchair can give us the courage and faith and moral vitality that this busy life requires. . . . these are the gifts of Worship. The Church doors are open . . . open for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual life. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly at the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Thy Will Be Done

Lesson for July 31, 1955

THEY were a sorry lot, the people left behind after the last invasion. The puppet-king Zedekiah had asked the Egyptians to pull his strings . . . but the smart Babylonians got wind of it, and that was the end of Zedekiah. Jerusalem, Solomon's Temple, the nation of Judah. After a two years' siege the city fell, was sacked and burned, and anybody that was anybody was either killed or deported. Jeremiah, the city's most famous citizen, was offered a chance to go to Babylon as a free man; but he declined. He preferred to stay with his own people, he said, and his own land. But they were a sorry lot, the dregs of the populace for the most part.

Vows, Good and Bad
They were glad enough to have Jeremiah with them. They seemed to recognize him at last as a true prophet. He had told them so often just what would happen—and it did. So they began to look up to him and come to him with their problems. One day they came up with a very important decision they wanted him to help them make. Should they go to Egypt or not? This was not as if they were going down there like tourists into Florida. This was for keeps, a full-scale emigration. A sort of Exodus in reverse, with Jeremiah the new Moses to lead them back into Egypt. (Why they wanted to go can be read in detail in Jeremiah.) They put this up to him: Find out what God wants us to do. You are a prophet and you should know. "Whether it is good or evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord God," they solemnly promised. But they did not mean it. When Jeremiah after ten days knew that the Lord did not want them to go to Egypt, he told the people so. But they paid no attention; on the contrary they bundled him up and took him along, an unwilling prisoner on their forbidden road. So they broke their good vows. Some time later down in Egypt they bragged to Jeremiah that they were keeping their promises now. They had vowed to make sacrifices to the star-gods and goddesses—and sacrifice they did, to the "Queen of Heaven" and a lot more.

If You Know God's Will . . .
Before condemning those people too quickly, let the reader translate the story into the 20th century. Don't we all pray, "Thy will be done?" Have we not all asked God more than once to show us what to do? When we pray "Thy will be done" we are making an implied promise, that we will cooperate. What we mean is, of course, not "Thy will be done in spite of everything I do to stop it," but "Thy will be done, and let me know if I can help." This raises two questions. One is: How can we know God's will? Can we know God's will without a guaranteed prophet to help us out? Well, we have the Gospels, we have the Word of God. We surely can know a great deal about God's will. We at least know this much, that the teachings of the Bible is out of the with God, and doomed to final failure.

Would You Do It?
The other question raised by that prayer-vow. Thy will be done, is this: If you know the will of God, would you do it? Those ancient men of Judah scorned God's will, and scorned his prophet, although they had been pleading for light and direction. We had better be sure we are without sin before we cast at them the first stone. We often feel that God does not give us enough light. We pray earnestly for his will to be made known to us, and we are inclined to grumble if we do not follow the light he has given us. A great American preacher called attention to Saul's request of the Witch of Endor, "Bring me up Samuel." The thing is—we do not follow the light he has given us. For a long time Samuel had been telling Saul where he was wrong, but the king had paid no attention. A man who will not listen to Samuel living will not listen to his ghost. So with us. "Thy will be done," suggests sadly many a broken vow. How can we hope to persuade God that we will follow his will, if he will show it to us, when we have not followed his will when he did show it to us? We might make a humble vow: O God, help me to go back and pick up some of the promises I have broken!

Grantsville Wins Over Zihlman Nine

Grantsville won a precious victory Sunday over Zihlman, leader in the Pen-Mar baseball league by the score of 7 to 5, and cut the latter's lead to one game.

Grantsville bunched exactly half of its 10 hits in the eighth inning to spell doom for Zihlman at Grantsville in a game which saw no extra base hits. Successive singles by Jack Mort, Ross Masterson and Woody Wondson, a boot by Donny Shuck on Jimmie Perry's hot smash, and two singles by Bill

See and Niles Harper off loser Jack Brodie resulted in a 7-2 slugger lead.

A Zihlman rally in the last inning fell short by two markers of knocking the count.

To Exhibit At Fair

Garrett county will have a beef cattle exhibit at the Cumberland fair during the week beginning August 22, according to Joseph M. Steger, Allegany county agricultural agent.

Vincent Jones, manager of the Tonnar Farms, west of Oakland, has notified Steger that he will exhibit 10 head of Herefords.

"A. The Summit"

Without intending to do so—without seeking any propaganda advantage whatsoever—we have just won "at the summit" a victory in the cold war to capture the hearts and minds of all men everywhere. This victory stems from the proposal, offered by President Eisenhower in Geneva last week for an exchange of military information and aerial inspection between Russia and the United States as a means of establishing world peace and stability.

Quite obviously, the continually smirking Russian officials at the "summit" meeting were unmoved by this proposition which has as its purpose the detection of any preparations for military aggression. This idea certainly is not original. In varying form, during the past ten years, it has been un-ences of the 1954 Geneva parley at which Red China was an invited observer, and from the standpoint of propaganda, last week's meeting

"at the summit" has greatly enhanced the cause of freedom everywhere. The Soviets very definitely are now "on the spot."

Such a proposal, offered as it was in good faith and genuine sincerity, and not for propaganda dividends, captures the imagination, hopes and aspirations of all freedom-loving people. It could well be the vehicle for more productive discussions of the extremely difficult problem of controllable disarmament—an essential precedent to world peace. But, in all these matters, the tangible accomplishments and objectives of the international communist conspiracy must not be discounted. Clothed even in a garment of apparent respectability and seeming friendship, the communist goal of eventual world domination remains unchanged. Accordingly, even for the most notable of ideals, our guard—our defenses—must not be permitted to relax, falter or weaken.

While the specific results of this Big Four conference will unfold later, the real accomplishment at this writing, to my mind, has been one of propaganda. Whatever the motivation might have been, the propaganda initiative has been seized from the Russians. The courts of public opinion anxiously await their response to the President's proposal. Only visible and concrete evidence of good-will and peaceful intentions on the part of the masters of the Kremlin will be acceptable.

In the larger sense, measured in the light of the miserable experi-

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The solution to the long-range problem of mass transportation is being overlooked in the struggle to find an answer to Washington's immediate transit difficulties. It is a problem which confronts all of our large metropolitan areas. Studies are being made by private organizations and some work is being done by government agencies. We have hopes that out of the National Planning Commission's study of the transportation problem in the Washington area there will be constructive help not only for the Nation's Capital but for other large cities as well.

Just what turn events may take I am not prepared to predict; but I feel certain that one of the basic problems in the Washington area might have been solved had my bill providing for a single regulation body for this area become law. Out of the present transportation and traffic problem in Washington I feel certain that there will be offered concrete proposals which will provide rapid and safe transportation for the people living in the District and Maryland.

I have been greatly impressed with the number of letters received from residents of the Sixth District who are retired federal employees. I wish that I might say that the measures to increase their pensions are well on their way to enactment. I am for such increases and I have done all I can to move the necessary bills out of Committee. I am at a loss to explain the Committee's failure to act on these proposals. But I wish to assure the retired federal workers in my District—and for that matter those living elsewhere—that I shall continue to do all I can to bring pension increases nearer reality.

By the time you read this, the House may have acted on the Highway construction bill. Whatever the House may have done, I wish to emphasize that the efforts of the House Public Works Committee to raise certain taxes were totally unnecessary. The House and the Committee had before them the very fine Clay Report which clearly showed that such tax increases were not needed; that the highway construction program could be undertaken without them.

The scheme for financing the program through the issuance of bonds is sound and the present tax rates would amply take care of refunding the bonds. I still believe the

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

The Democrats Tonight?

Washington, July 23. Though the Democratic management is all set for another attempt to reveal a winning anti-Eisenhower issue for 1956 (if one can be found), there is no expectation, even among themselves, that they will succeed. Tonight that voluble but unfortunate gentleman, Chairman Paul Butler of the National Committee, aided by Senators Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore, of Tennessee, is scheduled again to blast away at the President and his Administration.

It is not only that the Messrs. Butler, Kefauver and Gore do not, themselves, constitute a particularly formidable party trio and are not exactly at "the summit" politically, which makes the rally at which they are to figure seem less than momentous. There are other facts considerably more overwhelming that, unless they explode some truly amazing charge, will keep it from a place in history. For example, the absence of the President at the Geneva conference concededly is a great handicap to politicians such as are performing tonight.

Obviously, it imposes restrictions and restraints upon them. Any violent personal attack would certainly react unfavorably on the attack. It is, in fact, a little difficult to see what could be said in the way of criticism which would not, to say the least, appear in bad taste while the President, in a time of great national crisis, is representing the nation in a foreign country. It will be interesting to see how the Tennessee senators and the new national chairman handle that situation and still make their disapproval of Mr. Eisenhower effective.

But, entirely aside from the international situation in which the President is playing so outstanding a role and for whose success the great bulk of the American people,

President's proposed highway construction program to be the best that has been presented to Congress.

ON MY CALENDAR: I hope to be able to join the Maryland State Roads Commission in the ribbon-cutting ceremonies at the new bridge in Brunswick on Saturday, July 30.

regardless of party, is deeply anxious—wholly aside from that, the Democrats are not devoid of other troubles, mostly of a domestic nature. For one thing, there is the serious illness of their senatorial leader, Senator Johnson, of Texas. Though his successor, Senator Clements, of Kentucky, is a capable and sound party man, they miss the Johnsonian legislative skill and experience. While by no means the political marvel many of his journalistic admirers portray, he still was the best available man as the Senate leader.

Another thing more than a little discouraging to the labor and left-wing elements (so dominant for so long in the Democratic party) is the diminishing enthusiasm not only among party leaders but among voters generally for the leading Democratic presidential aspirant—Mr. Adlai Stevenson. It is fair to say that Mr. Stevenson is the leading Democratic candidate because now his candidacy is recognized and transparent. It is also fair to say that in recent weeks there has been a rather marked lessening and only of the notion that Mr. Stevenson is the inevitable nominee of the next Democratic convention but that he is the only Democrat who can win. There are several reasons for this change in Democratic feeling. One is that Mr. Stevenson's recent speeches, which back in 1952 were hailed as witty, and even classic, have not really "rung the bell." As one of his old friends recently remarked, they just do not "quite make the grade."

Partly, this is due to the fact that Mr. Stevenson—or any other Democrat—has not been able to make out a case against the President, and partly to the fact that Gov. Averell Harriman's candidacy for President, backed by Tammany Leader De Sapio, is of such strength as to make Mr. Stevenson something less than the unanimous choice of his party—to say nothing of the country. It is true that Mr. Harriman says he is now for Mr. Stevenson, but definitely he does not say it in such a way as to repudiate the De Sapio endorsement.

Thus, the Democratic party appears left in a position where its leading candidate—Mr. Stevenson—whom Mr. Eisenhower beat pretty badly in 1952—is the probable nominee in 1956, though no one claims that Mr. Stevenson has gained any voting strength since he then ran and nearly everybody concedes that Mr. Eisenhower has greater mass popularity than he had then. The undoubted "slow down" of Stevenson as a candidate is too clear to be mistaken. At the time this is written Mr. Eisenhower is still at Geneva and there is no opportunity to assay his performance there.

Southern High Teacher Named Kitzmiller Principal

Bernard High, former teacher at Southern High School, has been selected by the Garrett county school board to fill the vacancy recently created by the resignation of John Sotes as principal of Kitzmiller High School.

Mr. High, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. High, Ridgeley, W. Va., is a graduate of Potomac State college and West Virginia university. While a member of the U. S. Air Force, he was engaged in personnel work.

After serving last year from December to April as eighth grade core teacher, and from April to June as instructor of science at Southern High school, Mr. High completed his work on his masters degree in school administration this summer.

His appointment as principal of the Kitzmiller Community School was approved by the Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

Mr. High is now on the West Coast, but will return to Garrett county to report for duty by August 15.

Others Appointed

In addition to naming Mr. High to his new post, Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, has announced the board's selection of three additional teachers for county schools.

This list includes Miss Susan J. Gleason, Piedmont, W. Va., who will teach commercial subjects at Northern High School. Mrs. Bessie (Continued On Page Two)

"Fourposter" Is Final Play

The final show of the 1955 season of the Garrett County Playhouse will be "The Fourposter," by Jan de Hartog, to be presented next week.

This is a delightful comedy centering around 35 years of married life beginning in 1890. Helen Camp and Tom Calkins, now well known to the Playhouse audiences, will take the main roles of the married couple. This casting is something of a milestone for the young actors, as they first appeared together just five years ago in "Madam of Chabot" as students at the University of Mexico.

Appearing with the company of the Playhouse this week in the role of Bertha in "Claudia" is Mrs. Bernard Arnett, of Mt. Lake Park and Fairmont, W. Va. Mrs. Arnett is well-known in the tri-state area as a professional singer. She and her sister, Martha Haymond, sang duets over the radio for many years as the Haymond Sisters.

The first returns on the questionnaire in the programs of "Claudia" are extremely interesting, though naturally inconclusive this early in the run, according to Gene Vell, director. He said that many of the patrons have expressed a desire for a season of eight plays, with comedy and drama predominating.

"The residents of Garrett county and the tri-state area appear genuinely pleased with the theatre, all of their responses have shown the generosity and appreciation of the audiences," he added.

The schedule for Wednesday, August 10, includes volleyball and badminton tournaments to determine champions, and softball for all age groups.

Thursday, August 11, the following schedule has been set up: Morning, finals of badminton and volleyball tournament; afternoon, softball practice leading to the championship, and all day the cage will be open to all preschool and early school age groups.

Fifty boys and girls have registered to date at the playground, which is open from 10 a. m. to noon, and from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. According to Director Winters, daily attendance is not required.

Planned events for the future include a marbles tournament for children ages five through eight, directed by Dixie Castillon. Crafts are open at all times to all age groups.

Board Member Hits Method of Machine Buying

In a letter to William L. Gibson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, the minority member of that board, William O. Treacy, this morning protested certain aspects of Tuesday's voting machine demonstration and a later proposal to the County Commissioners that 35 machines be purchased from the Automatic Voting Machine company.

Treacy, one of three members of the Board of Election Supervisors, said he had not been consulted on the proposed purchase, had had no opportunity to see the machine or to have it demonstrated to him. He said he was "astounded by the fact" that a contract calling for the purchase of the machines had been prepared and offered to the County Commissioners for signature. Treacy further alleged that the attorney to the Election Board, Walter W. Dawson, "had never been consulted with regard to the contract, nor had the attorney to the County Commissioners ever seen the contract prior to the meeting."

The third member of the Election Board is Francis W. Sanders, of Oakland.

Treacy's letter to Gibson follows:

"This will note my protest to certain aspects surrounding yesterday's demonstration of voting machines at the Court House before the Board of County Commissioners and the Board of Election Supervisors.

"First I would like to lodge my objection to your urging the Commissioners to purchase the machines offered yesterday by the Automatic Voting Machine Company, when no member of the Board of Supervisors or Commissioners has yet seen or had demonstrated to him, the machine of any competing concern.

"Second, I protest to your failure to bring the letter from the Shoup Voting Machine Company, dated January 15, 1955, and offering a local demonstration of their machine, to either my or the present Board of Supervisor's attention until yesterday's meeting. And I further object to the treatment of that letter, which makes only (Continued On Page Two)

Vote Machine Demonstrated Here Tuesday

Members of the Board of Election Supervisors and the County Commissioners were given a demonstration in the use of voting machines Tuesday when a representative of the Automatic Voting Machine company set up one of the devices in the Court House rotunda.

Under Maryland law, it is now mandatory that all counties purchase machines before the 1956 elections. The machine demonstrated was the same type used in Baltimore, Allegany county and several other counties in the state.

Each machine would cost between $100 and $150, it was pointed out, but no definite figure could be given on the number needed. However, it is not planned to eliminate or consolidate any of the present election districts, and probably few precincts might be consolidated. Some of the larger precincts will require more than one machine.

A contract for the purchase by the county of 35 machines, at a cost of $1430 each, F.O.B. Jamestown, N. Y., was prepared by the company and submitted to the County Commissioners Tuesday morning. The contract called for signatures of all the Commissioners and members of the Election Board. Since some members of both boards declined to sign until more information had been secured, no official action was taken on the purchase.

Another manufacturer, the Shoup Voting Machine company, of Philadelphia, has been asked to demonstrate its product before August 15. After that date bids will be received from any interested company.

Also attending the demonstration was Lawrence M. Fravel, member of the Republican State Central committee, who is local agent for the Automatic company.

Welch said he and the County Commissioners had examined and analyzed the cigarette tax returns for the month of June, and then requested Sheriff Paul W. Fisher to make "certain investigations." Fisher is still investigating.

The scheduled match of top-seeded Fred McNair, of Washington, D. C. against Fred Kellmeyer, Charleston, W. Va., was postponed until today.

The two seeded players in a small women's division won their matches with little trouble. Letty Ewing of Wheeling, W. Va., set down Dorothy Rose of Johnstown, Pa. 6-0, 6-0, and second-seeded Martha Stouffer of Hagerstown beat Sydney Burt of Wheeling, 6-0, 6-1.

Resignation Of Janitor Accepted

The Board of County Commissioners this week accepted the resignation of Thane O. White, janitor at the county Court House, effective August 1. Mr. White will remain on the county payroll until September 1 on a four weeks' leave of absence.

Joseph F. Turney has been named acting janitor, effective August 15, pending selection of a permanent replacement.

Final title to four acres of property on Route 219, purchased from the heirs of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. Mitchell, was turned over to the county. The real estate was purchased for $8,000 for construction of a county garage.

A delegation from the Oakland Elementary School P.T.A. appeared before the board Tuesday concerning the condition of the playground at the Center street school. The area is presently hard surfaced, and it was contended that large, sharp stones presented a hazard to children. The board will request the county engineer to determine the cost of repaving the playground.

Several individuals were before the board requesting road repairs and improvements.

Kills Rattlesnake

William H. Johnson, district forester, reported killing a huge rattlesnake in Garrett county last Tuesday.

While walking along a road on Meadow Mountain he spotted a rattlesnake at the edge of the woods. Armed with a couple of large rocks, he managed to kill the reptile which measured nearly four feet and was about 3 1/2 inches in diameter.

He said it was "well-fed" and had 13 rattles and a button. Johnson removed the rattles and button and took them home as souvenirs.

Public Is Invited To Inspect New Hospital Wing

The public has been invited to inspect the new wing and new equipment of the Garrett County Memorial hospital at an open house to be held Tuesday, August 9, from 2:00-10:00 p. m. and from 7:00-9:00 p. m.

At this time, members of the Local Auxiliary will act as guides, and nurses will be on hand to explain the new equipment to visitors. Refreshments will be served in the hospital dining room.

Award Contract For Renovation At Kitzmiller

Edgar Hardesty, Oakland, Low Bidder On School Improvement

Willard L. Hawkins, county school superintendent, has announced the awarding of the contract for construction work on the Kitzmiller Community School and the acceptance of bids for the purchase of the Sunnyside School and the Bethlehem School.

Low bidder for the all-purpose room and renovation of the Kitzmiller school was Edgar Hardesty, Oakland, in the amount of $68,250.

Other bids opened at the regular meeting of the Board of Education, held Tuesday, August 2, were submitted by Nelson S. Wood, $68,394; Lynn and Riley, $83,554; Russell Hamilton, $80,900, and a late bid by Ivan A. Diehl, $88,305.

The money for this addition was secured from the State School Construction Loan. Hawkins reported, and work will begin immediately on the project with the hope that it will be completed by the middle of the coming school year.

With the closing this past spring of two Vindex schools, it became necessary to include in the enrollment of the Kitzmiller school all pupils in the Vindex, Kitzmiller, and Shadler area through the eighth grade.

The county superintendent said that the addition of the two junior high school grades will take place over a two-year period, beginning in September of this year, adding the seventh grade during the year, and the eighth grade the year following.

In order to accommodate the additional enrollment, the school board felt that the additional room and renovation of the present school building would be imperative. The purpose of the additional room will be to provide for cafeteria, auditorium, music, gymnasium, and community activities.

The planned improvements will provide adequate and modern facilities for a school library, primary department, health room, arts and crafts, physical education, music, cafeteria kitchen, and a stage and assembly room for pupils and adults.

Hawkins added that the program possible with these facilities, combined with the natural environment for outdoor education, could make the Kitzmiller school one of the best of its size to be found anywhere.

Bids Accepted

High bidder for the purchase of the Sunnyside School was Mrs. Fred L. Eisinger, Washington, D. C., who offered $612,000.

Collection of Taxes Now 70%

Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer, has announced that 70 per cent of the 1955 taxes have been collected to date.

According to the treasurer, the discount periods have passed and the bills are now par value. Interest at the rate of one half per cent per month on unpaid taxes will be collected after October 1.

The treasurer's office reports that very low returns from the State Tax Commission have been received for this year, but that they are beginning to come in, and in all probability will be complete by October 1.

The office has mailed out final bills and legal notices to all taxpayers delinquent on 1954 taxes. Thus far $25,000 is still uncollected for 1954 but this must be paid within the 30 days prescribed by law.

Records for the year, just past the half-way point, show that $530,000 has been received by the county, and that expenditures total $115,000.

Miss Thelma Hanlin Selected Farm Queen; George Bishoff Named Champion Tractor Operator In Events Saturday

Between 400 and 500 persons attended the annual Garrett county Farmers' Picnic and 4-H Rally Day, held Saturday, July 30, at the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area near Bittinger.

One of the featured events of the day's program, which lasted from early morning to late afternoon, was the selection of the 1955 Garrett County Farm Queen. From eight contestants, Miss Thelma Hanlin, of Accident, was chosen to represent the county at the state fair in Timonium, where she will compete for the state farm queen title with county farm queens from all over the state.

The 16-year-old Garrett county farm queen will be a junior this fall at Northern High school. Her home is on a beef cattle, sheep, and dairy farm which includes 374 acres in Maryland and 187 acres in West Virginia. Raising pet lambs ranks top on her list of interests, but she asserts that dancing and music rank a close second and third.

In order to compete for farm queen, contestants must be from 16-18 years old, and must meet farm girl qualifications which include educational preparation in either home economics training or 4-H Club work, and at least four activities. During the contest, the girls are judged on the following: general appearance, which counts 25 points; costume (rental sports, dress, hose and heels, hair arrangement, and daytime make-up), which counts 15 points; poise, posture, and carriage, which counts 30 points; and personality, manners, and friendliness, which counts 30 points.

According to the judges, Miss Hanlin scored a total of 98 points to win her title.

First runner-up in the farm queen contest was Miss Joyce Ann McKenzie, 16, of Grantsville, and second runner-up was Miss Rebecca Hamilton, 17, of Red House.

Other contestants included Misses Carol Durst, Dorothy Durst, Kathleen Emory, Doris Hummel, and Dalley Merrill.

The complete list of exhibits and awards follows.

School Dress—Judy Buckel, champion; Carolyn Sperlein, and Nancy White, blue. Kathleen Emory, Dorothy Giffelty, Kay Weeks, red.

Dressy Dress—Marie Bowman, blue; Susan Bowman, red. Skirt—Cathy Yaste, blue; Florence Emory, red; Jane Hanst, white. Skirt and Blouse—Sandra K. Martin, blue.

FALLFISH
(Semotilus corporalis)

RANGE: Eastern United States from St. Lawrence River to Virginia; found in most of the fresh water tributaries of the Potomac, Gunpowder and Susquehanna Rivers, frequently caught while fishing for trout. Also inhabits some lakes.

DESCRIPTION: The largest of the so called "minnow" family; not found west of the Alleghenies; average fish caught about 10 inches, although fish between 15 and 20 inches, have been reported; related to the common creek chub which it slightly resembles; silvery in appearance, sucker like in form.

BREEDING: Spawns in our trout and other streams in the spring. Breeding males have reddish fins and build the nest by depositing pebbles in a circular pile, which generally takes a week.

HAHITS: Feeds on worms, insects, and even small fish; a fly and spinner combination is popular with the angler for enticing this species to bite; will strike a surface bait, but does not leap.

MANAGEMENT: Apparently needs no assistance in its fight for survival; however, cleaning up polluted waters is beneficial.

VALUE: Make fairly good food when taken from cold waters but long; small ones are sometimes used for bait for black bass and other game fish; a sporty fish on light tackle. It is afforded no legal protection in Maryland at the present time excepting a limit of 8 inches in Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Howard, Montgomery and Carroll Counties; a well known Waltonian was fined for taking one during the former closed season while fishing for trout; later the spring closure was removed, then later no closed season whatever.

Because Buick sales are soaring past all records—

We're declaring a profit-sharing bonus for you

THIS we've never seen before—a sales year that's shattering every record in the Buick book—a soaring success far greater than the one that moved Buick so solidly into the Big 3 of America's best sellers.

So we're going to share profits with you—by stretching our regular big trade-in allowances to practically our break-even point.

That means you can now buy the most wanted Buick ever built—for less than ever before.

That means you can have Buick style distinction and prestige—Buick room and comfort—Buick size and solidity—for plenty dollars less on the profit-sharing deals we're making now.

And that means you can have, at a terrific buy, the hottest-action Buick in history—with walloping V8 power raised to new highs, and with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—world's first and only transmission using the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller.

Come in today—tomorrow, for sure—and see for yourself that you can now make the biggest buy of the year on the car that's far and away the thrill of the year.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick—

Biggest-selling Buick in History!

one mention of price as the final offer of that company. I believe that their product should be thoroughly investigated before we, the Supervisors, take any action toward the expenditure of some $50,000.00 of Garrett County funds.

"Third, I object and am astonished by the fact that there was present at yesterday's meeting, a contract drafted between the Automatic Voting Machine Company, the Garrett County Commissioners and the Board of Election Supervisors, which contract was apparently ready for the signatures of the members of these groups. The contract, you will recall, provided for the sale and purchase of thirty five machines, priced at $1,350.00 each, for delivery by December 1, 1955. I was never consulted, nor was the matter of the number of the machines necessary ever brought to the attention of the Board of Supervisors since I have been a member. I am further astonished that the attorney to the Election Board was never consulted with regard to the contract, nor had the attorney to the County Commissioners ever seen the contract prior to the meeting, yet the contract was there fully ready for signatures.

"Fourth, I strongly question the propriety of our boards of Commissioners and Supervisors negoti-

Even Best Hogs Don't Have Enough Heat Resistance

Man has bred many good characteristics into hogs down through the years, such as ability to make fast gains and produce large litters. But even the best-bred hogs we have today still lack in one important characteristic, according to James B. Meyer, University of Maryland Extension live stock marketing specialist.

"We haven't been able to breed enough heat resistance into hogs," he says. "So shade, cool water, fresh air and a cool place to lie down have to be provided for hogs by their owners and transporters." The ancestor of today's hog was lean of limb and fleet of foot. He foraged for his feed and found plenty of shade and streams in virgin forests to keep cool.

Feed is no problem for hogs today—all they have to do is walk a few steps to self feeders and help themselves. But in many cases farmers do nothing to help hogs overcome their natural handicap of being unable to tolerate heat. The result is "poor doing" hogs and, sometimes, dead hogs.

"And when it comes time for today's hogs to go to market," Meyer adds, "he has to have first class accommodations. He can't be packed in a subway train at rush hour. He has to have non-skid bedding—sand is best of all—and that sand should be wet down frequently in hot weather. He has to have ventilation, because of all market animals today's hog has the smallest lung capacity for his weight."

"What's more, he doesn't sweat. That's why an occasional sprinkling of hogs and bedding on the trip to market is good insurance for his safe arrival."

along with representatives of the Automatic Voting Machine Company when at least one of such representatives holds political office in Garrett County with the prerogative of recommending political appointments to the Governor, among which appointments include the majority members of the Board of Election Supervisors."

Employment Security department reported 802,700 were working on non-farm jobs in Maryland in May with 42,000 unemployed. Sixty persons were killed and 100 others injured in a train wreck in San Bernardo, Chile.

Mental Health Is Project of Group

Mrs. E. Irving Baumgartner called a meeting last week in Oakland of the executive board of the First District, Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, to plan a program on "Mental Health," the project of the district for the next two years.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Nilsson, Baltimore, executive director, Mental Hygiene Society, State of Maryland, was guest speaker and suggested a three pronged program consisting of public education, clinic and hospital.

The group also discussed the program for the district meeting to be held in Cumberland October 12.

Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Harry B. Simpson, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Buck, Jr., Mental Health chairman for the district; both of Cumberland; Mrs. O. T. Graser, Oakland; Hospitality and Arrangements chairman, and Mrs. Kenneth Lawton, president of the Junior club of Oakland.

The Play

Wrapped in the tinsel of delightfully risqué patter and tied with the basic chord of life, "Claudia" comes to the Playhouse as a surprise package of entertainment, chuck full of rib-jarring chuckles and sympathetic emotion.

Playwright Rose Frankland bundles up a big part of life's cradle-to-the-grave drama and drops it—with all its humor, pain, frustrations, and brutal intractability of death—right into the laps of the audience. It's the clock with its timeless appeal, yet leaves a wide margin for the actors to put it across in their most natural behavior.

The obvious humor is backed up by innuendo that brings laughter from even the most straitlaced observer. The more subtle puns linger hours after the show. Frivolous, immature Claudia is portrayed by Suzanne Ogelsby who flits about the stage, jarring the audience into gales of laughter with her rapid-fire dialogue of young married life. As a character completely oblivious to the harder facts of life, Miss Ogelsby breezes through the situations she creates, leaving her fellow characters stranded in frustration.

Her understanding husband, Leonard Drum, comes masterfully with his fables in his ceaseless effort to bring Claudia to face reality. Although not scalded for long by any one of her antics, Drum is immediately plunged into another. Helen Camp wears an outstanding mask of maturity in her role as Claudia's mother and is burdened by the responsibility of carrying off the serious aspect of the play, engaging in levity all the while.

Tom Calkins and Fanny Arnett, the latter of Fairmont and Mt. Lake Park, team up as servants to the family household and tell their own story in clipped German accent. The playwright's observance of the male animal is done credit by D. G. Buckle's performance as bachelor, author and boonder.

Rosetta Flippin throws all caution to the wind in her uproarious part as the much-experienced Madame Daruschka and well-deserves the applause accorded her Tuesday night. Bonnie Barton, too, sparkles with her off-displayed confidence and polish in the role of Julia, who brings still another side of life into focus.

Sen. Goldwater declared Eisenhower was "doing the right thing" for the country in withholding an announcement of whether he intends to run again in 1956.

Is Your Name BELL?

Do you know that

BELL, an old and honored English and Scottish surname, admits of at least two derivations? For example, according to some authorities on nomenclature, it owes its origin to the fact that in medieval times it was common practice for the owner of a shop, inn or the like to display a readily recognizable sign in front of his place of business so that the people, the majority of whom were illiterate, would have no difficulty in identifying or describing the establishment. These signs were varied in their nature, such as a bell, animal, star, horn, etc. Thus, for example, John atte BELL, signified "John's shop at the sign of the bell," and in time "atte" was dropped, thus creating the name of JOHN BELL.

It is said also that the surname BELL stems from the Old French "bel" meaning "beautiful." Thus, in this case also, "John le bel" was eventually transformed to JOHN BELL.

Among the patriots of Colonial days was WILLIAM BELL (1744-1790) who took the Oath of Allegiance to the State of Maryland in 1778. He was born and died in Baltimore County.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has twenty-eight listings of individuals, bearing the name of BELL, who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

CHARLES BELL was the first tax collector of Garrett County. JOHN BELL, (1797-1860) was secretary of war in the cabinets of Presidents William Henry Harrison and John Tyler.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL (1847-1922) was the inventor of the telephone, of your heart to the people and things in your house to make it a home. That was a quotation from the 250 word essay each was required to write on "In what ways is homemaking more important than housekeeping?"

Next week, I would like to tell you about the lovely and charming girl from Alabama who won the $5,000 scholarship, and the title, "All American Homemaker of Tomorrow."

A Message from Clinton W. Englander,
"Your Pharmacist"

The Practice of Pharmacy is daily becoming so complex, that the Colleges of Pharmacy have just decided that in the future, a Pharmacist will have to study for five years instead of the usual four.

Any Medicine, whether it be a prescription, or one of the so called "Patent Medicines" can be potentially harmful if not properly taken.

Only A Physician is learned enough to properly advise you what medicine to take.

Only A Pharmacist is taught the complete knowledge necessary to compound medicines and how to best preserve and protect medicines so that they are potent when you get them.

According To A Most Proper Law it is not only a moral, but the required legal duty of every Pharmacist to make certain that any medicine you get from him is a safe medicine to take.

That Is Why we must have a license to practice Pharmacy, and thoughtful people are always careful to get any medicine from a Pharmacist.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of The Republican

Dear Sir: It is not my want to unnecessarily prolong any series of letters about Mr. Lyle Mayer's recent communication to you. However, I feel impelled to answer certain misstatements of facts embodied in this letter.

Along with other residents of Garrett County I appreciate Mr. Mayer's somewhat laudatory comments concerning the beauty of this area. I am in violent disagreement with him concerning his remarks about the Garrett County Playhouse, its director, Mr. Gene Yell, and the members of his group.

Mr. Yell is no newcomer to Garrett County, having spent his summers here every year since his marriage. His wife, Barbara, may be considered a native of Garrett since her family has owned property in Garrett County since she was a small child. Indeed I have known her for at least twenty-five years. Many people in Garrett County will remember well her father, the late Mr. William B. Burruss.

The Garrett County Playhouse is not something that has been foisted on the people of the area but has been a dream of Mr. Yell and others in Garrett County for a number of years. Its success this year augurs well for the future.

The fact that certain of the members of Mr. Yell's cast are students is beside the point. For a number of years I have been a member and contributor of the Terrapin Club at the University of Maryland. The purpose of the organization is to assist deserving football players and other athletes. I might state that much of this aid goes to students from outside of Maryland. In view of this fact there should be little objection to this talented group of young people assembled by Mr. Yell. I might add it would not be possible at this time for him to have an equity company because of the expense. I for one am happy he has been able to assemble this talented group of workers.

I have always considered myself a loyal alumni of the University of Maryland and have supported the University—however, this is one time I find I cannot go along with some proposals advocated by an individual associated with the University. I recognize this project of Mr. Mayer's would be an extra circular activity of his and not a University sponsored affair. The present theatre is satisfactory to me. Why not let it continue. It is my earnest hope that those interested in a summer theatre will continue to support Mr. Yell and his local board of directors.

Sincerely,
E. Irving Baumgartner, M.D.

Visits Oakland After Lapse of Half Century

R. C. Cohen, presently of Pittsburgh, spent several hours in Oakland Monday afternoon renewing old acquaintances. It was his first visit here since the family moved to Pittsburgh shortly after the turn of the century.

Cohen's father was the late Morris Cohen, who, in 1893, opened a tanning shop on the west side of Second street. The building housing the shop, the old Oakland Pharmacy and the former Mountain Democrat was destroyed by fire several years later. All three business establishments ultimately resumed operations.

While living here, the Cohen family owned the plot of land on which the Garrett County Court House was constructed in 1907.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The news is nothing but good. President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers now has reported that during the April-May-June quarter of this year Americans made more money, spent more money, produced more goods, and held more jobs than ever before in the country's history.

The Council estimated that national production in the second quarter of 1955 reached an all-time record rate of $383 billion a year. This compares with the $364.5 billion rate achieved in 1953, the previous most prosperous year. The new production rate also is $7.7 billion above the previous record rate, set in the first three months of this year.

Personal income, the Council said, exceeded "the $300 billion level for the first time in history" as industry rehired laid-off workers, added new help and yielded large pay increases to major unions. This was $6.7 billion more than in the first three months of this year.

Of the estimated $300 billion personal income rate, some $267 billion was classed as "disposable," meaning available for spending after taxes.

Consumer spending, usually interpreted as a reflection of public confidence in the economic outlook, also reached a peak in the second quarter of this year. Spending gained $7.7 billion to an annual rate of $249.5 billion. The Council said it might have gone higher, except for an evidence of consumer desire to save a part of income. Some 16 percent of the disposable income was placed in savings or investments.

The new production rate represents the Council's preliminary estimate of the value of all goods and services produced. The estimate may be low.

Officials have had difficulty in keeping statistics abreast of the increasing prosperity. Until 10 days before final figures were to be tabulated the Council estimated the production rate was $370 billion annually, but a rush of last minute tabulations forced a higher estimate.

This is the kind of news we are glad to hear—and we're sure there is more to come.

The nation's nonmilitary defenses were declared to be in hopeless confusion.

St. Peter's Church, Oakland, Scene Of Treacy-Cook Nuptials

Miss Patricia Anne Cook, daughter of Mrs. Carson Bruce Groves and the late William Lloyd Cook, of Loch Lynn Heights, became the bride of Leo Edward Treacy, son of Mrs. Estelle Treacy and the late James P. Treacy, of Oakland, in a double ring ceremony held at 2:00 p. m., on Saturday, July 30, at St. Peter's Catholic church in Oakland.

The Rev. Father Michael K. Carney officiated.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, C. B. Groves, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of imported French lace and nylon tulle over shimmering bridal satin.

The bodice of the gown, which had a very defined waistline, was accented with a small Peter Pan lace collar with lace appliques extending to the full skirt. Her chapel sweep veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of multicolored sequins, and her bridal bouquet was of white carnations interspersed with pink rosebuds and with white satin streamers.

Miss Jacqueline Groves, daughter of Mr. Groves, was maid of honor. Her floor length gown was of orchid nylon net over taffeta, while her headdress and bouquet were of white carnations.

Serving as his brother's best man was William O. Treacy, while ushers were John and Maurice Treacy, also brothers of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Miss Groves chose a princess line ball-length gown of satin in dusty rose, with a lace bolero edged in satin. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a street length gown of navy blue, with pink accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

A program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Felix G. Robinson, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Groves in Mt. Lake Park with approximately 80 guests attending. The bride's table featured a traditional wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Charles Burrill, daughter of Mr. Groves, while Mrs. Lawrence Groves, Mr. Groves' daughter-in-law, served the wedding cake.

For traveling, the bride chose a dark blue silk dress with matching bolero and white accessories. The couple's wedding trip plans include a brief visit to Chicago enroute to the West coast, where they will visit several national parks and other points of interest. On their return September 1, they will reside in Oakland.

loway, J. M. Jarboe, Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCord and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph See.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson gave a supper party at their home, Oak Crest, in Mt. Lake Park, for the group and other guests on Sunday, July 31. Attending, besides the players, were Mrs. Bernard Annette, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cornish, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hemmon, Bernard Sampson and Mr. and Mrs. John Stetser.

Following the opening on Tuesday evening, August 2, of Claudia, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Zepp entertained the theatre group and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Lushy.

That is our pride and the first thing we would like to be remembered for. Remember us the next time you need a prescription compounded. We would be happy to serve you.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman
DeWITT E. HYDE

The Geneva Conference has been appraised by pundits and politicians as well as statesmen and plain citizens. Each has expressed his concept of its meaning and influence on present world problems. But regardless of the nature of the political commentary all are agreed that President Eisenhower emerged as the man of the hour.

I was particularly struck by a comment in the London News Chronicle, a liberal English journal. The London paper said: "Twice Eisenhower hoisted the meeting to the true summit. Not a thousand speeches in Congress or the House of Commons, not a hundred inter-governmental notes, could have done what one man did who could be seen and heard as he spoke." The impact of the Eisenhower personality on the future course of the world is unmistakable.

It is refreshing, and I may add a unique experience for this generation, to witness a meeting of the heads of the world's major governments characterized by "openness." There were no secret agreements. Nor, as some have charged, no secret understandings. I have personally assured myself on this point.

The legislative record of the 84th Congress' First Session will be reviewed next week. I am certain that the most severe critics of both the Administration and the Congress are agreed that this has been a session of accomplishment. Politics have played a role, an important one and at times a disruptive one, but there has been little to mar the sessions of both the House and the Senate.

Shortly after Labor Day I begin an intensive tour of the District. I shall be happy to meet with those interested and discuss the various measures which have become law and those which have been left for consideration next session. I am particularly anxious to discuss measures which concern the 6th Maryland District.

Marylanders, either individuals or companies, who have lost bank accounts or other credits through sequestration by the Japanese in the Philippines during World War II, are entitled to be compensated for their losses. Applications for this benefit must be made prior to midnight, August 31, 1955. Write to me at the House Office Building, Washington, 25, D. C., or to the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

On my calendar, unless some unforeseen legislative event prevents, I plan to be with the Frederick Lions Club at their luncheon on August 4th. Of importance to the entire District is the meeting on the Upper Potomac River Basin at Cumberland on August 11, which I plan to attend. I also plan to attend the Kelly-Springfield dinner at the Shrine Club that day.

Allegany Countian Joins School System

Robert R. Martin, former senior instructor at Allegany Trades School in Cumberland, has been named supervisor of bus transportation for the Garrett County Board of Education.

He will also serve as a part time industrial arts instructor at Southern High School, according to Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of county schools.

For the past two years, Martin has been an industrial vocation teacher at Bel Air High School where he taught courses in automobile mechanics. He assumed his duties here last Monday.

Martin is well known in Cumberland as an automotive mechanic and technician on ignition systems and carburetion. He taught these subjects to several hundred GI trainees at the trade school there from 1946 to 1953. He had previously taught auto mechanics to adult evening classes and to classes in Cumberland for on-the-job trainees.

A veteran of World War II, Martin served in the Navy.

A native of Cumberland, Martin graduated from Pennsylvania Avenue High School in 1932. He continued his education with courses in mechanics and electronics and has completed a number of extension courses with the University of Maryland.

MARRIED

Bittinger-Hanlin—Miss Rayetta Jean Hanlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil W. Hanlin, Bayard, W. Va., became the bride of Harold W. Bittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bittinger, Route 1, Germania, W. Va., June 11, at the Church of the Brethren, Fairview.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 2:00 p. m. with Rev. Ross Speicher officiating. The altar, decorated with baskets of white gladiolus, pink peonies, pine, and ivy, was flanked with white tapers in branched candelabra.

Miss Shirley Calhoun, friend of the bride, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Frank DeWitt, who sang "Why Do I Love You?" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of white chiffon over slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and portrait neckline, short sleeves, and with elbow mitts. Her double fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a headpiece of seed pearls and sequins. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white carnations with satin streamers.

Miss Kay Hanlin attended her sister as maid-of-honor. She wore a periwinkle blue nylon dress with white accessories, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations.

Thomas Bernard, a friend of the groom, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hanlin chose a navy blue afternoon dress with white accessories and a corsage of red rose buds. The mother of the groom wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and her corsage was of yellow rose buds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church which was decorated with mock orange blossoms and peonies. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. White petals in crystal candelabra completed the decorations. The cake was served by Mrs. Wallace Hanlin, sister of the groom, presiding at the punch.

Archeology In Garrett County

BY FRANK R. CORLISS, JR.

The material presented in this article is not based on information received from full scale excavations but is a synopsis of what has been found mainly by surface collecting over the past fifteen years. A few test pits are all that have been done in the way of excavation, and these were restricted to the three known pottery sites, one of which is a rock shelter.

Most of the test pits were dug by the Carnegie Museum Survey party during the 1950 and 1951 seasons. The artifacts and features exposed by these tests proved that at least two of the pottery sites would be worthy of full-scale excavation in the future.

Geographically speaking, Garrett County is more closely akin to West Virginia than to Maryland, being located in the rugged eastern part of the Appalachian Plateau. Most of the area is a divide between the Potomac and Youghiogheny watersheds.

This article is a description of several sites along with illustrated comments on artifact types. Most of the projectile points probably represent the Archaic Period. To date, 40 sites have been located in the county. Three of these contain pottery. Two are mound or cairn sites. The rest are probably Archaic or Early Woodland.

The trinomial system of numbering sites has been adopted. This is the same system used by the Upper Ohio Valley Archeological Survey. The first number refers to the alphabetical number of the site, the two middle letters to the county and the last number (8) indicates the site number.

These two sites are composed of small stone mounds, two to three feet high and fifteen feet in diameter. All of these mounds have been previously disturbed. The following description of mound No. 2 at 18Ga27 is typical for the rest. This circular mound, as I first saw it, was approximately 10 to 12 feet in diameter, about 2 feet above original ground surface, and had a circular depression in the center due to previous disturbance.

The first bone (probably a human leg) was found at the bottom of the depression in the center of the mound. Small fragments of bone, most of them uncovered at one level, were found occasionally between stones. This level was about 12 inches below the original surface of the ground. Most of the skeletal material encountered at this bottommost level seemed to be undisturbed. This material was embedded with tree roots which made removal very difficult without breakage. All bones were in a fragmentary state. Three teeth were found near an assemblage of skull bones. The arrangement of the whole seems to indicate a flexed burial, provided the bones were in situ and represented one individual. (Three individuals were represented by the bones from mound No. 1, however, which helps to discredit that assumption.) No artifacts except a metal cone, three inches long, were found. This cone may be a bangle used by historic tribes. Perhaps because of the previous disturbance, this mound seemed to indicate no structural features, whatever.

Both of these sites are located on high hilltops near and overlooking the Youghiogheny River.

POTTERY SITES

The Sanging Ground Site. This site is located at the junction of Sang Run and the Youghiogheny River at an elevation of 1980 feet. The name "Sanging Ground" was given to this site by the late Captain C. E. Hoge, a local historian on Garrett County. The name refers to the practice of gathering ginseng in the old days when it was so plentiful in this area.

The site occupies the only sizable flat to be found near the river for 3 miles on either side. It is surrounded by steep-sided mountains which, due to their proximity, provide protection from storms. There is also a large spring nearby where water could have been obtained. Limestone soil, scarce in Garrett County, is found here and would have made primitive agriculture more profitable.

People have been gathering potsherds from this site for many years, but no one ever made any attempt to dig there except the owner, Ralph Hoge. In the early 1930's he dug up several burials but nothing was recorded or preserved except a lower jaw bone. One of the burials was supposed to have been surrounded by stones. A line of stone-lined pits, which probably were used as fire places, was also observed at that time.

The finding of a "turkey-tail" (Adena) point at this site is significant in view of the fact that a stone mound was located on top of a nearby hill years ago, but all that is left now is a slight raise in the surface of the ground, the stone having been carried away for road building.

I excavated six 5-foot squares here in August, 1949. The soil is black and strewn with broken bones and pottery. Two refuse pits were uncovered. The features of one of these were photographed and recorded. This pit was surrounded by a double line of circular stains, probably the remains of small posts. The pit penetrated the yellow, sandy subsoil for 10 inches. It contained potsherds, bones, teeth, ashes, and artifacts of bone and chert. Most projectile points were of the triangular type. Several pottery types are represented.

Several fragmentary stone pipes have been found also. Years ago Ralph Hoge found a beautiful belt of pale green granite and a square-bowled pipe of red hematite.

Indian Rocks Site
This is probably the most important site in Garrett County because of its stratified nature. The site is a large rock shelter located at an elevation of 2288 feet on Laurel Run, a stream which empties into the Youghiogheny 3 miles to the northeast and is approximately 7 miles southwest of Friendsville, Maryland. The site is owned by Leslie Savage.

There are at least three types of pottery represented here. This shelter was probably occupied periodically since Archaic times.

The Friendsville Site
This is one of those sites where local historical records indicate the existence of a nearby aboriginal settlement in historic times. It is said that John Friend, in 1765 came here from the Potomac with his six sons and bought a Shawnee village site.

The site is located in the town of Friendsville, Maryland, at an elevation of 1500 feet and is now occupied by the garden and house of Mr. Elmer Rush. During excavation by the Carnegie Museum field party in September, 1950 many potsherds and bones were recovered. The pottery types represented here seem almost identical to those from the Sanging Ground Site, however, many European artifacts were found here which were totally lacking at the Sanging Ground Site. The pottery from this site as well as from the Sanging Ground Site resembles that found on the Keyser Farm Site in Virginia.

ARCHAIC SITES
According to Witthoft (1919) "Archaic sites are small, scattered and very abundant. Most sites are on hilltops, slopes near streams, river terraces or elevations near springs and are small sites of the type generally called camp sites." This description fits the Archaic sites of Garrett County perfectly.

I would say the thing most typical of the Archaic cultural complex represented here is the wide variation in the typology of the chipped stone artifacts and their being made almost exclusively of various colored cherts. Triangular points, serrated points, large points, and points of jasper, quartzite and chalcodony are rare and should be considered as atypical for these sites. Most of the chert may have been obtained from site 18Ga25 which shows signs of being a quarry (Meadow Mountain Site). Other artifacts found at these sites include: cache blades, drills, hammerstones, pestles, mullers, scrapers and knives. Pottery, celts, adzes and grooved axes are unknown from these sites.

SUMMARY

One of the morning activities was a tractor operators' contest in which eight Garrett county 4-H boys competed. The winner was George Bishoff, Friendsville, who will represent the county in the state contest at Timonium.

Two 4-H boys exhibited high-grade sheep, Arthur Fitzwater, of Swanton, showed Hampshires and John Wildesen, of the White Church section, showed Suffolks.

A total of 75 exhibits were prepared by the girls for 4-H Rally Day. Top blue ribbons in the dress showing were won by Misses Marie Bowman and Judith Buckel, while Miss Margaret White took top honors for demonstration.

Miss Bowman, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Bowman, Mellery, received her ribbon for her "dress" dress. A member of the Accident 4-H Club for six years, she has acted as assistant leader for the club during the past year.

Miss Buckel, who won her ribbon for her school dress, is 14 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Bittinger. She has been a member of the Bittinger Club for five years.

Miss White, whose demonstration was on "Measuring for Cooking," is the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White, Route 219, Oakland. She has been a member of the Monte Vista Club for one year.

In addition, the 4-H girls' exhibits included baked goods, crafts, canning, and art work. The Bittinger 4-H boys had a booth depicting a model maple sugar camp.

After lunch, the picnicers listened to two talks on the farm and price outlook. Speakers were Wilbert Smith, representative of the State Farm Bureau, and Nelson Phelps, secretary of the Maryland State Fair Board. Suggested legislation also was discussed.

Prizes were awarded to three boys as a result of the dairy calf exhibit. Larry Warnick, New Germany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Warnick, showed the grand champion Holstein, while John Wildesen, Oak Grove, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wildesen, had the grand champion Jersey, and Garland Steyer, White Church, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Steyer, exhibited the grand champion Guernsey.

Wildesen also took first place in the 4-H fitting and showing contest. Second honors in this competition went to Donald Stanton, Grantsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stanton.

Closing the day's activity was a softball game in which Bittinger beat North Glade, 11-4.

West Virginia F.F.A. Chapter Get Ratings

All nine chapters of the Northern Federation of Future Farmers of America received outstanding ratings at the 27th Annual Leadership Conference and State Convention held at Jackson's Mill, W. Va., July 22-26.

The Northern Federation also had two members elected to the state executive board of FFA at the recent conference. William Collins, Terra Alta, was elected president, and Robert Kelly, Morgantown, W. Va., was chosen reporter. The local chapters also emerged from the conference with a high standing in softball.

The first meeting of the year was held at this time by the Northern Federation, and the agenda included making necessary changes in the program of activities and setting dates and places for future meetings.

Two Municipalities Receive Invitations To Bi-Centennial

Representing the City of Cumberland and Mayor Roy W. Eves, Miss Ellen Newman, as Miss Fort Cumberland, presented to Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh of Oakland an invitation to the people of Oakland to attend the Bi-Centennial celebration to be held in the Queen City August 14-20.

Other Oakland officials present at Miss Fort Cumberland's visit here yesterday afternoon were Dr. E. I. Baumgartner and James B. Nally, representing the City Council, and Newton Coplin, president of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

In return for her invitation, Mayor Hinebaugh presented Miss Newman a dozen and a half long-stemmed red roses, and Coplin pinned on the shoulder of her blue and white cotton dress a corsage of white glads and red rosebuds.

Completing the good-will caravan from Cumberland were Miss Fort Cumberland's mother, Mrs. Lloyd Newman, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kendall, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and A. T. Brust, Jr. These invitational tours, which began July 8, each include a different candidate in the Bi-Centennial Queen contest to act as Miss Fort Cumberland. To date, a total of 15 trips have been made, covering 85 cities in 14 states.

Miss Newman is being sponsored in the queen contest by the Cumberland chapter of the International Order of Odd Fellows.

The trip yesterday covered, in addition to Oakland, Romney, Moorefield and Petersburg, W. Va., and Accident.

Tomorrow, the final tour of the series, will include Salisbury, Pa., and Grantsville and Friendsville.

Carnival Planned At Deer Park

The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department has announced that it will sponsor its fourth annual street carnival on August 11, 12 and 13 on the firemen's lot.

A number of concessions, cat stand, and two rides will make up the carnival, which is built and operated by the firemen and their auxiliary. The children's rides will be furnished by Jack Shaw, of Westernport.

A parade is scheduled for Friday night, August 12, at 7:30, and free prizes will be given each evening.

Proceeds from activities such as the carnival are used to buy trucks and equipment for fire protection, according to secretary George Comp, Jr. The company has just completed building a new 800 gallon tank truck carrying an auxiliary pump, ladders, and hose. Plans are being made to purchase additional hose in the near future.

The Fire Company and their auxiliary will celebrate their fifth anniversary on September 21, and plans for a special celebration are underway.

President of the company is Wells Bray.

Private Boats May Operate on Lakes Owned By State

Use of privately-owned boats on Herrington Manor Lake, New Germany Lake, and Savage River Lake will be permitted provided the owner obtains a permit from the State Department of Forests and Parks under a new regulation just announced.

Permit fee for New Germany and Herrington Manor will be $2 and the permit will expire on December 31 each year. Such a permit entitles the owner to use the boat on either body of water but it must be removed each day. No docking or storage on the lake or state property overnight is permitted.

For Savage River the permit fee will be $5 a year or fraction thereof and the boat may be docked on the lake, with the understanding that the department is not responsible for fire, theft, or damage from any other causes.

Any holder of the $5 permit will be able to use his boat on any other water controlled by the department without additional fees. No power boats of any kind are permitted with either inboard or outboard motors.

The State of Maryland will not be responsible for any accident, injury, or death arising in connection with the use of private boats on waters controlled by the department. Any violation constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100.

Large Crowd Sees Friday Auto Races

Nearly a thousand spectators were on hand Friday night at the Deep Creek Speedway, one of the largest groups to date.

Jimmie Findley, of Baltimore, was winner of the first race with Paul Thomas and Glen Bolvard bringing up number two and three positions.

Second race winner was Ralph Bateson, or Elkins, followed by Bob Loston and Ralph Potts, Jr. Bill Goosman's Yellowball captured the third event, traded by Frank Beckmann and Ollie Beckmann.

In the fourth race, Paul Thomas, Oakland, came in ahead of Jim Findley and Bob Loston.

The 25-lap feature attraction was won by Jimmie Findley. Second was Speedy Shahan, followed in order by Paul Thomas, Frank Beckmann and Leonard Rechezo.

This Friday, in addition to the regular races, there will be an Australian pursuit race. In this feature, all cars line up in single file with the slowest cars in front. The object is for the faster cars to lap the one preceding, and when this occurs the car lapped is automatically out of the race. The winner is the last car on the track or the one leading at the end of ten laps.

Dusty Shaver and Hank the Cowhand will be on hand to entertain between races.

Bloodmobile Quota Set At 135 Pints

When the American Red Cross bloodmobile visits Oakland on Wednesday, August 17, the local chapter will attempt to fill its quota of 135 pints.

The bloodmobile will be set up at the Fire hall on Third street, operating from noon until 6:00 p. m.

During the last visit to Oakland, on June 8, the bloodmobile collected 126 pints of blood. Although this fell below the quota of 135, it was the second largest total to be reached in the preceding two year period.

In a recent telegram to Mrs. Grover Stemple, blood program chairman for Garrett county, Mr. Koster, administrator of the Johnstown General blood center, urged that all chapters having bloodmobile visits use every means to meet their quota, as the blood supply is alarmingly low.

Blood bank officials have pointed out that, in addition to restoring health and saving lives, blood and blood plasma are used extensively in medical practice.

Damage Suit Verdict Upheld By Court

A $15,000 verdict returned by a Washington County Circuit Court jury in favor of Paul Richard Roderick, Westernport, in a suit against Joseph Carl Frantz, Hutton, will stand as a result of the denial of a motion for a judgment in favor of Frantz.

Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin denied the motion for a judgment in the defendant's favor. The argument against the motion was made by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, and Charles Wagman, Hagerstown, while Walter C. Capper, Cumberland, Irvin Rutledge, Hagerstown, and Stuart Hamill, Oakland, argued for the motion in Hagerstown.

Judge McLaughlin filed his order earlier in the month along with a lengthy opinion. The Garrett county defendant now must settle the judgment or take an appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Roderick was seriously injured last January 23 in Cretin, in an accident in which his companion, Miss Mary Fay Harvey, Mt. Lake Park, was killed. Roderick and Miss Harvey were struck by Frantz's car as they were walking along a road in Cretin after leaving a Sunday night church service.

Originally filed in Garrett County Circuit Court, the case was removed to Allegany county and finally to Washington county.

Scientific Tests to Determine Type of Fish Best for Lake

In an effort to solve the problem of why the fish in Deep Creek Lake have been refusing to bite, on September 7, workers from the Department of Game and Inland Fish and the Department of Research and Education will spread a chemical known as rotenone into some 55 acres of water in Hoop Pole Run, one of the many inlets of the lake.

Scientists working on the problem say that the rotenone will suffocate the fish without harming the water in any other way. When the dead fish either rise to the surface or sink to the bottom, research teams will then begin analyzing them to determine:

1. The number of pounds of fish per acre in the lake.
2. The proportion of the total poundage by species.
3. Growth rates of the various species.
4. General health of the fish, and their food.
5. What kind of fish eat yellow perch.
6. How many fish sink to the bottom rather than rise to the surface when killed.

From this study they hope to determine what types of fish are best suited to the lake, how many can grow best per acre, etc. Any solution, of course, will have to wait until the researchers can determine just what is needed.

Belief that the lake is overpopulated with fish was expressed by Dr. Richard A. Stroud, fisheries biologist of the Fishing Institute of America, and Harold J. Elser of the Department of Research and Education after preliminary studies last fall.

One basis for this is the fact that in overpopulated waters the fish tend to get fat and lazy and less sporting. Another was an outbreak of a disease, common in crowded aquaria, that wiped out about 250,000 yellow perch there.

Accident Native To Head Schools In Charles County

John P. Speicher, a native of Accident, who has been principal at Northwestern High School, Hyattsville, for the past four years, has been named school superintendent of Charles County.

Speicher has been in the Maryland school system for 21 years. After receiving a bachelor of arts degree from Western Maryland College in 1934, he taught at Bladesburg, was principal at Oxon Hill High School for three years, principal at Greenbelt High School for four years and then served as supervisor of high schools in Prince George's county for three years.

From 1936 to 1940 he did graduate work at the University of Maryland during summer and night sessions, and received a master of arts degree in education in 1941. Mrs. Speicher also has done advanced study at George Washington University, Columbia University and the University of Maryland.

The Speichers have a daughter, 9, a son 10, and now live at 4113 Woodberry street, University Park.

Mountain Lake Park Ends Year in Black

The Corporation of Mt. Lake Park ended the fiscal year June 30 with total net assets of $8,326.00, according to a financial report released this week.

During the year, the town reported total receipts of $18,658.34 and expenditures of $17,887.03, leaving a cash balance of $771.31. Municipally owned property and outstanding taxes account for the balance of the assets.

Some of the larger receipts included $7,781.79 from the State tax; $5,337.25 from real estate taxes; $710.50 from State automobile tax and $300.20 as the town's share of the natural gas tax.

Major expenditures included $12,350.39 for street and road repairs; $1,502.36 for utilities; $804.77 for truck, gas, oil and tires; $739.63 for garbage collection; and smaller amounts for insurance, election expense, sewerage, salaries of various municipal employees, etc.

For the last fall, the study is the largest project of its kind ever undertaken in Maryland. It will cost about $2,500, plus salaries of the state workers engaged in the project.

The Department of Information, under Earl R. Poorbaugh, reports there has been very little opposition to killing the fish.

Production of Coal Declines During Year

Employment Also Off In Two-County Area

A continued decline in soft coal production in Western Maryland was shown on the annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines for 1954, released last week.

The report of Frank T. Powers, director of the bureau which is located in Westernport, shows production in Garrett county dropped from 325,016 tons in 1953 to 267,710 tons last year.

In Allegany county the figures showed a decline from 221,951 tons in 1953 to 174,185 in 1954.

The two county production total, which represents all the coal mined in Maryland, dropped from 546,968 tons for 1953 to 441,895 tons last year. This has been the trend of recent years.

Powers reported there were no fatal accidents in Maryland coal mines during 1954. The previous year, however, there were two men killed.

Noted was the act of heroism on January 2, 1954, when James Laber, mine foreman, and Elmer Pifer were loading coal at the Stanton mine of the Pleasant Valley Coal Company.

Laber was caught by a large rock that fell from the roof of the mine. Despite its size, eight and one-half feet long, six and one-half feet wide and from three to six inches in thickness, Pifer was able to move it from him.

Pifer, according to Powers, found Laber seriously injured and carried him on his back while crawling on hands and knees to the haulage way. He placed Laber in a car hauled by a pony and took him to the surface 3,000 feet away. He then carried him to a truck and took him to Miners Hospital, in Frostburg.

Pifer was awarded the James A. Holmes Safety Association Medal of Honor for his actions.

In referring to employment, Powers noted there were 324 men engaged in mining during 1954 in

Cleveland Editor "Discovers" Lake

An Ohio travel editor, Claude Verne Talbot, of the Cleveland News, recently "discovered" Deep Creek Lake and devoted a column to telling his readers about it. Mr. Talbot's article is reprinted below.

Ever hear of Deep Creek Lake? Ever visit or see Garrett County, Maryland?

It was virgin territory for this writer until about 24 hours ago when I with others in our tour party landed at Will O' the Wisp motel overlooking the waters of Deep Creek Lake. It was raining gently and most places would have reflected the gloom of the weather. But not this place.

When I received my itinerary for this Maryland tour I noted that part of one day, an entire night and part of the next day was to be spent at Deep Creek Lake. Since I had never heard of such a body of water I forgot it was on my schedule.

After a hearty and unusual lunch in Hagerstown yesterday our touring bus came into high hills and then even higher mountains. We were following U. S. Highway 40 and our road curved uphill and twisted down hill without a level spot in sight.

We were in the mountains and what mountains they were. The farther we went the deeper into the mountains we were. Finally we turned south on U. S. 219 and we were in the heart of the green clad Allegheny ridge.

We passed a little town named Accident although it has never had an accident in approximately 150

Garrett county, in comparison to 357 in 1953. Allegany county's work force showed a decline from 351 in 1953 to 308 in 1954.

The Mines Bureau report also noted that the coal industry was hurt by Hurricane Hazel on October 15 and 16.

During 1951, Powers said, 13 complaints were received by the bureau pertaining to the quality of coal produced for state consumption. Most of these, he added, were traced to damage from the severe storm.

years of life. We came careening around curves, ascending steep grades and coasting down others.

It began to rain but before dark we reached this Will O' the Wisp motel, one of the nicest we have ever seen and certainly in a setting which defies description. The story of its building is unusual and its owner, a veteran of the recent Korean War, seems just old enough for college although he is a graduate of Temple University in Philadelphia.

There are other motels, cottages and cabins around this Deep Creek Lake, a body of water with 72 miles of shoreline and fringed by trees of all kinds from the cedar to the oak and elm. It is as full of inlets and bays as it is of trout and boats.

The motels, cottages and cabins are privately owned as is the lake. Rates for the motels range from medium to slightly higher although for the type of accommodations all are reasonable. There are plenty of restaurants and eating places where food can be had at honest prices.

This Deep Creek Lake is high in the mountains having an altitude of 2,550 feet above sea level. I doubt if there is another lake so large or as high, east of the Mississippi River.

Garrett County is Maryland's most western political division. On the west and south lies the state of West Virginia. On the north is Pennsylvania. It also is the most mountainous of all Maryland counties.

Oakland is the county seat and near it is one of the most beautiful state parks where cottages may be rented—if one gets his request in time.

I am told that there are no mosquitoes in these mountains and that hay fever is seldom seen.

This vacation land which may not be so new to others is between 210 and 300 miles from Cleveland.

Mercury beauty, power and resale value boost sales to record high...

And record sales mean record deals. Cut your cash outlay by acting now—get a far bigger allowance for your present car.

HIGH-VOLUME DEAL—Mercury's record-breaking popularity now permits us to operate on a much higher-volume basis. We can offer the best deals in our history. And, remember, a Mercury deal means far more than just a low price. Look at what you get:

EXCLUSIVE STYLING—No "look-alike" styling for Mercury. You get fresh, distinctive beauty—styling shared by no other car.

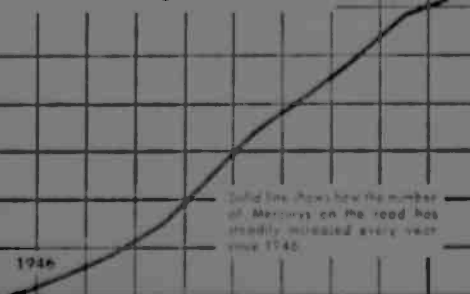

SUPER-TORQUE POWER—You get more than just high horsepower (188 and 198 hp)—you get far more usable power. More power is put to work in pickup and passing speed ranges—where you can use it for everyday driving, not just for high speed.

EXTRA-VALUE FEATURES—Only Mercury in its field offers you so many important extras at no extra cost. For example, a 4-barrel carburetor on all models. Special anti-fouling spark plugs. Ball-joint front suspension. And dual exhausts on all Montclair, Monterey, and Custom Station Wagons.

CONSISTENTLY HIGHEST RESALE VALUE—Mercury protects your investment better than any other car in its field. Independent reports show that Mercury consistently returns more of the original purchase price at trade-in time. In short, no other car offers you bigger reasons for buying it. And you couldn't pick a better time to get a deal. See us today.

THE BIG MOVE IS TO MERCURY

Mercury is setting new sales records every month. More than 2,000,000 Mercurys have been bought since 1946.

Do LUTHERANS believe theirs is the only TRUE religion?

Yes, but they don't believe they are the only ones who have it. There are true Christian believers in other churches, too. The real church of Jesus Christ is not identical with any existing denomination. It consists of all true believers in Him—Lutherans or Catholics or Baptists or any others. Christ is all that matters. Lutherans conscientiously focus all eyes and hearts on Him. Should you want a free copy of Elson Ruff's article, "What Is a Lutheran?", a four-page folder on doctrines of the Lutheran Church, please phone or write us. We sincerely invite you to worship with us.

PLAY SAFE WITH YOUR CHILD

If you wanted your child to learn to swim, would you toss her into the water and say, "Sink or swim, honey?"

"How silly!" you exclaim. "I'd do like any sensible parent—provide her with every safeguard. I'd stay nearby, teaching her, and I'd give her a life preserver to help keep her afloat and give her faith in herself."

And you're so right. With adequate "how-to" and confidence, she will be safe as long as she holds on to her life preserver.

It's the same with her spiritual safety. To meet most of life's problems confidently and without fear she will need a spiritual life preserver.

To keep her afloat, help her acquire those necessary and stabilizing qualities of faith, hope and love found through regular worship at the Church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force for good in the world. It is the only place where we can find the answers to our problems. It is the only place where we can find the love and support we need. It is the only place where we can find the peace and joy that come from knowing God.

Let us join together in worship and prayer, and let us find the answers to our problems. Let us find the love and support we need. Let us find the peace and joy that come from knowing God.

Loyalty Under Fire

Lesson for August 7, 1955

SOMETHING can be learned from history, even when it is the history of obscure men. Perhaps we can even learn more from the history of obscure, little-known forgotten men, because we are mostly of that sort ourselves, than we can from the biographies of the rich and great. We are invited in this week's lesson to consider a little community of displaced persons more than 2,000 years ago.

Most of those displaced persons were citizens of Jerusalem, or had been. That city had been laid flat by Nebuchadnezzar's army. That the little nation of Judah had brought the war on itself, that the prophets, and especially Jeremiah, had predicted exactly what happened—all this did not soften the blow. Those people were exiles, but with a special bitterness. It is one thing to be driven from home hoping to go back some day; it is another thing to have no home to go back to. If those displaced persons could have been taken back to Palestine, to the exact spot where Jerusalem stood, all they would have found was rubble. They would have perished of starvation. They knew this all too well. Yet in their memories Jerusalem still lived, a dream-city unchanged by time. They wept when they saw it in their mind's eye, but tears did not wash away the picture they loved. Did it do them any good, this remembering and remembering a city that was no more, a city they would never see again? Yes, it did. For even if that city were less fair than their homesick minds portrayed it, the good which they remembered would remain as an ideal. The community they would build in exile would be as near like the best they remembered as they could make it. A remembered glory that comes no more may become an ideal for today's world. Loyalty to memory may be something better than loyalty to God by worshipping Nebuchadnezzar's golden image, reaches one of its high points in what the young men said to the king. God will deliver us, they said. He is able to deliver us and we believe He will, but if He is not able to save us, or if He does not choose to save us, if He forsakes us altogether, we will not be disloyal to Him. The story is a kind of parable about the loyalty of the servants of the true God in great pagan Babylonia during those exile years. Many Jews must have been tempted to take over the religion of their conquerors, just as after the second World War there was a rush toward Christianity in Japan. Certainly there in Babylon there were many voices whispering or calling aloud, Bow down! Conform, be like everybody else, when you are in Babylon do as the Babylonians do. Don't be peculiar, don't be stubborn, leave your invisible God and come worship the golden gods to whom the nation prays! But the young men made the right choice, hard then, hard always. They would be loyal to the true God, even if his deliverance was delayed.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

COOPER'S HAWK
(Accipiter cooperi)

Note: The Cooper's hawk and sharp-shinned hawk are very much alike in both looks and habits, and what is said here about the Cooper's, applies almost equally as well to the sharp-shinned. The principal difference between the two species is the Cooper's is larger and has a rounded tail, while the sharp-shinned is smaller and has a square tail.

RANGE: Breeds from Canada to southern border of the United States and Mexico. Winters from southwest British Columbia and southern Maine to Costa Rica, and also in California.

DESCRIPTION: Length of female about 20 inches, the male about 16 inches; average female will weigh almost twice as much as average male; the larger female sharp-shinned is almost the same size as the smaller male Cooper's. Tail long and distinctly rounded at end; uses its stubby, flapping wings to fly, then glides or sails through cover. Crown blackish, upper parts slaty gray; underparts barred, and white throat.

BREEDING: Nests in trees 30 to 50 feet from the ground. Lays from 2 to 6 pale bluish-white, sometimes spotted, eggs; incubation by female about 24 days.

HABITS: Food largely birds; of 422 stomachs examined 78 contained game birds and poultry, and 146 contained other species of wild birds.

MANAGEMENT: There is no "management" in connection with hawks, except where control is necessary to protect game, non-game and domestic birds and some mammals from excessive killing; they are more injurious than beneficial. They should be controlled but not exterminated.

VALUE: While injurious to wildlife they do have some beneficial value in destroying injurious rats and mice, and an esthetic value.

Fuse Protection Is Important In All Electric Circuits

No wiring system is complete without fuse protection for all circuits, according to A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. Mr. Krewatch is often asked about the protection for motors connected to these lines.

An ordinary fuse consists of a soft metal strip which melts when the safe carrying capacity is exceeded. The fuse is so enclosed that it melts or burns out. No damage is done, but the flow of electricity is interrupted until the fuse is replaced, he explains.

The agricultural engineer warns that such fuses protect the wires from overheating but do not protect motors from damage. Motors draw as much as three or four times their normal running current when starting and coming up to speed. This starting period lasts only a few seconds.

Motor coils are designed to carry this great overload for a short time. The ordinary fuse will not carry

Named Postmaster At Oakland Office

Donald M. Browning, 30, last Friday was named postmaster of Oakland.

A native of Garrett county, he has been serving as acting postmaster since October 1, 1954.

Born in Deer Park, Browning is married and the father of four children, including Robert E., 8, Donald M., 6, James, 3, and Paula Jane, seven months.

A veteran of World War II, the new postmaster served with the Eighth Air Force in Germany.

Prior to taking over his post office duties here, Browning was associated in business with his father and brothers, who operate the Browning Super Market.

He is a member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, Oakland Lodge 192, A.E. and A.M., and of several other service organizations in the county.

Browning attended Oakland High School, and was graduated from Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa.

the overload and will melt unless it is large enough to carry the overload. Then it is much too large to protect the motor from damage.

A special delayed action fuse or a motor-starting switch equipped with a proper size thermal cut-out is needed to protect any motor. Since motors are expensive and overload protection is cheap, it is sound practice to safeguard every motor.

Motor controllers with overload protection, says Krewatch, are preferred to special delayed action fuses since it is easily possible to replace motor fuses (fuses) with ordinary fuses of large size which might give no real protection.

First men of West Germany's new armed forces probably will don uniforms by midsummer.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Even now, with much cleverness, certain misguided groups continue to extol the shattered virtues of the New Deal and the Fair Deal. Little imagination is needed to fathom the purpose of this deception. And, as the 1956 elections approach it must be expected that these endeavors will accelerate.

That the political philosophy of the new-Fair Deal, with its many socialistic tendencies, has been capably "shorn of its glory," there can be no argument. But, these recurring efforts at resurrection give rise to the impression that the real meaning, intent and consequences of socialism are not generally understood.

Websters New International Dictionary defines socialism as—"A political and economic theory of social organization based on collective or governmental ownership and democratic management of the essential means for the production and distribution of goods—socialism aims to replace competition by cooperation, and profit seeking by social service, and to distribute income and social opportunity more equitably than they are now believed to be distributed."

To expose and illuminate the fallacy of socialism, we have only to examine the wretched record of the British Labor government in taking over or nationalizing the coal, transportation and steel industries shortly after World War II. In addition, all private business and industry came under the umbrella of rigid government control and regulation, and most private fortunes were liquidated by taxes. The process of neutralization and reversion to private enterprise is well on the way to completion, but these experiences have brought forth several interesting confessions from Professor W. Arthur Lewis, a leading spokesman of the British Labor Party, and a prominent exponent of socialistic theories.

Professor Lewis admits publicly that government controls are "cumbersome, unpopular, unnecessary, they put the whole population at the mercy of government clerks," that government ownership solves nothing and only creates other serious unsolved problems; that private profits are essential, that income taxes are too high, and that more private investment is needed. Also, here in America, Norman Thomas, the perennial head of the Socialist Party, has conceded that socialism could not succeed.

Let those who advocate the rejuvenation of dangerous experiments in socialism, as initiated by the New Deal and the Fair Deal take heed. The people of America are on to their game. I predict that their misleading propaganda will fail.

A retired army surgeon declared the nation was medically unprepared for an atomic attack.

Engineer Favors Heated Air for Drying Crops

Is heated air necessary in connection with crop-drying systems? Yes, in many cases, answers A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. "When weather conditions are perfect, most crops can be dried with unheated or natural air," he says. "However, the first cutting of hay is often difficult to dry without heat because of high humidity. Legumes such as clovers particularly give trouble during the first cutting even on a hay drier."

During mid-summer with the second cutting, unheated air is usually satisfactory. Hay can be cured using unheated air during favorable seasons. Shelled corn in most cases requires heated air for satisfactory drying. Heated air is essential to the hatch or wagon methods for curing hay. These methods are preferred when the hay crop exceeds 100 tons or so.

Natural air drying takes considerable time, often as long as two to three weeks, and the harvest is too fast to permit drying of one lot before the next is ready.

Heated air drying, says Krewatch, has these advantages: (1) Crops can be brought in at a higher moisture content, (2) there is less loss of leaves or risk of storm damage, and (3) gives insurance against damage or loss of crop during long periods of rain or high moisture.

The Garrett County Playhouse, in its initial season, has added a definite cultural asset to the Mountain Top. The way the public has rallied to the support of the summer theatre in the past few weeks, is sufficient proof, if any was needed, that this area appreciates the work and the offerings of all who are connected with the program.

Garrett county has many good things to offer the vacationist. We have warm days, cool nights, boating, fishing, swimming, surfboard riding, racing, camping, the best in beautiful mountain scenery, lovely picnic areas, and as a general rule good places to eat. But it was the playhouse that brought something distinctly new to the county.

Just how popular the summer theatre would be was almost completely an unknown quantity. But Gene Yell, the director, who had planned not to proceed with the program unless enough advance subscriptions could be obtained to insure its financial success, had enough faith to go ahead when only a few more than 200 had signed up. How his faith has been justified can be seen by the attendance record of the previous week, which reached more than 700 and showed evidence Tuesday that this week would top even that number.

People do enjoy good culture, and that is exactly what these young performers brought to Garrett county this summer. Their performance was of the highest order throughout all of the six plays, doing their job in a professional and very able manner.

The future of the summer theatre shows tremendous possibilities. We have no idea at the present time just what Mr. Yell has in store for us for next year, and we doubt if everything is clear in his own mind. But we are sure that he will plan a program that will please the culture loving public and provide high class entertainment that will add prestige to the mountain top.

People will make no mistake in providing the backing that will be necessary to assure the second season for the Garrett County Playhouse in 1956.

Local Guards Get Numerous Awards

Win Honor Company Citation For Fourth Time In Seven Years

Co. "C" of the 121st Engineer Battalion "C", your local National Guard unit, is back home again after a very successful 15 day training encampment. The unit returned to its home station on Saturday, August 16th, at about 3:00 O'clock P. M. by motor convoy. With them came the much coveted honor company award. This honor is bestowed on the company in the Battalion which has acquired the highest number of points during a year's training. These points are provided by a system which allows a certain amount of points for different phases of a Guardsman's training. So many points are allowed for training in the Army for 50 weeks preparatory to summer camp and the rest are given for training during the 15-day encampment. It is not an easy honor to win. It takes much hard work on the part of every man. Competition is keen. Five companies in the 121st Engr. Bn. compete for this honor. The honor company award has been in existence for 7 years. Out of the 7 years "C" Co. has won it 4 times.

Naturally in an honor company, you would expect to find individuals who are outstanding in their particular line of duty. This you will find in Co. "C." Pvt. Steve Walter received the honor of being the best recruit in the Bn. This means that out of a platoon of recruits, he was best in drill, manual of arms, pioneering and several other phases of soldiering. Pts. George Lee, Robert Walla and Jack DeWitt ran a close second.

Sgt. Floyd O. Custer, by his efforts in keeping the vehicles of the unit in top shape, was awarded the best motor sergeant award. For his fine job of keeping the troops well fed, Sgt. Marshall F. Bittinger was found to be the battalion's best mess steward. Sgt. Bittinger was assisted by Cpl. Lefty Pugh, and Pts. B. Shaffer, H. Glaze, S. Cogley, P. Bachtel, and Wright.

Sgt. Theodore Stockslager is the best Engineer equipment mechanic, and Cpl. Donald J. Johnson is the best light truck driver.

Cauliflower Crop Far Below Normal

Garrett county housewives will have to make cauliflower off their menus this summer, according to all reports.

The Garrett County Cauliflower Growers Association, a co-operative including approximately 20 farmers, has announced that its cauliflower losses amount to 75% of the total crop, and the quality of the crop that will be harvested will be far below par.

From the Canaan Valley Co-op, which includes approximately 60 acres, comes the report that cauliflower losses total 90% of the crop. Reasons for the crop failure seem to rest almost entirely on the continued hot, dry weather the county has been experiencing. According to the cauliflower growers, when the mercury rises to 90 and 95 degrees the temperature inside a head of cauliflower soars to a scorching 120 degrees.

The average yield for an acre of cauliflower is 600 crates, or a little over a carload. That, to the growers, means that this summer the harvest for one acre will be only 150 crates at the most.

Current prices for cauliflower in the area are $1.00 per crate for No. 2 grade, and $2.50 per crate for top grade.

Former Sheriff Dies Suddenly

Juniper S. Teats, aged 62, former sheriff of Garrett County, died suddenly Sunday evening, August 7, at his home in Claymont, Del.

Death was the result of a heart attack.

His remains were brought to his former home in Friendsville where funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Methodist church. Rev. J. D. Shaffer, pastor, officiated, and interment was in the Steele cemetery in Friendsville, with military rites.

The deceased was a veteran of World War I and was wounded in action. He served as sheriff of this county from 1916 to 1950 and prior to that time had served a term as deputy sheriff.

Surviving are his widow and one son, Winston Teats, the latter a member of the army air force, stationed at Dayton, O.; also two grandchildren.

To Get High Scout Honor on Sunday

Sam Moore, student of Southern High school, will receive a high boy scout honor on Sunday morning at the regular morning worship service of St. Paul's Methodist church.

At that time Rev. W. S. Patterson, pastor, will present the youth with a "God and Country Award," the first one ever to be awarded to a boy scout of this entire area.

In order to win this award a scout must be thoroughly active in church work, participating in youth work, Sunday school work and other activities.

Sam has been a member of Oakland Troop No. 31 for the past five years and has won the rank of Star scout, two ranks below that of Eagle, highest rank in scouting. He has been working on requirements for the God and Country award for the past two years.

Final Play May Top Attendance

With three more nights for the performance, "The Fourposter," there were indications that the final play of six to be presented this season by the Garrett County Playhouse would surpass all attendance records.

Approximately 150 persons attended the opening night on Tuesday, which was the best opening night of the season, and there was an equally large attendance last evening. Attendance for all plays has continued to climb steadily with the figures topping the seven hundred mark last week. The total was expected to go even higher for this week's play.

This week's performance at McHenry, is a comedy centering around 35 years of married life beginning in 1880. Helen Camp and Tom Calkins take the parts of the only two characters in the play.

Gene Yell, director of the Playhouse, said this week that everyone connected with the summer theatre was delighted with the enthusiasm indicated by the questionnaires that had been returned to them. The questionnaires indicate a large number desire a season of eight plays instead of six, but no decision has been reached as to what will be presented next season.

Neff Takes Men's Singles With Rally

Phil Neff of Washington lost two straight sets, then rallied to stage an exciting upset victory over top-seeded Fred McNair and win the singles crown in the Western Maryland tennis tournament held last Saturday and Sunday, August 6 and 7, in Mt. Lake Park.

Neff won 2-6, 2-6, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4, in the Saturday event.

McNair, No. 3 Middle Atlantic player, won the first two sets, 6-2, 6-2, and was leading 4-3 in the third, and what the crowd thought would be the clincher set.

But play was postponed for one hour and 15 minutes for a heavy rain storm. After the courts, slightly slower from the rain, had been rolled again, play resumed and McNair had match point several times.

Neff, No. 2 player here and ranked 10th in the Middle Atlantic region, always managed to duce the score and finally broke McNair's service to win the third set, 9-7. He won the last two sets with little trouble after that, 6-3, 6-4.

On Sunday, also, McNair won another title when he teamed with Charles Channing of Washington to win the men's doubles. They defeated Doyle Royal and Buddy Adair, also of Washington, by the scores of 7-5, 6-3.

Letty Ewing of Wheeling, W. Va., won the women's singles title, although extended by Martha Stauffer, Hagerstown, who took the second set 7-5, but lost the first and last by identical 6-3 scores.

Miss Ewing then teamed with Patty Reeves, also of Wheeling, to win the doubles title, defeating Frances Bassett, Washington, and Miss Stauffer again, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

In the mixed doubles, Kelles and Bill Clardy, Pittsburgh, defeated Asa Maness, Charleston, W. Va., and Charles Brook, Baltimore, 8-10, 6-3, 6-2.

Seek 135 Pints at Bloodmobile Visit

The Johnstown bloodmobile unit will come to Oakland next Wednesday, August 17, and during a six-hour period, from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m., it will endeavor to obtain 135 pints of blood from local contributors.

The importance of donating blood was again stressed by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, chairman of the blood recruitment program in the county. "Without the cooperation of citizens of the community and the surrounding areas it will be impossible to build the needed supply of blood," she said.

"Three minutes of your time," she urged, "can save a life. To sustain our nation and community in an emergency or sickness, there must be an available reserve of this life-giving resource."

Mrs. Stemple pointed out that many volunteers work to make these visits a success. Before the opening hour persons are busy arranging the rooms where the blood is given. In the cafeteria some make sandwiches, others prepare fruit drinks and coffee for the donors.

Others cook the meal to be served to the Red Cross workers. At noon the receptionists, clerical workers, nurses and a doctor are there to receive the blood donors. All of these people, she observed, are freely donating their time.

She urged all persons to keep their appointments and also stated that time would be given to those who had been unable to schedule an appointment.

A star athlete, he was captain of the Hopkins cross-country team, an all-American center on the lacrosse team and a member of the famous 1932 Olympic lacrosse team.

Another Rattler Bites the Dust

Not to be outdone by last week's snake story, Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester, appeared at the office Wednesday morning with a large live rattlesnake that he, Ernest Ogden and Harold Harman, game commission personnel, caught while on Piney Mountain on Tuesday.

The snake had 10 rattles and a button and was about 40 inches long. Thayer said the three used a forked stick to pin down the reptile until they were able to catch him by the back of his head and tie him up in a sack. The snake later was placed in a box with a wire screen top.

They were flying out of Winchester, Va.

New Teachers at Southern

A teacher to take care of additional enrollment at Southern High school and another one to replace Leonard Ritchie as coach and instructor, were named this week by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

They are Charles Burley and Carl Schoonover. Burley will take care of additional enrollment while Schoonover will replace Ritchie. Burley is a graduate of Fairmont State Teachers college, majoring in the field of science, and will begin his teaching career in that subject at Southern in September.

While in college he was president of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, a member of the Zeta Beta Phi honorary biology fraternity and the Lambda Delta Lambda honorary physical science fraternity and the school band. He also was active in intramural sports and worked his way through college as a chemist for the Reilly Tar and Chemical corporation.

He will be married August 21 to Miss Shirley Diane Romine, of Lumberton, W. Va. The young couple will reside at 2 Alder street after the opening of school.

Mr. Schoonover, who replaces Ritchie as coach and instructor in the field of physical education at Southern, has had six years experience and for the past four years has coached at Parsons High school.

He is married and became the father of twins about a month ago. He has three other children. He and his family will reside in Mt. Lake Park and plans to be here in time for early football practice.

Ritchie accepted the post of physical education instructor and coach of soccer, basketball and baseball at Bruce High school, in Westernport. He replaces August Eichhorn who left Bruce to work for the General Motors corporation at Pontiac, Mich.

Ritchie taught at Northern Wayne High school, Lakewood, Pa., for four years prior to coming to Southern in 1953. His basketball team in 1954 was undefeated and last year won five and lost four. One of his notable triumphs in basketball was his 56-48 triumph over Allegheny High school last year.

James H. Gelwicks, Deputy Regional Executive for Region Three, Boy Scouts of America, of Philadelphia, will speak at the regular meeting of the Oakland Rotary Club tomorrow, August 12, at 6:15 in the William-James Hotel.

Gelwicks, who became an Eagle Scout in Cincinnati, was a Scoutmaster in Lorain, O., for nine years. He has served Scouting professionally in Sandusky, O.; Richmond, Ind.; Madison, Wis.; Kansas City, Kansas, and St. Louis, Mo.

He has been a member of the Region Three staff for five years, during which time he worked with the local Potomac Scout Council as well as other councils in western Pennsylvania. During the past two years, he has made three Scouting visits to Oakland.

According to Paul B. Naylor, Rotary program chairman for August, Gelwicks knows scouting as few men know it. The deputy executive, Naylor points out, has combined his fund of information and his engaging personality to make him one of the most valuable men in the Scouting family.

The Lions Club plans to send a representative group to this meeting, as the Boy Scout Movement is one of the club members' principal interests, receiving both their time and money.

Aqua Lung Divers To Assist In Fish Survey of Deep Creek

Final preparations have been completed for the large-scale fish survey at Deep Creek Lake, according to Harold J. Elser, of the State Department of Research and Education. He and his crew were in the county last week, returning to Baltimore Friday. He reported no "hitches" had developed and the experiment was expected to proceed on schedule.

Five aqua lung divers have been engaged to participate in the program, which will furnish information on fish life in the lake. The divers, two from the Johns Hopkins University and three from the State of Virginia, will dive during the tests to study the kinds and amounts of fish which sink to the bottom instead of rising. Sunken fish will be brought to the surface in baskets and tabulated along with those found floating or washed ashore.

The divers will work in a depth of 25 feet, Elser said. The Deep Creek location has a maximum depth of 30 feet but the lake is not expected to be this high the week of the tests.

Local volunteers have been asked to assist on the day of the experiment, September 7. They will be required to help gather, weigh and sort fish and to perform other necessary duties. Helmut Hesse of Deep Creek Lake, has been placed in charge of securing volunteer help. The tests will begin at 6:15 a. m. and will continue through the day until dark.

A meeting of all volunteers and others connected with the test will be held the evening of September 6 at Thayer's farm, according to Elser.

Charles L. Briner, secretary, said autumn glory princesses would be named from Northern and Southern high, to provide a dash of color to the affair.

Buses will be on hand to take the six hundred or more visitors to Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake. Boy scouts again will serve as guides on each bus.

The excursion will arrive in Oakland at 12 o'clock noon, standard time and will leave at four o'clock. It is expected that trucks will be available for any visitor desiring to purchase one.

Tour of Hospital Addition Features Open House Tues.

Approximately 250 visitors attended the open house held at the new wing of the Garrett County Memorial hospital on Tuesday, August 9. Featured at the open house was a tour of the new addition and a display of new equipment.

Members of the Loar Auxiliary of the hospital acted as guides, and nurses were on hand to explain the new equipment to the visitors. Refreshments were served in the hospital dining room.

A McKesson portable oxygen tent has been presented to the hospital by the Loar Auxiliary, and this group has already made plans for its next project, which is the presentation of an infant incubator.

The Civic Club's gift to the hospital is a child's wheel chair, and a regular model wheel chair was donated by Dr. E. E. Sollars, a former Oakland physician.

On the first floor of the new wing, the rooms include quarters for the department of health, a nursery section, a new formula room, and a detention room for alcoholics.

The second floor has rooms for both surgical and medical patients, a nursery with 14 bassinets, two labor rooms, two delivery rooms, and a solarium.

The third floor rooms are devoted to pediatrics, with a solarium on the east end of the wing.

Polluting the Olympic Games

All the world knows the spirit of the Olympics. It is the very spirit of amateur sportsmanship. It is the spirit that transcends all barriers of race, creed, and color. It is the spirit that venerates a wholesome respect for ethical standards. It is the ultimate expression of that intuitive sense of honor, integrity, and fair play that can be found and cultivated in the heart of every man regardless of race, creed, political conviction or social standing.

Since the revival of the Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, in 1896, Olympic Committees in every nation have recognized that the true spirit of sportsmanship rules out even the slightest hint of professional or commercialism. They have realized that a subsidized athletic endeavor is subject to the control and domination of the sponsoring agent, be it private interest or national government.

Yet, are we in the United States—where our record of excellence in the field of amateur sportsmanship is a by-product of our unique system of government—allowing the Soviet Union to pollute the Olympic Games, to use with diabolic deceit, the spirit of sportsmanship as a vehicle for iron fist to ruthlessly hammer out their communist propaganda?

It should be clearly evident to those with eyes to see that the communists—who will subvert everything from the Deity to the invention of the sewing machine, to serve their cause—have their sinister eyes fixed upon the 1956 Olympic Games. And their ulterior motive is to advance the cause of fair-play and sportsmanship, but the international communist conspiracy.

The Soviet athlete is not an amateur. He is a paid propaganda agent. He is just one more face in the hideous, chamber of brain-washed individuals, the must win, not for the influence of his understandable human desire to excel, but to enhance the prestige of that vast, sprawling Soviet slave state which is unalterably committed to the ultimate extinction of every principle which the Olympic Games attempt to promote.

Make no mistake, the Soviets are not interested in games—in sports. They are committed by their Marxist ideology, by their literature, by their passion for world domination

in today's top-selling Buick

YOU can come in right now on a Buick dividend distribution that's like money in the bank for you. And a look at the nation's new-car sales figures will tell you why.

This year, Buick is doing far better than just outselling all cars in America except the two most widely known smaller ones. This year, Buick sales are soaring past every high-water mark in the book—past 600,000 cars—and we're still going strong.

So we're declaring an extra dividend—for you. On top of the long trade-in allowances we have been making all year, we're adding a profit-sharing bonus allowance.

But you'll be getting a lot more than a great deal. You'll be getting a great car—the hottest-selling Buick in history.

You'll be getting Buick's far-in-advance styling, Buick's mightiest V8 power, Buick's highly envied all-coil-spring ride, Buick's extra size and room and comfort and solidity of structure. And you'll be getting the performance thrill of the year—Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—the switch-pitch transmission that's taken the country by storm.

Come in today and see for yourself that there's never been a car like this before—and never a deal so easy to make.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

New Franchise For Oakland Discussed By Gas Company

Representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company and members of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland discussed proposed provisions of a new gas franchise for the town at a regular meeting of the Council on Monday evening. The discussions resulted in no agreement or decision.

The franchise in effect at this time expired in 1949, and there was agitation for a new regulation over a year ago. At present the Gas Company furnishes free gas to the town of Oakland, but company officials now feel that a change is necessary.

William Haddad from the gas company's Pittsburgh office, and Russell H. Brown, local manager, were present at Monday night's meeting.

The Mayor and Council took no action. Among other action the council decided to make an inspection of the conditions of roads and alleys of the town, since there had been complaints of some sections.

Harvey Winters and Clayton Winters appeared before the council to voice their opposition to giving a right of way for a fill on Fourth street which would cover a portion of their property until certain improvements were made to another stretch of their property on High street.

The council tabled any action on a request of Felix Robinson for financial assistance toward the publication of the ensuing issue of The Tableland Trails, since the magazine would concern Garrett county.

It granted Walter Holler a second parking meter space at $5.20 per month and contributed $50 toward expenses of a trip to Pittsburgh for members of the Pony League.

Permits were granted to the following: to W. T. DeWeese for a garage of concrete block, 30 by 30, on Liberty street, to Elwood C. Will for a frame garage building, 12 by 24, on High street, between 8th and 9th, to Robert L. Glaze for a one-story building, 28 by 31, one story, of five rooms and bath, on Water street, to William Lantz for addition of a room 12 by 12, to residence on Center street, to Mrs. Mary Riley, for an outside cellarway on her Second street home.

Receipts totaled $12,619.28, including $5,232.32 from water, $2,313.58 from taxes, $5,073.38 from miscellaneous. Among the miscellaneous items was a total of $3,416.42 from state income tax, and $87.65 from parking meters. Expenditures totaled $12,097.49. Among the expenditures were $775 for police, $1,144.55 for street labor, $2,653.42 for street supplies, and $1,214.85 to the County Roads department for prior work done.

Sunday movie tax amounted to $75.90.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Tomorrow's young homemakers, as shown by a nationwide contest of senior girls, showed many strengths, along with some very decided weaknesses in the knowledge of this very important future job.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In the period during which our Federal government is spending about 70 per cent of all the tax money collected on national defense, veterans' benefits and international affairs, we need to do everything humanly possible to cut waste and secure the utmost efficiency in the operation of these major activities. For the years immediately ahead any drastic economy in government spending, and thus any sizable Federal tax cut, must be achieved in this area of national defense.

In the present fiscal year $10.4 billion is being spent on national defense, $1.8 billion on international affairs, and $1.6 billion for veterans' services and benefits. This totals more than $13 billion. Interest on the national debt takes another $6.3 billion. All the other services of the Federal government cost taxpayers $9 billion. There is ample opportunity to substantially reduce the $9 billion in domestic governmental spending, and we should do it at once; but the big cut obviously must come in the big defense operations where the big spending is.

The Hoover Commission's findings and recommendations in the area of national defense are thus vitally important to every taxpayer in America.

Although a Navy manual estimates that canned meat and poultry have a "keeping life" of 24 months, a study of 11 Naval supply depots showed: 719 months' supply of canned hamburger, 79 months' supply of canned beef and gravy, and a 75 months' supply of canned ham chunks. Another item: The Army paid freight on 867,000 pounds of canned tomatoes it bought in New York and shipped in California; and the Navy paid freight on 775,000 pounds of canned tomatoes it bought in California and shipped to the East coast. This constitutes costly mismanagement in the Defense Department.

The Hoover Commission recommended that a civilian agency be set up within the Defense Department to administer purchasing, inventory control, and certain other services—now handled wastefully by less experienced Army, Navy and Air Force personnel.

Significantly the Committee found "inertia or strong resistance" on the part of the military departments toward coordination of common supply and service activities.

Some of the top leaders in American industry and finance, experts in the highly competitive business of keeping expenses down, have spent months at the important task of finding ways and means of saving tax money in the operation of our gigantic Defense Department. The citizens of America now have the responsibility of pushing through to concrete actions the recommendations made by these business experts.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

He Can't Fail On This

A continuing effort is being made by the Democrats to put President Eisenhower in the position of not supporting the Hoover Commission's recommendations. This, they regard as smart because if successful it would give them a really sound issue for 1956. They could assert—and prove—that, though the way was shown him, Mr. Eisenhower failed to carry out his party's and his own pledge to balance the budget and reduce taxes.

This is a silly notion and will come to nothing. In the first place, to cherish it is, in effect, to consider the President either a liar or a boob. No sane man, however embittered, really regards him as either. In the second place, it is literally impossible to assign a credible reason for so contemptible a change in attitude. This was the pledge he made more often and more earnestly than any other. The country might understand him weakening on any other promise but not on that. Leaving aside the personal degradation of breaking his word, he would lose the support, among many others, of Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, who is worth considerably more than one vote in the Senate and a great many in Congress.

Certainly he would create intense resentment among the millions who admire Mr. Herbert Hoover and who will remember the words of

Mr. James A. Farley, who, in presenting to him a resolution of appreciation from the whole Commission, called him "a truly great American and a great patriot."

Considering that Mr. Farley was probably more responsible for Mr. Hoover's defeat in 1932 than anyone else and is one of the strongest of Democrats, this is a rare tribute not only from a member of the Commission but from an individual. That Mr. Farley could bring himself to so handsomely eulogize Mr. Hoover is one of the most warming things that has happened in our politics in a long time. Another is that young Senator John Kennedy, Democrat of Massachusetts, whose father, Hon. Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to England, was a member of the Hoover Commission, has sponsored more than a score of bills in the Senate to carry out its recommendations.

All of which means that this commission has been more objective and less political than any other that can be recalled. It has been hailed as such by press and public from one end of the country to the other. To believe that Mr. Eisenhower at this time is suddenly to grow listless in his support just does not make sense. More quickly than anything else it would destroy the trust of the people in him as the most sincere man elected President since 1928. To permit, through sheer inertia, the reports of this great commission to die on the dusty shelves of Congress would be a national disgrace that no first-class citizen cares to contemplate. No nation is really strong or respected or able to take care of itself that is not solvent. For more than twenty years we have been traveling fast on the road toward insolvency. We are today up on the brink of bankruptcy. Everybody knows that. Practically everybody wants to change our direction.

Everybody knows that the reason we keep sliding further into insolvency is because the spend, spend, spend policy of former administrations have such a tremendous allure for the voters that once started they are extremely difficult to stop. They are illogical, unfounded in fact and injurious to rich, poor, everybody. Yet, such is their attraction that once established they are not easy to discontinue or change. The only way to change them is through the roads mapped out by the Hoover Commission—or before it—by Senator Byrd.

From whatever angle they are viewed, balancing the budget and reducing the taxes is not only the right thing to do but the expedient thing. That the President is going to give his opponents an opportunity to charge him with failing them on this issue does not make sense. Neither the Hoover Commission reports nor the Byrd recommendations can go through without active presidential support. That they will get that sort of support before this session ends, or at least early next year, is the belief of every informed man. It is worth again pointing out that both the Hoover report and Senator Byrd's blueprints are emphatic on the point that the economies they propose will not affect any vital function of the Government nor in any way weaken our defense. On the contrary, an unshakable solvency of the nation is the best and surest way of strengthening its defense. Few things could be more unfortunate than a rift on the economy issue between the President and Senator Byrd. It is true the latter does not have the vast responsibility the other bears. But their goal is the same and to attain it it is essential that they should work together.

The Play

Take a light-hearted play, written about the timeless theme of marriage, cast it with two top actors in the persons of Helen Camp and Tom Calkins, and you have a humorous evening's enjoyment of "The Fourposter" at the Garrett County Playhouse.

The play has no apparent plot. Spanning 35 years, it reveals six incidents in the life of a married couple, beginning with the wedding night. Succeeding periods bring the first baby, a couple of crucial tiffs which threaten the marriage, a problem with the teenage son, and moving day. These six scenes, divided into three acts, occur without any connecting thread of idea, except for the old fourposter, which seems to represent a cure-all.

Just as memorable incidents of real life are separated, so it is with the play; day-to-day plot is unnecessary and insignificant. Indeed, each scene could stand alone and still be appreciated. The events are so natural, so realistic, that any couple perhaps would experience similar ones. When each scene ends, full of sympathy, love, anger, disillusion, and comedy, the viewer wishes the drama could continue along the same lines, without jumping ten years to the next act.

Whatever author Jan de Hartog fails to include in the plot he more than makes up for in the dialogue and the comic situations. Ordinarily a lengthened time sequence would cause havoc among the actors, but the author skillfully helps the actors by aging the language as the husband and wife mature. Speeches become longer, and the characters become sedate and sure of themselves.

In a word, the acting was first-rate. What difficulty there was in acting 5 years was done with magnificence. Helen Camp in the third act changed her whole manner. The sparkle was gone from her eyes, her mouth drooped, she walked with a tired amble, and she fidgeted.

Tom Calkins' role called for less apparent aging—he mellowed with dignity. His best acting was as the shy bridegroom, a part both laughable and touching. He performed the bashfulness so well that his stilted "drunk with happiness" lines became convincingly sincere.

Both actors played to perfection the instances of anger, misunderstanding, and love.

The properties, dating from 1890, and the detailed makeup added a lot to the play.

The precision and attention to detail regarding positions, motions, and expression could have come only from the director, whose careful work is never immediately evident in the finished product. To Gene Vell goes the credit for making this week's flawless production the capstone of a successful season.

Miss Helen Louise Harned Is Bride of Thomas Kahl

Miss Helen Louise Harned, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harned, 132 Second street, Oakland, became the bride of Charles Thomas Kahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Kahl, Mt. Lake Park, in an open-church ceremony Sunday, August 7, at 4:00 p. m. in St. Paul's Methodist church. Rev. W. S. Patterson officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with vases of white gladioli and buddleia, and white tapers in silver candelabra. Four standards of the same flowers decorated the chancel and white ribbon marked the pews.

Julius Lattman, church organist, pre-acted a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Shirley Brechmacher, of Elvira, Ohio, Mrs. Brechmacher, a sorority sister of the bride, sang "Ich Liebe Dich" and "Because" before the wedding and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown fashioned with a white lace bodice over satin, a net yoke, and long, tapering sleeves. The neck of the bridal gown was outlined with scalloped lace, while the full skirt was made of several layers of net over satin, with a chapel train and a lace-paneled front. Her lace fingertip veil fell from a white satin Juliet cap, and she carried a white trifle with an orchid and white streamers and a shower of achillea.

Mrs. Frank L. Blue III, Oakland, served as matron of honor, while bridesmaids were Mrs. George O. Stevens, III, a cousin of the bride, of Plainfield, N. J.; Misses Rose Marie Davis, Carey, O.; Marilyn King, Galton, O.; and Alice Williamson, Latty, O. The latter three girls are sorority sisters of the bride. The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore identical ball-length gowns of aqua crystal taffeta, fashioned with tight bodices and full skirts. Their headresses were bands of the same material with short veils. The matron of honor carried an arm bouquet of yellow gladioli, while the bridesmaids' bouquets were of flame gladioli.

Mr. Kahl served as his son's best man, and ushers were Joseph E. Kahl, Mt. Lake Park, brother of the groom; Martin L. Groves, Jr., of Halethorpe, brother-in-law of the groom; Karl V. Kahl and Warren L. Mann, both of Oakland, cousins of the groom, and Frank L. Blue, III, Oakland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harned chose a turquoise blue lace gown with white accessories. Mr. Kahl wore a dress of grey nylon lace over pink with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of Rubrum lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with the traditional wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and flanked with silver candelabras and white flowers. The other tables were decorated with white chrysanthemums and delphiniums.

Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Wellington Yutzy, Cumberland, and Mrs. Oscar Peterson, of Silver Spring, both aunts of the groom. Mrs. Ralph R. Davis, Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. Hubert P. Birdette, Mt. Airy, both aunts of the bride, poured coffee. Serving the cake were sorority sisters of the bride, Misses Helen Long, of Neapolis, O., and Joan Wilson, of Culma, O.

The couple left for a week's wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a grey summer suit with dark blue accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride, who was graduated from Oakland High School in 1951, is a 1953 graduate of Bowling Green State university, where she majored in physical education. She is a member of Delta Zeta social sorority, and Kappa Delta Pi, education fraternity, Delta Psi Kappa, physical education fraternity, and Sigma Tau Delta, English fraternity. This fall, she will assume a teaching post in Mountsville, O.

A 1919 graduate of Oakland High School, the bridegroom has been in the U.S. Army since his graduation in 1953 from Johns Hopkins School of Engineering. He is currently stationed at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., and will receive his discharge in February 1956, after which he will begin work with the Manufacturers Heat and Light Co., of Pittsburgh.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Glenn Hoffman, Hyattsville, Md.; Mrs. L. O. Marquis, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Miss Rita Costanza, Charleston, Pa.; Andrew Chark, Conn.; Mrs. James Stevens and daughters Janet and Susan, Metuchen, N. J.; Mrs. Margaret Casteel, Fairmont, W. These acts will include calf roping, bull dogging, bronc riding, bull riding, trick riding, trick roping, high school horses, clowning and novelty acts.

NORTH GLADE

Jane Garey Bride of William Casteel

In a ceremony solemnized last Saturday, August 6, at 3:00 p. m., in St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland, Miss Jane Garey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buchanan Garey, 312 Hopkins Road, Baltimore, became the bride of William Ashby Casteel, son of Mrs. Everett Casteel, Oakland, and the late Mr. Casteel, Rev. W. S. Patterson officiated.

Vases of white gladioli and snapdragons decorated the altar against a background of palms in the chancel.

Miss Barbara Ann Garey was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, while Charles Jacobs served as Mr. Casteel's best man. Ushers were Edward F. Smouse, Dr. E. Irving Baumgartner and Frank Sheehan. Mrs. Jay Bell sang "The Lord's Prayer," "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. Her fingertip length veil of matching lace was held by a tiara of seed pearls, and completing her costume, she carried a Bible with white orchid marker and white streamers, tied in lovers knots.

Her attendant wore a waltz-length chiffon gown of pale lavender combined with a slightly deeper shade. Her headpiece was a matching band of tiny leaves and veiling and she carried a nosegay of yellow and white sweetheart roses with smaller lavender asters.

Mrs. Garey chose a mauve pink cotton lace gown, with matching hat and slippers, white gloves and purse. Her corsage was of talisman and white sweetheart roses. The mother of the groom was attired in a toast colored crepe, street length dress with white accessories, and her corsage was also of talisman and white sweetheart roses.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

A wise philosopher once said, "Waste not, want not is a law of nature." Thinking people readily accept this truth. I once heard a great "fireball" baseball pitcher, who had retired from the game at a relatively young age, put it in these words: "Apparently there are just so many fast ball tosses in a man's arm. I've thrown mine all in a bunch, and I'm through too early."

There are just so many tons of iron ore, so many barrels of petroleum, so many cubic yards of topsoil available in our nation, and if we use them up wastefully, and without developing other resources to replace them, we are selfish and shortsighted, and our children may experience want.

Wealth comes from our natural resources and their processing through production. When that portion of our wealth which goes to Washington in taxes is subjected to wasteful handling and spending, then the future of all of us is being undermined. The Hoover Commission represents a great, organized conservation program in government spending.

The Hoover Commission task force which studied the Federal medical services reports that many millions of dollars, coming out of our stockpile of natural resources (and our pocketbooks), are being wasted in the overlapping hodgepodge of Federal medical services—costing taxpayers $4,149,000,000 in 1954!

Not far from my home the Veterans Administration built a $20 million hospital a few years ago, although just five miles away was a huge VA hospital facility and 50 miles distance was one of the finest Army-Navy hospitals in the nation. Today the Army-Navy hospital is being closed down. The Defense Department says there is no need for it. This single incident represents a waste of perhaps $50 to $100 million in all. And it is a tiny, isolated droplet in the great tide of wasteful spending.

What is the remedy? The Hoover Commission recommends the appointment of a Federal Advisory Council of Health composed of distinguished laymen and physicians; and it sets forth specific measures to tighten up on veterans' medical services and the whole structure of Federal health programs. These recommendations, however, will be worthless unless citizens support them through the use of their influence with their congressmen, and with other less interested citizens. But perhaps your tax bill isn't burdensome!

Products Corp., New York, Mr. Cas School Class of the church assisted tea is at present manager of the in serving the refreshments. A Mason J. Gleditsy Garage, Oak-, miniature bride and groom adorned the tiered wedding cake.

A wedding reception was held in the church social room, following the ceremony. Summer flowers were used in the decorations and slippers. Upon their return members of the Tri Mu Sunday from a two weeks motor trip, Mr.

Rotary and Moose Win Oakland Games

The Rotary Club swamped the Woodmen 18-3, and the Moose won over the Country club 9-3 in Oakland Pony League games Monday night.

Duling, James, Stemple and Sanders shared eight of the Rotary team's 10 hits. DeWitt smacked a double and single to pace the Woodmen. Darkness halted the game at the end of the 5th inning.

Kelley headed the 13-hit assault unleashed by the Moose with a double and three singles to his credit. Martin hit safely three and Callis, Wine and Colaw collected two hits each. Shaffer had two hits and Bill Paugh blasted a triple for the Country club.

In last Friday's games the Moose defeated the Woodmen 14 to 5. Wayne Callis limited the Woodmen to four hits and struck out seven while his mates pounded Milwaukee and DeWitt for 12 safeties, eight of which were shared by Paugh, Kelley, Martin and McTobie. Smith got two hits for the losers.

And Mrs. Casteel will reside at 117 Second street, Oakland.

ONE WORD...

Can Change Your Life By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER Pastor, Grace Reformed Church Washington, D. C.

Heel

Did you ever feel like a heel after speaking too quickly? I suppose none of us escapes that sensation. If only we could learn to hold our fire, the kinks provoking the situation would come out all right.

De Quincey, the English author, suffered one of his frequent sick spells while riding in a 19th century public coach. It left him weak and weary and he fell asleep, lurching against the passenger sitting next to him. The passenger was so enraged at such apparent affront that he shook De Quincey violently, awoke him, and in a surly voice told him to stay over on his own side. The author apologized and said that he wasn't feeling very well, but that he'd try very hard to stay awake.

The passenger, humiliated by his hasty outburst, said to himself: "I talked too fast." When De Quincey fell asleep again, against all efforts not to do so, the man put his arm around the author comfortably and tenderly. He had promised he would never speak so hurriedly again.

Put some store by that old proverb "make haste slowly" when tempted to talk too fast. Then you'll not need to feel like a heel, the word that can change your life.

KNOW HIM?

Juvenile delinquency was just a term until they sent the boy down the street to what they politely termed a "training school." Then it became real, because this boy wasn't just a statistic but a kid who had played with your kids. Why, only last Sunday you had gone fishing with his father.

So now... you wondered why. The boy came from a good home—or did he? There was money enough, luxury enough, but it's true that his parents sometimes left him pretty much to his own devices. There were his mother's clubs and his father's business, and they led an active social life.

You asked yourself why... and in your heart you knew the answer. It lay in those gaps that had been left in his upbringing—great chinks, that should have been filled with faith, spiritual guidance, and solid enduring values. Thinking about it, you made up your mind to start taking your own kids to church on Sundays without fail—no matter how good the weather was for fishing.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Daniel 1: 5. Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6: 10-18.

Standing Alone

Lesson for August 14, 1955

THEN what? What happens next? What is going to happen to me if I don't do what you want? What does "or else" mean? If the person who asks such questions doesn't get answers he likes, but goes right on in his determined way, we say he is brave. If a man does what he does when everybody else is doing it, when he gets well paid for it, praised and rewarded, we do not call that brave. But when a man does what he does knowing that he will get hurt because he does it, we call the man brave.

Two Kinds of Courage

There are two kinds of bravery or courage. One we call physical courage, the other is moral courage. The physical hero dashes into a burning building or into a swift river, to save some one else at real peril to his own life. He may refuse to disclose an important secret even though he is being tortured to make him reveal it. The moral hero stands up for what he knows is right even though this makes him unpopular or ridiculous in the eyes of people whose good will he would like to keep. We might say that physical courage is determination in spite of the prospect of bodily pain; moral courage is determination in spite of the prospect of mental or spiritual pain. Sometimes the two are combined in the same act and the same person, as with Daniel in the stories assigned for this week. Moral courage being rather more unusual than physical, let us take a look at that, especially.

Ridicule

Standing with the crowd never takes courage. Standing alone against the crowd always calls for courage, no matter what the crowd is carrying. Are they picking up stones? Then facing them calls for physical courage. Are they laughing their heads off? Then facing them calls for moral courage. The one thing that most people are afraid of more than anything else is being laughed at. Ridicule can be as cruel as any instrument of torture. Even men with a keen sense of humor don't like to be made fun of. Why do people who really know better, who down in their consciences know it is wrong for them to drink, drink and even get drunk all the same? The reason is, they can't stand being laughed at. It takes courage to stand alone against a laugh!

Contempt

Most men do not like to admit having made a mistake. It sounds a little like admitting one was a fool. And it has been observed that most men can more easily admit to being knaves than fools; we would almost rather be wicked than look silly. We can stand opposition more easily than we can stand contempt. But that is exactly what calls for moral courage in the man who stands alone. No one likes to be looked down on, no one likes to be thought of as so stupid or out-of-line that no one will respect him. But that is what young Daniel was facing in Babylon, it is what many today have to face. To take our temperance illustration again: Why do many people drink alcoholic liquors against their better judgment? They can't stand up against the crowd. Within the memory of living men there was a White House hostess who would not serve liquor at State dinners, no matter who was there. Many foreign ambassadors wrote home contemptuously about it; but she stood to her convictions. Not many have courage of that sort.

Loneliness

Dare to be a Daniel, dare to stand alone! It is easy to sing, hard to do. The sheer weight of numbers overpowers people. They will climb aboard any bandwagon if it looks crowded; they will not venture into a heavenly chariot if they have to ride alone. It takes a little moral courage to stand up and be counted with a minority. It takes a great deal more to stand up and be counted THE minority of One. But such courage is possible. Daniel showed it; he showed that his moral courage was matched by his physical courage. And after all, he was not in the minority after all. God was on his side, or rather he was on God's side; and that made the difference. Many a time a good cause has been lost not by weakness but by cowardice; but on the other hand good causes have been saved by men who believed in their rightness so deeply that rather than deny their faith, they would be buried alive in loneliness.

Establish Hay And Pasture Seedings Now

August is the best month for establishing new hay and pasture seedings, says Frank Bentz, University of Maryland Extension soil specialist.

Bentz outlines several steps that should be taken for growing and maintaining productive stands of hay and pasture. The first step he says is to select soil that is adapted to the crop to be grown.

Then the soil should be limed and fertilized thoroughly. The next step he says is to prepare a firm seedbed. Bentz warns that the seedbed should not be overworked. A recommended seed variety should be used and followed with good seeding practices.

"Test, don't guess," is Bentz's answer to the question of how much lime and fertilizer to use. He says that farmers can have their soil tested free of charge by the Soil Testing Laboratory of the University of Maryland. County agents have the necessary materials and instructions for using this service, he added.

Cool Chicks—Move Eggs

It is important to cool eggs promptly after they are laid, says Harvey Bumgardner, graduate assistant in poultry at the University of Maryland. But, he adds, it is just as important to keep hens cool during the hot summer months to keep egg production high.

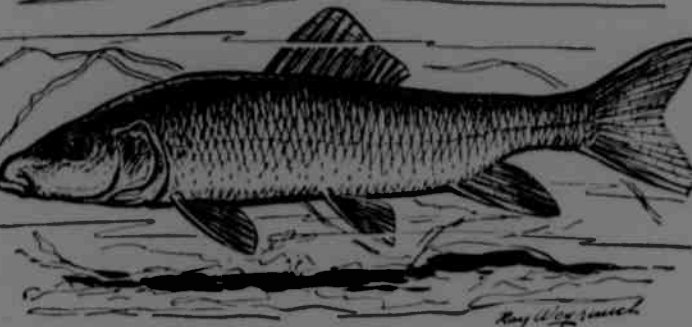

Hot weather brings an increase in mites, lice and other parasites to chickens. Blue comb disease also seems to be more prevalent during hot weather, and Bumgardner says that keeping hens cool has long been recommended for preventing this disease. He also says many hens die during the summer months from heat prostration.

Laying houses should be built where they will be protected from the hot afternoon sun, Bumgardner says. If this is impossible he recommends other steps be taken. Poultry roofs should be painted a light color or made of some heat reflecting material. Another method of cooling laying house roofs is to sprinkle them with water. House temperatures dropped as much as 8 degrees in sprinkling tests at the University, Bumgardner said. Ordinary lawn sprinklers were used in these tests.

A hen's body temperature is quite high and while this heat contributes to keeping the laying house warm in the winter, it also causes poultry house temperatures to soar in the summertime. Bumgardner recommends plenty of ventilation to keep laying house temperatures down. He says there

WHITE SUCKER

(Catostomus commersoni, derivation, "catostomus" from the Greek, below mouth; "commersoni" in honor of Commerson, a French naturalist.)

RANGE: In most all fresh running waters of Maryland; run up brooks in spring to spawn; also found in many lakes and ponds.

DESCRIPTION: Creamy to silver white in color. The mouth is under rather than at end of an elongated head; mouth small and more or less circular, very thick lips; forked tail.

BREEDING: Spawns in spring in small streams or brooks in shallows and riffles which have a gravel bottom; the eggs are buried in loose gravel; hatch when water is above 50°F in about three weeks; then eggs and young left to themselves.

HABITS: Suckers can protrude the lips so as to make a perfect suctioncup, hence name "sucker," which enables it to take food off the bottom; feeds on aquatic plants, insects, worms and small mollusks.

MANAGEMENT: Not artificially propagated; needs little legal protection, does not require low water temperatures, hence adaptable to many streams not inhabited by trout; pollution an enemy.

VALUE: It is a favorite hook and line fish with many anglers who start fishing for them shortly after New Year's Day; a food fish of considerable importance during late winter and spring months when flesh is white and firm.

should be windows on four sides of the laying house to provide adequate ventilation.

Hens drink more water during the hot summer months and should be provided with plenty of watering space. Bumgardner says the waterers should be scattered throughout the house so the hens will not have far to go for a drink.

In another experiment at the University, it was shown that shallow litter on a concrete or dirt floor is cooler than a deep built-up litter. The natural cooling effect of the earth is reduced by deep litter because the litter acts as an insulator and decomposition within the deep litter causes some heat.

THE AMERICAN WAY

IN ROME'S FOOTSTEPS?

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

It is 165 years since Edward Gibbon, English historian, published the fifth volume of his celebrated work, "The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Gibbon listed five chief reasons as to why the Roman Empire, the greatest civilization of its era and up to that time in history, came to an ignominious and catastrophic end. It might be well for America, without doubt the greatest civilization of this era or any other, to ponder over those five reasons.

1. The rapid increase in divorce which undermined the sanctity and dignity of the home which is the basis of human society.

Let's take a look at the divorce statistics of the U.S.A.—they are certainly cause for alarm. In 1890, there was a divorce for every seventeen marriages; in 1900, one marriage in every fourteen ended in divorce; by 1910, one marriage in every eleven went on the rocks; in 1920, one in every eight; in 1930, one in every six; and in 1952, the last year for which complete statistics are available, one marriage in every four foundered on the divorce shoals.

As Gibbon so truly stated, the home is the basis of human society. With one marriage out of every four now culminating in divorce, in many cases causing broken homes, the basis of our American Society is being dangerously undermined. With so many disrupted homes, it is small wonder that juvenile delinquency is running rampant. On the divorce issue America follows the dangerous course pursued by Rome prior to its fall.

2. Higher and higher taxes—the spending of money for free bread and circuses.

It is hardly necessary for me to state that in this category, the United States is emulating the tax situation that existed in Rome's halcyon days before the bubble burst. Our Federal, State and local Governments have been on a spending binge that inevitably must end in a severe financial headache.

The Great White Father at Washington for the past twenty-five years has made the Roman Emperors look like pikers, when it comes to free handouts. Paternalism, Roman style, is the order of the day along the banks of the Potomac. Initiative, self-reliance, and thrift are rapidly being replaced by sloth, dependence on government and waste. On the tax and wasteful spending issues, we are outdoing the worst efforts of the Romans.

3. The mad craze for pleasure: sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.

On this issue it can be said we follow the sad example of Rome only in part. As a nation we are fanatically pursuing pleasure. The shorter work week has given most of us an opportunity to indulge ourselves in that respect. However, we are not engaging in more brutal sports—the reverse is actually the case.

4. The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy is within—the decadence of the people.

Well, America is building gigantic armaments to protect us from enemies abroad, the while we permit the enemies within—the Communies, the Fellow-Travelers, the Socialists and the so-called liberals to undermine the "American Way" which has been the chief source of our national strength and well-being. Here again we follow closely the pattern set by Rome.

5. The decay of religion: fading into a mere form, losing touch with life and becoming impotent to guide the people.

Here, America seems not to be traveling the primrose pathway trod by Rome. During the past few years, there has been a reawakening to the spiritual values on which America was founded. Increased church membership and attendance are two evidences that our motto "In God We Trust" has been reinstated in the minds and hearts of the American people.

To sum up, America dangerously parallels the sad example of Rome on four of five counts listed by Gibbon as having caused the decline and downfall of that once great Republic. This columnist hopes and prays that America, having started to reverse its course on the fifth count, this now great Republic will awaken to the grave danger inherent in the other four.

Fort Hill Wins Over Mt. Top

Fort Hill swept the special position match series by downing Mountain Top 1420-198 to 1407-218 in the Western Maryland League's ninth smallest event fired Sunday at the Frostburg range. The three international-type position contests featured 100 yard shooting in the kneeling and standing positions and were initiated this summer on an experimental basis by league officials.

Frank Simpson's 376-108 score was a big factor in Fort Hill's win over previously undefeated Mountain Top and was high tally for the meet. Mountain Top's George Porter turned in 358-38 as the losers' top mark.

The Mt. Top scores for kneeling and standing positions and totals: G. L. Porter, 183-38, 175-48, 358-38; D. E. Helbig, 190-98, 162-48, 352-98; C. E. Miller, 184-48, 165-48, 349-98; R. L. Cain, 183-38, 165-48, 348-98; team total, 1407-218.

Also firing were A. Harvey, Jr., 344-28, C. Calhoun, 310-38.

Next Sunday the regular series of prone matches will continue with Mt. Top shooting against LaVale in Match No. 10. This will be the familiar Dewar course, 20 shots at 50 yards and 20 shots at 100 yards with telescopic sights.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
 Reprinted by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.
 The Squeeze Play

As they look back over the recent session of Congress—and in fact over the last two and a half decades—thoughtful men in both parties are increasingly appalled at a situation which steadily threatens the national economy. Every man in politics (except the rawest demagogue) knows this to be true, but few have the character and courage to stand up and tell the full truth.

To express it as simply as possible this state of affairs is due to the extraordinary power of the great labor unions to compel industry to yield to their demands no matter how gross or unfair. Faced with the choice of yielding or being strangled it is not surprising that industry surrenders and then passes on the cost to the customer. Some struck concerns, it is true, have preferred to die but that is not a sound way out. The only alternative is to make the best compromise you can and then raise the price of the product. This would not be so devastating a process if it happened once or twice and then could be stabilized. But, there is no stability. It is a steadily continuing procedure. The union demands are increasing and insatiable. The result, of course, is to raise the cost of living for everybody and promote an inflation which, it is agreed, is a national danger second only to war.

As one views the tactics of the unions in the recent past their advantage over industry is clear. The unions are sure to win even when, as under this Administration, the great weight of the government is not openly thrown on their side, as during the Roosevelt-Truman regimes. One basic reason is because the unions are united while industry is divided. The best example of this was when the United Automobile Workers first singled out the Ford plant for their strike. This completely stopped Ford production while General Motors, Chrysler and other competitors continued to produce. Clearly, while Ford was handcuffed its rivals would run off with the market. So, Ford, under compulsion, signed up. Then the pattern being set, General Motors was next and signed up without a strike—merely the threat.

This is what Mr. Edward F. Hutton, of New York, calls "The Squeeze Play." The workers all belong to one big union, Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and others are separate organizations. The workers are united, the companies are divided—and "divided they fall." The squeeze play goes by the name of "free collective bargaining." Says Mr. Hutton, "One after another competitor is whip-sawed until all are brought into line. Wages go up, costs go up, prices go up. As every wage increase is another man's cost, Joe and Mary Doakes pay the bill. Now, we are threatened with another round of inflation, forced up from the bottom by the power of united labor operation on an industry-wide basis."

Of course, the bosses who control these gigantic unions, now combined as never before, wield a great political influence. They also control literally billions of dollars and the CIO has been indicted recently for violation of the Corrupt Practices Act in Michigan. For years they have been dominant in the Democratic party and Democratic national candidates have been compelled to "clear" themselves with the bosses before nomination. One striking example of this was afforded by ex-President Truman who was compelled to call upon the CIO and A F of L bosses at their hotel before he was allowed to be nominated for the Vice Presidency in 1944. Another example is afforded by Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, who says he left for the last Democratic convention assured of White House support for the presidential nomination only to find when he reached Chicago that his White House support had evaporated because the labor bosses said he was "too old." Many other instances could be cited for lesser offices.

Soon or late the people of this country will have to face the facts about these unions and their political power. The alternative is to

GORTNER

Miss Ada Jackson accompanied Ronald Green, of Bittering, to the wedding of his brother, Dale, and Miss Elma Glass, of Uniontown, at the Accident Lutheran church on Sunday. They were guests at the reception in Uniontown.

Mrs. Amanda Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Martin attended the Thomas reunion at Swallow Falls, Sunday. Mrs. Fannie Stutzman is leaving for Ohio to be present at a church conference, and visit relatives.

Sherman Tressler, of Mt. Lake, has finished painting Eli and Edwin Beachy's houses.

Vincent Bolyard, of near Kingwood, is employed at Paul Welches. The Jasper Messengers, who recently moved to Virginia, are the parents of a daughter, Sophronia Dehorah.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kauffman, of Catlet, Va., visited her sister, Mrs. Alfred Yoder. Mr. Yoder's son and brother of Ohio, also visited there over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sisk took Miss Marie Schroyer, of near Oakland, to Table Rock on a picnic on Sunday.

Leslie Freidly is still a patient in a Clarksburg hospital, improving slowly.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Jackson on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Auvil, St. George, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Auvil, Parsons, Charles Jackson, Pleasant Valley, Martin Troshek and family, Irwin, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Troshek, Evans Nursing home.

Carl Simmons, Warren, O., visited here last week. Carolyn Sporelein and Jerome White are at Camp Galilee this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Slahach and two children, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Slahach and Kenneth Slahach called on relatives on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Errel Stockert, of Pennsylvania, were Sunday dinner guests at the Paul Welch home.

Mr. and Mrs. James White and Harold White and family attended a shower at Harlen Beckmans at Swanton, Thursday evening.

The Wakemans, of Florida, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sporelein.

Mrs. June Stoltzfus and others returned home on Monday from visiting her daughter, Mrs. Uria Shetter, at Catlet, Va. The Shetters are the parents of another daughter.

Janet Schlossnagle attended a birthday party honoring her nephew, James Schlossnagle, Oakland, on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Some of our folks heard Pastor Rollins, of Brick Church, in Mayville, at Mt. Bethel, Altamont, on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Let them run the country, dominate local and state as well as national government. This, of course, the people do not want. Not even a majority of union members want it—even when their bosses are united. The late Senator Taft showed this in Ohio in 1950 and President Eisenhower showed it in the nation in 1952. They can be beaten but they remain strong enough to keep the Taft-Hartley Act, which they denounce as a "slave labor law" from being amended as was promised by the Republicans in the last campaign. Some day perhaps we will have a Congress, plus a national sentiment, that will force protective action for union labor in all its legitimate rights but also protect industry from the "squeeze play" and the public from paying the bill in taxes and higher living costs.

Creep-Feeding Is Recommended

This is a critical time of year for beef calves when it comes to feed, says Edwin B. Conner of the University of Maryland animal husbandry department.

Pastures are becoming shorter and losing their succulence and cows are giving less milk, he said. This means that beef calves need supplemental feedings and Conner suggests creep feeding as the best method.

Producers of purebred cattle should definitely creep feed, Conner said. The investment in feed will pay off big dividends in uniformity and eye-appeal of the calf crop, he added.

Under most conditions, Conner said, commercial beef producers should also creep feed their calf crop. Many calves that sell as medium or good could sell for choice or better if given supplementary feedings, he said.

Conner lists four conditions under which it is advisable to creep feed. He said if a producer is selling calves at weaning time or if the calves go directly to a feed lot after weaning, they should be creep fed. Poor grazing and long periods of drought also make creep feeding important.

When milk production is low or when several heifers are nursing their first calves or when grain is cheap enough to warrant, Conner recommends creep feeding.

There are times, he said, when creep feeding is not advisable for the commercial beef producer. If the calves are to be wintered on a growing ration and pastured the following summer before being fed out, creep feeding would not pay. Conner said that fat put on at the creep makes these gains slow and expensive and the calves may even lose weight after weaning.

Conner also advises against creep feeding when pastures are large and equipment and labor would cost more than the increased price of the calves.

Firemen In Session At Kitzmiller Meet

At a meeting held in the Kitzmiller Fire Hall last Sunday, August 7, representatives of nineteen of the 31 member companies of the Allegheny-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association adopted a recommendation that their new iron lung, available for emergency use in the area, should be placed in the fire hall in Frostburg.

It was noted by the firemen attending the meeting that Frostburg is a central point for an area which, within a radius of 15 miles, embraces 20 fire companies and four hospitals.

Delbert Valentine of North Branch, president of the association, presided. Alvin Rankin, of Frostburg, treasurer, reported that there is a cash balance of $12,122.68, plus $300 in bonds. The association also holds a note of $200 from the state convention committee covering a loan made during the recent convention held in Cumberland.

Nelson W. Bussler of Chapel Hill Company reported as co-chairman of the convention that there are some funds yet to be collected, and a final report will be made at the next meeting on September 11 at Bowmans Addition Fire Hall.

The association decided to invite the state fire marshal or one of his deputies as guest speaker at the next meeting.

Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, reported that there has been a good response to letters sent to all companies asking for participation in the Firemen's Night at the Cumberland Fair August 22. A parade will be held around the race track oval at exactly 7 p. m. and all companies are asked to cooperate, Zembower said.

Rankin called attention to Fire Prevention Week, which will be observed this year during the second week in October. It was suggested that all fire chiefs in the association contact their Parent Teachers association presidents, urging them to invite a speaker from the association's speakers bureau, to address their P. T. A.'s. The firemen believe this is an excellent way to bring the message of fire prevention to the greatest number of people.

All of the association's officers were present at the Kitzmiller session.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted a warmer than usual August.

Captures Rattler

There have been accounts of various persons killing rattlesnakes in recent weeks, but this is the first account of one being caught alive.

Such is the tale this week of Mrs. Frank Schell, of Deep Creek Lake. She and her husband went rattlesnake hunting last Sunday. They hunted over near Cranessville with-out success. They returned by way of Salt Block and above Sang Run they spied one crossing the road.

Mrs. Schell says she grabbed a long stick and held down the snake, while Frank threw a noose around its neck. They brought it home alive in a box they had taken along for the occasion and they still have it. It is almost five feet long and has six rattles and a button.

authority to reorganize Federal agencies; established a bipartisan commission to study Government personnel security system.

These are only the highlights, of course, but it has indeed been a busy session.

There is still much to be done, however, and we will be back in January with our sleeves rolled up—ready to go to work again.

We wish you a pleasant and prosperous summer.

We Move Forward . . .

We now have the opportunity to move forward in the field of recreation. The decision has been handed down by a Circuit Court jury which set the price for the land desired by the Board of State Forests and Parks to be used as a public park and public camping area.

The price quoted probably suited no one in particular. For those who favored the state park site, the price was too high. For the owner of the property and others interested in the case, the price was too low.

At present in an unimproved section of the lake, nevertheless the potential is very great. That the addition of a public park in that area will be a decided boost to property values adjoining it, we have no doubt.

It remains now for the Forestry Board to officially approve spending $72,850 for the park site and to move ahead on the improvement program. This we hope will be done at the meeting of the board scheduled for Sunday in Oakland.

Already appropriated by the State is a sum of $85,000 which was to be used for the purchase of a site and for improvement, and an added sum of $10,000 for additional work.

Deep Creek Lake is experiencing one of its busiest seasons in history, with hundreds of people being turned away for lack of accommodations. We feel certain that the addition of a public park on the lake will go far in taking care of many of these customers, thereby increasing the revenue of business men and the county in general.

Garrett county is limited in its opportunities for a well balanced economy. There is still some coal and some lumber industry, but both are on the wane at present. There has always been general farming and in recent years some cool weather crops which add to the possibility for prosperity.

Recreation, however, continues throughout the year to be one of the biggest items of business and we are highly in favor of additional facilities that will bring more people to this area. We believe the development of the public park will turn out to be one of the best investments in many years.

Man Is Killed By Two In Dress Revue Car On Route 40 Get Blue Ribbons

A Jennings man who was walking along route 40 Sunday night, west of Freighting, was killed when struck by an automobile driven by a Washington, D. C. resident.

Maxwell State police identified the victim as Isaac Newton Bittinger. The mishap occurred about 10 o'clock, six miles west of Freighting, in Garrett county. The man was aged 82.

Driver of the car, according to police, was Mary Grace Moss, 11, of 2018 10th street, Washington, D. C., according to police, was walking east on route 40 and was reported to have walked into the path of the car which was traveling west.

Police said the accident was a pedestrian violation. The driver of the car was questioned by S. R. Pagenhardt, State's Attorney, but no charges were filed against her. Pagenhardt said, after questioning, there was no evidence which warranted criminal prosecution.

Investigating the accident were T. Blair A. Buckle and T. Glen D. Tolk.

Funeral services for Mr. Bittinger were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bethesda Brothers church, with Rev. Joe Whitacre officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Two Garrett county girls received blue ribbons for their dresses in the State Dress Revue held at College Park during 4-H club week. They were Miss Judith Buckel, of the Bittinger club, and Miss Marie Bowman, of the Accident club.

Misses Buckel and Bowman exhibited and modeled their dresses for the judges during the week. At the dress revue on Friday before the assembly and guests, Miss Bowman placed fourth among the high ten called back on the platform. She received a pair of light weight pinkish shears. Miss Buckel received a pair of dressmakers' shears.

Judges were Miss Doris Johnson, representative of the Thread company in New York City, Miss Alice Linn, Extension Clothing specialist, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; and Mrs. Sara Coney, Caroline County home-maker, a 4-H local leader and experienced seamstress.

Born at Jennings April 19, 1873, he was a son of the late John and Mary Spiker Bittinger. Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Effie May Bittinger, of Jennings. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Large Quantity Whiskey Seized In Night Raid

Officers Arrest Stella Bowman, Deep Creek Lake, Saturday Night

The largest quantity of whiskey ever confiscated during a raid in Garrett county was obtained last Saturday night from the premises of Mrs. Stella Bowman, Deep Creek Lake, following a raid by county and state officers.

Mrs. Bowman was placed under arrest on a charge of possession of liquor for the purpose of sale and was placed under $10,000 bond at a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

Mrs. Bowman was served with a search warrant sworn out by Sheriff Paul W. Fisher. Armed with the search warrant, James Franz, deputy sheriff, Charles McLean, of the Maryland Alcohol Tax unit, S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, and Mark H. Moon, constable, appeared at the Bowman home.

The officers reported they found over 200 bottles of whiskey and wine plus about 200 miniatures, which Sheriff Fisher said would retail for more than $800. The collection included plain whiskey, wine, Scotch, Bourbon, Gin, Rye, both blends and bottled in bond.

The sheriff said he had had complaints about Mrs. Bowman for the past five years but had never been able to secure any violation until recently. The whiskey was found under two beds in the home.

A hearing is scheduled by August 22, Sheriff Fisher stated early this week.

Injuries Fatal To John S. Jones

John Simpson Jones, well-known resident of Crellin, who sustained serious internal injuries in a highway accident last Thursday night, August 11, near Oakland, died at 11 a. m. Tuesday, August 16, in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. He was aged 59.

The mishap occurred about two miles west of Oakland on the Golf Course road, Jones, who was crippled in both legs, was operating his vehicle with hand controls. He had just passed his driver's license test on Monday.

As he was negotiating a curve he apparently lost control of the machine and fell out on the highway. The rear wheel of the vehicle passed over his abdomen and he suffered a broken pelvis and sustained internal injuries.

He was admitted to the hospital where he remained in a semi-conscious condition until his death. Lying in the automobile with him were Mabel Lewis, Foster Lewis, Linda Lewis and Elvanda Moats, all children, none of whom was injured.

Mr. Jones had a furniture shop at Crellin for a number of years. A former coal miner, he developed a spinal affliction in 1921 and in 1937 Johns Hopkins hospital reported there was no hope for a permanent cure.

He received a new wood turning lathe in November, 1933, to help in his efforts to become self supporting under the physically handicapped program of the state and received a certificate of merit from Governor McKeldin in December, 1933, for having done the most of anyone in Western Maryland to overcome a physical handicap. At that time he appeared at a luncheon in Baltimore and later appeared on television.

Mr. Jones was born November 13, 1885, at St. George, W. Va., a son of the late William and Lucinda Wiles Jones.

The body is at the Bolden Funeral home. Funeral services will be conducted on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church in Crellin, with Rev. Don L. Jackson officiating. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Surviving are one son, James Willis Jones, of Silver Spring, and the following brothers and sisters: Adam Jones, Parsons, Pete and William Jones, Kingwood; Miss Mollie Jones, Irvine, Pa.; Mrs. Ida Dillsworth, Crellin; Miss Ruth Jones and Mrs. Sara Rummell, of Tonnellon; Ralph and Jake Jones, Friendsville; and Mrs. Mary Hardesty, Baltimore. His wife died a number of years ago.

School Meetings Planned Prior To Opening Date

A number of pre-school meetings have been planned for the week of August 23, according to announcement from the office of the Board of Education.

The first of the series will be an all day conference for county high and elementary school principals. During the day aspects of the administrative and professional work of the school principal will be discussed.

The second meeting is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, August 30, at 1:30 for all school custodians. Duties and responsibilities of the school custodian will be outlined with talks scheduled by principals, teachers, custodians and O. T. Graser, supervisor of maintenance. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said stress would be placed on keeping school buildings clean, efficiency and economy in use of materials, and the operation and care of heating plants.

Wednesday, August 31, there will be a meeting of all teachers new to the county. In the morning the teachers will meet with their supervisor and in the afternoon they will meet with their respective principals. The purpose is to help teachers new to the system to become acquainted with their assignments, prior to the opening of school.

On Thursday, September 1, there will be a meeting of all teachers, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Addresses will be given by Mr. Hawkins, and by four visiting members of the State Department of Education. This meeting will conclude with a social hour at 3:15 p. m., sponsored by the Garrett County Teachers' association.

Friday, September 2, all teachers will spend the day in their respective schools working with their principals and in their classrooms, getting everything in readiness for the opening day of the new school year on Tuesday, September 6.

Members of the Board of Education, members of the Board of County Commissioners and all presidents of county I-T-A groups have been invited to attend the meeting scheduled for Thursday, September 1, at 9:30 a. m.

Cigaret Tax For Month Is $1,959

The second month of voluntary reporting on the penny-a-pack tax on the sale of cigarettes showed a total of $1,959.76 received by the county treasurer, Joseph H. Welch.

This was almost exactly the amount of the total for the first month, although additional returns brought the first month's total to $2,207.67. Mr. Welch said he felt sure that the final returns this month would show even more than last month's figure, since seven teen dealers had not yet reported, as of yesterday.

The tax was designated to be used for the boost in teachers' salaries and at present rate this would amount to some $125 per year.

It was indicated that reports of several of the dealers would be higher this month, since Sheriff Paul Fisher had been making some investigations during the past thirty days. Persons not reporting are subject to a fine of $1,000 in addition to a penalty for delayed payment. Payments are due by the tenth of each month.

No attempt has been made to make a penalty charge, since the law is comparatively new and misunderstandings are possible, it was stated.

Youth Accidentally Shoots Self in Leg

Dana Dintaman, 15, accidentally shot himself in the calf of the right leg yesterday afternoon while engaged in target practice.

The accident occurred on the farm of H. G. Gortner, south of town. Dintaman took a .22 calibre pistol about 4:15 o'clock and prepared to shoot mark. He told Sheriff Paul Fisher later that he was carrying the weapon in his hand and in some unaccountable manner the pistol was discharged.

The wound was dressed at the local hospital by Dr. James Feaster, who said the bullet had missed the bone and no serious consequences should result. Dintaman said he was immensely relieved because he wanted to be able to play football.

Coach DeMoss will have less than three weeks to whip his team into shape for the opening game with Petersburg High school on the Oakland gridiron on Friday afternoon, September 9.

Voting Machine Demonstrated Here

The voting machine of the Shoup Voting Machine company, was demonstrated at the Court House in Oakland on Monday morning before members of the Board of Election Supervisors, Board of County Commissioners and other interested persons.

A Freeborn Brown, Frederick attorney, was the representative for the company.

A similar demonstration from the Automatic Voting Machine company was set for Monday, August 29.

Following this demonstration the Supervisors of Elections will set up specifications for the type of machine desired and ask for sealed bids on the purchase of the desired number.

All counties are required to purchase voting machines prior to the 1956 elections, according to Maryland law.

Each machine would cost between $100 and $150, it was estimated, but the exact number of machines needed has never been definitely decided. There are twenty-seven voting precincts and it has been indicated that more than one machine would be needed for several of the larger precincts.

Rainfall Total Is Over Five Inches

Rainfall as the result of hurricanes "Connie" and "Diane" has totaled more than five inches within a period of six days, it was learned this morning at the weather station at Weber's, south of town.

Hurricane "Connie" in the space of four days, deposited 239 inches of rain, and "Diane" in two days has deposited 262 inches, with more to come.

Streams in the area are high, but not at flood stage.

The Potomac river at Kitzmiller was beginning to cause some trouble. Depth in the river was at 116 feet this morning with flood stage listed at 16 feet. The river was rising slowly as the result of continued rainfall in the area. The waters had broken out of banks above the bridge but thus far no damage had resulted.

Highest temperature of the week was 88 degrees, on the 15th, while the coldest reading was 55 degrees, on the 13th.

Verdict Brings $72,850 For Lake Property

Condemnation Suit Is Concluded Tuesday; Price Set At $15.50 Front Foot

A Circuit Court jury on Tuesday afternoon awarded Fletcher P. Smith of Oakland a $72,850 verdict for some 47 acres of land along Deep Creek Lake which the Department of State Forests and Parks seeks to develop as a public park for swimming, boating and camping.

The verdict, believed one of the largest in the history of the Oakland court, was returned after about an hour's deliberation. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, of Cumberland, presided at the two-day trial during which widely varying values were placed on the land at stake.

The defense rested after presenting six witnesses. They included Smith himself, Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney, Cyrus V. Bower, of Lyndman, Pa., interested in the Turkey Neck development on the lake; Thomas Stevenson, real estate man and school teacher; Clarence Thomas, who has been employed in clearing land along Deep Creek Lake; and William W. DeWitt, Garrett County roads engineer.

Local estate men called in behalf of Smith placed a value of more than $100,000 on the approximately 4700 feet of lake frontage.

DeWitt testified that there is a county road in back of Smith's property and the county has plans for its improvement as soon as there is real estate development in the area.

Monday afternoon the State department had completed its testimony after a visit to the lake front was taken by Judge Harris, members of the jury and others.

While on the scene, Joseph E. Kaylor, director of the state agency, explained the use to which the state wished to put the property. The state wishes to develop the area into a camping area, and for boating and swimming.

During testimony heard Monday for the state, D. C. Goodfellow, realtor, and John Seaman, realtor, of Hagerstown, valued the property at about $60,000. Kaylor also testified and a plot prepared by Robert Corbiss, surveyor, was brought in evidence. Carl Schmitt, realtor, estimated the value of the property at about $110,000.

Four attorneys participated in the closing argument to the jury. They were William L. Gunter and Frederick A. Puderbaugh, both of Cumberland, for the state; and William C. Walsh, Cumberland, and W. Dwight Stover, of Oakland, for Smith. William O. Treacy, Oakland, also was an attorney for the defendant in the case.

The verdict amounted to $1550 per front foot, based on 4700 feet of lake frontage, or about $1,280 an acre for approximately 57 acres.

Just what the state would decide to do in the matter was a subject for speculation. The Board of State Forests and Parks has scheduled a regular business meeting in Oakland on Sunday.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Thank You, Neighbor

Oh, how I love buckwheat! Buckwheat in bloom, that is.

All summer I have regretted that I didn't get the snow-on-the-mountain planted, but now, thanks to Mr. Custer, I have an entire field of bloom that far surpasses any bed of flowers.

Every time I look out the front door I want to sing Johnny Appleseed's song, "The Lord is good to me, and I thank the Lord"—and also—Mr. Custer.

Because I enjoy his field so much, whatever the crop, he has given me something to strive for—plant something of beauty, to be seen by the neighbors.

Hurrah for Grandma

An alert looking woman was briefing me on her children whom I had known when they were youngsters. The daughter, highly educated, had married a psychologist with a doctor's degree and high position.

"I got quite a kick out of watching them," she smiled, "with their two-year-old Susie. The other day I took her for a walk which she just loved. When we returned my daughter was surprised to see Susie holding on to my hand."

"She will never let us hold her hand," exclaimed the young mother. "It's her great urge for independence," etc., etc., and some more psychology.

"I didn't use psychology," replied grandma. "I just said, Susie, hold on to grandma's hand so you won't fall."

Then the lady explained to me, "I didn't read the book, but I raised four."

The Bifocal in Marriage

I never cease to wonder at the team work of married couples. I've always sort of felt that my husband and I depended upon one another and worked fairly well together.

But now the pattern does change from one period to another. Lately this team work has been brought into clearer focus. I can tell him what moves on yonder hill and he can look at my wrist watch and tell me what time it is.

Quite an Achievement

Even though it was an obituary I had to laugh when I read, "He was a great natural athlete and could run 100 YARDS in 10 seconds in the cumbrous football uniform of that era."

My, what he will be able to do with wings!

A Shocking Exchange

As a rule, when I talk to youth I try to be modern in view, yet perpetuate the ideals and standards most of us have for home life. I never thought I ever shocked anyone with my views.

But I did. It was an exchange student from a European country. She gathered round along with others and when her chance came she expressed herself.

"What you say in public—it is terrible—I cannot understand you Americans."

I was aghast. What had I said? Finally through much blushing she told me I had said that affection is important all through life. Statisticians show that the couple who kiss each other as he leaves and returns from work stand a better chance of a happy marriage.

That she thought was terrible—to mention such a thing in public. That was for the family to teach.

Then I had my turn to be shocked. When she goes back home she expects to have a trial marriage—because she is anxious to choose the right mate.

What a lot of understanding we will need about basic attitudes before we can hope for permanent peace.

Beat That Beet!

It's part of the fun of gardening to try something new each year. At the suggestion of a friend our new experiment was the white beet. This week it was brought to the table along with baked potatoes, cole slaw and creamed meat.

Then someone remarked, "all we need is a white plate to make it a washout."

We all got to wondering about the poor soul who would change a beet from beet red to turnip white. He must have been in a creative mood or felt the need of recognition.

Why didn't he make it green or yellow or orange—or tomato red?

MARRIED

Collins-Helbig—The marriage of Miss Virginia Mae Helbig, daughter of Harry Edgar Helbig, Richmond, Va., and the late Mrs. Helbig, to John Bernard Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Collins, took place at 4 p. m., Saturday, August 13, in St. Paul's Catholic church in that city. Rev. John P. Hannan officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. Her finger-tip veil fell from a demure of matching lace and seed pearls, and she carried gardenias and stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

Mrs. George Ray Johnson, Jr., was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Jeanne Anne Jewett was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Mary Rolfe O'Neill and Miss Elizabeth Beasley.

Mr. Collins was his son's best man.

After a reception at Hotel Jefferson the couple left for a motor trip to Florida. They will make their home in Charlottesville, Va. Attending the ceremony from Oakland were the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hugh Teets, and also Mrs. George Dawson. They were accompanied to their home in Oakland by Miss Lillian Helbig, R.N., of Baltimore, who is spending several days here.

Broadwater Reunion Held

The 21st annual Broadwater reunion was held Sunday at Meadow Mt. Inn and was attended by approximately two thousand relatives and friends.

The same officers were retained: President, Victor Broadwater; Vice President, Victor Broadwater; Secretary, C. M. Broadwater; Grand President, both of Cumberland: Miss Ethel Broadwater, Grantsville, secretary. Instrumental and vocal music furnished by the Sonateers of Cumberland.

Relatives from a distance who attended were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Judd, Melford, O.; Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, Somerville, N. J.; Mrs. Joseph Allender, Hampstead, Md.; Elwood E. Englehart, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Effie Custer, Takoma Park, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Broadwater, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunter and Mr. Lora Honnree, Akron, O.; Lloyd Broadwater, Hagerstown; Mrs. Freda Warnick, Main, Frederick; Miss Norma Broadwater, Washington, D. C., and other relatives from Oakland, Cumberland, Frederick, Westernport, Salisbury and Meyersdale.

Argentine government declared it had uncovered another plot to assassinate President Juan D. Peron.

Most of the prescriptions we compound, in this wonderful age, contain medicines that were unknown 10 years ago. Operating a modern prescription Pharmacy means that we must continuously "learn" about new discoveries. We study the Medical and Pharmaceutical Journals we receive, and every important Pharmaceutical firm mails us reports of progress.

That is why Physicians know we can compound prescriptions for any medicine they may prescribe. We welcome prescriptions for new, unusual, or rare medicines.

Letters To The Editor

Route 3, Box 141
Connellsville, Pa.
August 15, 1953

Editor, The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

Dear Sir:

I'd like to see some of the old timers in Garrett County do a historical item covering the old water-powered grist mills of the area. Many people seventy years old probably can recall the operation of a number of these mills. I'd especially like data on when the old Kaese's Mill went out of operation, located on Bear Creek Road, leading to State Fish Hatchery and Rearing Ponds. Such material should include the language of the mill, what this and that was called in the terms of the period. What type of wheel was most used, over shot or undershot. Where did the millstones come from? Who hewed them out? Was this a specialized profession for some time? How were the stones set for standing different types of grain. Naturally, they would have to be closer together to grind wheat than to grind corn. Or would they?

If such a feature should appear in THE REPUBLICAN or THE GLADES STAR or perhaps THE HIGHLAND TRIBUNE, it certainly would pay everybody to clip the piece. Of course it should be done by some one who can give a true picture of the old mills. How many did Garrett County have sixty years ago? A hundred years ago?

Sincerely,
Wilbert N. Savage

1. August, 1953
Yongdongsu, Korea

Dear Sir:

As a frequent visitor to Garrett Co. the past few seasons—would like to laud Mr. Yell for his progressive and brave theatre venture. And after reading the distinguished Mr. Mayers' recent editorial "De-lighted With Theatre"—admire Mr. Yell even more.

The fact remains—it took a man with pioneering spirit and foresight to bring talent 2000 miles in order to awaken the latent cultural potentialities in your fair community.

There are always a few "do-gooders" who never seem to mature any new venture until some genius comes along to start the ball rolling—then "everybody wants to get into the act."

Even though I shall miss two full seasons of GCPH—am looking forward to Mr. Yell's productions in his third season.

Surely by that time the two distinguished universities shall have consolidated their respective talents—and in due time develop an incomparable repertoire of drama, dance, and concert.

All this is possible if only the two factors involved sensibly merge.

Remember, there is no place for competition in the community arts. Commercialization tends to bastardize all good things—results? Obivious!

Looking forward to wonderful season in '57.

Most sincerely,
Fry 2 J. M. Mader, Director
A. F. Korean Little Theatre

WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER, DAD?

Every dad should answer these four questions for the benefit of his growing son:

- (1) Does your boy know how to use firearms safely?
- (2) Does he know how to fish and understand its joys and hazards?
- (3) Can he identify the many forms of wildlife?
- (4) Does he know what real conservation means?

If you answer "No" to any of these questions, learn what a BOYS OF WOODCRAFT SPORTSMEN'S CLUB for boys 8 to 16 years old can do for your son. He will have fun while receiving instruction in the safe use of firearms, fishing, fly and bassbug tying, ancient prevention, first aid, the study of wildlife and conservation of natural resources.

From now until September 24 there's a special Davy Crockett Boys of Woodcraft membership campaign in full swing. Ask a representative listed below to tell you how your boy can enjoy these lifelong benefits together with safe, sound, loyal reserve life insurance protection at a cost of only a few pennies a day.

Controversy Over Gas Gets Emphasis

The Legislative Council members visited Garrett county's natural gas fields last Friday and promptly stepped into a controversy of the young Maryland industry.

Sen. Clifford Friend wants to do away with the present lease system which he says is paying farmers only partial royalties while tying up the rest of the land from drilling or leasing it to other firms.

Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the Department of Geology, Minerals, and Water Resources, says there has to be control over spacing of wells for economic production.

He said there was an excessive concentration of wells in areas of gas strikes, after the industry was launched in the county in 1947.

A special council subcommittee headed by Sen. Anthony D. Donnenie, of Baltimore city, decided to hold public hearings on the question at the Garrett County Court House in Oakland September 13 and 14.

Friend sponsored legislation at the last session of the legislature to take matters of gas regulations out of the hands of Singewald's department, which he says, has "dictatorial powers," and place it under a three-man gas and oil board.

Two such bills passed the Senate, only to die in House of Delegates committees. The Garrett senator said he would try again next session.

He said he himself owned 300 acres in the gas area and farmers were being victimized by "unfair" leases under the present set-up.

He said John H. Bowman, Accident, leased 171 acres to the firm of Snee and Eberly, of Uniontown, Pa. The lease stipulated Bowman would receive royalties only on 18 1/2 acres which were pooled with other farm land for gas production, Friend said.

He added that Bowman was prohibited from drilling on the rest of his land or leasing it to other firms. This, the Garrett senator contended, eliminates competition.

Legislators Visit Wells
The touring legislators visited two producing gas wells and saw one in the process of being drilled. Some of the council members made separate excursions to Savage River Dam, Deep Creek Lake and Swallow Falls to inspect state property in those areas.

Commission Plans 25 Miles New Road

Russell H. McCain, chairman of the State Roads commission, announced last Thursday that during August, September and October, the commission would advertise for bids on the construction of approximately 25 miles of roads, representing 19 projects. Some of the projects are in Garrett county.

At the same time he said that during the first of the state's twelve-year $526 million roads program, that $90 million had been spent. This sum represents almost a two-year's normal expenditure.

In the future the commission is expected to schedule work at the rate of about $4 million a month.

All of the projects which will be advertised over the next two and one-half months are aimed at giving a continuity to different existing projects. Those scheduled to be advertised in August include:

Widening, resurfacing and draining of about one-half mile of Maryland route No. 12, in Friendsville.

Moderating curves, widening to 24 feet and resurfacing 21.1 miles of road on U. S. route 219, from U. S. route 40 to the Pennsylvania State line.

HOW TALL THE TREES...

How tall the trees, and how straight the road. It cuts unswervingly through the countryside, and the trees border it like sentinels. Sentinels they have been too, walls of protection during storm, blessed shade when the heat of the noonday sun is mercilessly strong.

As we go through life, it might be easier if our roads could be that straight. But so often they aren't. So often they are full of unexpected turnings. So often we're tempted to stray from them entirely.

But we, too, have a sentinel to protect us... in the Church. It is there to shelter us in storms, to shade us when we're erring.

The Church teaches mercy. It teaches compassion. It teaches forgiveness. We need the Church, and it is never too late to find it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force for good in the world. It is the character and good citizenry of a nation. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should join the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Join the Church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Promises of God

Lesson for August 21, 1955

MANY Christians today become confused when they read the prophecies of the Old Testament. They do not seem to be either plain or profitable, because they are written in a strange style and the reader has no way of knowing, without help, just where and why and when and to whom these words were first spoken or written. This column is much to short a space for straightening out the tangles in even one chapter. The thing to bear in mind is that there is enough in Scripture that is plain to any man, enough to give him all he needs to know about God and his will for us. This column this week will consider one general thought: the promises of God, as they are found in the pages of the prophets particularly.

The Prophet
The promises of God are never made directly, as by a loudspeaker in the sky. The same promise may be made to many persons; but not all at once. The message first takes shape under the skill of one man, a holy, sensitive man, with spiritual insight, generally with great courage and persistence; in short, a prophet. We do not know for certain just what the process is by which a divine truth gets into the human mind of the prophet; but when first the divine truth enters the human sphere, it comes as an idea, a thought, in some prophet's mind. Sometimes more than one prophet may say the same thing, as when Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel were all predicting the return of the Jews to Jerusalem. Sometimes the prophet stands entirely alone. But the prophet is like the lookout in the crow's nest of a ship, sighting the dim landfall before any one on deck can see it.

The Promise

Those attending were Modena and Patsy Friend, Pat Shaffer, Judy and Caroline Rhodes, Helen Pretzel, Jim Wilt, David Lee Wilson, Arveta, Alvey, Audrey, Gerald

Sometimes the signal the prophet's keen spirit caught from on high spelled disaster; sometimes it was like "news behind news," a commentary on the why of events in past or present. But often, indeed more often than anything else, the message of the prophet is a promise. You can sum up all the promises there are into one sentence: God is good; he desires the good of all his children; and he will bring good to pass. One writer in the New Testament suggests that the prophets did not always understand their own messages; they were like radio receivers crossed by static. But that as it may, we know from reading the Gospels that the people who read the prophecies, even the professional interpreters, did not always understand what they read. The promises were set in obscure language, often in poetry. One feature however is clear: The focus and center of the prophet's hope and dream was the Messiah. It is true, their descriptions were so misread that when Jesus Christ came, most of his fellow-countrymen, measuring him by the literal words of these promises, did not recognize him. But there were those who did. The Christian discovers that all the best good that God desires for his children is summed up in Christ and what he does for men.

The Present
What can a Christian today do with the promises passed on by the prophets? Some of them refer no doubt to events long since past, as when Ezekiel and Jeremiah predict the destruction of Babylon. The Christian can take such promises as to support the faith that God does rule in the history of men; that his decrees are certain, his foreknowledge sure. Some of the promises are still unfulfilled, as when a prophet predicts the utter destruction of evil from this earth and the coming of a time of universal peace. A Christian can live by such hope even when (just as in the prophet's own days) the hope seems out of reach entirely. Where the prophet speaks of God's Servant the Coming One, we can use such promises to deepen our understanding of what Christ is to mean to the world. But every once in a while, in reading the prophecies, one discovers the utter destruction of evil from this earth and the coming of a time of universal peace. Need New Dams, River Group Says

A series of impounding dams on the Upper Potomac River watershed, or a second large reservoir on Savage River dam are future projects vital to the economy, health and development of the Allegany county area, members of the Upper Potomac River commission have agreed.

At a meeting last week with Julian G. Patrick, chairman, it was decided to institute a program leading towards a thorough survey and eventual request for appropriations from Congress.

Surveys made some time ago indicated that six small dams on the Potomac and its feeder streams above Cumberland were suggested as possibilities. These would store a total of about the same amount of water as is now held in Stony River dam and Savage River dam combined.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde told the assembly that a request of this kind for funds must be "backed with a good sales argument," since competition for funds for flood control, harbor dredging, stream development and the like from Congress is "vicious."

J. B. Dowling, of the health department, suggested that a letter be sent to Allegheny and Garrett county delegations to the General Assembly, thanking the assembly for support given the strip mining bill.

Referring again to the need for impounding dams, Patrick observed that during Hurricane Hazel, Savage River dam kept the water level at Cumberland about two and a half feet lower because this much volume was impounded. Without the dam, the city and other low lying areas would have been badly flooded.

Among those attending the meeting were Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Garrett county health officer, Charley B. Miller, sanitarian, Del. Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

And Then Some

A visitor was being shown through a small factory by the manager. As they entered one of the departments, the visitor noticed a red-headed young man who seemed to be more industrious than most of the others. The manager noticed the visitor watching the boy and he said, "That young man has won three promotions in two years. He's on his way up, and fast."

"To what do you attribute his success?" the visitor asked.

"Well, it's easy to answer that question," the manager replied. "He does what he is paid to do and then some. We have a great many clockwatchers in this plant. They manage to be a few minutes late in getting to work in the morning, and they anticipate the clock by several minutes at quitting time. But this fellow is the first to get to work and the last to leave. He doesn't seem to be concerned about the clock. He knows that he has been hired for a definite task and that he is paid a particular salary, and he tries to earn it—and then some. It's the then some that tells the story of his progress."

Of all the successful people I have known, they too have had that willingness to give the "then some" to their work. Not how little they could do but how much they could accomplish, was the goal that they held before themselves.

It is the "then some" service that represents the overflow—the part of life that spills over as we each carry our little cup. It is the part that really blesses and keeps us growing.

GOP Golden Era

There is no doubt about it. American people are enjoying the fruits of the first Republican administration in 20 years—and they like it.

The ensuing statements are not original with us, but they are being said time after time and they are true. The country is at peace. Jobs are plentiful. More people than ever before are working. Real wages and take-home pay are highest in history.

Construction continues at a record clip. Roads are being built, schools are going up everywhere. Tourist trade is at an all-time high. This is evident in our own little area with more people around Deep Creek Lake than ever before.

As people move around this country they can see for themselves. Fields are green and lush. Cattle are fat. Highways are crowded with new cars. Villages and towns bustle.

But what is more important there is a feeling of trust and confidence in our Government. We are secure. We are at peace. The shame of the cynical corruption and sordid mess of the previous administrations is gone. In its place is a new feeling of national pride in our President and our Administration.

We have a government that is moral and just plain good for the country. Our President has shown his sincerity and integrity. His continued popularity shows he is tops in our thinking.

It continues to be our job to spread the story of this Eisenhower Republican administration to all who are not aware of why the country is the way it is. Should he decide to run again in 1956, which we believe he will, Eisenhower will receive an overwhelming vote of confidence and be elected by perhaps a greater majority than he received in 1952. He deserves nothing less.

Pleads Guilty; Is Fined $500

At a hearing Wednesday morning before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bizer, Mrs. Stella Bowman, Deep Creek Lake, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale and was fined $500 and costs. Magistrate Bizer also sentenced her to a year in the reformatory for females but this sentence was suspended upon payment of fine and providing that he remain of good behavior and lay within the law in the future. The fine and costs were paid.

Mrs. Bowman was placed under arrest on August 13 after a night raid upon her premises. Officers reported they found over 200 bottles of whiskey and wine, plus about 200 miniatures which Sheriff Paul Fisher estimated would retail for more than $600. It was the largest quantity of whiskey ever confiscated during a raid in Garrett county. The whiskey was found under two beds in the Bowman home when officers entered the premises under a search warrant sworn out by Sheriff Fisher.

Motor Boat Burns

A large motor boat, owned by Paul Laskewich, of Penn Point area of Deep Creek Lake, was almost totally destroyed by fire Monday evening following an explosion of unknown cause.

The boat was occupied at the time by Rev. E. R. Rebie, of Monaca, Pa., a guest of Mr. Laskewich, who jumped from the boat and sustained bruises, but was otherwise not injured.

Neighbors who heard the explosion and saw the flames, called the Deer Park Fire company which responded promptly and had the blaze out within a few minutes. The boat cost $1,700 when new and was considered a total loss.

Gets New 'Time' Assignment

August 22 issue of Time magazine carries the announcement that Edwin Darby, who had covered the White House for eight years for the magazine had gone to Chicago to become deputy chief of the Chicago bureau.

His familiar face was missing from the Presidential press corps at the gathering at Gettysburg last week.

The publisher of Time magazine, James A. Lomen, had the following to say about Darby, who is a native of Oakland:

"Said Darby, who has visited just about every state in the Union on Presidential tours: 'I consider myself one of the country's foremost authorities on airports, railroad stations, hotel lobbies and auditoriums. It will be nice to learn what surrounds these things in the Midwestern states.'"

"Maryland born Ed Darby will take with him many pleasant memories of the two men whom he had come to know well as Presidents of the U. S.: Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower. 'Truman was one of the nicest men to be around,' said Darby. 'And so was Ike. Only once that I know of has Ike got out at me,' he recalled. 'That was when he read a Time personality piece in which I reported that on occasion his temper boiled over violently and he expressed himself in fine barracks-room language. Purple-faced, Ike disavowed my report in language that

Open House Set At Accident School

The Board of Education and members of the faculty of the Accident school are inviting the public to attend "open house" at the school on Sunday afternoon, September 1, from 2 to 4 p. m.

The reason is to give the public an opportunity to see the improvements made during the summer leading to a complete modernization of the present plant. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said it would be the county's most modern elementary school to date.

Special invitations have been issued to county officials and P-T. A. presidents.

Music will be furnished by the Northern High school band and refreshments will be served by members of the Accident P-T. A.

Boy Is Hurt In Unusual Mishap

A 15-year-old McHenry youth was hospitalized Monday afternoon as the result of an unusual auto accident which occurred in the front yard of his home.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland was Mark Clayton Snyder, who sustained a fractured right leg and multiple contusions and abrasions, according to police.

The accident occurred about 1:15 p. m. Monday as Santana Marinano, of Washington, Pa., was driving north on the Marsh Hill road at McHenry, near the intersection of road 15.

Police said the accelerator on the Marinano car stuck and the vehicle apparently went out of control and dashed across the street into the front yard, striking the boy.

almost scorched the White House walls down to the char marks made by the British burning in the War of 1812."

"Darby's chief regrets now are for the lost opportunities to fill out Presidential fourmuses at bridge and golf. On a campaign trip in 1952 candidate Eisenhower invited Darby to play a rubber of bridge but Darby pretended he did not play. 'I was certain I'd pull some home that would forever mark me in Ike's book as a man not to be trusted,' he says. Last year, during Ike's last Denver vacation, the chance came to play golf with the President. 'I had to decline,' Darby explains ruefully, 'because it just happened that the editors of Time wanted some rush copy that day.'"

"Just before Darby left Washington Ike's White House assistants gave him a rousing send-off. During the party Darby received a dummy copy of Time with a picture of himself on the cover. Said the cover caption, 'For Ike relief, for Chicago chaos.' A few minutes later a White House aide handed the correspondent a small envelope. It contained a warm personal farewell from Ike and Mamie. In a tongue-in-cheek postscript the President stoutly denied that on Darby's departure there would be 'For Ike relief, for Chicago chaos.'"

"Darby is a son of Mrs. J. D. Darby, of Old State Road. He and his family recently spent a week's vacation in Oakland during Tennis week."

State Accepts Deep Creek Lake Area For Park

Commission Votes To Pay $72,850 As Stipulated In Condemnation Ruling

The State Department of Forests and Parks on Monday voted to accept some 30 acres of Deep Creek Lake frontage for $72,850, the value placed on it last Tuesday in the Garrett County Circuit Court. It will be used for a state park site along the lake.

Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, met Monday at Oakland with members of the commission and after lengthy discussion it was decided to accept the land.

The two-day trial of a condemnation suit involving the state department and Fletcher P. Smith, of Oakland, the land owner, ended with a $72,850 verdict by a jury. Kaylor said he hoped to start work on the area in the near future. The commission asked William R. Hall, superintendent of state parks, to prepare a detailed plan of the development and as soon as this is done, the improvements will be started.

Other business during Monday's meeting was a discussion of next year's budget. The commission also heard reports on a capital improvement program for Western Maryland.

A number of new park proposals primarily along the Eastern Shore received consideration during the meeting.

Kaylor also pointed out that the commission voted to cooperate with the Upper Potomac River commission on a proposed additional dam to be built in this county. Part of the State department's program is to manage water sheds and help maintain stream flow in all streams of the state for the benefit of all water users, Kaylor added.

With the construction of an additional dam in that area it would create jobs as well as recreation areas.

Four of the five members of the commission were present including R. Brooke Maxwell, Baltimore, the chairman, J. Miles Lankford, of Pocomoke, Paul B. Naylor, Oakland, and J. Wilson Lord, of Ellicott City. Unable to attend the sessions was H. Lee Hoffman, of Towson. Members of the commission stayed at the William-James hotel in Oakland Sunday night and Monday. Tuesday they visited Swallow Falls, New Germany, Herrington Manor and other points of interest.

Red Cross Seeks Emergency Funds For Disaster Relief

Garrett county was called upon by the American Red Cross this week to assist in financing some emergency flood disaster work made necessary by the destructive floods of the past week-end.

The American Red Cross has sent into six-state flood areas over 160 trained disaster workers to assist chapters in meeting emergency needs and preparing for major rehabilitation program to follow. The Red Cross is operating 107 shelters, housing and feeding 12,000 homeless and providing clothing to everyone who needs it. Headquarters are operating around the clock in disaster areas.

It was indicated that over 8,000 families would register for Red Cross assistance and it was estimated that Red Cross relief required might well reach or exceed five million dollars.

The organization appealed to Garrett county for voluntary contributions that would help to take care of the expense involved. The quota for the county was set at $250. Richard K. Dayton, who headed the annual Red Cross campaign, will remain as chairman of the emergency drive, while checks may be sent to Frank McDaniel at the First National Bank, emergency campaign treasurer.

New Rules Govern Patient Admission To Local Hospital

New rules governing admission of patients to the Garrett County Memorial hospital were adopted recently by the board of directors.

The new rules were adopted following a survey made of the practices of other hospitals through the Maryland-Delaware and District of Columbia Hospital association, according to Miss Irene Sharpe, hospital superintendent.

Effective immediately it was decided that maternity cases would require an advance deposit one month before expected confinement.

For medical cases: Short term, 3 days or less, $25; long term, one week's room and board.

For surgical cases: Short term, $35; long term, one week's room and board.

Providing the patient has Blue Cross insurance, no deposit is required. No deposits are required for United Mine Workers, Garrett County Welfare or Crippled Children's cases, it was stated.

Miss Sharpe said most of the other hospitals of the country had been following the above practice for some time.

29 Report For Football Practice

Football practice at Southern High school got under way on Monday with twenty-nine candidates out for the team. This was some under the expected number but Coach James DeMoss said several other boys were expected to report later who were working out school started.

The candidates have been practicing in condition with the two days of practice already behind them and this conditioning course will be continued for several more days. The backfield men have been punting and passing while the line has been learning some fundamentals in defensive work. Thus far there has been no tackling or scrimmage sessions, but these will come later, probably next week.

Monday afternoon two couples and six children settled on the Crelin straight and endeavored to set up a permanent palmist reading establishment. They already had rented a room on Alder street, but ran into difficulty in obtaining a license to operate.

By inquiry at the office of the town clerk, one man known as Steve Marks, Kansas City, Mo., discovered an old town ordinance that gave the right to operate, but only during carnival time. He talked with the state's attorney. Then he discussed it with Trooper Glenn Folk, of the Maryland State Police.

Folk declared he had had difficulty with similar groups in the Graceland area and he came up

Road Commission Must Negotiate For Lake Strip

Decision Handed Down Saturday By Chief Judge George Henderson

In an opinion handed down by Chief Judge George Henderson last Saturday, the State Roads commission has been enjoined from taking a strip of land at the edge of ten properties along Deep Creek without negotiation or the entering of condemnation proceedings.

The plaintiffs in the case own lots 27 to 40 in Lake View subdivision on Deep Creek Lake. This past year the State Roads commission's legal department had decided there had been a dedication of a twenty-foot roadway for public use as a road, for a distance of 700 feet, and that the plaintiffs had no rights in the roadway which need be purchased or condemned.

The property owners who come from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, contended that the strip at the edge of their property was for their own benefit and was not devoted to the State for public use.

The injunction was filed originally after the property owners had been informed officially that the State Roads commission did not intend to carry on any further negotiations with them with respect to either the purchase or condemnation of the land in question.

A demurrer filed by the SRC against the injunction was overruled by a decision of Judge Henderson in May. Testimony was heard July 25 in the Garrett County Circuit court after which Judge Henderson gave both sides two weeks to file briefs in the case.

In his official opinion filed August 20th, Judge Henderson declared "since the facts proved there was positive evidence of intention not to dedicate the twenty-foot roadway," the plaintiffs are hereby enjoined to enjoin the defendants from entering upon or in any way disturbing their possession of the 20-foot roadway in front of their respective properties unless, and until an agreement for compensation shall have been entered into or until the SRC shall have instituted condemnation proceedings."

The defendants were listed as Russell H. McCain, Edgar T. Bennett and Bramwell Kelly, as members of the State Roads commission, and the Keeley Construction company of Clarksburg, W. Va. The respondents were ordered to pay the costs of the proceedings.

According to one local attorney the actual ownership of the strip has not been determined. The Court in its recent decision merely stated that the State had no ownership in the strip. There is some question as to whether or not the ownership is still with the McIntire heirs, from whom the present property owners made their purchase.

Property owners were listed as Mr. and Mrs. Ray Treets, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Wymore, Jr. and Mrs. E. Wayne Corrin, Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Johnston, Pittsburgh; Eva C. Compton and Eleanor Compton, Sewickley; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnson, Cumberland; Florence Newman, Salisbury, Pa.; E. W. Price, McKeesport; Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Eloff, Somerset.

Repairs to Fourth Street Are Begun

Repairs to Fourth street in Oakland were begun this morning. This will include changing the course of Wilson Run to some extent and the placing of a 72-inch culvert pipe there to take care of the flow, thus eliminating the present bridge. The change will make it possible to continue Pennington street to connect with Fourth.

The changes in the stream flow are also a part of a plan to take care of the overflow in case of high water, to help eliminate danger of flood in the business section of town. The resulting dam to be used in an emergency will back water to a depth of six feet or more over the Winters property.

Bids Are Sought

The State Roads Commission is seeking bids for repairs on an existing one-span stone arch bridge over the Casselman river on Maryland route 719, near Grantsville.

The work involves rebuilding masonry, repointing masonry and bituminous concrete paving.

Bids are to be opened and read on September 6.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Are You Smart or Smart?

For years our brains have been measured by a group of tests, the findings of which have been dumped together and labeled I.Q. The boy or girl who could speed along, keep his mind on what he was doing, came out ahead of the one who took time out to explore an idea, that bobbed up along the way.

The SPEED with which one thought was a mighty important factor in measuring intelligence.

So people were smart or weren't smart, according to how high the I.Q. was. But there were still some things that puzzled the educators. They have seen some "not so smart" go into the world and make successes of whatever they undertook while the high I.Q. boys just turned into average people, if that.

So now they're coming up with a whole new set of standards. For instance the fellow with the ideas or creative ability has a place in the sun now even though he may not be able to spell antidisestablishmentarianism. "brother! What a time I had finding that word!" Then too, his responsiveness is a measure of his intelligence. We've been calling it intellectual curiosity when talking to youth which I believe is a far greater gift than to spell big words or do ciphers in the head.

But what thrilled my soul more than anything else is that they included plain old common sense—or judgment. All of which takes us right back to the philosophy of one of my old farmer friends who says that there's nothing so high-falootin' about brains. It's just plain horse sense and stable judgment.

To Each His Own
You may remember a joke of Ross, Specker's. I told in this column about the two who viewed the grand canyon. One saw a thing of beauty—the other a heck of a place to lose a cow.

The buckwheat field in front of our house has had quite a range of comments depending upon the person's interests and background. I saw only beauty in its bloom which made up for what I didn't get planted—which would show that I enjoyed a bargain—something for nothing.

My husband visualized stacks and stacks of buckwheat cakes, lasting from fall to spring. The dreamer!

Felix Robinson stopped long enough to ponder over how many pounds of honey the bees would get from the bloom. The gourmet! Mr. Porter didn't say much but I was sure I saw him squinting at contour. He likes things on the level!

If I were to question the owner, I'm sure he would think in terms of the yield per acre, the producer!

Which brings me to this—I wouldn't trade what I see for what they see—which still makes it a bargain.

I'll have to admit it all depends on which side of the house I'm looking out on. Now when it's our garden I'm viewing I instantly see boxes of frozen foods or jars upon jars of canned foods—all lined up in neat order, paving the way for making a lazy person lazier—come winter.

Copy Cat With the Added Something

In a large department store recently I saw college girls displaying the proper clothes for fall and I could scarcely believe my eyes. For several years teen-agers have roared in laughter at our garb of the 20's—black bloomers, middies and ties.

Then they said, "aren't they screamers?" Now they say, "Oh, how neat!" For this fall we are about as close to the old middie-bloomer style as we can get and still be modern. For the middie and the black, charcoal or plaid Bermuda short gives about the same effect without the bag at the knee. In other words they've cut the four-yard bloomer to a one-yard Ber-

Planning Group Meets

Farm Planning group No. 9 met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty, of Accident, with six couples attending.

Robert Glotfelty led the topic "Trash from the Highways." The group felt that the county needed some signs and posters along its highways concerning trash disposal for motorists to observe, in an effort to help "Keep Maryland Beautiful."

It was also felt that the various communities had designated places to dispose of their excess garbage and trash there would be less of it strewn along the farms, roads and highways. They liked the idea of cans or barrels for paper disposal along the state roads.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Opel. All groups of the county will gather for a winter roast at Brennenman's Grove, August 31.

The long black stockings have dropped to below the knee. I got called to the Dean's office once for doing that very trick.

No longer is the young crowd making fun—they're in dead earnest. They've just got to have them if they're going to be as modern as tomorrow.

But this I'll have to admit. When it comes to style plus comfort they have the edge on their mothers.

R. R. Gilbert Will Retire September 1

Forty-six years and seven months of continuous personal service in the natural gas industry will come to an end September 1 for Roland R. Gilbert for at that time he will retire as manager for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company in the Elkins area. He was former local manager of the gas company at Oakland.

A resident of Elkins since April 1, 1931, Gilbert has been closely identified with virtually all civic activities and has contributed materially to the musical side of the community.

A native of Elk Garden, W. Va., Gilbert has spent all of his adult life in West Virginia with the exception of a period at Westernport where he was first employed in the gas business, and later at Oakland where he was local manager.

The company by which he was first employed was known as the Eastern Oil company. He recalls that the company paid its workers 17½ cents an hour, or $1.75 for a 10-hour day.

He was one of a family of 17 children and he withdrew from school at the age of 12 years to work in the coal mines, for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company before taking regular employment with the gas company in 1909.

He has been employed by the company at Piedmont, Thomas, Rowlesburg, Oakland, Buckhannon and Elkins.

In his early years of residency at Elkins he was perhaps best known as director of Queen Silvia's band which had been organized as the official musical organization of the Mountain State Forest Festival only a few years before. A talented musician, he joined the band on arriving in Elkins and soon became its manager. He later became director.

While at Oakland Gilbert had organized what later became known as the Gilbert-Brown Boys' band, which won wide acclaim.

At Elkins Gilbert is a member of the Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce and has been active in the Y. M. C. A., and other community organizations. Fraternally he is affiliated with the B. P. O. Elks, the Knights of Pythias, and the Improved Order of Red Men. He is now serving as treasurer of Grace Episcopal church and served on the vestry for some years.

Looking back over his many years of service with C. & A., Gilbert recalls many interesting incidents, some of them humorous. He has enjoyed his associations with the many officials and employees of the company and his contacts with the patrons of the firm, he stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert plan to leave for Seffner, Fla., the last week in September where they will reside. Music having been his hobby, he looks forward to playing the clarinet, bass tuba or drum in one of the Florida Park bands.

On Saturday, August 20, officials and employees of the gas company from the Elkins area assembled at an Elkins restaurant for a testimonial dinner for Gilbert.

Gilbert has two daughters by his first wife, Mrs. Blanche Volsey, of Elkins, and Mrs. Virginia Jernigan, of Denning, N. M. His first wife died in July, 1951. Mr. Gilbert was located in Oakland from 1923 to 1931.

Grantsville Takes Lead In League

Grantsville's Sluggers, clinched first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball league by defeating runner-up Zihlman Sunday by the score of 8 to 7 at Zihlman.

The victory gave the Garrett county aggregation a 22-5 record with one game left to play, with Zihlman.

Jim Heise's relief pitching highlighted Grantsville's victory. The West Virginia university pitcher star supplanted Junie Perry in the second inning and yielded only one run in the last seven innings. He fanned seven, yielded five hits and took his third straight triumph since joining the Sluggers on August 6. Heise was trailing 6-2 at the close of the second inning and his mates overcame an early lead at the expense of three pitchers. Grantsville put the game on ice with two runs in the sixth when Woody Woodson and Perry both pilfered home while Rice was winding up. Heise and Jim Wengert had two hits each for the Sluggers.

On Saturday the Sluggers defeated Eckhart 18 to 2. Lefty Don O'Haver, pitcher for West Virginia University, handcuffed Eckhart on five hits for his sixth pitching success without a loss. After yielding a pair of tallies in the first the southpaw closed the door, surrendering just two hits over the remaining eight innings.

On Saturday, August 20, officials and employees of the gas company from the Elkins area assembled at an Elkins restaurant for a testimonial dinner for Gilbert.

Gilbert has two daughters by his first wife, Mrs. Blanche Volsey, of Elkins, and Mrs. Virginia Jernigan, of Denning, N. M. His first wife died in July, 1951. Mr. Gilbert was located in Oakland from 1923 to 1931.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Our Taste in Books

Statistics show that one hundred million dollars were spent by our nation last year for the ten cent comic book. This represents more money than was spent for all text books for our elementary and secondary schools.

Educators and many other thinking people are alarmed about the effect some of these books are having on our young people. In them are pictured stories of crime of every sort, indecency and perversion of every kind. The power of suggestion to an immature mind is very powerful, and it is agreed by many that should know that comic books are making a very definite contribution to juvenile delinquency.

Pressure was brought to bear on legislators in many states last year which brought some action, and a censor was named in a nation-wide effort. However, many think it has not yet been as effective as had been hoped. Only an aroused public opinion will get this filth off the market.

Isn't it just too bad that many youngsters are growing up on a diet of such trash, while in libraries are books of clean adventure, high ideals and noble achievement? They know more about comic book characters than about the pioneers who came to America or the many stirring and thrilling stories of men and women of high achievement. Many of these young people never acquire a taste for good reading.

Not only the comic books, but the other trash on our book stands are degrading and show a declining sense of good taste and morals. Not long ago, I read of a prominent judge who said to a man who had just written a best seller, "You should be arrested for writing such trash."

There are the True Romances, True Love, and that sort of thing just as trashy as the comic books. One day, I was sitting in a drug store and saw a lady come in leading a small child. The little boy was dirty and frail looking. She brought a True Romances magazine. Suddenly, I felt a wave of pity for her. By her looks and that of her child, she needed most

Legion Caucus Planned

A Mountain District American Legion caucus will be held at the American Legion home in Oakland on Sunday, August 28, at 2:15 p. m., it was announced by Russell C. Pauppe, district adjutant, of Cumberland.

At this meeting the group will elect a department vice-commander, three area commanders, five department executive committeemen and two delegates and two alternates to the national convention.

anything else worse than that cheap trashy magazine. What could she possibly find in that to help her in her daily life, to lift her up, to inspire her? I have been told middle aged women buy these magazines the most of all age groups.

We like to boast of our enlightenment in this Twentieth Century, but in my opinion we have a long way to go, when we are willing to feed our minds on such reading matter.

It is like preparing a meal, and instead of having roast beef, potatoes and salad, we invite our families in to sit down and partake of a meal of garbage.

Does going to church seem to you old-fashioned?

Well, it is, for worship is as old as creation, yet ever-new.

In church buildings before the fourteenth century there were no seats. Worshippers stood, or sat on cold damp floors. Later, three-legged stools were used.

Today, churches compare with our finest buildings in modern beauty, comfort, and convenience.

Our speech habits have changed with advancing generations. Scriptural style, too, has changed, yet neither meaning nor intent has been altered. The Bible's message remains the same—a gospel of good news filled with faith, hope, and love—for you, the same as for your forefathers.

Then be old-fashioned. Go to church. Find for yourself a faith that is steadfast—the same yesterday, today, and forever—"yet modern as tomorrow."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Ezra 1:2-6:45

God In History

Lesson for August 28, 1955

WHAT is it that makes the world move? — the world of men, of events, the wide world of history? What is the most powerful factor in history? Some say geography, some say climate (which is still geography), some say great men, some say ideas, some say the progress of invention, some say the religious answer is strikingly different from all these: it is GOD.

The reason why historians seldom mention God even when they believe in him is that they limit themselves to what can be seen and heard. True, sometimes historians are concerned with thoughts, as for instance, what were Stalin and Roosevelt and Churchill thinking of at Yalta? But thoughts are facts that scientists all admit; while God is not the kind of fact with which science can deal. So "historical science" as it is called confines itself deliberately to the kind of fact that science describes.

Now God—let it be repeated—is not in that class of things at all. He is not a thing, he is not in a class. He works in history, but not in the way a man works, still less like a force such as that of wind or rainfall or volcanic eruptions. God can be seen, but only with "eyes of faith." He can be known, but by no means as simply as your cat be known. God works in history, not separately from events and men, but in men and forces. As Paul says, God is over all, through all and in all.

King's Intention

According to the Bible, God can work in and by men of the acts of men who do not know him at all. There is a mystery here which no writer in the Bible undertakes to explain, a mystery which perhaps no human mind is capable of understanding. But the fact is believed by men of faith. Take for instance the famous king Cyrus, known to history outside the Bible as well as inside it. He was one of the great conquerors and administrators of all time. At a peak of his career he made himself master of what had been the Babylonian Empire. He knew that many a temple had been plundered and destroyed by the Babylonian kings, and he knew that the many displaced persons from all the conquered cities where those temples had been, would be grateful for the restoration of those temples. So King Cyrus, in order to make himself "solid" and popular with this mass of subject peoples, adopted the policy of returning the "gods" of those peoples and authorizing the restoration of their temple worship. It used to be thought that Cyrus was a worshipper of the Jews' God, but archaeologists have discovered the original edict or announcement of Cyrus, explaining what he was doing, and asking that all these gods whose worship he was restoring, would pay to Marduk, whom Cyrus regarded as the king over all the gods, on Cyrus' behalf. Isaiah says plainly that Cyrus did not know the true God—but God knew him, and wrought out his purposes through him, ignorant of God though he was.

People's Devotion

The Bible shows also that God works through the devotion and service of men who do know him. We may doubt whether the proclamation of a Cyrus would have done any good if there had not been men who were eager and ready for just such a chance to return to Jerusalem and restore the worship of the true God. We have had in American history one of the many other illustrations of this same point in the freeing of the slaves. The emancipation proclamation of 1863 was not made altogether from charitable motives. There was a strong political-military purpose in it; the immediate object of the proclamation was not to free the slaves everywhere, but to win the war and restore the union. Later, when slavery was abolished by the Constitution, the freeing of the slaves would have done more harm than good if it had not been for the devotion of men and women of both races who made it their life-work to educate and uplift those who were like sheep without a shepherd. God does work in his story; but he needs the service of those who understand his way, and work with him.
